ECUADOR.—The issue is impending of postage stamps overprinted with a representation of the first locomotive to run on the new Quito-Esmeraldas Railway, the values comprising 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 10 centavos, of each of which only ten thousand copies are to be put on sale.—Stamp Collecting.

FINLAND.—Air Stamps. We learn from La Suisse Philatelique that a set of air stamps will be issued for use on the two new Air lines (Helsingfors—Reval and Helsingfors—Central Europe). —Philatelic Magazine.

ITALIAN COLONIES.—The Corriere Filatelico announces the impending appearance of new definitive stamps with an excellent portrait of King Victor Emmanuel by Prof. A. Calcagnadoro, whose name is already familiar to philatelists. These, comprising 75c, L1.25, L2.50, and perhaps other values, are intended to replace the existing provisionals.

Sig. Calcagnadoro, it may be recalled, was the artist responsible for the Libyan "Sibyl" type of 1924.—Stamp Collecting.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—Notes on recent issues by Miss C. Greaves of Barbados: "Owing to the strike in England, supplies of 2½d and 3d in the old P. U. colours were delayed. In St. Kitts-Nevis the 3d blue Leeward Islands was not obtainable after early in May. In Antigua the old 2½d blue Leeward Islands MCA paper was put on sale when the 2½d orange gave out.

I have got the Leeward Islands 3d blue script in two decidedly different shades. The 1d violet shows a slighter variation and there are also two shades of the 3d St. Kitts-Nevis blue King's Head."—Philatelic Magazine.

MONACO.—We have received from Mr. Henry Hooreman copies of two new colors in the type of Scott's A13. They are the 50c brown on buff and 60c pale olive green.

MONGOLIA.—We learn from a special article in L'Echo de la Timbrologie that in April last the following fiscal labels of this mysterious territory (nominally independent but actually subject to Russian Bolshevik rule) appeared with the word "POSTAGE" overprinted in English and in native characters in violet: 3,000 each of the 1c blue, 2c yellow, 5c lilac, 10c green, and 20c brown; 100 of the 50c green and brown; 50 of the 1 dollar salmon and brown; 100 of the 5 dollars red, olive, and yellow.

Three apparently postally used pieces —(1) an ordinary letter posted from Ulanbator to Moscow on May 5th, 1926, (2) a registered letter similarly dated, and (3) an ordinary letter posted at Altanbulak at a later date (not legible in the postmark), bearing no adhesives but stamped "Payé" in Russian—are illustrated in our Amiens contemporary. —Stamp Collecting.

PAPUA.—According to Mr. A. A. Rosenblum, the old South Australian paper has now run out, and printings are being made on the old Commonwealth "war savings" paper. Mr. Rosenblum thinks that in a hot damp climate the present 14 gauge will not hold, and that, after the first printing, a larger perforation will be found necessary.—Stamp Collecting.

ROUMANIA.—Birthday Commemoratives were issued on July 1st to commemorate the 60th birthday of King Ferdinand. The stamps were printed in Munich by the off-set process from a portrait, by the Roumanian artist Bessarab, of the King in military uniform. Two hundred thousand sets were issued, which included 2000 sets imperforate. We are indebted to The Times and Bulletin Mensuel for the information here collated.—Philatelic Magazine.

The fund is financing the general publicity in connection with the Exhibition. Some fifteen "stories" informing the public about Stamps and Stamp Collecting, and leading to the coming Exhibition, have been sent out to some 1,760 distributors of news throughout the country.

This work carried on across the whole continent will produce a general awakening to the advantages of the hobby, a "Stamp Consciousness" that will react to the benefit of all in the hobby.

Some names are not included this week as lists have not been checked up with Mr. Steinway. Several dealers had contributed through this channel before the Fund got under way. Others have been on vacation and will undoubtedly be in the next. But any undecided, had better hurry; six weeks only before the Big Show.

Contributions to the Fund should be sent in a check to Tom V. Binmore, 575 Fifth Avenue, Long Island City, N. Y.

NEW ZEALAND

By C. A. Howes.

New Zealand was discovered by Tasman in 1642, but it was almost two centuries later before real settlement was begun. The "New Zealand Company" began the development in 1839, and Great Britain proclaimed sovereignty over the Islands in 1840. Colonization was rapid and in 1850 the Company surrendered all its interests to the British Government, which passed an act establishing representative government in the Colony in 1853. But already, as early as 1848, the Governor and Council had passed an ordinance for the regulation of the Colonial post, and in 1851 a supplementary ordinance provided for the establishment of uniform rates per unit of weight and for the use of postage stamps. There seemed to be no rush about procuring the latter, however, for it was not until July 18, 1855, that they were received and put on sale.

As usual, the Colonial stamps were ordered in London from Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., who engraved three values on steel in the well known design showing the bust of Queen Victoria taken from the painting by E. A. Chalon, R. A., to which we referred in our article on Queensland last month. The plates had 240 subjects, arranged in twenty horizontal rows of twelve, and the paper was watermarked with a large star. The engravers printed 12,000 1d, 66,000 2d and 8,000 1s stamps and sent these, together with the plates, a printing press, ink, and some 3,000 sheets of "star" watermarked paper, to the Colony in September, 1854. The 1d stamps were for the letters of soldiers and sailors in service; the 2d stamps for local letters per half ounce, and the 1s stamps for letters to Great Britain per half ounce, and also the registration fee. In March, 1857, a reduction to 6d for the first half ounce was made on letters to England and a plate of this value was ordered from Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. It was duly forwarded to New Zealand, but this time no supply was printed and despatched with the plate.

Locally printed supplies of the three stamps in use at first were produced by Mr. J. Richardson, a printer, of Auckland. These appeared in November, 1855, and besides being in slightly different shades from the London printings were printed on a bluish paper such as that used generally for Government documents. This was without watermark. The next year, or at any rate in 1857, further printings by Mr. Richardson were on white unwatermarked paper of varying thickness. The new 6d was issued on this paper on August 8, 1859.

All the stamps thus far described were issued officially unperforated, but the last four on white paper are found with several unofficial styles of separation, rouletted about 7, pin-perforation about 10, and serrated about 16. The officials of the Dunedin post office, however, made a practice, beginning in 1862, of having their stamp supplies perforated by a neighboring printer, and these were distributed throughout the province of Otago. The stamps at this time were being printed on a pelure paper and these are therefore at least semi-official and include the 2d on thick white paper.

The 1s stamp, both on watermarked paper and blue paper, is known bisected vertically and used as 6d stamps when that rate came into effect and before the issue of the new value in 1859.

The contract with Mr. Richardson for printing the stamps expired in 1862, and on account of the increased supplies needed the Postmaster-General recommended that the Government make permanent provision for their manufacture. The press that had come with the other supplies from London in 1855 was set up, and the Government obtained the services of Mr. John Davies, a former employee of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co., to supervise the printing. Mr Davies had brought out with him a further supply of the "star" watermarked paper (it will be remembered that a stock came with the supplies from London in 1855 and had not been used) and when the Government printing office began its work in February, 1862, it employed this "star" paper. Another new plate for a 3d stamp had been procured, due to a new rate to England via Marseilles of 3d per quarter ounce. But the stock of "star" paper was insufficient for needs until new supplies arrived, and recourse was had to a thin, almost "pelure" unwatermarked paper. All values were issued on this, all but the 3d had the semi-official "Dunedin" perforation as well as the 1d, 6d and 1s with private separation. The regular "star" watermarked stamps are found with the private separations and also with the "Dunedin" perforation.

The Government saw the advantage of the perforation done at Dunedin and ordered a machine which began its work on the "star" watermarked stamps in 1864. This machine gauged about 12½ with rather large holes, while the "Dunedin" perforation was exactly 13 with quite small holes.

In 1864 further supplies of paper received from England were watermarked with single lined letters "NZ", but the printer states that "this was of indifferent quality and the 'Star' watermarked paper was again ordered, which was used continually till 1872." All values except the 3d were printed on this "NZ" paper and are found imperforate, perforated both with the Government machine and also at Dunedin, and privately rouletted.

In 1863 the 3d rate to England was changed to 4d per half ounce and a new plate of this value procured. It was issued July 1, 1865, printed in rose, the number printed being 120,000; but further supplies were printed in yellow, all being on the "star" paper and perforated only by the Government machine.

The 2d stamp, being the domestic letter rate, was the most used and the plate became so worn that a new one was ordered from London and received about June, 1865. This is stated to have been nickel plated, and some of the plating began to scale off under use so that the plate was subjected to retouching in the damaged portion about the end of 1867. This work was rather roughly done, "the background and corners generally showing heavy scratches and punches instead of the fine lines of engine turning and the diamond shaped patterns." It only comes on the "star" watermarked paper and with the Government perforation.

According to the Postmaster-General it was discovered that "the colors in which certain of the postage stamps were printed were liable, by chemical process, to be so altered as to resemble the colors of stamps of higher value; in order to promote the protection of the revenue it was deemed advisable to alter the color of such stamps. These are now so arranged that the effect of any change in the colors will be to assimilate them to those of lower value." Accordingly the 1d took the color of the 6d-brown; the 2d was given the orange and vermilion shades of the 1d; and the 6d received the blue of the former 2d. This change took place about June, 1871, and the new stamps were perforated by the old Government machine and also a compound of that and a new machine, just purchased, which gauged 10. The 1d alone was perforated 10 all around by the new machine.

In 1872 the supply of "star" watermarked paper again ran out and supplies of the 1d and 2d were printed on the "NZ" paper, and the same two values with the 4d in addition on unwatermarked paper, while the 2d was also printed on paper having the word "INVICTA" in large double lined capitals surrounded by crossed diagonal lines. All these stamps were perforated only by the old 12½ machine.

On January 1, 1873, the postage on inland newspapers was reduced from 1d to ½d and a stamp of that value issued which could only be used for that purpose, as its inscription would indicate.

The die was engraved on wood in Melbourne and electrotypes made in Wellington at the Government Printing Office for the plate. It was printed on "NZ" watermarked paper used for the large revenue stamps, and as the new stamp was of only about half their size it sometimes had the watermark and sometimes did not. Both perforating machines were used on it, singly and compounded.

The old plates of the postage stamps were beginning to wear by 1871 and the Agents in London were ordered to procure new ones of all values, being given discretion as to whether they should be steel or electrotyped. They chose the latter and ordered them from Messrs. De La Rue & Co. This accounts for the new issue of January 2, 1874. The plates were sent out to the Colony and printed there on a new paper watermarked "NZ" with a small star beneath. The perforation was done by the old 12½ machine, a compound of this and the 10 machine, and also by a new machine gauging nearly 12 and another comb machine gauging 12 horizontally by 11½ vertically. Apparently the new watermarked paper ran out, for a limited supply of the 1d and 2d was made on the old "star" paper in 1875. In the same year the ½d stamp was printed on a "star" paper especially made for it.

On July 1, 1878, two high values were added to the set, a 2s and 5s. They were the first entirely local productions for stamps, having been engraved by Messrs. Bock and Cousins of Wellington and printed at the Government Printing Office on the "NZ and star" paper.

An amendment to the stamp Act was passed in 1881 allowing the use of postal and revenue stamps interchangeably. This brought into the "revenue used for postage" class a long list of revenue stamps running into high values, very few of which, comparatively, were regularly used for postage. Their use began in 1882, when the small 1d fiscal stamp was duly authorized as a postage stamp because of a shortage of the latter. The postage stamps from 1d to 1s, including a new 8d stamp, were issued with inscription changed to "Postage and Revenue" on April 1, 1882. Like the 2 and 5s referred to in the preceding paragraph, they were made in Wellington, printed on the "NZ and star" paper, and perforated with all four machines already spoken of as well as compounds of some of them. For values required above 1s the large fiscal stamps inscribed "Stamp Duty" were regularly employed.

The single letter rate to New Zealand from the Postal Union countries remained at 6d until 1890, when the general 2½d rate was granted for mail via San Francisco only. A stamp of this value was therefore prepared and one of 5d also, both being engraved by Mr. A. E. Cousins and the electrotype plates made and printed from at the Government Printing Office in Wellington. The perforations follow the various ones found on the then current stamps. The 2½d appeared December 27, 1890, and the 5d on February 1, 1891. Two homelier stamps would be hard to find.

In 1891-2 the dies of the 1, 2, 6 and 8d stamps were retouched by Mr. Cousins and new electrotype plates made. The differences are only minute. In 1892 the ½d newspaper stamp dropped its special paper and was printed on the regular "NZ and star" paper used for the other stamps. In 1895 this special stamp was replaced, for convenience sake, by a new stamp equally available for all postage and revenue purposes. This was produced in the same manner as the two stamps last mentioned.

In 1895 prizes were offered for a series of designs for postage stamps representing New Zealand subjects, in a laudable ambition to advertise these wonderful islands to the world. Nearly 2500 designs were submitted to a board of experts. The Postmaster-General reported in 1897 that "some delay has been occasioned in the production of the stamps owing to a discussion having arisen as to the respective merits of the surface and recess process of printing, but it has been finally decided to adopt the latter as the only one likely to do justice to such high-class designs." The result fully justified the decision, as a comparison with the surface-printed jubilee series of 1888 of New South Wales will at once show. The contract was given to Messrs. Waterlow and Sons of London and they did a superb piece of work.

The Postmaster-General's report for 1898 states that "the new postage stamps, which were in course of manufacture for some time previous, were brought into use on the 5th April last. As the initial supply (printed in London) was restricted, the entire withdrawal of the old issue will not take place until the special machinery, which has been ordered, is received by the Government Printer, and the printing of the stamps in the Colony is in full operation." The report also says that "through a misunderstanding in London, the design intended for the fourpenny stamp was adopted for the penny stamp, involving a costly process of double printing for the denomination more largely used than any of the others. Instructions have already been given to rectify this as early as possible." The transposition of these designs was effected in 1900. Again "an error was unfortunately made in engraving the plate for the twopence-halfpenny stamp, 'Wakatipu' being misspelt 'Wakitipu'; but this has since been corrected."

NEWS GLEANINGS

SEVERAL subscribers have called our attention to the cartoon in the San Francisco Bulletin. I. J. Coontz accompanies his clipping with a copy of the 20c stamp in order that the editor may note the "two-way wind" shown on this stamp.

SEVERAL of our subscribers have sent Miss Alma Newcomb, So. Brewer, Me., some of their duplicate stamps. She informs us that she will be very glad to hear from others who desire to give assistance to a worthy shut-in.

"I HAVE been notified of the loss of a registered package containing mostly British Colonial stamps, including one book of nearly all mint Malta in blocks but with one single copy of No. 64 catalog value $25. These stamps were mounted in small brown books with writer's name and address on cover. Writer will pay 20% of net value of stamps for recovery of same or arrest of the person stealing same."—C. H. HOLLISTER, Mukwonago, Wis.

WE find in the New York Journal of Sept. 8 quite a news article in which a five-year-old boy, Sol Hirschman of Brooklyn, is featured as a prodigy and philately plays its part. Sol is shown with his stamp collection and a readable article by Dorothy Van Dyke calls attention to his numerous activities.

ALVIN GOOD informs us that there will be a large delegation at New York from Cleveland. A number are going to drive down. Mr. Good's list, which is doubtless incomplete, mentions D. W. Martin, F. W. Grant, H. H. Griffin, Casper J. Dorer, J. C. Sanderson, Dr. J. N. Schneider and O. W. Upson. Of course Mr. Good will be there.

THE A. P. S. will have a booth at the New York Exhibition and P. M. Wolsieffer has been placed in charge of the same. This booth is intended for the comfort and meeting-place of stamp collectors, but particularly members of the A. P. S. Mail may be addressed in care of the A. P. S. booth during the period of the Exhibition.

THE first fall meeting of the Columbus (O.) Philatelic Club was observed by a dinner at the Southern Hotel, Columbus. Following the dinner Oscar A. Schenck exhibited his specialized collection of Mexican stamps. This collection is one of the finest of its kind. It is contained in several volumes, and singles, pairs, strips, blocks and covers are shown in profusion.

WE have received from Albert E. Gorham a contract airmail cover Philadelphia to New York with Sept. 11 for both markings. The envelope bears the inscription "Air Race Special."

S. B. McDONALD of the American Hawaiian Steamship Co., San Francisco, Cal., has complained to the P. O. Department about the current 20c stamp which pictures the Golden Gate. He declares that a two-way wind is shown when comparing the sails of the ship with the smoke of the steamer. J. Schmerl sends us this clipping from the San Francisco Bulletin, in which Mr. McDonald is caricatured examining a copy of the stamp.

WE are informed by Jack Young of Hankow, China, that the Chinese P. O. is planning to print a new 2c red post card, owing to the increased postal rate. The 1½c postcard is now obsolete.

A. H. LOMAX of Portland, Ore., advises us that F. H. Vallancey was entertained August 31 by the Beaver Stamps Society of Portland. After dinner, adjournment was made to the regular meeting room of the society, when Mr. Vallancey gave a talk on "The Postage Stamps of Great Britain," illustrated with stereopticon slides. The talk was most instructive as well as entertaining, many "pointers" being given by the speaker with regard to the many peculiar features connected with stamps of Great Britain.

BEING interested in stamps since I was six years old and having travelled in such quaint countries as Liberia, Honduras, Guatemala, Mexico, etc., you will imagine that I could tell of many an interesting episode relating to stamps and postal authorities. But as yet the funniest experience is the one I had Sept. 10, at Newark, N. J., post office. I asked one of the clerks at a stamp window, if there were any of the Norse-American Stamps left. For a moment he looked at me somewhat bewildered and then said, "We ain't selling foreign postage stamps here, just the ordinary United States stamps."—ERICH PARCHE.

PERRY W. FULLER of Baltimore, Md., has removed to new quarters at 419 North Charles St. Here he has a store and with a street display upon the ground floor he is looking forward to wonderful business results. Mr. Fuller will have a quarter page advertisement in our Exhibition Special.

WE are informed by Francis J. Gross that the 3d blue Bermuda is sold out at the local post-office. This information is dated Sept. 4.

W. C. LYNCH sends us a clipping from a moving picture publicity bureau which announces "The Flying Mail," featuring Al Wilson, "America's most sensational stunt flyer." From the announcement we might well draw the inference that the final word in the title might well be changed to "male."

Suppose You Haven't Any Green or Carmine 4c of the 1883-87 Issues?

That's a question we often hear. There are few stocks of these stamps, and those we know of are held at double catalog or better. If the spaces in your album are filled with poor copies or none at all, this list will interest you.

UNITED STATES ISSUES 1870-1900

DR. WM. EVANS, Editor,
313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

(Any letter requiring a reply must have a self-addressed stamped envelope. No attention can be given matters that do not belong to the years indicated. What can you contribute of interest?)

(1) Magenta Star on stamped envelope sent by J. E. Spanmuth from Asbury Park, N. J. (2 and 3) Stars on 3c green. (4) Duck's Head on 3c pink stamped envelope of 1864 issue, postmarked Elizabeth, N. J., and sent by Mr. Wm. Forster. (5) Ornamental S in magenta on 3c green. It is inverted on the stamp and there may have been part of it not showing, as it is not heavily impressed. (6, 7, 8) Anchors on 3c green, the middle one in blue. (9) High hat. (10) Arrow head. The last two on 3c green. With the exception of Nos. 1 and 4, these belong to K. N. Woodward. Dr. J. P. Ball also submits the last one.

The arrow head on a stamped envelope is in my collection and has part of a postmark attached. This reads "ICKSBURG" "A," and this I interpret to be Fredericksburg, Va.

H. C. Woodruff has sent some covers bearing 2c green 1887, which demonstrate that there are many interesting things in connection with this neglected stamp. Firstthere are about fifty R.P.O. markings. There is a cover from Glade Mills, Pa., showing upon the stamp an open five-pointed star with the tips of the points just touched by a circle and segments of four diminishing circles between the sides of the points. Postmark and obliterator are purple, and the cover is very striking and attractive.

Then there is a cover from Lake Run, Pa., with the postmark done by hand. The name is written in the center "Lake Run—Feb 19—1890—Pa." in four lines, and surrounding it is a broken circle of heavy segments. This is the most curious postmark that I remember to have seen. The postmaster certainly worked over it.

Next are two advertising cuts on the upper right corners of the covers, with the stamps in the center of them. The first one is round and red. A large round center is mostly concealed by the stamp. This is bordered by a wavy band representing a long narrow strip folded many times. On each fold is a letter, Lawsons Cash Sales Slips, being the legend. This does not require all the folds, so the remaining ones show numbers. At the bottom the ends of the strip connect with an open book like those used in department stores by the salespeople.

The other represents a large green stamp, including the perforations. In the center is a solid rectangle in which the stamp is placed. Surrounding this is a narrow white band, and outside of this a green border. In white letters on this border are the inscriptions. At the top, "Ohio Centennial," bottom "At Columbus," left "Opens Sept. 4, 88," right "Closes Oct. 19, 88."

Plymouth, Mo., is in the lot with a red postmark and obliterator, and several towns are represented in purple, and a few in violet. "Geneva, O.—Se-t 10 89" the exhibits of that town, the obliterator being a five-pointed solid black star.

The following towns are shown to have used a star in a circle in black: Cedar Grove, W. Va.; Vale, Oregon.

Bement, Illinois, has a tiny solid star in the center of a large five-pointed star, the little one in the center surrounded by a narrow white border to outline it. This is in purple.

Kutztown, Pa., presents us with a solid five-pointed star in blue.

Elyria, Kans., has a five-pointed star with open center, and an open space in each point.

Regarding the printing of this series of stamps and the various papers used for it, the following interesting particulars are taken from the London Philatelist of 1904: "Originally it was not intended that any of the 1898 issue should be printed in London, as the regulations required the printing to be done in the Colony. Owing, however, to a series of delays which could not be foreseen, and the impossibility of getting the necessary machinery delivered in the Colony in time for the issue of the stamps on the desired date, it was found necessary to have a supply of the several denominations printed in London.

"Instructions had been given that watermarked paper should be used, but Messrs. Waterlow and Son raised an objection to this on the ground that the process of recess printing would render the watermark almost, if not quite, invisible. Another difficulty was that the engravers had unfortunately engraved the dies for the respective values of various sizes instead of preserving uniformity, a mistake which has since caused considerable trouble, and has necessitated the re-engraving of the dies for the lower values, so as to permit of these being printed on sheets of watermarked paper of one size. It was therefore decided to accept the initial supply of stamps on plain paper, and a further supply of precisely similar paper was ordered from Messrs. Waterlow and Son for use in printing the stamps in the Colony. The firm in question failed to carry out this, the paper being thicker, softer and more absorbent, and the 'gum trouble' [the insufficiency of the adhesive power of the gum used on this absorbent paper, — Ed.] arose. Eventually, the question of paper was handed over by the Agent-General to an expert.

"This expert first had recourse to the Basted Mills, and the paper would have been satisfactory but it was found to shrink too much; and a supply was ordered from Messrs. Cowan and Co. As the paper was very urgently wanted, a provisional supply of unwatermarked paper was first sent, and followed up, as soon as the dandy rolls were prepared, by the watermarked paper now in use."

The paper used for the London prints was a soft, somewhat opaque, white wove paper, the perforations gauging from 12½ to 16 with small holes. The Colonial printing began in 1899, and was upon a similar paper to the London printing but generally thicker and more spongy. The perforation gauges 11 and the shades are generally different from the London stamps.

In 1900, with the exchange of designs of the 1d and 4d stamps, came changes in color to the Postal Union green and red for the ½ and 1d, respectively, which were both re-engraved in reduced size to fit watermarked paper; the 2d and 4d were likewise re-engraved and reduced in size, while the 6d changed color but without change of size. The paper used for the new ½, 1 and 2d stamps was a thick, soft wove paper watermarked with a double-lined "NZ and star" from Waterlow. The new 4 and 6d, however, were printed on the unwatermarked Waterlow paper; and it is to be noted that the 4d in its original design exists only in the London printing, and in its changed design only in the local printing. While waiting for the new plates to arrive from London a provisional issue had to be made of the ½ and 2d, the plates of the 1895 and 1882 issues of these values being used with the Waterlow watermarked paper. All the stamps described above are perforated 11.

The popularity, beauty and scenic interest of this pictorial issue seem to require a description of their designs, which we abridge from the official notice: ½d view of Mt. Cook, flanked by sprays of ranunculus and celmisia; 1d view of Lake Taupo with Mt. Ruapehu in background and cabbage palm in foreground; 2d view of Pembroke Peak, Milford Sound; 2½d view of Lake Earnslaw and head of Lake Wakatipu with phormium tenax, toitoi and cabbage palms in foreground; 3d pair of huia birds; 4d view of the White Terrace, Rotomahana ("hot lake") flanked by sprays of tartaramon; 5d view of Otira Gorge and Mt. Ruapehu; 6d kaka or apteryx (wingless and tailless bird); 8d Imperial Crown and native war canoe surrounded by fern-trees and cabbage palms; 9d view of Pink Terrace, Rotomahana, with tree-fern and nikau palm at sides; 1s pair of kakas or hawk-billed parrots; 2s view of Milford Sound and cabbage palms at left; 5s Mt. Cook.

On December 8, 1900, to commemorate the part taken by the Colony in the South African war, a 1½d stamp was issued in addition to the design "symbolizing New Zealand's prompt response to the Empire's call for troops." It was locally designed and engraved by H. G. Thomas of New York, but was hardly a fitting companion, artistically, for the rest of the series. It was printed in "khaki" color on the watermarked Waterlow paper, perforated 11, but in 1902 appeared on the "Cowan" paper with single-lined "NZ and star" watermark, perforated 14. It was withdrawn from issue on October 31, 1909.

It may be remembered that, on Christmas Day of 1898, the Imperial Penny Postage scheme was inaugurated between Great Britain and such of her colonies as agreed, in virtue of which the rate for half ounce on letters exchanged between them was reduced from the Postal Union 2½d to 1d. In 1900 the New Zealand Parliament decided to reduce the internal letter rate to 1d and also to apply the same rate to the international mails, thus "going it one better" on the Imperial Penny Postage arrangement. The event was deemed of sufficient importance to merit a special stamp, and the preparation was intrusted to Waterlow. The design is very simple and pleasing, the official description reading: "A graceful female figure representing New Zealand stands in the foreground against a globe. In the background, Mt. Egmont is faintly outlined, and a mail steamer is shown in the middle distance."

The stamp was issued on January 1, 1901. Two million had been sent out from London with the plates, and these were on unwatermarked paper similar to the previous London prints and perforated 13 to 16 with small holes. The first Colonial prints appeared in February, 1901, on the watermarked Waterlow paper and perforated 11, 14 and compound of these. At the same time the 1d was issued with the 14 and compound perforations, it previously having had only the 11 perforation. The enormous demand for 1d stamps created by the reduced rate caused a shortage of paper, and in December, 1901, the ½ and new 1d were printed on the Basted Mills paper, a thin hard paper with the double-lined "NZ and star" watermark. In January, 1902, the same values were issued on the provisional supply of paper from Cowan and Co., a thin hard paper without watermark. In April, 1902, the new Cowan watermarked paper (single "NZ and star") was in use and the id 1d appeared upon it, and this has ontinued to be the paper used with two ceptions: the 6d printed in small supy in July, 1902, on paper watermarked ISBON SUPERFINE" once in the eet, obtained locally in Wellington, and e 2s in March, 1903, on laid paper with-t watermark.

The watermarked Cowan paper showed o different spacings, one to fit the all-sized stamps and a wider spacing r the 2½, 5 and 9d and 2s values. he 1½d and 5s were printed on the rrow-spaced paper and show two wamarks per stamp. The 3, 6 and 8d d 1s were printed sideways on e narrow-spaced paper. From Febary, 1907, the 6d was printed from a w plate in the reduced size of the ½d, d the 3d and 1s were later treated in e same way, being issued in June and cember, respectively, of the same year 907). These new plates of reduced size mps printed sheets of 240, instead of 0 as before, and exactly fitted the wamarked paper, so that the stamps now ve the watermark upright instead of leways.

New plates for the 1d stamp were obned in January, 1904, and stamps inted from these may be distinguished om the previous issue by having a nute dot in the color of the stamp most in the center of the vertical space tween the stamps in the horizontal ws, though in many cases the dot is t out by the perforation. These mps were used in 1895 to supply tomatic vending machines, for which rpose they were issued imperforate rizontally but with two large holes and ge zig-zag rouletting (about 9½) at es, the same with small rouletting bout 14½), the same without roulett-, and also wholly imperforate. New tes were again obtained in January, 06, but printings from these can only told by marginal plate marks.

n 1907 a new plate was obtained for ½d stamp which showed the pecurity of the minute dot referred to in plates of the 1d stamp of 1904. It also distinguished by the absence of a ite "smudge," due to a defect in the , which appeared on the previous ½d mp just beneath the ball of the scroll the left and in line with the "P" of ostage." As the old perforating mane gauging 11 had been repaired in 06 and refitted with 14 gauge, the new d was perforated only 14 at first; but 1907 two new comb machines were induced, one gauging 14 by 13 to 13½, d the other 14 by 15, and these were reafter generally used for the small-sized stamps, viz., the ½, 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6d and 1s. The 3d and 6d were also perforated with the single line 14 machine.

In November, 1906, a series of four stamps was issued to commemorate the International Exhibition at Christchurch. These are of the oblong shape so much used for pictorials; the frames are of the same design, but the central picture in each case is different, the ½d showing "Te Arawa," one of the great war canoes in which the Maoris are said to have reached New Zealand from Hawaiki under the leadership of Chief Tama-te-Kapua, about 500 years ago. The 1d is labeled "Maori Art," and shows the carving of the prow of a war canoe. The 3d represents the landing of Captain Cook in Poverty Bay in 1769. The 6d depicts the formal annexation of New Zealand by Captain Hobson in 1840. These stamps were all perforated by the single lined 14 machine.

In December, 1908, the method of printing the 1d stamp was changed from line engraving to typography and chalk-surfaced paper was introduced. The stamp was re-engraved and can readily be distinguished from the previous issues, the rosettes in the upper corners being much altered, the lines in the sky being unbroken instead of in dots, the shading on the drapery of the figure being vertical instead of diagonal, the lines on the globe being diagonal instead of vertical, and the funnel of the ship broad and touching the dress instead of narrow and separated from it. The scroll work around the sides is very much heavier and more distinct.

On September 26, 1907, the designation of the Colony was officially changed to the "Dominion of New Zealand," and on November 8, 1909, a new set of stamps bearing this title was issued up to 1s. All values are alike in design, bearing the head of King Edward, except that the 1d is still the "Universal Postage" design into which numerals have been introduced at the sides. The ½d and 1d stamps are both printed by typography on chalk-surfaced paper, but the other values are all line engraved by Messrs. W. R. Royle & Co. of London. The perforation was at first 14 by the single line machine, but afterwards 14 by 14½ by a new comb machine, and the two other comb machines already spoken of were used.

In 1913 it was gazetted that on and after December 31st of that year certain stamps would be demonetized, viz., all postage stamps and all duty stamps bearing a portrait of Queen Victoria from ½d to 2s and 5s. It was later explained that by the "2s and 5s" it was meant that these values of the pictorial set were not to be printed further, and that the same values of the fiscal series (which bear portraits of Queen Victoria) were to be substituted for them.

In the latter part of 1913 there was at Auckland the "Auckland Industrial Exhibition," and the Auckland Philatelic Society suggested to the Post Office Department that a special series of stamps be made by overprinting the then current issue for use at the Exhibition. To this the authorities agreed and the ½, 1, 3 and 6d stamps were overprinted in three lines "AUCKLAND—EXHIBITION—1913" in block capitals. The stamps were on sale at the Exhibition only during the period it was open. They were issued on December 1, 1913, and were valid for a period of three months within the Dominion and on mail to the Commonwealth of Australia, but not in the Postal Union mails.

The death of King Edward and accession of King George naturally brought up the question of a new set of "King's head" stamps, but it was not until 1913 that the new design was approved. It was stated that the design was "an adaptation of the famous 1d black of Great Britain, which is par excellence the ideal stamp." Difficulties were experienced in getting the dies approved, they having been the work of Messrs. Perkins, Bacon & Co. of London, but the set was finally issued on July 28, 1915. The values as before ran up to 1s, all being of the same general design except that the 1d still remained in the "Universal Postage" design. The ½d King's head was typographed as before on chalk-surfaced paper, and the remainder of the set was line-engraved. The ½d was also printed in sheets of 240 while the remainder of the set were in sheets of 120. The colors of the 2d and 4d were transposed because the 2d was used for receipt purposes and the blue fiscal later substituted. The perforation of cancellation did not show distinctly on its purple color; hence it was given the orange color of the 4d and was issued on January 15, 1916, while the 4d in its new color appeared the following May.

Owing to the imposition of the war tax of ½d on every postal missive except newspapers, the use of the 1½d stamp increased vastly and it was decided to produce it typographically for the sake of speed and economy. While a typographic plate was being procured from London an attempt was made to manufacture one locally, which proved almost a caricature of the engraved stamp it replaced. It was issued about the first of April, 1916, and was superseded by impressions from the London-made plate about the first of September, 1916. Besides the much finer workmanship of the London-made stamp, the two can be distinguished by the diamonds next the top frame line—there are two at each side of the crown in the local stamp and but one at each side on the London stamp. Both are printed on chalk-surfaced paper. It was finally found that these stamps were being used more than once as the cancellation did not always show plainly on the gray-black color; a change was therefore made to brown-orange early in September, 1918. Other details of the stamp remained the same. The 2d and 3d stamps were also changed to surface printing on chalky paper, the 2d appearing about the time of the 1½d from the London plate (September, 1916) and the 3d about May, 1919.

In March, 1916, the 1½, 2, 3 and 6d, and the 8d of the King Edward set, which had been reissued as it was the minimum charge on telegrams and was lacking in the Georgian set, were printed on some of the old "wide spaced" Cowan paper used for the long rectangular pictorial stamps. This gave some stamps with the watermark, some without, and some with only part of it. The 1½d was the engraved stamp, and had the watermark upright; the 2d was the engraved stamp in orange, and with the 3, 6 and 8d had the watermark sideways.

After the conclusion of the Great War, New Zealand decided to issue a set of Victory stamps. These were typographed on chalk-surfaced paper by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. They were sold in London by the Agents of the Dominion in November, 1919, but did not reach New Zealand for issue there until January, 1920. This caused considerable disgust in the Dominion, which was freely expressed. The set is a handsome one but would have been enhanced by line engraving. The ½d represents Victory seated upon the British Lion and holding out a laurel wreath; the 1d represents the same figures in a standing posture with palm branches at the sides; the 1½d has the portrait of a Maori chieftain, intended to recognize the cooperation of the aborigines in the war, palm branches appearing at the left, and near the border two Teko-Teko heads as used by the Maori to ward off evil spirits from their homes; the 3d shows the British Lion couchant, with a "glory" in the background; the 6d shows a "winged Victory" emerging from an archway; and the 1s presents a portrait of King George flanked by palms and the British Lion at either side, while the Teko-Teko heads again occupy the upper corners.

About the middle of May, 1921, the 8d King Edward stamp was replaced by a new King George stamp of this value, but printed in almost the same shade of blue as the 2½d stamp. The result was

EDITORIAL

The time has come when it is necessary that immediate attention be given to preparations for the trip to New York for the International Philatelic Exhibition and the convention of the American Philatelic Society by those who live at a distance from the center of impending philatelic activity. If warning to this fact were overlooked, the big heads carried on a story in Stamp Collecting, London, September 4th, "Six Weeks more and then—The Biggest Stamp Show ever!" would be a clarion call. The delegates to the convention of the American Philatelic Society will be the guests of the Exhibition on the evening of October 18th. It is incumbent upon those who will attend the convention to notify the committee in order that some estimate may be had of the number from a distance who will be present. Hotel reservations are to be made and arrangements for possible participation in the reduction in the rate of return railroad fare should not be neglected, upon the arrivals of visitors to New York, who are to make their presence known to the Convention Committee at that time.

Mr. F. H. Vallancey, proprietor of Stamp Collecting, London, accompanied by Mrs. Vallancey, is now on American soil and will stay at Hollywood, California, until October 5th, when he will proceed to New York by way of Chicago and Detroit. We are glad to welcome our confrère to this country and we know that he will be the recipient of many attentions while here. Mr. Vallancey's publication is a clean and capable chronicle of philatelic news and events and deserves the recognition that is so bountifully given it; and we commend his enterprise in making the long tour that he is enjoying, we hope, in order to share in New York's great achievement.

From Mr. L. R. Saunders, Mason City, Iowa, we have some additional information from the Honorable W. J. Glover, Ottawa, Canada, of the Division of Stamps: "The standard sizes of envelopes are sizes No. 8 and No. 10, both of which have been surcharged down from 3c to 2c. Also some private concerns which are not available at the Agency. The 3c ordinary red stamp is surcharged down to 2c and, like the surcharged envelopes, is available at the Agency."

The use of the name of the WEEKLY in connection with any campaign for special issues for the U. S. is prohibited; and a correspondent has been notified to the effect.

At the convention of the American Philatelic Society last year, a motion prevailed that a booth be secured at the International Philatelic Exhibition for the use of the society. Largely through the instrumentality of Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer, suitable accommodations have been rented which are being equipped for the comfort and convenience of those who attend the Exhibition. All collectors will be assured of a welcome at these headquarters which will prove to be a favorite rendezvous, no doubt. Easy chairs, writing material and other accessories will be at the disposal of visitors, and members may use the booth as a mail address and for other purposes that may suggest themselves. This booth will afford a meeting-place for all collectors, members or not, under conditions that must be congenial to philatelists. Mr. Wolsieffer has handled the booth proposition for the society with characteristic ability.

In the Advance Sheets, under Philippines, on page 1171, the following explanatory note appears: "Nos. 274 and 290 to 303, inclusive, excepting No. 296, exist imperforate. The Director of Posts offers to supply imperforate stamps to anyone who will order 10,000 pesos worth." Mr. Ward says that No. 274, the single line watermark, does not come imperforate. In this connection, we have received the following letter from Mr. Edward J. Meehan, New York, who seems to have first-hand information that has a decided bearing on the status of these imperforates: "My personal investigations have resulted in my learning something as to this issue. All of these stamps (over 100,000) were purchased by a company and delivered to it in New York. These stamps never saw Manila. It is true that a few 'samples' were sent to the Director of Posts in Manila, but the Bureau of Insular Affairs informs me that these were 'samples' and not to be sold. None were sold in Manila 'over the counter' as you say or any other way. The 'bid price' is open to question as how can anyone offer for sale something which is entirely in the possession of another person? You state: 'It seems that a good portion of the stamps were purchased by Mr. Leon J. Lambert.' The records of the Bureau of Insular Affairs of which I have a certified copy, reveals that all of these stamps, except the 'samples' sent to the Director of Posts, were sold and delivered to Lambert Sales Company. These stamps were never intended for postal purposes. A large New York dealer told me in December, 1925, that he would not have anything to do with them and advised me to keep clear of them, as the circumstances were not such as to allow them to be offered to collectors as 'stamps for sale by the post office for postal duty.' My interest in these stamps is due to the fact that I do a wholesale business in Philippines and Canal Zone exclusively and this kind of advertising and these stamps hurt my business and harm collecting in general. I am sure that you will agree with me that the statements made in the WEEKLY were misleading and not in accordance with your long-standing policy." We are in duty bound to give prominence to what evidently are the circumstances of the floatation of these imperforates and to emphasize the likelihood that the stamps will not be listed in the new edition of the catalogue.

The following letter from Mr. Herbert M. Scott, Moundsville, West Virginia, editor of Amerika Esperantisto, the official journal of the Esperanto Association of North America: "At the time of the issue of the Popov commemorative series of Russia, I called your attention to the fact that then for the first time, a stamp inscription had appeared in the International Language, Esperanto, a fact that you failed to note in your columns. Now, as appears in your issue of September 6th, the Russian government has again made use of Esperanto, but you fail to state that this series is distinctly an Esperanto issue, since it especially commemorates an Esperanto congress. Thinking some details may be unknown and of possible interest to you, I translate herewith from the July 30 issue of Heraldo de Esperanto, the central weekly of the international language movement, published in Germany: 'The sixth congress of Sennacieca Asocio Tutmonda (SAT) (an international organization of Esperantist socialists) will take place from the 5th to the 20th of August in Leningrad. . . . To the SAT congress, success is the more assured in that it has had a special honor conferred upon it which has thus far been attained by no other Esperanto congress to wit: the Soviet post office has issued special postage stamps in honor of the congress. The new stamps depict in a central oval the Liberty obelisk in cow and the letters, SAT. Aroun oval appears in the Morse code, the petarian motto, in Russian and in ranto. On either side of the ov shown a fir-tree and over each fi is a five-pointed green star (the em of the Esperanto movement). Abo oval there appears, in Russian and i peranto, the legend, 'Post USSR' below, there is inscribed, in Espe alone: 'VI International Prope Esperanto Congress 1926'. In ad each stamp contains in two languag value: 7 kopeks, green with brigh center and 14 kopeks, green with center. Green, it may be added, universally recognized Esperanto c

MIXTURE

Mr. J. A. McKinney, St. Louis, submitted several covers from the Compagnie des Messageries Maritime, Paris, addressed to the Canadian Pacific Railway at St. Louis, in 1925, each of which bears the 20 centimes France, the circular rate from France at the time, we believe, and in addition the 1½c Harding, cancelled at St. Louis. An explanation for the use of the American stamp in addition to the French does not suggest itself and information on this angle would be welcome.

Mr. W. N. Emerson of the General Merchant, Chicago, sends the following clipping:

"Isn't a philatelist a feller who reads the bumps on your dome?"

"I should say not. You're thinking of a psycholager. A philatelist is a native of Philadelphia."

Stamp Collecting Handbook, No. 34, "British Postmarks Prior to May 6th 1840." by P. L. Tengley and published by Stamp Collecting, 89 Farringdon Street, London, E. C., 4, London, England, at 2sh6d net is a little work of philatelic and historical interest. Latterly, there has been a tendency to give attention to pre-stamp markings and four pages of plates in this booklet, together with the text, afford the investigator a comprehensive knowledge of the subject. The first London Penny Post was started by the Quaker merchant, William Dockwra, in 1680, and lasted two years, when it was seized by the government and became a crown institution. With this book at his elbow, the collector will be able to assign to its category any cover bearing the characteristic markings of the old days, in Great Britain.

The following clipping from Mr. Raymond R. Robbins, Colorado Springs, Colorado, taken from the Denver Post, tells of the enterprise of a ten-year-old king in applying for space at the International Exhibition: "NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—Ten-year-old King Otto II of Hungary, now in exile in Spain with his mother, Queen Zita, is one of the most recent applicants for space in the international stamp exhibition, to be held in Grand Central palace From Oct. 16 to 23.

The son of the late King Charles of Austria-Hungary, whose throne became a memory thru the cataclysm of the World war, will send nearly his entire collection of stamps to the palace, and is reported to be boyishly enthusiastic over the hope that it will be pronounced one of the masterpieces of the big display.

The youngster's collection is devoted largely to Hungarian issues, of which he has many superb copies. The mounting is especially remarkable, each page having been specially designed and drawn by Professor Haranghy, a noted Hungarian artist. In keeping with the remainder, the binding is an elaborate example of the bookbinder's art.

The exhibition seems likely to create an entirely new army of collectors."

NEWS NOTES:—

SAMUEL BENNETT, formerly of Reading, Pa., is now located at 221 Sassafras St., Millville, N. J. Mr. Bennett is one of the trustees of the Society of Philatelic Americans, and is actively engaged as a stamp dealer.

THE W. C. Henry Philatelic Service of Los Angeles, Cal., will be heard from frequently during the coming year. The firm will begin anew its use of the WEEKLY next week with a full page advertisement, which will be one of the most attractive features of our special number. Mr. Henry has signed a 5,000-line advertising contract and expects with Mr. Naschke, his assistant, to be very much upon the philatelic map this season. Mr. Henry has recently made a quick trip east and is again on his way east to meet his friends at the Exhibition. During his stay in New York he will make his headquarters at the Waldorf-Astoria.

WE have not received a sufficient number of replies to our Exhibition "certificate plan" to warrant our publishing any names. Several who have sent in word to the effect that they will be at New York failed to mention the very matter that we so urgently stressed. In view of the fact that both the A. P. S. convention and the International Exhibition have been so well and thoroughly advertised we do not think it advisable this year to attempt to publish the names of those who intend to be present.

MR. WILSON'S ITINERARY

F. E. Wilson of Birmingham, England, who is associated with his father W. T. Wilson in business, will attend the New York Exhibition. His itinerary is as follows:—Sept. 19-20 Montreal; 21 Ottawa; 22 Montreal; 24-27 Toronto; 29-30 Detroit; October 1-2 Detroit; 3-5 Chicago; 6 Pittsburgh; 7-10 Washington; 11-12 Philadelphia; 13 Atlantic City; 14-23 New York City; 24-26 Boston.

It is probable that the Boston Philatelic Society will date ahead its October meeting to the 12th and the Atlantic City date cancelled. All the British delegates to the New York Exhibition will receive an invitation to Boston.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL
A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.
Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."
C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."
The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

F. HUGH VALLANCEY

We are pleased to show the features of our London worker in the vineyard, F. Hugh Vallancey, proprietor of Stamp Collecting and of the Publishing House of Francis Hodgson. Stamp Collecting is a weekly publication that is gaining favor in this country inasmuch as it is conducted with an enterprise that affords an ideal setting for the interesting and instructive features of the journal. As a publisher of philatelic books, Mr. Vallancey is entitled to all credit and under careful cultivation this somewhat unfruitful field is yielding increasing returns, we are sure. Mr. Vallancey is much interested in philatelic literature and he has one of the largest stocks of it that is extant. He is now in the United States, having travelled through Canada to California and he will arrive in New York in time for the Exhibition.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) W. Somerville, Mass.

FIRST DAY COVERS

One of the most popular present day methods of collecting is to have a page here and there devoted to a first day cover. Some of the earlier ones are quite scarce and as this branch of the hobby is becoming more popular, there is no doubt but what the covers will advance in price as the dealers' stocks which are not large become exhausted.

I offer the following first day covers, each stamp used from the town in which it was officially placed on sale, showing the dated postmark clearly.

White Plains Stamp

Under date of Sept. 14th, the Information Service of the Post Office Department officially announced that the 150th anniversary of the battle of White Plains will be commemorated by a new 2c stamp which will be issued by the Post Office Department for the first time on Monday, October 18th. It was at first understood that this would be placed on sale on Saturday, the 16th, the opening date of the International Philatelic Exhibition but it is now found that it will not be available until the 18th, when it will be placed on sale at both the Branch Agency at the exhibition in New York, as well as at the post office at White Plains.

On and after October 28th, the anniversary of the battle, the new stamp will be offered for sale at the Philatelic Agency in Washington but not before. Postmasters in other cities will receive limited quantities upon requisition as fast as production will permit.

The new stamp is officially described as a horizontal rectangle, 75/100 x 87/100 inches in size, and will be printed in red ink. The center vignette shows a guncrew in action, consisting of four men dressed in Continental uniforms, with cannon and ammunition. Over the vignette, in ribbon form, are the words "United States Postage" in Roman letters. In the upper left corner appears the year "1776", and in the upper right corner the year "1926". Below the vignette in the center of the stamp is a circle containing the large numeral "2", with the word "Cents" on both sides and above the circle are the words "Battle of White Plains." In the lower left corner is the Continental flag, and in the lower right corner the historical "Liberty or Death" flag, first used in the Battle of White Plains, both appearing in oblique position.

On the subject of this variety, I have just received a most interesting communication from Dr. Jason Samuel Parker, the designer of this very handsome variety. Dr. Parker writes as follows:

"On July 17th, Mr. New wrote the Chairman authorizing me to submit a design for the stamp. I was fortunate in being able to interest Edmond F. Ward, a brilliant young artist, and together we worked out the design. The frame is entirely my own idea and he painted the picture to fit the frame. The Department has used our sketch exactly as we submitted it. (Of course, it was redrawn to scale and in the proper proportion by the Department artists.)

We studied the '69 issue, especially the ten cent, which Mr. Ward considers the most beautiful from an artistic standpoint and reproduced it, using the central, single, numeral, and omitted all scroll work. I have asked them to leave off the outer line which was on the model. I believe this is the first stamp designed by a collector and an artist together who endeavored to create an "object of art" which would be appreciated by the general public as well as by the collector.

You may have noticed that part of Patrick Henry's expression was omitted. I did not want the word "death" to appear on our stamp so we folded the flag to hide part of it. Mr. Eidsness wondered why no one ever thought of the old Revolutionary Flag before. I thought it deserved a place on a stamp so I put it on."

New 15c Air Mail Stamp

Under date of September 9th, the Third Assistant Postmaster General formally announced that the Department would issue a 15c air mail stamp for use primarily in connection with the contract air mail service but valid for all purposes for which postage stamps of the regular issue are used. Last June we announced in this column that such a stamp would be advisable to pay postage in the second zone on contract air mail routes and the stamp we are now told will be available at the Philatelic Agency on Saturday, September 18th, and will be distributed to central and direct accounting postmasters having need for such a stamp upon their requisitions, requisitions to be filled after this date as promptly as possible.

The new stamp is identical with the current 10c blue air mail stamp but shows the new value and will be printed in sepia.

It will, of course, be printed on the unwatermarked paper and perforated 11, being the product of the flat bed press. These stamps are printed in sheets of two hundred and cut into post office panes of fifty.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of Sept. 8th, the Department announced that Sept. 15th had been fixed as the date when service will be inaugurated on the extension to Atlanta of the Miami-Jacksonville contract air mail route. The Department states that a stop has been authorized at Macon, a city not on the original schedule.

The schedule for the entire route, an air line distance of 683 miles, calls for a plane to leave Atlanta daily at 7.00 o'clock and arrive at Miami at 4.45 P. M. North bound planes are to make the same schedule.

The North West Airways, Inc., of Detroit, Mich., will take over the operation of the Chicago Twin-Cities air mail route from the present contractor, Charles Dickinson, on October 1st. The new contractor will employ the pilots now being used by the present operator but will operate new air ships. A plane will be held in reserve at each end of the line, something that Dickinson has not done, a detail which is expected to materially enhance the prospects of success for the new enterprise.

On Sept. 9th, the Postmaster General announced that a forty-five day notice had been tendered by the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Corporation for discontinuance of contract air mail service between Philadelphia and Washington. Immediately the Department readvertised for bids for similar service between Philadelphia and Norfolk by way of Washington. Bids are returnable Sept. 25th with a view to inaugurating the extended service on October 1st. The former contractors of the shorter route contemplates a passenger service between Philadelphia and Norfolk beginning Sept. 13th and it is understood that they will rebid on the new contract for the extended route.

The new service will place Norfolk in contact with an overnight air mail service between New York and Chicago. Mail leaving the Virginia city in the afternoon will be delivered in Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City and intermediate cities the following morning.

6c State "Sepcimen" Error

The American Philatelist recently gave space to a note signed by Mr. H. M. Konwiser, wherein a doubt was raised as to the genuineness of a 6c State "Sepcimen" error recently located in Boston. Mr. Konwiser mentions that when this variety was compared with a "Sepcimen" error supposedly genuine of some other Department, that the overprint seeme differ.

For the information of those intere as well as the owner of this very sc stamp, it should be announced that has been passed upon by a number of experts, including the A. P. S. Ex Committee, consisting of Messrs. mann, Morgenthau and Doane. The not the slightest doubt about the st being what it is represented to be and overprint is identically the same as ten or fifteen similar overprints in Sinkler collection.

It is to be regretted that anyone posted upon the subject should attem unfavorably comment upon a stamp i public press.

IRAQ.—Stamp Collecting has the rumour, from a usually trustworthy source, that the 1 rupee denomination, with its pictorial representation of the Arabic category of the date tree, may soon be superseded by a stamp bearing a portrait of King Feisul. That picturesque monarch visited the printing works of Messrs. Waterlow, Wilkinson & Co. the other day, and spent some hours in interested inspection of their extensive stamp printing plant.

INDIA.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the 1R, brown and green, issued by the Government Security Press at Nasik, on multiple star watermarked paper.

ITALY.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle the following surcharged "Pneumatic" Post stamps: 15c purple surcharged "Cent. 20" and 30c blue overprinted "Cent. 40." Both are in black in parallel lines obliterate the former values.

JAPAN.—We have to thank our good friend and colleague, Mr. Umejiro Kimura, President of the Philatelic Society of Japan, for examples of the new ordinary postage stamps of that country, 2, 6 and 8 sen values, formally issued on July 1st but which will be put on sale only when the current stamps of the same values are sold out, say in about two to three months from that date. Our friend applied at the Department of Communications for special treatment for philatelists, and the officials were kind enough to consent to his request, so that others were subsequently able to get a few sheets. The stamps, which are expressly intended for foreign mails, show, on the 2 sen, Mount Fujiyas seen from the south, on the 6 sen the famous Yomeimon (Yomei gate) at Nikko, and on the 10 sen the equally famous Nagoya castle, with its golden dragoni fishes on the uppermost roof.

New permanent issue. Designs as above. Transverse oblong format. Wmk. wavy line horizontally. Perf. 13½x13:—2 sen green, 6 sen red. Stamp Collecting.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS—Passport stamp.—Designs for a stamp, which will probably be known as the "Nansen stamp," are at present being considered by the Swiss Federal Stamp Office in Berne, in connection with the scheme for levying a special annual fee on identity certificates or identity cards issued to Russian and Armenian refugees. The stamp (it is stated by the International Labour Office) will be of one denomination only—five gold francs—will probably be issued separately in French and English, and it is proposed that it should bear the portrait of Dr. Nansen, High Commissioner for Refugees. The identity certificate already mentioned is a passport issued by Governments to Russian and Armenian refugees who cannot obtain, or refuse to accept, the Soviet or Turkish nationality. It is issued in identical international form, following arrangements adopted at the instance of the High Commissioner, by forty-five Governments to Russian refugees and by thirty-one Governments to Armenians. The new stamp is to be affixed to these certificates, the fee being charged by States to all Russian and Armenian refugees except those who are without means. The proceeds will be paid to a special fund which is being set up by the League of Nations to assist the migration of these refugees and to improve the present system of identity passports.—Philatelic Magazine.

MALTA.—Under date of August 26th last, Mr. R. Forbes-Bentley advises that he has received the following letter regarding the number of stamps issued surcharged "Postage" from the Office of the Minister for Industry and Commerce, Palazzo Paradiso, Valletta. Under date of June 7:—

"With reference to your communication, dated the 22nd ultimo, I am directed by the Honourable the Minister for Industry and Commerce to inform you that the statement reproduced by you from the French Philatelic Paper quoted in your letter under reply, regarding the number of stamps overprinted with the word "POSTAGE.' was made under no authority whatever, and is absolutely incorrect."

The figures referred to were first issued by a Belgian dealer and quoted in the French and English papers. Mr. Forbes-Bentley also sends a copy of the new ½p green, type of Scott's A22.

MOROCCO AGENCIES.—Mr. R. Roberts informs us that the 9p green Great Britain stamp printed on the new watermarked paper has been surcharged for use as 75 centimes as before. Also the 1½p brown has been overprinted with the name of the colony at the top in two lines and "15 Centimos" at the bottom.

PARAGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 75c blue of the 1910 issue, perforated obliquely, and half was used as 20c. Our correspondent further adds that this split provisional was on sale for seven days only. A similar provisional was issued in 1911, differing only in shade.

PATIALA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us the following new items: De la Rue printings of India overprinted by the Indian Government Press at Nasik: 2R rose and yellow brown, 5R blue and violet, "Service," 6a bistre, 2R and 5R. The 6a stamps are printed in sheets of 256 on De la Rue stamps all watermark single star.

SAN MARINO.—Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle a set of six stamps issued in commemoration of Antonio Onofri. They are printed in two colors, line engraved with "Rep. Dis Marino" in a curved frame at the top. Below the picture in the centre is the inscription "Francobollo per L'Interno." The figures of value at bottom have the words of currency at each side. Colors and values are 10c blue and black, 20c grey and black, 45c purple and black, 65c olive and black, 1 lira orange and black and 2 lira lilac and black.

SOUTH WEST AFRICA.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us the 3p Postage Due, Pretoria printing, no watermark, overprinted for use in this colony. The surcharge of "South West" is 16mm and 9½mm between.

that it was shortly withdrawn and replaced by the same stamp in red-brown in February, 1922. About the end of May, 1922, a 5d stamp in the King George type was added in a light blue. The newspaper rate having been raised from ½d to 1d, the demand for ½d stamps fell off greatly and as there was a large stock of the ½d Victory stamps still on hand, they were surcharged 2d in red, the local letter rate, to use them up.

The latest news is that changes in the color scheme of the current issue are now in prospect. In this respect it may be said that the 2½, 4½ and 7½d stamps of the Georgian set are all understood to be obsolete.

Turning now to the "postal fiscals" we see that the values from 2s up have been regularly employed as postage stamps when needed ever since 1882, as we have already noted. The Postmaster General's report for 1882 says: "The two-shilling and five-shilling postage stamps have been replaced by duty stamps of similar values, and the higher values of duty stamps are now accepted in payment of postage, and may therefore be used either for duty or postage purposes." This was only supplemented by the 2s and 5s of the pictorial series in 1898, and they are now long out of issue.

An Express Delivery stamp was issued in February, 1903, in a rather large oblong form, printed in two colors. The ornamentation is confined to a Teko-Teko in each upper corner and leaves of the large black tree-fern over the value. It is perforated 11 only.

A War Tax stamp in the shape of the ½d King George was made by surcharging the words "WAR STAMP," together with two stars, on September 24, 1915.

From 1892 to 1907 various stamps then in use were overprinted diagonally with a rubber hand-stamp, generally in a magenta or violet ink, with letters "O. P. S. O." (On Public Service Only) when used on official mail. On January 1, 1907, a regular official set was issued overprinted vertically in black with the word "OFFICIAL" on the pictorial series (the 1d was the "Universal Postage"). This has been continued by using several values of the Edwardian set when that was issued, and of the Georgian set in its turn. Three values of the revenue stamps have also been included.

In 1891 a set of six special stamps was issued for the use of the Government Life Insurance Department. "The prepayment of insurance correspondence by special stamps is the outcome of a difference of opinion between the Insurance Department and the Post Office as to the annual postage calculated on periodical countings to be paid the Post Office. . . . It was urged that stamps of a distinctive character would be less likely to be fraudulently used, while they would also afford a means for advertising the Insurance Department." The design was redrawn in 1906, omitting the letters "V. R." on either side of the lighthouse, as King Edward had come to the throne, but only the 1d and 2d values were issued as the set was withdrawn on the appearance of the "OFFICIAL" stamps. The paper and perforation followed those used for the regular postage stamps during the period of use of these special stamps. They were brought into use again on January 2, 1913, and the remaining values issued in the redrawn design, except the 1s, while a ½d stamp was added in 1917.

Postage Due stamps were issued in 1900, the first set being printed from plates cast from type set blocks. The values were printed in at a second operation. There are two types of frame, (a) with 14 ornaments in the inner "horseshoe" and 17 dots in the arc beneath, and (b) with 13 ornaments and 15 dots, respectively, and the letters "N. Z." smaller. The ½d has both types of frame and has one stamp in the sheet without stop after "D." The 1d and 2d are found with both large and small "D." A new type made up from

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

Great Britain.—Mr. Oswald Marsh provides a surprise in the shape of a Somerset House printing of the 1½d with control E. 26. The shade is a pale bright chestnut. One wonders whether this is a philatelic memento of the general strike. At any rate the control appears to be very rare.

Mr. J. O. A. Arkell states that he has a fine used copy of the 1d Harrison Edwardian in aniline-pink, perforated "L & L" over "F O." As he says, it would be interesting to know what firm used up a sheet of this rare shade for ordinary office purposes.

Australian Commonwealth.—From cuttings sent us by various readers, we learn that a special stamp will be issued to commemorate the official opening of the Federal Parliament at Canberra, at which the Duke and Duchess of York will be present. The new stamp will be line-engraved, and will be issued only in a limited quantity.

Mr. D. Hogarth sends us a cutting which states that automatic stamp-vending machines are to be installed in the streets of the principal Australian cities. We believe these machines were supplied by a London firm.

Ceylon.—A reader kindly sends us a cutting from which we learn that the use of postal franking machines is to be authorised. A nine cents adhesive stamp is in preparation.

India.—Many readers have sent us an interesting extract from the Pioneer, relative to the new Nasik Press printings of Indian stamps. The gum used is of such a character that it is hoped that it will not get sticky in the rainy season. The rupee values are to be printed in six panes of 20 stamps, 120 stamps to the sheet, instead of 96 per sheet as formerly. The watermark will be the same as for the anna values.

New Zealand.—The 9d stamp is now coming in a noticeably yellower shade. Messrs. Wilcox, Smith & Co. state that the new 1d, 2s and 3s stamps may be expected at any moment. The two high values will be overprinted for Niue, Rarotonga and Samoa.

Union of South Africa.—Our publishers had a couple of blocks of the 4d Triangular in their shop window for a few weeks. The sunlight turned one of them to very pale greenish blue, while the other came out as a very pale ultramarine, without a trace of green. Specialists should evidently exercise caution in purchasing exceptional shades of these stamps, when they so easily change colour.

OTHER COUNTRIES

Argentine Republic.—Our post-bag this month is full of cuttings from readers, relative to the Argentine Postal Centenary, an interesting event, though the stamps which celebrate it do not reach a very high artistic level. In addition to the stamps a special post card was issued to postal employees as a souvenir of the occasion. The card shows a portrait of Rivadavia, who signed the decree creating the general administration of posts, and the first chief, Don Juan Manuel de Luca, together with views of the old and new post offices as on two of the new stamps. The old P.O. is still used as a branch office. The new G. P. O. has been building for thirty-seven years and is still unfinished! Mr. A. H. Davis and Mr. H. G. Spanton give us the above interesting news. According to Mr. F. E. B. Metcalfe, distribution of the new stamps outside Buenos Aires has been very poor. In Rosario, the second city in the country, only about 35,000 stamps were available, most of these being the 5c value.

We stated some time ago that Argentine stamps would no longer be overprinted for use by Government Departments, but Mr. Metcalfe states that they are still in regular use. We are making further enquiries.

Costa Rica.—Señor G. Noriega states that three million of the new 10c stamp have been issued. Señor Lines tells us that a 5c green, of which one million will be printed, has also been authorised.

Greece.—Mr. E. Melingounakis informs us that so-called Air stamps mentioned in certain Continental journals, which are to be issued for use in connection with the Air post between Italy, Greece and Turkey, are merely labels, without franking power.

Guatemala.—Mr. H. Solis gives the quantities printed of the new 6c, 1p and 3p, dated 1926, as follows: 6c, 1,000,000; 1p, 7,000,000; 3p, 9,000,000. There are eight more values to come.

Mongolia.—To fill the gap between the first issue, and a new permanent issue now in preparation, certain fiscal stamps have been overprinted with the word "POSTAGE" in English and with its Mongolian equivalent. Of the 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20 cents, 3000 each have been overprinted, but of the 50c and $5 there are only 100 of each, while the $1 is a rarity, with only 50 copies existing. We have seen letters from Mongolia franked only with these new provisionals.

Persia.—In addition to stamps of the ex-Shah series with paper pasted over them, Mr. R. W. Gray shows us others with a black diamond or circle impressed, which fulfils the same purpose. From the same kind correspondent we receive a cover, sent by the first Air mail to leave Teheran for Europe, via Russia.

Portugal.—Mr. C. J. Chambers informs us that, by another decree, the validity of the current postage stamps has been extended to November 14th of this year.

A long series of new stamps is to be issued under the auspices of a Society having as its objects the establishment of an international exhibition in Lisbon in 1940, the acquisition of the historic palace of the Counts of Almada for use as a War Museum, and the commemoration, in 1940, of the 8th Centenary of the founding of Portugal and the 3d Centenary of its restoration in 1640. The six designs of the new series will be historic in character, and the proceeds of the sale of the stamps will be devoted to the objects of the above-mentioned Society. If, as has been suggested, the stamps are overprinted each year, until 1940, with a new date, we do not think collectors will consider variation worthy of notice.

Russia.—The Soviet Government seems to have taken the international language, Esperanto, under its wing. The latest Russian commemoratives elaborate an International Esperanto Congress which we are told is to take place at Leningrad this year. It will be remembered that the Popoff stamps also had an inscription in Esperanto. We are also told that the marks in the oval frame are Morse code letters. Can any reader interpret?

Siam.—Mr. S. V. Devahastin tells us that the inscription on the pictorial stamps

HODGE-PODGE:—

SOME weeks ago we published a review of a book on profit in stamps and credited the same to R. D. MacGuffin of Narbeth, Pa. This was a mistake and we desire to relieve him of all responsibility in connection with the review. Mr. MacGuffin's name has been so closely associated with stamps from an investment standpoint that we have tried to excuse ourselves for the blunder committed.

PLEASE note the change of address of the Max F. Bier Co., who are now located at 91 69th St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

IF our readers can furnish the Rotnem Stamp Co., 809 Northwestern Bdg., Minneapolis, Minn., with the present addresses of the following parties the firm will be greatly obliged:—Geo. Lang, Russell B. Herr, Ray Carson, Wm. H. Carb, J. O. Ash, R. D. Weldon, S. T. Lauritsen, Allen Pedigo and Howard Ault. These parties cannot be reached at their last known address.

THE latest to come to our desk is The Peridromophile. For fear some of our readers may not know what this publication exploits we will convey the information that it is "the collecting of local transit transfers." It will be remembered that some months ago we reviewed a book devoted to this hobby. Collectors interested may address 1009 Main Av., Cleveland, Ohio.

NEXT week we shall introduce to our readers a new advertiser in Chester I. Crowell of Brooklyn, N. Y. Mr. Crowell has a fine stock of stamps and his opening advertisement will be one well worth perusing. He comes well recommended and we bespeak for him the patronage of our readers.

A STAMP find is reported by Karl A. Pember which has not been noted in the philatelic press. We will quote from his letter:—"Recently I tackled an old farmhouse tucked away in the hills of Vermont. There I found some of the good old things in U. S. treasured since the time when the grandfather of the family had been a small-town postmaster. Among the gems were blocks of the 1c 1867 grilled 11x13, the largest block being of 45 stamps, 9x5, and a beautiful block of fourteen of the 7c Stantons, National Print (the largest known of this stamp, I'm told), large blocks of the 1c and 2c 1869 and a pretty little block of 16 of the 3c rose grilled 9x13. Much of the remainder were pairs, strips with labels and plate numbers and small blocks such as might well have been left under the circumstances above described. The trading battle that followed their discovery was long and drawn out according to the best tenets of Yankee trading, but finally, the "Pember Find" was procured and the bacon carried home. I wonder if some of these items won't be seen at the New York Exhibition? Dr. Carroll Chase has seen them all and is very enthusiastic over them."

WHEN renewing his subscription S. L. Bierbauer writes us:—"I was recently quite fortunate in obtaining a bunch of 5c 1851, thirteen copies, including four pairs. They all had red cancellations but one, three were 'Paid,' and five so lightly hit as to look uncancelled. I am heartened to keep on collecting a little longer."

VAN-CLELAND, [tf
284 Main St., WINNIPEG, CANADA

andria, Va.; six points, Bagle, Iowa; Rockford, Mich., and a purple one at Mays Landing, N. J.

Greely, Neb., and Knowlton, N. J., are represented by blazing stars.

More solid ones from Macedon, N. Y., Van Wert, O., Petersburgh, Ind.

Academy Mont'g Co., Pa., Penns Grove, N. J., and Livonia Station, N. Y., show a small solid star surrounded by a circle, as the central device of an oval grid.

Little Georgetown, W. Va., has as an obliterator what is probably a Masonic emblem surrounded by a circle made up of small squares.

Then there is Forest City, J. G. Reid, P. M., Jan. 30, 1890, Potter Co., S. Dakota, in purple, in five lines; Lewiston, Jan. 27, 1890, Sully Co., Dakota; O- - - -n, Monroe Co., N. Y., in an oval with a small multiple pointed star at each side of the three-line date; Perrysville, Pa., Allegheny Co., in a purple oval, with the date in one line across the center; Rodamers, Preston Co., W. Va., Russell Cave, Fayette Co., Ky., in a double lined oval, and the U. S. mail in a circle as the obliterator; Hoagland, Mercer Co., Pa., in a double lined oval; Newmansville, Clarion Co., J. O. Bowman, P. M., Penna., in a large notched circle.

Alexandria Bay, N. Y., and Bemus Point, N. Y., show the use of that little round finely webbed device, which you doubtless all know. It's not uncommon.

A maltese cross, each arm formed by a double line comes from Springboro, Pa., Bulger, Penna., Diamond, Pa., and a town in Nebr., not readable, all in black, and from Zelianople, Penna., in purple. Type No. 7, Jan. 4, 1926, Forum.

A pair of 1c 1890 on a cover postmarked Cherry Hill, Pa., May 18, 1894, each stamp cancelled "FREE" is a fitting climax for this nice lot, and makes one wonder how it could have happened at that late day.

Mr. Theodore Schmitz sends a 1c 1887 cancelled "CLINTON," and asks if it is a precancel. This is probably not the case, but is more likely a postmark. Mr. Schmitz also sends a collection of 2c 1894 and 1895 cancellations, among them being a six-point star with open center, a five-point star also with open center, a blazing star, an oval grid of sixteen bars, a diamond shaped grid of eleven bars, and a number of other obliterations not so scarce. Besides these a 10c 1895 with an outlined star in a circle and a 10c 1898 with a solid star in a circle.

Then there are two 3c green, one with the initials EN and the other with EHH.

In the issue of July 5 cut No. 3 is reported by Mr. B. A. Ashcraft on a piece of cover bearing the postmark Jersey Shore, Lycoming Co., Pa. He says it is a steel die, perfect in every respect. The illustration would be a poor one of such an item. He also reports No. 5 in blue-black from Utahville, Pa. The spelling in the former issue is wrong. The "li" should be "h."

DEALERS' PUBLICITY FUND

The Dealers' National Publicity Fund has made considerable progress since the last published report, according to a statement filed with us by the secretary, Tom V. Binmore. In checking up his records with the Exhibition committee Mr. Binmore finds that many dealers have made contributions through the latter channel. In the previous report a subscription of $1,000.00 from W. C. Phillips & Co. was inadvertently omitted and a subscription credited to B. L. Drew should read:—D. Kelleher $350.00.

Mr. Binmore calls attention to the fact that $1,180.00 is the maximum contribution that can be accepted by the committee, and it will be noted that the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. and J. C. Morgenthau are both in this class.

The work of distributing news matter throughout the country is going on. There are now eighty names on the list of contributors and Mr. Binmore would like your contribution to this fund if not already sent in. Address him at 575 Fifth Ave., Long Island City, N. Y.

SOME RECENT STAMP ISSUES

By ELLIOTT M. WALTON

Following are a few new issues which arrived this week. You may desire to chronicle these:

Egypt—5, 10 and 15 Milliemes—surcharged on the 50, 100 and 200 Milliemes values of the Agricultural Exhibition. Surcharge is in two lines "10—MILLIEMES". 120,000 said to be printed.

Lebanon—3 values overprinted on the Pictorial issue of 1925 to take care of the new postal rates—3p50 and Syriene characters opt. on Op75; 6p on 2p50 and Syriene characters; 12p on 1p25 and Syriene characters; double bars on either side of the overprint to obliterate the old values—over or under the new value as the case may be.

Mongolia—Provisional surcharges on Revenue stamps of Mongolia. Surcharge is in a "box" vertically—reading "Postage" in English and equivalent in Mongolian characters. Values and numbers printed according to my correspondent. 1, 2, 5, 10 and 20 cents, 3,000 each; 50 cents, 100 copies; 1 dollar, 50 copies; 5 dollars, 100 copies. New issue being printed in Moscow and expected soon.

GRAND CENTRAL PALACE

CHARLES LATHROP PACK, LL. D.
President Exhibition Committee

FOREMOST IN FORESTRY — EMINENT IN PHILATELY
HIS YEARS RICH IN GOOD DEEDS

THE HONOR of President of the International Philatelic Exhibition has been bestowed upon one who is very worthy of it. Mr. Charles L. Pack is known nation-wide for his public spirited activities and he has been no less active acquiring fame in philately. Very recently he was given the degree of Doctor of Laws by Oberlin University and in the specifications of the degree, "Philatelist" is cited. Of Mr. Pack it was said:—

"To all those who preserve for us nature's gifts, our hearts go out in gratitude, but above all to him who cherishes for us the trees of the forest. This morning we are to honor a man who has devoted his life to this cause—who by long study abroad and by acute observation throughout this country has made himself in his profession. It is my privilege, Mr. Chairman, to present Charles Lathrop Pack, influential leader in the conservation of America's forest resources, president of the American Tree Assn."

But while trees constitute Mr. Pack's life work, his hobby is philately, and he has one of the most scientifically studied collections in the world. A monograph on "Victoria—The Half Length Portraits and the Two Pence Queen Enthroned" has added to his laurels. At various exhibitions, he has been awarded gold medals and other honors including Tapling Medal 1922, Crawford Medal 1923, Collectors Club 1925, and Lindenberg (Berlin) Medal 1926. He is a member of various philatelic organizations and makes his home at Lakewood, N. J.

THE EXHIBITION

We extend a hearty welcome to all our friends and hope to have the pleasure of meeting them in person at the Grand Central Palace.

Mr. G. W. Nowell-Usticke will be delighted to meet and have a talk with any and all of our customers; step up and make yourself known.

THE INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION

By Herman Toaspern, F. H. S. L.

DO you remember when you were a boy, the first signs of Spring? The old Circus posters, lithographed in three colors, announcing the big event, "Bigger than Ever!" "Grand Parade of the World's Marvels!"

And how you thought the day would never come?

And how after you had gotten into your seat, and the three rings were showing three different acts, how you tried to take it all in at the same time?

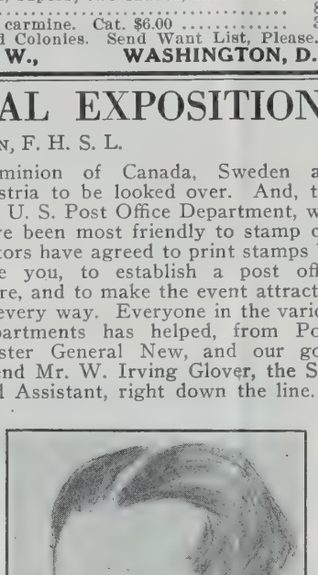
It looked mighty big to your small eyes, though today it would perhaps only appear to you as a small, dirty appearing tent show. Well, that circus looked big, but when the International Philatelic Exhibition throws open its doors to the waiting public at Grand Central Palace on Saturday afternoon, October 16th, your now mature eyes will open even wider.

"Grand Parade of the World's Marvels!" Well, rather! A grand parade of the finest collections in Philately, from the four corners of the earth, all brought together for your edification. Brains, money, philatelic research, every conceivable study of our hobby. Even if you have been to other Exhibitions, including our great one of 1913, you will be surprised.

Talk about trying to see a three-ring circus all at once! I dare you to try to see in eight days one-half of the Exhibition. Figure this one out if you are mathematically minded. There will be 800 frames, each holding 30 selected pages. That totals 24,000 pages. Can you imagine it? Just think of trying to look through 600 albums of stamps! Or better yet, to give you an idea of the real bigness of it all, let us say one spent just one minute in front of every frame. That would be 800 minutes, or to be exact, 13 hours and 20 minutes. That's two working days, taking short meal hours.

Then think of the booth holders, the dealers with whom you do business, whose articles you read and whose advice you take, sometimes. There are fifty booths, all rented and somebody worthwhile in every booth to talk with.

Then there are the Official Exhibits of the United States Government, the Dominion of Canada, Sweden and Austria to be looked over. And, too, the U. S. Post Office Department, who have been most friendly to stamp collectors have agreed to print stamps before you, to establish a post office there, and to make the event attractive in every way. Everyone in the various departments has helped, from Postmaster General New, and our good friend Mr. W. Irving Glover, the Second Assistant, right down the line.



HERMAN TOASPERN,
Known as "Toasty".

(We hasten to assure our readers that Mr. Toaspern is really better looking than appearances indicate. So far as a man can be considered a judge, we would call him good-looking, and our lady subscribers who come to New York will endorse our judgment.—Ed.)

Not only are exhibits coming from all over the world but visitors as well. Our Japanese member of the Jury is coming from Tokio. South Africa will be represented by Mr. Emil Tamsen of the Transvaal and Mr. A. E. Le Roy of Durban, Natal. Mr. Percy T. Berry is coming all the way from Melbourne, Australia, to act on the Jury. Dr. Mario de Sanctis is coming from Sao Paulo, Brazil. Every one of the larger countries of Europe will have one or more representatives.

And these men are not just casual philatelists. They represent the cream of the philatelic brains of the world.

Important Additions to An Unparalled Stock

Our very strong stock of specialized United States Stamps, probably the most resourceful in existence, has been improved by many interesting items during the summer months.

Hitherto untouched lots have been searched for cancellations, principally on the bank-note issues, but some interesting things among the earlier stamps. Now mounted and waiting for those interested. Among them a very fine Waterbury ELEPHANT. The entire animal; half on the stamp, half on piece of cover. Many good RAILROADS on the '47 and '51 issues. Enough so we can offer passable copies of the 3c '51 on covers at these prices.

Every phase of U. S. specialization is catered to by this big stock. We handle plate varieties, pairs, strips, blocks, combinations on covers, foreign and domestic rates, routes, carriers, on all regular and semi-official issues.

20th CENT. ERRORS AND FREAKS

In U. S. stamps of the 20th Century we specialize in unused singles and blocks. The stock is particularly strong in the errors of color, misprints, double prints, and damaged plates of the war period offset-printings. Among our bargain offers are the following:

the younger generation to keep their sweethearts at a safe distance.

The United States sections will of course be the piece de resistance. Here is a partial list of the exhibitors: Hon. E. R. Ackerman, Messrs. H. P. Atherton, J. Murray Bartels, Dr. Carroll Chase, Messrs. H. P. Dean, A. W. Filstrup, Henry B. Gibson, C. F. Gehrman, Arthur Hind, S. P. Hessel, John Klemann, Jake Klemann, Edward S. Knapp, Alfred F. Lichtenstein, L. A. Missbach, H. B. Newman, Henry C. Needham, Elliott Perry, Thomas H. Pratt, Joseph H. Steinmetz, Philip H. Ward and William S. White.

This class will include the rarities of regular issues, Departments, Confederates, Revenues, Carriers, Locals, and every method of collecting by varieties and postmarks. Words fail me.

British North America with its various sub-divisions include Dr. Louis L. Reford, Lt. Col. E. F. Wurtele, Senator J. A. Calder, Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein and a host of others.

British Colonials will be there aplenty. Mr. R. F. A. Riesco and Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein will again engage in combat with their marvellous Cape of Good Hope collections. Mr. Arthur Hind will present his Mauritius against a strong field. Rev. C. S. Morton will show Hong Kong; Lt. Col. G. S. F. Napier, one of the most distinguished British Army officers, will show Soruth and Greece. Stephen G. Rich will show Union of South Africa and Mr. Alec A. Rosenblum, O. B. E., of Melbourne, will show Australia.

Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack will show some of the studies that added to his fame along other lines. Our own "Charlie" Phillips will show his well known U. S. Departments, his Danish collection, the basis of his handbook, as well as Servia, Ecuador and Liberia. Mr. James Starr of Philadelphia will show Chinese Treaty Ports.

Mr. Hans Lagerlof, who was recently honored by the Swedish Government for his work and presentation of a huge stamp collection to that Government, has entered his Sweden, Hong Kong, Finland, Rarities and Mexican Revenues. It was Mr. Lagerlof who secured the co-operation of the Swedish Government to join the Exhibition activities.

Mr. Eugene Klein and the author will battle to the death in the Heligoland class. Mr. A. E. Pade will show his Denmark, Mr. Bernard Heineman will show XXth Rhodesia, and Mr. T. Charlton Henry will show several collections of most immaculate material.

Being a dealer trained in the old ideas, I was very much inclined to give my good friend Mr. George M. Angers, Secretary of the Aero Philatelic Society, a great razzing. In fact my correspondence greatly in the kidding vein that I went completely off my base and bet Mr. Angers a new hat that they would not have four entries per class or a total of twenty-four entries. It looks very much as though he is going to parade around Springfield in a new hat, paid for by me.

And while we are on the subject of the town of Springfield, I might add that the Wide Awake Stamp Club of

THE COLLECTORS CLUB
By Charles J. Phillips.

THE members of the Collectors Club, New York City, are to be congratulated on their new home into which they moved, in June last. The address is 51 West 48th St., only a short distance from Fifth Avenue on the north side of the street.

The building is one of the old five-story brownstone buildings that has been completely altered and renovated. The ground floor is a very fine store that has not yet been leased but which no doubt will very shortly be occupied. A portion of the building has been set off for offices confined to stamp auctioneers and stamp dealers so the building will be an important philatelic center. The space occupied by the Club includes one-half of the third floor and the whole of the fourth and fifth floors. Communication to these is by electric personal elevator.

The walls of all the rooms are finished in buff as is all the woodwork, the ceilings being pure white. This color scheme was worked out to insure ample light during the day, all rooms having outside windows. The lighting system used throughout is the indirect overhead system that has been found to be the most practical for philatelic purposes. All the club rooms are supplied with side, floor and overhead switches so that all the light possible may be had when needed. The rooms occupied by the club are as follows:—

On the third floor is a large front room 20 x 20 feet with a huge built-in fire proof vault. The floor of this room has been covered with asbestolith, all the other rooms having mahogany stained, hard oak floors. This room will be used as the meeting room of the Club and for the displays that take place there, and when not occupied is available for public stamp auctions, which will be held here by several well-known New York auctioneers.

On the fourth floor we have in the front the reception room, one of the most beautiful rooms in the building. The walls are attractively lined with oak bookcases. In this room is placed the splendid philatelic library, which has recently been given to the Club by our esteemed member Joseph S. Rich. In addition to the Rich collection, there is a bookcase filled with the rarest works owned by the Club, as well as two other bookcases filled with examples of stamp albums from the earliest days. This room is also 20 x 20 feet and will be furnished with comfortable chairs and form an ideal reception room and meeting room for committees. On the same floor at the back, is the Secretary's room, which is 18 x 12 feet and is lined with bookcases devoted, in the main, to stamp and auction catalogues. It is in this room that the work of the Club will be done.

Only those people who have an intimate knowledge of the Club's affairs realize the enormous amount of correspondence that is handled during the year.

On the fifth floor, the front room is like the library and here is housed the major part of the periodicals and the files and card indexes, which will enable any student to find works and articles in which they are interested.

CHARLES J. PHILLIPS

This great library of philatelic literature has been built up through many important gifts. One of the very first was the library of J. Murray Bartels, followed by that of Abraham Hatfield, in 1890. Four years ago, Theo. E. Steinway bought and presented to the Club the greatest continental library, that of Judge Victor Suppantschitsch, and this noble gift was followed by an equally important gift from W. R. Ricketts, who has willed his library to the Trustees of the Collectors Club. This latter library is accompanied by an invaluable index, replete with cross references, the result of many years of great labor. Lastly, this

9 Vols. of Used Stamps 6,000.00
Or the entire lot, a real bargain 15,000.00

LIBERIA
In Class VII, Sect. 3, 1 frame.
First type stamps, 1860-1869 ..... $2,400.00

ECUADOR
Class I, Sect. 14, 4 frames, 2 albums.
The unique collection of the first issue only, 1865-1872 ..... $4,250.00

SERVIA
Class IV, Sect. 4, 2 frames and 1 album.
Issues 1866-1879 only $2,600.00

DENMARK
Class IV, Sect. 4, 4 frames, 2 albums.
The superb unused collection (with few used varieties) of the issues 1851-1899. Great number of uncut sheets, superb blocks, and special study of early varieties and the numerous settings of the Inverted Frames $7,600.00

Brief descriptions of these fine collections will be found in the Official Catalogue of the Exhibition, and inspection can be arranged to suit convenience of buyer.

All these groups (especially the U. S. Departments) are subjects for much more interesting study and are well worth the attention of those wishing a sound investment combined with pleasurable study and research.

ar we have received the magnificent rary of Joseph S. Rich, including some urteen hundred splendidly bound vol-ıes and very strong in early numbers all journals, and nearly complete in ry rare catalogues and price-lists. The possession of this library by the ollectors Club makes available so far publications in the English language e concerned, immediate and properly ganized information on every conceiv-le branch of philately.

Opposite the Library at the back is committee room, a small room 12 x 12 t which wil be found very convenient r small meetings as well as for the rarian or his assistants. Between the o rooms is a very long and splendid rage room which is extremely conven-nt for the storage of duplicates, etc.

In 1920 the total membership of the ub was about 90. At this moment it is out 650 active members, including the ading collectors of the world, and the gh standing of this membership is rthy of comment.

It is the aim of the Club that member-ip therein shall be a recommendation roughout the philatelic world. Phi-elists everywhere are cordially invited join with us and we hope that many re who visit New York during this chibition will take the opportunity to spect the Club and after inspection we pe that a large number will decide to n and by so doing help the Governors the great work they have undertaken to ster and to encourage the growth of ilately throughout the United States.

During each season meetings are held the first and third Wednesday in every nth at 8 P.M. In planning the pro-am for the coming year the Governors ve decided to continue the scheme that oved so successful in the past two ars, that is, of asking philatelists in ier cities to give displays, at the same ne expressing the willingness of the mbership of the Club to reciprocate giving displays in other cities if so sired. All of us should bear in mind old saying, that, "Knowledge is Power" and none of us are so well informed that we cannot learn and profit by the displays and talks that are planned for our mutual benefit. At the time of writing the new program for 1926-1927 has not been completed but arrangements have already been made with a number of prominent philatelists to give very important displays.

One of the most important objects of the Club is to produce serious publications worthy to rank with those produced during the last twenty-five years by the Royal Philatelic Society of London. The publications already issued have been "Mexico, Issues of 1873-83." by J. Brace Chittenden, and "Victoria, The Half Length Portraits and the Two Pence Queen Enthroned," by Charles Lathrop Pack.

This year we are publishing a very important work on "Mexico, Issues of 1856-1868," by our member, S. Chapman, and we have in preparation and shall shortly publish a work on "British Columbia and Vancouver Island," by H. C. Hitt.

An important committee is also at work on a very exhaustive publication on the "Stamps of Canada" which will be edited by C. A. Howes, assisted by a number of leading specialists. This work will probably be issued in two volumes, the first dealing with the "Pence" Issues, and the second with all the later issues, but the work is so important and detailed that it will take some considerable time before it is completed.

It is my most earnest opinion based upon nearly forty years connection with philately, that I see in the Collectors Club the greatest promise for the growth of true philatelic knowledge throughout the United States and it is my wish to see every keen philatelist join our circle.

I shall be very delighted to hear from anyone who would like to join and send copies of our application forms and our Year Book with a list of members complete up to date which, with Dr. J. B. Chittenden, I have just edited and which we hope to have ready at the time of the Exhibition. Address Chas. J. Phillips, 10 West 86 St., New York, N. Y.

EXHIBITION PUBLICITY

Many articles are reaching us clipped from the metropolitan press and dealing with the New York Exhibition. These demonstrate that the publicity committee is right on the job. If we do not use all the articles sent in it will be understood that they are not quite suited for reprint purposes. In the New York Herald-Tribune for Sunday, Sept. 19, was an article on "The Stamp Fiends are Coming to Town" by Harriette Ashbrook. The article is well illustrated. It is displayed in an attractive manner and while it treats more especially of the financial side of stamp collecting, it is nevertheless good propaganda. Thanks to R. E. B. Roe for clipping.

FIRST DAY COVERS

Members of my First Day Cover Club receive first day of issue covers of all new United States stamps addressed direct to them, or first flight air mail covers of all new Contract Air Mail routes, or both, at a service charge of only 20c per cover.

Just mail me a card or letter and ask for circular FDC and full particulars of this service will be sent you.

I have a nearly complete stock of first day covers of all stamps issued by the Philatelic Stamp Agency. Price list free.

If you want a chronological record of all U. S. stamps as issued and air mail routes as established send 25c for the next ten issues of my monthly circular, "Washington Stamp News."

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

THE above crosses show for themselves, and need no amplification. No. 3 is very pretty on the vermilion stamp. No. 8 seems to thrive on that 2c of 1883. Who has seen this on another stamp, and did they use a similar type of cross with another year than the 1885 as shown?

Readers are continually writing to me asking where can they find compact articles on the cancellations appearing on certain issues of stamps, as on the 1851 issue for example, or on the 1869s. The answer is that in no particular publication are these to be found all neatly grouped and shown; but they may be found as far as they have been presented by those collectors who have subscribed to the many stamp publications of the past ten years or so.

The first real "scoop" that I remem re cancellations was a sale that was h in N. Y. City by Mr. Bartels some ye ago. It consisted of a very fine accur lation of the Waterbury, Ct., cance tions, and later this was illustrated, gether with a resume of the pri brought, which made the collectors be to hunt for odd cancellations.

This brought the town of Waterb into the limelight for its cancellatio and even now collectors with a v slight acquaintance with cancels can r ognize "a Waterbury" at a glar There are however several other tov that did their bit, the most notable of earlier towns being Canton, Miss., b in the '50s.

In going thro these issues in the c lection of Dr. Carroll Chase, I made tr

H. P. ATHERTON OF SPRINGFIELD, MASS., DEPARTMENT EDITOR

ings of all his "Cantons," and find that he had 26 varieties of obliterations on 3s 1851s, and '57s. A few of these have been illustrated in the Forum; but the majority have not. I believe there are more than 26 varieties, some of which I have seen on "Nesbits"; but not on adhesives.

Then too, this does not include the later odd cancels, when Canton was using the Confederate issues, and the old PAID 3 was supplanted by a new type of home made PAID 5, there being at least two types of this cancellation.

If you have any odd Canton pmks, except the Lyres and the "Odd Fellow" device, I would like to see them, for some day I will try to assemble all that can be found, and present them in a single issue of the Forum in order that you may have at least one complete set of cancels.

The grouping of cancels in the Forum has been a "hit or miss" proposition, for certain forms group themselves, while other forms must go into a miscellaneous group, otherwise I would have many that could not be produced, for they would have no group that applied to these items.

My idea is to present all that come in to the Forum, and look interesting enough to pay for the space they take up in the column.

You have now seen nearly 20 groups of cancellations. What recommendations have you to make? What cancellations have you been saving till you can get a little time to send them in? Many write in they have some and when they get time they will send them. I know just about what you mean by that, for it is just that way with myself.

You know we do not care whether a cancellation is on a very handsome, perfectly centered stamp, or on a ragged bit of a stamped envelope, which may be torn in two, and pasted together again, for what we want is to look at some pretty cancels, not on the stamps; but in the Forum so tears, etc., mean nothing in our presentations.

If you have any real snappy cancellations, let them come along, and they will be returned as soon as time permits me to make careful tracings of them, and at present there is plenty of time for a few tracings to be made.

HARRISCO Quality-bilt COLLECTIONS --- Are Gilt Edged Investments

The far-seeing collector shops much more carefully for his stamps than for other things, because he knows that collection, for more important than simply being pleasing to the eye, may well prove a source of gratifying future profit to h He realizes that this end cannot be attained unless he is cautious in his purchases, adamant in his refusal to buy unless the pr is right, but quick to take advantage of a bargain.

The retail price of most stamps, if purchased individually, is around one-half of the Scott catalogue value. *HA RISCO Quality-bilt collections contain these same stamps at a price of from one-fourth to one-tenth of catalogue! E the most superficial comparison of values will conclusively show that a tremendous saving of money (from 100% to 500% can be made by investing in such a collection. This is not a sales-argument — it's a guarantee; and your money will be funded without question if any Harrisco collection, either from this or any other standpoint, fails to give you the fullest deg of satisfaction.

Mr. Laurence H. Haselton of Bradenton, Fla. says: "I have purchased over $800.00 worth of Harrisco collections; and though I've been collecting for years, I have never yet received such value for my money!"

And Mr. Chas. D. Schaffner of Marion, Ohio (prominent realtor and executor of the late Pres. Harding's estate): "I am very much pleased the big Harrisco collection which I purchased from you at $2,250.00."

Mr. J. W. Pieksen, Jopling, Mo. writes about a $12.95 Harrisco co tion of 4,000 varieties: "It is by far the best lot of stamps for money I have ever received from any dealer."

If you are at all interested in the dollars-and-cents future of your stamp collection, it is vitally important that you vestigate at once this source of remarkable savings. You can make this investigation without the slightest risk by requesti on our money-back guarantee, one or more of the Harrisco collections listed below. Why not do it NOW?

Note substantial Price Reductions — Good for a limited time only!

 If you are a trader or dealer, you can make excellent profits in buying Harrisco collections and remounting the stamps on sheets or books resale. Our largest sales are made to dealers, who buy for this purpose.

GENERAL COLLECTIONS

SPECIAL COLLECTIONS

We are known all over the world to be large cash buyers for good collections. Our resources, familiarity with the arkets—and the added fact that we are wholesale dealers—enable us to purchase at exceptionally low prices.

The following collections have just been received and are offered, intact and without a single stamp removed, at a ery small percentage over actual cost.

It is our belief that these collections represent, either for investment or resale purposes, the finest values in America, they contain hundreds of stamps which are seldom to be found in the market even at half or more catalogue, whereas our t prices range from ¼th to as low as almost 1/6th of catalogue! Every collection is unqualifiedly guaranteed to give complete tisfaction, or your money will be refunded.

We expect to obtain other fine collections this season. Study carefully the offerings below and if you do not see what ou want, write us of your requirements.

Also a nice lot of early Canada, including the 8c registration No. 254, cat. $7.50; Queensland, St. Lucia, Trinidad and many others.

Total catalogue value is almost nine hundred dollars ($900.00), con- ting of stamps which could not be bought at retail for a cent less than 00 to $450 net.

HEJAZ

An Almost Complete Collection for Only $165.00!

This interesting collection contains exactly 235 different stamps, nearly mint, of the following numbers:

Scott Nos. 1-19, 22-56, 58-91, 96-108, 117, 120-171, 301-15, 318-20, 323-49.

The collection was brought to us by an old correspondent of ours in iro; every stamp has been examined and bears the signature of a well- own expert. The condition is fine.

Hejaz is a protectorate of Great Britain and her stamps should be in- ded in the possessions of every British Colonial enthusiast. The year 25 has written "finis" on this fascinating country, which is now out of istence from a philatelic standpoint, and will never issue another stamp.

Most Hejaz stamps bring from ⅓rd to ½ catalogue at retail. Here is a ance to obtain, at one fell swoop, the country of Hejaz almost complete, d at a price of about ⅛th of catalogue value!

Catalogue value $921.93.

Our Price, Only $165.00

OLLECTION OF "BEFORE-THE-WAR" STAMPS

About 8,000 Varieties, cataloguing over $3,600.00

This is the collection formed by Father Salvador of New Bedford, ass., a Portuguese priest who picked up many unusual stamps in his travels ound the world.

Nearly all countries are represented in their issues prior to 1914 (no mps of a later date than 1914 are included), but it is impossible in this ort space to mention more than a few of the countless good items:

Annam & Tonkin No. 8 ($10); Argentina No. 2a ($10); 4 ($10); Brazil No. 22 ($4); Benin No. 15 ($9), 16 ($10); Belgium No. 1 ($4); Cape Good Hope No. 6 ($15); Ceylon No. 10 ($40); Dutch Indies No. 2 ($10); Egypt No. 5 ($15), 6, ($15), 314 ($15); Fiji Islands No. 24 ($12.50); French Colonies No. 8 ($17.50); Great Britain No. 455 ($22.50); Guam No. 6 ($4); Hungary No. 2 ($35); Luxemburg No. 24 ($25); Monaco No. 9 ($18); Natal No. 97 ($10); New Caledonia No. 18 ($12), 19 ($6); Newfoundland No. 3 ($10), 23 ($12.50); San Marino No. 20 ($20); Spain No. 210 ($25); Tahiti No. 15a ($10), 151 ($15); 163 ($35); Uruguay No. 14 ($10); 184a ($7.50), 185a ($7.50), etc., etc., etc.

Father Salvador was a resident of Angola and several other colonies of rtugal for years, and obtained many scarce stamps from the local post ices there, and through the favor of officials. His Portuguese Colonies, as y be expected, contain some excellent pieces, including scarce minor rieties, and unpriced errors, which we have not counted in valuing the llection, although they are worth quite a bit. South America and French lonials are also well represented.

All of the stamps have been carefully inspected for condition; damaged pies and unpriced varieties were not valued.

The catalogue value, in good to fine-conditioned specimens only, ex- eds $3,600.00.

This collection is easily worth one thousand dollars net, but we ob- ined it at a bargain price and are content to pass part of the opportunity to the purchaser.

Special Price, $595.00

THE "HULME" COLLECTION OF 19TH CENTURY

2,668 Scarce Stamps, cataloguing about $8,800.00

This magnificent collection embraces only the better grade and rare stamps of the 19th century, strong in Europeans.

A glance at the list below, which is only a small part of the actual contents, will reveal its comprehensive proportions:

Bahamas—Nice used copy of No. 3, cataloguing $20.00
Barbados—Nos. 10 and 11, cat. $17.50 and $8.00
Bavaria—The rare 12k lilac (cat. $30); also No. 31 ($10)
Brazil—No. 9 ($7.50), 40 ($15)
Cape G. Hope—Nos. 2 ($7), 3 ($10), 3a ($13.50), 4, etc.
Ceylon—Nos. 28 ($20), 41 ($10), 56b ($15), etc.
France—Nos. 1 ($10); 2 ($15), No. 18 unused ($12), 21 ($20), 36 ($10)
Hamburg—No. 1a ($10); 4 ($10); 18 ($10); No. 21 ($17.50), 11 ($35)
Luxemburg—No. 2 unused (cat. $25); also used; No. 3, etc.
Mecklenburg—Nos. 1, 3, 5, 6, 7, 7a
Modena—No. 20, cat. $100.00—very rare
Natal—No. 1, cat. $40; No. 2, cat. $150; No. 3, cat. $100
Oldenburg—Nos. 3; 12 ($50), No. 7 ($75)
Roumania—No rarities, but a splendid showing of the "earlies"
St. Helena—No. 1 ($15), 2b, 8, 19
St. Vincent—No. 7 ($18), 28, 28a
Spain—Nos. 1 unused ($10), 3, 9, No. 70 ($30)
Switzerland—No. 25 and 28
Transvaal—Nos. 24 unused ($12.50), No. 26 ($25), 35b
Tuscany—Nos. 10 ($18) and 13a
Uruguay—No. 6 ($20), No. 17 ($40), No. 33
Wurtemberg—Nos. 18 ($50), No. 6 ($30), No. 46 ($45)

As is usual in most collections of early 19th, all of the stamps are not superb; but we can say conservatively that they are average—and in many cases far above the average—for stamps of this calibre.

It is difficult to do justice on paper to a valuable offering of this kind; the collection must be seen and examined to be fully appreciated.

A cash order (with privilege of return within ten days if not well pleased) will receive the preference, but we will gladly send the collection on five days' approval to anyone of known responsibility.

Our price is less than one-fifth of the catalogue value ($8,800.00) and represents a remarkable opportunity for the man who has the money available for investment.

Net, $1,695.00

1900 to 1920 COLLECTION

This collection formerly belonged to a Florida real-estate dealer, who couldn't make the grade and was forced to sacrifice his philatelic possessions.

There are no stamps after 1920; hence, the recent cheap issues of New Europe, Portuguese and French Colonials, etc., are absent.

The condition is the finest, and the stamps are carefully mounted in a 1920 edition of Scott's International album, rebound in a De luxe post binder. French and British Colonials are quite strong and just a few of the good items mentioned below will quickly show the outstanding excellence of the collection:

United States—No. 312, mint, cat. $8.00; Nos. 323-40 mint; Nos. 1450-61 mint, etc.
Austria—No. 126 ($5), Bahamas No. 55, Bermuda No. 51 mint ($6)
Bosnia—Entire country complete, except No. 64
Canada—Nos. 96-103 mint; Chile No. 76, 109-12 mint ($9.75)
Dahomey—No. 12 ($6), Fiji No. 88-90 mint; Fr. Guiana No. 50 mint, 51-66
Gambia—No. 70-81 mint; Gt. Britain No. 127-38 mint; Guadeloupe Nos. 54-70
Jamaica—No. 46 ($3.50), 49 ($3), 54 ($4), all mint
Portuguese Cols.—Splendid variety of the medium grade stamps Vasco da Gamas, etc.
Newfoundland—Nos. 104-14 mint; Paraguay No. 116-9 mint ($8.25)
Rhodesia—Nos. 79-82 ($23.50) 101-13 mint ($12.70)
Sierra Leone—No. 90-100 mint; So. Nigeria No. 45-52 mint
Virgin Islds—Nos. 29-44 mint ($19.50)

There are 7880 different varieties in all, cataloguing over $1,650.00 and the buyer will find hundreds of items which are unobtainable elsewhere at half or more of catalogue.

Price, $300.00

PERCY T. BERRY

New York Exhibition Judge

Percy T. Berry, who has accepted a place upon the Board of New York Exhibition Judges, was born at Kent, England, in 1870, but went to Australia in 1888. He started collecting in a small way in 1911, but his enthusiasm increased in impetus until he has come to be known as one of the leading philatelists of Australia.

Mr. Berry's collection is mainly Australian, and his specialties are the early imperforate issues of Queensland, Victoria and South Australia. Since 1920, his interest has been centered on the classic half-lengths. From a business standpoint, Mr. Berry is associated with the Henry Berry & Co. Pty. Ltd., with which he has been connected since 1888. In 1913 he was made Managing Director, which position he still holds. He is Consul for Chile in Queensland and a justice of the peace in both Queensland and Victoria. He is also a past president of the Philatelic Society of Victoria.

FROM THE PRESS AGENT

H. M. KONWISER.

CONVENTION time will soon be here, as the fortieth annual gathering of the American Philatelic Society will be called to order at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel on October 17th for a three-day session. This does not mean that all who attend the convention will devote their time and thought to "affairs de stamp organization" in the rooms occupied for the stamp gathering.

Attending a stamp convention means the renewal of old friendships, the meeting with people who know you or vice versa by philatelic endeavor, seeing the sights, seeing things not in sight, buying stamps, selling stamps, swapping stamps, arguing about this stamp and its validity, proving that all experts should know their business, arguing, against constantly-increasing prices in the various stamp dealers catalogs, urging more stamps as the fundamental thing for increasing the number of stamp collectors, contending that too many stamps make for too much trouble, and other things too numerous to mention in a family paper of this size.

(It is understood by the press agent for the Convention, and so stated for publication, that none of the Convention Committee, legally appointed by President Wilhelm, will undertake to debate any of these problems. Nor will they essay to contradict any writers who maintain that stamp collecting is a surer way to money-making than stocks and bonds.)

In addition to a willingness to discuss stamps or to listen to monologues upon the varied virtues of certain issues, from this angle and that, attendants at this convention are urged to do the following:

As you buy your railway ticket to New York apprise your ticket agent you are attending the convention of the A. P. S. at New York. A Convention Ticket will be issued to you. Present this at the convention place for validation. If 250 or more stamp folks do this everyone will receive a 50 per cent. reduction on the return trip. All members who pay 76 cents one way, or over, should record their trip. This is important.

Re the hotel reservations at the Waldorf Astoria, these can still be made. Do it now, is a good motto. This hostelry has room at various prices suiting you as you desire.

Upon your arrival in town register at the Convention headquarters, at the Waldorf Astoria, and be sure to make your reservation for the Annual Banquet, at the Waldorf. This must naturally be done on Monday, as the big banquet is to be held on Wednesday.

Apart from these things, the committee will endeavor to look after your welfare. The Association has a booth at the Stamp Exhibition, which will be held during Convention week. The White Plains stamp will be issued that week. And this paper hopes every one of the members stops in at the WEEKLY booth at the Exposition.

JAMAICAN CHILD WELFARE

By HARRY E. HUBER

THE Jamaican Child Welfare stamps, ½d, 1d and 2½d (sold at ½d premium for the benefit of the Child Saving League) first issued November 1, 1923 (withdrawn January 31, 1924), re-issued November 1, 1924 (retired January 31, 1925), were placed on sale for a third time from November 2, 1925 (the first falling on Sunday), to January 31, 1926.

Of these stamps, the Jamaica Philatelic Society in their 6th annual report for the year ending April 13, 1926, make some very interesting comments:

"18.—On the 2nd November, 1925, for the third year in succession, the Child Welfare stamps were again put on sale at the various Post Offices throughout the Island. It is regretted, however, that the local support given to this movement was again very poor, and the net benefit to the Child Saving League was only £57.8.4.

19.—The sale of these stamps was restricted to local demand and orders from abroad were not supplied by the Postal Department. This led to much criticism from certain quarters, but bearing in mind the original policy not to extend the sale of these stamps to foreign orders, the Committee can only endorse the action of the Government in not departing from its original intention, although this involved less financial aid to the laudable scheme inaugurated to assist the poor children of the Island.

20.—The lack of local support is deplored by this Society, but a certain amount of blame for this condition must be laid at the door of the Child Saving League, whose members, although enthusiastic in their work for the destitute children, lost what was no doubt a good opportunity to increase their finances, by not undertaking in a wholesale manner, to push the sale of these stamps by their own personal efforts, even if these efforts involved the purchase of the stamps by the League and the sale of them to dealers abroad and to merchants and others locally.

21.—This policy was adopted by the Red Cross League of Jamaica which was founded during the Great War. By its push and energy in this direction the League realised over £1000 by the sale of their stamps to the public of Jamaica and other countries at the small price of ½d each. These Red Cross labels were seen on all the correspondence of several local firms although they represented no postal value, but the same cannot be said of the Child Welfare stamps, which although they carry postal value, are rare in their used state."

During the first season of sale (1923-24), 37,941 stamps were sold, and in 1924-25, 33,710—the Child Saving League receiving £79.0.10½ and £70.4.7, respectively.

	Sales 1923-24		Sales 1924-25
½d,	13,073	£27. 4.8½	12,943	£ 25.17. 7½

	37,941	£182.6.11	33,710	£175. 1. 0½

The remainders available for issue November 2, 1925, were as follows:

1d,	24,390	101.12.6
2½d,	21,150	220. 6.3
	127,621	£492.18.9½

The sales between Nov. 2, 1925, and Jan. 31, 1926, were in less quantity, unfortunately, than in the previous seasons, as indicated by the following tabulation, which also lists the remainders on hand at the end of January, 1926.

	Sales 1925-26		Remainders Jan.31,'26

On the basis of the stamps sold (26905), the Child Saving League was entitled to receive £56.1.1½, but through some miscalculation on the part of the Chief Accountant, of the G. P. O., £57.8.4. was handed over to them. This overpayment of £1.7.3½d will be deducted from whatever sum may be due to the League for sales made during the fourth season, 1926-27.

An American dealer, desiring to purchase £100 of these stamps, after they had been withdrawn from sale, wrote to His Excellency the Acting Governor

HARRY E. HUBER,
Special Contributor,
Dealing Particularly with the Stamps of British Colonies.

(Hon. A. S. Jelf), on March 4, 1926, to which the following reply was made on March 24.

"Colonial Secretary's Office,
JAMAICA, 24th March, 1926.

No. 1987-26

Sir:

I am directed by the Acting Governor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 4th March, asking how you can obtain some Child Welfare stamps.

2.—I am to inform you that the sale of these stamps by the Jamaica Post Office is permitted only during the months of November, December and January, but that the Child Saving League has a supply of these stamps, and that a copy of your letter is being sent to the Chairman of the Finance Committee of the League, who is being asked to communicate with you.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient servant,
Signed, D. H. HALL,
Acting Asst. Colonial Secretary."

Although previously, requests out of season for purchase of Child Welfare stamps (intended for filling orders from abroad), had been refused by the Government, the Acting Governor was interviewed by the Child Saving League, and permission obtained to secure the stamps as needed from the General Post Office. The transaction was handled entirely by the Child Saving League, who bought the stamps from the G. P. O., and dispatched them abroad.

It having been suggested that the Child Saving League should undertake the sale of these stamps to purchasers from abroad (during the months they are obtainable from the Post Office), arrangements to this end have been perfected, and commencing November 1, 1926, orders may be sent to Mrs. E. F. Latreille, Chairman, Child Saving League, Kingston, Jamaica. The amount of the remittance should cover the cost of the stamps (face plus ½d each), and return postage and registration (4½d minimum). As Mrs. Latreille has no Government stamp vendor's license, it will be as a private individual that she will purchase the stamps from the G. P. O.

In view of the strong representations made to the Government in the matter of non-sale of these stamps, except over the counter, the Secretary of State for the Colonies has sanctioned the filling of orders received by the Post Office from applicants abroad, during the months of November, December and January.

20th CENTURY UNITED STATES

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

THE advanced specialist after practically completing a country or group of countries is confronted with the same question as the new collector, namely, what must I collect next? Twenty years ago, we all made general collections, for, with a small outlay, a most satisfactory lot could be gotten together. Today this is almost impossible even with unlimited means, when we consider the hundreds of countries and thousands of stamps. As a result, philately like other branches of human endeavor, has become specialized. The man who endeavors to collect all countries is the exception rather than the rule. I know of no issue or groups of issue offering greater pleasure or making possible a more substantial profit considering the amount invested than the 20th century issues of the United States.

Today with very few exceptions, most of these can be had at nominal prices. Having been issued within the last twenty-five years, many of them do not bring the figure that their scarcity warrants. Year by year they are becoming more seasoned, if I may use that expression, with the result that the one who wisely invests today has an opportunity of not only gaining untold pleasure, but a profit as well.

While I do not recommend that anyone collect simply for profit, I do hold that the investment point of view should not be forgotten and if we can combine the combination of pleasure and profit, so much the better. Good stamps, like good stocks and bonds increase in value year by year and for fine things there is always a ready market.

The auction sales within the last two or three years have demonstrated to those who may have been in doubt, that the demand for our late issues is steadily increasing and that the time is almost here when the available supply will not begin to take care of the demand. As soon as the small stocks now in the hands of the professional become exhausted, prices are bound to rise. Varieties that could have been purchased at the post office less than ten years ago are, in many cases, bringing dozens of times their face value. These are not isolated instances for substantial increases are found in most of these emissions.

PHILIP H. WARD, JR.
Special Contributor and Editor of our U. S. Chronicle

From an artistic or historical point of view, we have outlined before us many events and the engraver's art is brought to perfection in reproducing in miniature the likenesses of many of our well known paintings and statesmen.

OVER 50 YEARS!

Active Connection with Stamps, as Collector (going back to the pioneer days), and then as Dealer, has enabled me to accumulate one of the Finest and Most Varied Stocks of Postage Stamps in England, which is constantly being added to.

THIS LONG EXPERIENCE AND HIGHLY VARIED STOCK IS WORTH A GOOD DEAL TO THE DISCRIMINATING COLLECTOR.

Then too, the stamps are not diffic to distinguish and the fact that many the rarer shades and dies are only appre ated by those who actually collect, gi the collector an opportunity to pick many items at especially attractive tures.

Beginning with the first 20th centu issue, that is, the Pan-American ser of 1901, we have one of the most attr tive series of stamps ever turned out this country. The two colors especia appeal to the non-collector. We th pass on to what we might designate our "Statesmen" series of 1902 and h we have nothing to complicate the an teur either in the way of perforations watermarks. He seeks the numer shades which may be picked up by bro ing through dealers' stocks. This ser remained in use for several years a was replaced by the issue of 1918, wher portraits of Washington and Frank only, appear. This series with mi changes in perforation and waterma continued in use right through to series started in 1922—the one that are now using. During these twen five years several commemorative s appeared, such as those to commemor the "Louisiana Purchase," the "Found of Jamestown," the "Panama-Pacific E hibition," the "Landing of the Pilgrin and the like.

For the specialist who desires to more deeply into the hobby, there is opportunity of adding blocks and str in the case of coils.

Personally, I recommend the collecti of the unused 20th century United Sta specimens but those who are partial the used copies will derive great inter in the hobby because they will find necessary to look far and near in or to locate many of the varieties in us block form. A collection gotten togeth on such a basis entails only the expen ture of a few hundred dollars wh may be extended over any period desir

To the collector of larger means, the are the errors to be gotten, such as inverted centers, the part perforates a the like. The coming International Ph atelic Exhibition will show the nov the great possibilities of getting togeth a collection of this kind.

PREPARATION FOR MOUNTIN

By WILLIAM A. LORENZ

In mounting postage stamps it is sirable to remove the old hinges a portions of envelope. If these are soak in water and the cancellations are fu tive (as for example on many stamps the Colombian Republic), the cancel tions will run and spoil the stamps. order to avoid this, I proceed as follow

Wet a piece of cotton, or a copy-bo cloth; lay this down upon a piece oiled paper, such as used in copy-boo then place the stamps upon this wet clo with the hinge, or gum side, against t wet side of the cloth; then over th place oiled paper on the face of the po age stamps; then weight the top w books or magazines. By leaving t postage stamps under this weight f about half an hour, the stamps w readily separate from the backing. Th leaves some gum on the stamps, whi the average collector likes to retain. sprinkling a little powdered talc on t gum, the gum need not be wiped o Then the stamps should be placed t tween blotting paper under a weight that they will dry flat.

By proceeding in this way, the stam can be readily separated from their bac ing and the face of the stamps will n be wetted. Consequently, the fugiti cancellations on the stamps will not spoiled.

The gum may be wiped off with a w cloth, without disturbing the face of t stamps, but be careful to keep the fa dry.

Stamps with gum thereon, particular new ones, are in many instances apt curl badly, and will not lie flat. Th curl may be taken out by drawing t metal edge of a ruler over the stamp which will straighten out the stamps a allow them to lie flat. Draw the rul edge gently over the "convex" side the stamps.

HELLO UNITED STATES!

Exhibition Greetings

FROM FRED. J. MELVILLE

President of the J. P. S.

GREETINGS once again to the land of Stars and Stripes, the home of Old Glory. Greetings also to the countless philatelic friends who ve their dwelling there, and whom I all delight to meet again.

America has now taken her proper ace in the front rank of philatelic hievement, and the New York Exbition of 1926 is attracting a much ger body of visitors than did the t wonderful show in 1913. Collcrs and dealers in Europe are eager see the great feast of philatelic asure to be spread before them in e vast area of the Grand Central lace for the great week of October th to 23rd. So from 1st October ery ferry-boat crossing the Pond m European ports will have its ota of philatelists flocking to the urney.

They come full of great expectations, d I who have seen what New York uld do in 1913 have no doubt the thcoming show will justify and perps exceed their anticipations. They me also filled with a warm appreciaon of the support and co-operation nerican Philately has extended to all eat philatelic enterprises in Europe recent years, and heartily desirous their turn of backing up the greatest ort of organised Philately in the ited States.

Our leading collectors, too, are doing ir share in sending or bringing the me of their collections, to enrich a play already rich to opulence in the hibits of the great collectors of the ited States. The spirit of friendly mpetition is good in all games and orts, and the collectors of Europe play a true sportsmanship in aking a plucky stand for the ampionships and other honours of e stampic arena. They know someng of the marvelous strength of eir American competitors, but are t daunted. The greater the struggle e greater the honour to victor and vanquished.

We come, too, inspired with the sense fraternity which Philately engenders. matters little if we capture few or ny medals, the real matter is that shall all capture rich rewards in the endships formed with our fellow-phielists overseas. Each previous visit of ne to the United States swelled the ny of good friends whose affection has en a source of lasting joy to me, and renew and re-cement those associans would alone be sufficient to ene my revisiting America on the first portunity. But I am confident the ning trip will still further enlarge e legion of congenials, good folk o have read my books and articles, d who become in a sense intimate, hough we have not met in the flesh. ny of these I hope to meet when y congregate in the Grand Central lace next month.

t is one of the sweet rewards of the orer in any literary field that he is stantly learning of new friendships de. A charming letter from a San ancisco boy reached me the other y; it is typical of many that come lough my all-welcoming letter-box, I quote it as the handiest example:

"SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF.,
U. S. A., 5. 10. 26.

dear MR. MELVILLE, have just finished reading your cellent book, "Chats on Postage mps" and I wish to write a note appreciation of this fine book.

t was, and, in fact, still is the best ok which I have taken from the liry on stamps. In commendation I sh to say that you make your book teresting by not giving any superbus details, such as the Latin name an ant eater on a stamp of French Guinea or some other silly thing in which no collector is interested. I believe your history of the postage system is the most interesting I have ever read.

I see by the paper that you are coming to America in October to preside as one of the judges at the philatelic exhibition and I certainly wish that I could attend the event just to meet you. I am an ardent collector and would enjoy the prospect of going to the exhibition, but of course that is impossible so I must content myself with accounts of it.

FRED. J. MELVILLE

I belong to the San Francisco Stamp Society and am vice-president of the Polytechnic High School Stamp Club. I have one sister who collects stamps also.

Mr. Melville, since I cannot meet you personally I would dearly like to have your signature.

Sincerely yours,
WADE BAKER."

Although I shall probably not have the pleasure of meeting Master Wade Baker on this trip, I am hopeful of meeting many of America's real juniors in New York, and possibly also in Boston, Philadelphia and Washington. A few of the boys I met in New York in 1913 are still numbered among my friends and frequent correspondents. Some are now quite famous in the philatelic world.

I may express the hope in conclusion that there may be set aside at least one evening or afternoon at the exhibition for a great rally of America's philatelic youth. I am confident it would be an occasion inspiring to the seniors, as well as to the young folk themselves.

The latter would retain for many years to come the happiest memories of the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York which fired them with the true love of stamps.

POSTALLY USED LIBERIA

If you have endeavored to procure any of these stamps postally used you are aware of their relative scarcity. Inasmuch as only small quantities of these were actually used, supplies of postally cancelled Liberians are decidedly small. A recent fortunate exchange purchase enables us to offer many attractive items seldom found in a dealer's stock. Early ordering, of course, is advisable for best copies or as a prevention of our being sold out.

STAMP COURTESY

By A. Atlas Leve

STAMP COURTESY! Just what the two words imply. Let us be courteous to our stamps. Treat them nicely and it will repay one a thousand-fold. The collector who picks up or turns over a stamp with his thumbnail will eat soup with a knife. Stamp tongs or tweezers are great and useful articles and absolutely indispensable to a real stamp man. A real collector never touches his stamps except when mounting them in his album. A perfect stamp in all details is a work of art and should be treated so. I have seen rare stamps that looked as if their various owners had used chewing gum to mount them and monkey wrenches to pick them up with. Handle your stamps carefully all the time.

Then there is the matter of hinges. Use peelable hinges. There are some hinges that could be used for shipping tags. No stamp should be hinged so as to allow the perforations to get bent over, eventually these perforations will break off. It is wise to remove old pieces of hinges. I have taken some pretty solid chunks of paper from stamps composed of five or six hinges. The hinges that are made with a heavy, thick glue, should be shunned. It is far better to wet the hinge with your finger tip than the tongue.

Approval Cards. A nice invention, but these cards are the real cause of fine tears and broken perforations. If you receive any approvals on cards be very careful in replacing the stamps. The sharp edges of the pockets will cut a stamp or turn a perforation very quickly. Raise the pocket very carefully when inserting stamps.

As a rule both collector and dealer are slow in their correspondence. Of course there are dealers who have a tremendous mail and their system requires time; but when a dealer absolutely ignores a request from a collector, he, the dealer, injures Philately. On the other hand, the collector who ignores the dealers' request for the prompt return of approvals also injures Philately. Credit is the very life of business, but credit has its limits. Be courteous, Mr. Stamp Man. It pays.

Stamp Courtesy also requires that a selection sent on approval should be returned within ten days. Leading dealers are beginning to shorten that time to three and five days. Fine stamps are scarce and the demand is great. I know collectors who carry approvals in their pockets for days. It isn't fair to all concerned. Then there are the collectors, and serious ones, too, who return valuable selections in the ordinary mail, others who do not protect approval books carefully in mailing and still others who mark and fold and soil approval books to the extent that the stamps have to be remounted. I had a case where the collector walked out of the post-office and opened some of my approval books in the rain. I salvaged the unused stamps for postage.

Stamp Courtesy means everything to the real collector. He appreciates receiving a registered letter franked with high or odd value stamps. He also preciates a neatly addressed enve with the stamps nicely canceled. S times a courteous word to the reg clerk will save the "cover" from "shoe brush and hammer." Cou pays. Some dealers answer every quest if it takes weeks to do it. Philatelic Stamp Agency in Washin is simply a great illustration of S Courtesy by the government. It both Uncle Sam and the collector costs practically nothing. I'll hav quit now for Courtesy's sake.

The stamps will be in seven denom tions, as follows: 1, 2, 3, 5, 10, 25 50c. The total issue of all denomina amounts to sixty million, and the st will have a total value of slightly than one-half million dollars. The act placing the new tax on tol was created for the purpose of ra additional funds for education. Its popularity came through the fact users of tobacco were made to carr of the additional tax, and it is gene known throughout the state as Nuisance Tax.

THE CLASSIC RARITIES OF FRANCE

By Dr. S. Avazon.

FOR over a year I have been writing for philatelic magazines, and lecturing on French stamps, and it is indeed with great pleasure that I accept the invitation of the Managing Editor to begin a series of articles for the leading stamp paper of the world, Mekeels' Weekly Stamp News.

I feel that this offer will give me an opportunity of reaching many more thousands of people than I have been able to reach in the past, and I welcome a chance to try to make others see some of the wonders, beauties, and possibilities of a collection of that epoch history making and ever increasingly popular country—France.

One of the strongest pleas for French stamp collecting is based on the fact that France from 1849 to 1876 issued one of the most classical and simple series of stamps, and the collector's patience is not tried with perforations, watermarks and differences in paper, and there is a comparatively small number of forgeries which are very obvious to even an amateur.

French stamps offer a very interesting registering of the political changes in the country, and provide one of the best examples of how stamps similar to great political documents inaugurate the periods of a nation's history.

Aside from the historical point, French stamps offer to the philatelist one of the deepest studies, and how deep one may, and must search, only one who has specialized in French stamps knows. But what rewards one receives! The more one gazes at a specialist's collection, the more one sees, and the more one wants to look, and the closer one examines each stamp.

This, then, is what the making of a French stamp collection offers you, namely, a "clean-cut," straightforward, series of stamps, and an opportunity of getting acquainted with the fascinating history of France, including the famous Napoleon Bonaparte, and in addition a fascinating study of a classical issue of stamps that will test your powers of observation and your ability to dig deep.

The French stamps begin when the Revolutionists of 1848 overthrew the monarchy of Louis Phillip, and the new government adopted the Postage Stamp System already operating successfully in Great Britain, since 1840.

Thus, the second Republic inaugurated the postage stamp system in France, and Mr. Barre, the great designer and engraver, used as the design of this first series of stamps the allegorical figure of the Head of Ceres, the Italian goddess of Agriculture, or "Mother Earth." When one considers that France was primarily an agricultural country, this was truly a fitting design.

The first French stamps were offered for sale January 1, 1849, in the denominations of 20c black, similar to the one penny black of Great Britain, 10c bistre, yellowish and dark bistre yellowish, 15c yellow green and deep green, 40c orange-vermilion, and orange-yellowish and one franc vermilion.

It is obvious to the reader that the color black was inappropriate for cancellation purposes, and that the 40c orange vermilion and one franc vermilion might be easily confused. But France soon rectified these early mistakes, and the color of the 20c black was changed to blue, while the one franc vermilion was discarded for one franc carmine.

Strange to say, the 20c blue was never put into circulation, due to a decree raising the postal rates from 20c to 25c, while the only stamp of this first series to become rare was the one franc vermilion.

The one franc vermilion is rare because it was issued in Jan., 1849, and was

LEADER IN ALL PHILATELIC ACTIVITIES IN HIS NATIVE CO TRY, WHO WILL JUDGE THE NEW YORK ENTRIES

MR. UMEJIRO KIMURA, whose picture appears in the page of judges elsew in this issue, who will serve as one of the judges at the New York Exhibi is fifty-seven years old and is director of a three-color print shop in Tokyo, Ja He has collected stamps since 1910, and is president of the Yurakukai, the phila society of Japan. In fact, he has been president since its establishment in To have been president of this society for fourteen years is an indication of ability and the popularity of Mr. Kimura.

The Yurakukai possesses three hundred members and is the oldest and la philatelic society in Japan. It publishes a monthly journal entitled The Yu which was founded in 1914, and which is the oldest and largest philatelic jou in Japan. It is edited by Mr. Kimura.

In 1920 our friend was elected a member of the Roll of Distinguished Ph elists. The Literary labors of Mr. Kimura have also been devoted in part to publishing of the Standard Catalog of the Postage Stamps of Japan, the edition of which was recently issued, and also an "Introduction to Postage St Collecting."

Mr. Kimura specializes in the stamps of Japan.

superseded December of that same year. In addition to its short life few copies were printed because it was seldom used except for heavy mail or sending letters to foreign lands.

The most interesting period in French stamps lies between its inauguration in January, 1849, and the close of the Franco-Prussian War, and the downfall of Napoleon in 1870.

This period includes practically all the rarities of French stamps, such as the one franc orange-vermilion, the tête-beches, and the famous and much written about balloon postes.

I have just told you a little about that great rarity one franc vermilion, now let us consider the tête-beches.

The tête-beches begin with the 1849-50 issue and appear in all values of this issue, and such tête-beches occur when one stamp is in a reverse position to others, upside down, in a horizontal pair, and head to head in a vertical pair. We may also have tête-beches in a strip.

There are two explanations for the tête-beches. One explanation is that Mr. Hulot intentionally inserted some of the cliches upside down for the purpose of a control in the detection of forged sheets. The second explanation is to the effect that the tête-beches may be due to the negligence of the workmen.

The most expensive tête-beches is the one franc Vervelle listed in Yvert & Tellier for forty thousand dollars. Only one copy of the Vervelle color is known, and this stamp is named after Mr. Vervelle, who found it among Mr. Hulot's papers at his death and bought it in 1895.

The one franc dull orange tête-beches was sold in 1924, in France, to an American collector, for about twenty thousand dollars.

The second most famous French tête-beches is the 15c yellow green discovered in 1896 by Monsieur Victor Robert, a well-known French dealer and specialist who came across it while looking over a lot that he bought from an American dealer. The discovery of this tête-beche was hailed with delight by specialists all over the world, and was sold to the famous Ferrari for 3,500 French francs, or a sum equivalent to $700, and was later sold in the last Ferrari auction sale for the sum of $3000.

The third rarities are the balloon post, and for the benefit of those readers who possibly may have escaped hearing about the renowned Ballon Monte, I shall give a short account.

During the Franco-Prussian War, the Germans surrounded Paris, and so effectively cut off the provinces that all means of communication with the outside world was a hazardous affair, and Paris' endeavors to communicate with the outer world are among the most fascinating of postal records. A cable laid from Paris to Rouen under the Seine, the Germans destroyed by dragging the river. The Swiss government declared telegraph wires contraband and they had to be smuggled into France. Letters enclosed in hollow spheres and th into the river met with failure. Ind ual dispatch bearers, men and wo were caught and shot in spite of al elaborate means they used to tr conceal messages. Dogs were use messengers, but without any good re and finally the idea of carrier pig was tried.

All letters were brief and were pri in type, and these cards were placed fore cameras and photographed to very, minute size. The photographs put inside of the quills which wer tached to the tail feathers of the and the pigeons were set free. these pigeons reached Paris, the photographs were taken from the and the messages were read by mean powerful microscopes, and thus the lem of sending messages was solved is recorded that one pigeon delivered 40,000 messages in one flight.

But the means of communicatio interest to philatelists is the one ina rated by the director of postes, nar the air mail, and this means offered chief instrument for sending epistles of the city of Paris, while messages riving in the city had to be carrie the carrier pigeon. The carrier pig were taken out of the city in the ball and the people relied on the pig instinct to fly back home to Paris.

Letter sheets were issued for both free balloon and the passenger ball which charged a higher postage rate such letter sheets were inscribed Ballon Non-Monte or Par Ballon M Ten centimes was the postal rat unmanned balloons, to various part France and Algiers.

At eight o'clock on the morning the 23rd of September, 1870, a th gathered in the Place Saint Pier Montmarte to see the pilot, Jules Dur off with his two sacks of 125 kilo mail in the balloon called Le Nep The balloon landed the same mor three hours later in the Chateau l'ar Craconville, one hundred one kilo m from Paris. Great was the rejoicin Paris when the news arrived that balloon had safely carried the mess past the enemy's lines and into the h of the French.

Altogether there were sixty-seven loons sent during this period, of w fifty-five successfully carried the mai to the hands of the French. Only on these successful balloons was a fre no-passenger balloon.

If I am not mistaken, the most fam balloons were the Ville d'Orleans, leased the 24th of November from Gare du Nord, the Jacquard released 28th of November from the Gar Orleans, and the Richard Wallace from the Gare du Nord on the 27th January, 1871.

I trust that the readers will be to see some of the above mentio rarities during the International P atelic Exposition in New York so they may receive a practical knowle of these classic and historical stamps

On orders of $60.00 or over we allow 10% discount.

The above discount does not apply to set prices, these are absolutely net.

We reserve the right to alter any price without notice—at the same time we will do our best to maintain all quoted prices until the appearance of our next list, about September, 1927.

All stamps offered herewith are in good condition.

The prices on U. S. stamps, particularly the early issues, depend largely on condition, centering, cancellation, etc. Our prices are for good average copies, above rather than below the average in condition. Extra fine to superb copies in most cases sell much higher, whilst poorer and slightly damaged stamps sell much lower.

Where we have two prices for used stamps (in the earlier part of our list), the first price is that of fine copies, more suitable for the extra particular collector; the second price is that for good copies, and these are the grade which the ordinary collector will want. These copies will prove perfectly satisfactory to everybody, except the collector who is most unusually particular about condition.

Special selections of earlier U. S. can be sent on approval to interested parties against their list of wants; any stamp not on this list gladly quoted or sent on approval if in stock.

PLEASE do not ask us to send on approval selections of the cheaper stamps on this list.

NOTE:—This list comprises every stamp for which a space is provided in Scott's National Stamp Album, that we generally have in stock, items not priced we have too few of to list.

SUPPLEMENTARY LIST

As it is impossible to keep every item in stock all the time, a supplementary list should be sent; but stamps on this list will not be supplied unless those on the main list are out of stock.

HOW TO ORDER

The first number is Scott's Catalog number; it is sufficient to use this number and the price when ordering, and stating whether used or unused are desired.

WANTED TO PURCHASE

We wish to buy anything in U. S. particularly fine copies of early issues, collections, blocks of four, or cheap stamps in quantity by the hundred, thousand, or ten thousand. We are always pleased to receive offers of anything you have to dispose of.

ENVELOPES

Note — We are trying an innovation in listing these stamps in the order in which they appear in the National album and disregarding the catalogue order. We consider this to be the logical arrangement listing stamps by values, instead of by papers—do you agree?

Where no paper is mentioned, stamps are to be considered as being on white paper.

Craftsman - Artist - Philatelis

By Willard O. Wylie.

"August Dietz is probably the only man in America today who with his own hands could actually perform all the stages of these processes (lithography, typography, linography, steel and copper plate printing, stereotyping and electrotyping) from the original sketch through the hand engraving on wood or stone or metal to the ultimate finished product."

THE writer of this sketch has not had the privilege of a personal acquaintance with Mr. August Dietz, but ever since he has known anything about philatelic journalism he has been made to realize the fact that Mr. Dietz is a strong personality. He has a unique individuality in that he has ever sought the promotion of his ideals free from the taint of mercenary motives. In this very realistic age such a man is hard to find. He has been called "Dietz the Dreamer," but how can one build unless he sees the structure in the making long before it has really become acquainted with either timber or stone?

A visitor to Richmond, Va., will have no difficulty in locating the "Temple of Typography" at 109 East Cary St. It is particularly a shrine for those who delve in the graphic arts. Here will be found Mr. Dietz, also the junior who is following in the footsteps of his father, producing specimens of the printing art that seem to possess both life and spirit.

Upon the second floor is a museum—a trade museum if you please, where may be found a wonderful collection of craft relics and curios. We cannot enumerate them for these treasures are too numerous and varied. Their name is "Legion," and how much Mr. Dietz prizes them!

Of this collection on printing subjects, Walter Hurt, author, recently wrote:—"In this museum there are specimens of the products of master printers from Asia, Africa, the European countries and Australia; Chinese and Japanese type. and fonts of Arabic and Sanskrit letter; Colonial currency; old presses, and craft implements of earlier periods; exhibits of the different stages in the respective processes of typefounding, electrotyping and stereotyping, the various methods of engraving, and allied arts. Also there is an assemblage of ancient volumes, first folios and rare editions, that delight the soul of the reverent bibliophile and prompts him to invoke blessings upon the head of Dietz."

Recently Mr. Dietz was appointed to an important position by the Intertype Corporation. He is now Chief Counselor in typographic design. The Richmond (Va.) Times-Despatch of June 30, referring to the honor accorded Mr. Dietz, declares it to be a rare tribute to his ability. This staid southern daily never mentions a man in its editorial columns unless perchance it be someone prominent in the political life of the nation. In a half-column editorial Mr. Dietz is lauded as "a lover of the art of printing" and "a master of his craft and art."

It is as a stamp collector that our readers will take particular interest in Mr. Dietz. He has been collecting stamps for nearly fifty years. Some twenty years ago he realized that this old world was a pretty big place and that the wealth of a Croesus would scarcely suffice to keep up with everything issued so he determined to confine his activities to a few select countries, Confederate States, United States, Germany and German States, old Italian States, Argentine, Bolivia, Chile, Uruguay and Mexico. Mr. Dietz has never specialized nor plated but his collection of these countries is practically complete in every straight catalog number—every piece being absolutely flawless. He is the worst kind of a condition crank. In United States he lacks the "August issues" and the inverts. These he never expects to have but he affirms that "no gray hairs will grow on that account."

Naturally the Confederate stamps hold first place in his affection. Very modestly he disclaims having a large collection but he does consider it the most perfect and complete collection in point of historic interest and quality of material. Every number in the catalog every minor variety of shade, is represented by an unused, used and on cover piece, and every item is absolute perfection. In addition there are original drawings and designs and essays for Confederate stamps, litho, typo and steel plate proofs, hand press on which the first lithographed stamps were printed in 1861, Archer & Daly's steel trial plates, electrotype replicas of the De la Rue and a number of locals, and finally a reference album of life-sized photographs of every Confederate provision on record.

It is a matter of deep regret to the writer and it will also be to thousands of our readers to learn that Mr. Dietz has made no entry for the New York Exhibition. The items enumerated above would have proven a great attraction. He enters the excuse that he does not have "quantity" to display. There are times when quality is fully as interesting as quantity.

THE PHILATELIC STAMP AGENCY

By Philip H. Ward, Jr.

ON November 25, 1921, due to the efforts of an unusually active Third Assistant Postmaster General, Warren Irving Glover, the Postmaster General, then Will H. Hay, issued an order, effective December 1st, establishing the Philatelic Stamp Agency at Washington. Since then, those in charge have done everything reasonable within their power to serve the philatelic public in a prompt and efficient manner and most of us will agree that they have accomplished their purpose.

At first they occupied a small office in the Post Office Building adjoining Union Station, with the Agent and a lady assistant in charge. Since then they have taken larger quarters across the hall and the force of two has grown to a force of five with an extra clerk recently loaned from another section.

In the meantime orders have grown from one or two a day to one hundred and fifty and even more a day. Since May first the business has averaged around $1,300 daily, the mail orders around 150 a day, with a good number of daily callers who spend quite a little time and money in picking out what they want.

Since its establishment several circulars have been sent out to the five or six thousand names upon their mailing list calling attention to the varieties available. What is the result—many thousands are now able to buy everything in the hands of the department at face and get picked copies at that, besides plate blocks, positions and the like are supplied where possible.

Since the new issue has been completed dozens are writing for the complete set and therefore instead of answering a letter in a day or two as heretofore, at times it takes a week or more. Some writers are of the opinion that they are the only one doing business with the Agency and if they do not receive a reply by return mail sit down and write the Third Assistant Postmaster General and complain that they are not being treated fairly. Because the dealer or collector across the street has the new stamp just issued and you haven't, you get the idea that he was favored and you were slighted, where as a matter of fact he may have written a week ahead of you.

All orders received are numbered and the first is served before the second receives attention. At times stock may have to be ordered from the Bureau, which delays matters. When you consider that many orders have dozens of items you must appreciate that it takes time to select the varieties. While there recently, I saw a couple of orders just in which ran over 50 items and one called for sixty-five items in addition to five sets of envelopes and the entire order only ran around $60.

Remember the department likes to receive these and fills them promptly, but is it fair to complain just because your order may be a week late in arriving. One man who has been buying consistently since the establishment of the Agency and who as a rule not only requests plate numbers but designates the very numbers wanted has always had his orders filled, as was seen from his file, in two to three days, and this included dozens of orders. Recently due to the large number of orders and the inadequate clerical force his order was delayed about a week and as a result he writes a long letter to the Third Assistant Postmaster General. One man ordered a complete set of the current issue with top plate number, on the single stamp too, not blocks, and because one value was off center complained.

The Agency tries its best to send picked specimens but when a non-philatelic clerk has been picking out stamps all day he begins to see double by evening and some off centers may slip through but even then if it happens to be a high denomination they will gladly replace it. Do not, however, return to them stamps that you have bought elsewhere and expect them to replace them. They keep account of all orders and know what has been sent you, for there is always a check and re-check on every order.

Another thing which should be remembered, if you order stamps and want to ask for philatelic information write two separate letters, otherwise your stamps are likely to be held up until some other person can answer the inquiry. Then too, remember, that they can only supply exactly the items on their published list, they do not reprint, re-issue, or make to order stamps for the Agency. They, however, do have the Bureau of Engraving & Printing pick out especially fine stock for the Agency of any issued variety that they might have on hand.

What is more, they try to bring in from outlying offices any varieties or shades that are not obtainable in Washington. For instance, the smaller offices pay the newspaper postal charges by cancelling sufficient postage stamps to equal the amount of postage collected from the publishers and these are returned to Washington. They pass through the Division of stamps and if they are unusual the Postmaster is ordered to return this stock to the Agency.

As the postmaster generally gets rid of his old and undesirable stock in this way, quite often odd things are noted. It is because of this good work that several varieties have recently become available, such as the $2 orange and black, the 50c and 75c Parcel Post, the old 10c registration stamps and several others that I do not recall at the instance.

When they are doing all this for us do you think it fair to complain? Do you not think a letter of appreciation is more in order? You know the Agency was only established after many letters from collectors and against the opposition of some officials, and if you want it discontinued all you have to do is to let the officials higher up become disgusted with the whole thing. In several weeks they will no doubt be able to answer letters within a day or two but now with the new series just completed orders are coming in faster than they can take care of them.

EDITORIAL

The International Philatelic Exhibition is truly named. Its scope is worldwide and its internationalism is derived not alone from the fact that the exhibits are contributed by countries throughout the habitable globe, but also for the reason that among those who will attend the Exhibition are representatives from many corners of the world. When a stamp exhibition becomes a magnet that attracts the elect of philately from Europe, Australia and South America, not to mention other distant points, the convocation becomes a triumph of romance through the reality of journeys of thousands of miles undertaken by pilgrims to the philatelic shrine. In this day of materialism, there still remains a sentiment that impels men to travel across the seas to pledge personally their friendship for philately.

These visitors coming from afar present, first of all, testimony to the universality of philately and by their presence, they pay a tribute to American philately. We appreciate this evidence of accord and hearty recognition of our endeavors that the presence of collectors from abroad indicates. If there are collectors in this country who have any lingering doubts as to the truth of the saying that philately girdles the globe, they are now removed, together with any other misgivings as to the acceptability of our pursuit to almost all the nations of the earth.

The effect on the public or nonphilatelic mind made by the attendance of foreign visitors must be an enlightening one. The outsider will be impressed by the array of names of philatelic dignitaries from other continents and the conviction that there is a solid foundation to our pursuit will follow. This country is a vast one but the newspaper press will penetrate to its uttermost reaches with its tale of the Exhibition and its activities, participated in by people of many of the nations. The result will be that much of the ignorance concerning stamp collecting will be dissipated. By reason of its news value, in the light of the growing editorial tendency to realize that philately is a legitimate source of news, the Exhibition will receive attention in the newspapers that will outshine that which it is now basking in; and the consequence will be that progress will be made in the onward march of philately to a permanent place in the public esteem.

Philately will be on parade at the Exhibition and it devolves upon all who are within our ranks to make the occasion one to be remembered by the noncollector or the one who knows nothing of organized collecting. The interest that the stranger may show in the Exhibition should be encouraged through the willingness of collectors to answer questions and explain all angles in order that any collecting inclination should be stimulated. A groping desire when given full rein may become a fixed collecting idea. A cordial welcome will await the unknown collector from those who have had years of training and if the one knocking at the door is made to feel at home at the time of his introduction, the memory of the friendliness will emphasize the satisfaction of collecting.

The convention of the American Philatelic Society which will be held concurrently with the Exhibition should be a success on the score of attendance and we learn that President Wilhelm, with a number of friends, has already left San Francisco with the intention of proceeding leisurely to New York. From different sections of the country, we hear that members are planning to meet at the convention and any register that may be published now of names of delegates will not reflect by any means the numerical strength of the attendants. The committees, in New York, who are in charge of the plans for the reception and entertainment of members and others have worked to advantage. The men comprising these committees have buckled down to work in a manner to insure entertainment for all; and we are sure that under the intelligent guidance of the New York hosts, the visitors will have every opportunity for philatelic work and play.

The "Weekly" celebrates the occasion by issuing a large number of the paper, of which a greater number than usual is printed. At the WEEKLY'S booth at the Exhibition copies of this special number will be distributed to callers and it is intended to place as many papers as possible in the hands of those to whom the printed page of philately is something of a revelation. The advertising pages will surprise those who have had no reason to inquire into philately in an internal sense, heretofore. The market place that is brought before the eyes through the medium of the advertisements is of a magnitude that must astound the one who knows nothing or little about stamps.

Joseph Byfield died in Chicago recently at an advanced age. Though born in Europe he came to Chicago at an early day and waxed prosperous with the city. His name originally was Beifeld but was changed to Byfield at the outbreak of the World War. Joseph Beifeld, will be remembered by veteran collectors as one of the pioneer stamp dealers. In the seventies, he published lists, albums, etc., and had a local trade that was of some proportions. He published the Centennial Stamp Album in 1876, and about this time his directory of the stamp dealers in the U. S. and Canada appeared. His business success in other lines led to his relinquishing of the stamp business but for years he kept his stamp collection. Some years ago, Mr. Byfield issued a handsome set of labels to advertise his Sherman Hotel. Mention was made of the labels in the WEEKLY and with Mr. Byfield's permission, readers were asked to give him a shower of letters asking for sets of the stickers. The response swept Mr. Byfield off his feet, out of touch as he was with philately of a later day. He said that requests literally by the thousand were received from readers of this paper and that any suspicion that he may have had that philately was not flourishing was succeeded by admiration for the acquisitive instincts of collectors of this day.

The Nordiska Filatelistkongressen was held at Stockholm, Sweden, September 18th to 21st. Invitations were sent to the philatelic societies in Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland to participate in the exercises to celebrate the fortieth birthday of the Swedish Philatelic Society, under whose auspices the congress was held. An interesting program was given, the most important feature of which was a stamp exhibit. The influence of the Swedish Philatelic Society has long been recognized and we congratulate the society upon attaining so ripe and respectable an age.

The new fifteen cent air mail stamp was issued promptly on the 18th of September, at Washington, and is now in the hands of collectors. The color ascribed to the stamp by the post office is sepia. To repeat the reason for the issue of this denomination, quoting from the government circular: "The stamp will be used to cover air mail postage over one zone of the government-operated transcontinental route, where the air mail postage is 8 cents, plus transportation over one of the contract air mail routes up to 1,000 miles, where the postage charge is 10 cents. Thus, 5 cents is charged for transport over the government line and 10c over the contract line. The stamp also will be used on contract air mail routes where the distance to be traveled is in excess of 1,000 miles. At present, only one such contract route exists, that between Seattle and Los Angeles."

INTERESTING FIRST FLIGHTS

Monday, September 20, brought to our attention a number of interesting covers in connection with airmail flights and first day covers.

First we want to chronicle the new 15c sepia airmail stamp, which is by the way, both a unique and handsome stamp. It is of the same design as the 10c blue. Specimens upon cover are at hand from Albert E. Gorham and Raymond C. Schaffer. Upon the reverse side of the envelopes is the Philadelphia Transit marking, showing airmail service from Washington to Philadelphia.

A first flight between Seattle and Los Angeles, on Sept. 15, furnished an interesting group of covers. We were again favored by Albert E. Gorham, who sent us a first flight Seattle to Los Angeles and a second from Los Angeles to Seattle and another San Francisco to Tacoma. They are uniform in the character of the markings with the exception that the first and third have the air flight marking in purple and the other in dark red. One of the covers is the more interesting because the postage was paid in imperforate stamps.

Specimens of these covers were also received from Frank L. Applegate, Frank C. Clark, both of Medford, Ore., and Charles L. Hall of Chicago. The Applegate and Clark covers are very similar, each bearing a Medford, Ore., marking in purple and a San Francisco marking upon the reverse side in black. The Hall cover reached us with a Barkersfield, Cal., airflight marking, via Medford.

The above courtesies are greatly appreciated.

IN TRINIDAD

By Norville L. Burdon.

This is the General Post Office at ort of Spain, on the island of Trinidad, the large flaring sign glistening in the typical sunlight shows. Port of Spain is a sleepy little town, but it is full of people who enjoy this life, although they do not seem to be much disturbed about it. One considers, as he passes this place, the wonderful possibilities if he had only been there buying all the new issues during all the past years that have been sold for a song to the unappreciative inhabitants, who have licked the backs of so many rare gems for the prosaic purpose of forwarding letters which could not have been important enough to destroy the mint condition of many of them now great and costly rarities.

For MEKEEL'S WEEKLY

USED OR UNUSED?

By Robert S. Gordon.

To one with a fairly good knowledge of geography and no knowledge of philately, it would seem fairly obvious that the stamps of the Wallis and Futuna Islands are scarcer than those of Algeria. The latter has all the advantages of a comparatively large population, easy communications with the rest of the world, and an enormously greater postal business. Yet the unused stamps of both colonies are listed at very similar prices, and rightly so. Both series of stamps can be bought in Paris, fresh from the printing presses. There is no necessity of sending drafts, bank notes, or money orders to curious postmasters, with the consequent delay in arrival of the stamps.

But compare the difficulties of obtaining the same stamps postally used! Ask a dealer for a selection of used Wallis and Futuna Islands stamps, and consider yourself lucky if even one is forthcoming. Don't take my word for it. Try it. Or, better yet, try to obtain covers of the two colonies.

Hence my contention that used stamps are, in these days of Philatelic Agencies and New Issue services, a truer index to scarcity than the cleaner and better appearing mint varieties. It's no trick at all to keep up-to-date with unused stamps, provided the check book holds out. The real job is to find the same stamps postally used, and hang the price!

There are perhaps half a dozen or so colonies whose stamps—all of them—are infinitely rarer used than unused. On cover, of course, their rarity is greater yet. How many of the following have you seen advertised recently, used?

Ascension, Belgian East Africa, Brunei, French Equatorial Africa, Kuwait, Mauretania, Spanish Guinea, Spanish Western Sahara, Upper Volta, Wallis & Futuna Is.

Most of these, it is true, only recently began to issue stamps. Yet none of them is so new that it is impossible to arrive at a fair estimate of the relative scarcity of its used and unused stamps. And the following list gives what I consider a rough approximation to the true value of the used stamps, expressed as a percentage of the unused value:

Ascension	250%
Belgian East Africa	350%
Brunei	200%
French Equatorial Africa	175%
Kuwait	250%
Mauretania	200%
Spanish Guinea	200%
Spanish Western Sahara	600%
Upper Volta	300%
Wallis & Futuna Is.	750%

This estimate takes into account the relative importance of the colonies listed, and the comparative amount of their postal business, which, while far from being a true criterion, is nevertheless a basis on which to work.

It is perhaps too much to hope for, to await the eventual compilation of the true values of the used stamps of each country and colony. It would be a monumental undertaking, even were the distinction between different postmarks omitted. And doubtless there is not, as yet, sufficient interest shown to justify such labor; although the interest in original covers is certainly increasing by leaps and bounds.

In the hope that it may interest others, I am adding another of my "rough approximations," being the relative scarcity of the postmarks on the stamps of Brunei, for each of the five postoffices; with the "Brunei" postmark, the commonest, rated at 1:

Belait,	12	Temburong,	5
Brunei,	1	Tutong,	15
Muara,	8

Will others, with more material at hand than I have, rate the postmarks of their favorite colonies in like manner?

Extra Special—Japan Coronation 10s

This stamp, 10s ultramarine and dark blue, Scott No. 146. cat. 3.00 each, is one of the scarcest $3.00 20th stamps. Scarcer than many which list $10.00 each. No dealer has any supply to speak of and most of the holdings in Japan were destroyed by the earthquake. An Asiatic speculator who has been buying every copy of this stamp he could find for years, decided he needed money and we secured the limited lot he was able to pick up. Regardless of catalog we advise our readers to get this item, as a few years will surely show it is cheap at our price. Nine collections out of ten miss it. These prices are special for a few weeks only.

Prices—superb unused $1.75, fine postally used (rare) 2.50
Block of four, mint, only a few 8.00

(A short time ago we had a few of these and offered them for $1.75. They went like "hot cakes" cleaning up the few our Japanese agent had or could get and we turned down many orders.)

Iceland

This Scandinavian country has always been one of the most popular European countries, and its stamps, especially the high values, not easy to get. We offer about everything in the 20th issues below, priced according to Scott's 1927 catalog, which has advanced the prices on most of the better stamps of this country. We offer both used and unused for those who prefer either way. First class copies.

HON. ROBERT S. EMERSON

New York Exhibition Judge and One of the Most Prominent of U. S. Philatelists

On the Board of Judges for the New York Exhibition is Judge Robert S. Emerson of Providence, R. I. He is located with offices in the Turks Head Building, and has always been prominent in Providence philately. He is a general collector, and we are pleased to present his likeness herewith.

PHILATELIC ADVERTISING

By Harry M. Konwiser.

PHILATELIC advertising should increase sales and so reduce costs. Philatelic advertising increases knowledge and elevates the standard of collecting stamps, without adding any costs to the collector.

These therefore appear to be the major principles of advertising and they are legitimately recognized, along with service.

Advertising is a time-saver. Collectors can save time in not writing for the so-called "classics"—for instance—when advertisers stress the point they are specialists in stamps of modern appearance. And vice versa.

Philatelic advertising, if properly done, should increase the philatelic knowledge of the readers. There is said to be no power like desire to increase one's stamp collection and surely some advertising copy does set up the images of a better collection.

Advertising appeal is usually based upon the simple human fundamentals; it is not a cleverly conceived scheme to befuddle anyone; at least it should not be so. Think how we feel about things, how the other fellow feels about the same thing and if you write it from his point of view, he will read it and talk about it. Then you are advertising.

Advertising, of course, must compete in reader interest with the reading matter in the stamp paper, and that is no easy job. However, if you can liven up your copy you are likely to win, as a rule. People just will not read the dull words, or if they do, remember it is seldom with favor. The live stuff does stay in the mind.

Courage in philatelic advertising should not stamp the advertiser as youthful. It really indicates experience and mastery.

As you plan your advertising, figure it out upon the total annual business you expect to do. Certainly ten per cent is not too much to invest in advertising. And remember that word—invest. You are doing that when you advertise.

It is assumed that if you are a philatelic advertiser you are not of the fly-by-night type. The one-time order-taker has no place in philately, barring a disposal sale. Being a regular sort of business man, you must try to sell yourself to the collecting craft. This is a great field for friendship. One customer speaks of you to another. Whether for good or depends upon you entirely.

Every advertiser should want to b his advertising money that his offerin are exactly right. Better that way th to declare you are ready to make thin right. Why sell a thing about whi there is any doubt. Sometimes a que tionable item, guaranteed, etc., is out wi some collector for years before the c lector learns he has a counterfeit.

The big advertisers of the land do n try to one-time themselves into popul favor. And in philatelic circles there no room for the long-shot specialist.

Too many stamp sellers appear to b lieve they can use fair-sized space c casionally and retain their selling tot to the desired end.

As a stamp advertiser, you must fi sell yourself to the prospect and th must have the goods to deliver. Adve tising in stamp papers would show bet direct results if the space buyers chang their copy regularly and made a re pretence at telling a story.

Merely advertising your name, sayi you sell stamps at auction—to illustrate is all right enough for the very long pu or for institutional advertising, but you tell your friends that "The 66th s contains the Baron de Count's Great c lection," and tells something about t Baron de Count, well, there is hum interest in that.

If you advertise "early U. S. cover why not tell a curious world that the covers were found by a colored boy his father was feeding the furnace. T boy, at school, had heard other boys ta about stamps, and so another find.

You are a human being. You respo to certain things. So does the other f low. Talk to him as you want to talked to. Tell him something. Of him facts, trade your knowledge for i approval. The answer can only be su cess in advertising.

A BOOST FOR U. S. REVENU

The revenue stamp branch of philat doesn't seem to be given much attenti in your paper. Am still hoping to a chance to obtain a new pamphlet brin ing this matter up from 1898 to da It is a wonderful field and the alm impossibility to obtain, for instance, t higher values of the present current d umentary, stock transfer, and future d livery, etc., adds considerable inter I presume many would like to see m on this subject.

What is more beautiful than the 18 1902 battleship set, and the higher valu also, but my goodness, what a fall fr beauty the lower denominations of 1914 and the present set, altho the $1 and up denominations of the 1914 a 1917 sets are quite presentable. To mind the 1914 black Prop. set and blue 1918 Prop. set, which were reti January 1, 1922, are not what would called works of art. By the way, I h to obtain unused copies of the 20 a 40c of this set at the Chicago po office, after signing up a death warr and certificate required by the Int. R Dept. I venture to say that few deal have this entire blue set for sale, and Government has probably destroyed th all by this time, and they are not lis in the stamps for sale by the Gove ment Stamp Agency.

For real works of art, the Civil W revenues 1862-1875 are hard to be The colors of these stamps for the m part hold well, but I can't see why catalogues describe the 5c, 20c, 25c a $5.00 first issue as "red"; they are mos brown. But I have several really "r first issue $1.00, altho some of the $1 have faded to a brown. The greens the first issue have held out against ti very well and seem to be the best of series for retaining color; this is es cially true of the 70c, $3.00 and $10. also 3c, but the $50.00 Mortgage I h has faded some. Some of the seco and third issue 1871-4 look as tho prin yesterday instead of 50 years ago; this particularly true of my copies of $5.00 and $10.00 third issue. My co of the first issue $3.50 blue and $25 red are really perfect. They evider put time and expense into revenues those good old days.

ORGANIZED PHILATELY

THIS review aims to present a bird's-eye view of existing philatelic organizations which are national in their scope. Much comment has appeared in the philatelic press during the past months arguing pro and con for one large organization. For purposes of future discussion we present the following data on organizations which aim to be national.

American Philatelic Society, Inc.

The leading stamp society in the United States is the American Philatelic Society. Its membership on May 1, 1926, totaled 3,359. The dues are $1.75, the subscription to The American Philatelist is $1.25, and one share of stock must be purchased at $1.00. The total cost the first year is $4.00; after that, $3.00 per year. The American Philatelist is a very high grade publication, especially valuable to the United States specialist. Mr. J. Eustace Guest of Dallas, Texas, is Sales Manager and maintains the greatest sales department that has ever been built. Dr. Holland A. Davis is Secretary, address 3421 Colfax "a," Denver, Colo. A handsome year book is a definite annual production. The 1926 convention will be held in New York during October at the time of the International Exhibition.

Collectors Club of New York, Inc.

Altho primarily started as a local club, the Collectors Club may justly be termed a national organization. Its membership is represented by a great number of out-of-town members. The Club maintains its own club building at 51 W. 48 St. The Collectors Club Philatelist is published quarterly and is without question the finest stamp magazine published in the world. Non-resident membership is $5.00 per year, which includes the quarterly. The Club's library is the finest and most complete in existence. Dr. J. Brace Chittenden, Secretary, is in charge of the library. The membership is 624 at present. No Sales Department is maintained.

Society of Philatelic Americans
(Inc. 1894.)

The Society of Philatelic Americans was at one time the largest society in the world. Some years ago it suffered from several serious losses which certain sly thiefs caused thru actual thefts of Sales Department circuits. The society was badly in debt but, thru the persistent efforts of Joseph Hoffman, N. R. Hoover, Guy W. A. Camp, M. Ohlman and others the S. P. A. came back, recovered its lost ground and is today an important factor in organized philately. A. E. Hussey of Cincinnati operates the Sales Department; W. Wyer of Denver, the Exchange. Wm. Lycett is Secretary, address 1221 Washington St., Cape May, N. J. The stamp Collector's Magazine serves the society well as official organ. The 1926 convention was in Cincinnati, Ohio, August 9-11th. Membership is 900. A very useful year book appears regularly.

International Philatelic Association

It has been said that a society for stamp collectors is as good as its Sales and Exchange departments. Using this as a criterion. the I. P. A. is a very, very good society. L. J. Flerlage of Norwood, Ohio, has built a Sales Department, and H. F. Christensen of Emerson, N. J., an Exchange Department that give service. The membership is not large but the society is in firm financial condition. It is conservatively managed. Harry E. Klotzbach is Secretary-Treasurer, P. O. Box 862, Buffalo, N. Y. The Stamp Collector's Magazine is official organ.

United Stamp Societies

Several of the local city clubs in the East have banded together into a type of federation, called the United Stamp Societies. This federation has its own "National" officers and maintains a federation Sales Department which is very effective under J. Weer Chew of the Philadelphia Stamp Club. The following organizations are represented: The Androscoggin Stamp Club, Auburn, Me.; Boston Philatelic Society; Bridgeport (Conn.) Philatelic Club; Brooklyn (N. Y.) Stamp Club; Capital City (Pa.) Philatelic Society; Delaware Stamp Club; Hackensack (N. J.) Philatelic Society; Lynn (Mass.) Philatelic Society; Metropolitan (Boston & Suburbs) Philatelic Society; Montclair (N. J.) Philatelic Society; New York Philatelic Society, Inc.; Paterson (N. J.) Stamp Club; Harrisburg (Pa.) Stamp Club; New Haven Philatelic Society (Conn.); Philatelic Society of Pittsburg (Pa.); Suburban Stamp & Curio Club (Boston); Syracuse (N. Y.) Stamp Club; Philadelphia Stamp Club; Worcester (Mass.) Stamp Club; Utica (N. Y.) Stamp Club.

This is a very interesting and useful organization. The secretary is Elmer L. Clark, of Lynn, Masss. Other local clubs in the East who are interested will be given full information about the U. S. S. by Mr. Clark. The 1926 convention was held at Hackensack, N. J., May 31, 1926.

World Philatelic Society

The newest organization catering to national fields is the World Philatelic Society. John Pirhalla, Jr., 311 S. 4th Street, Duquesne, Pa., is Secretary. No Sales Manager has been appointed as yet. The Stamp Collector's Magazine in official organ and the society maintains a junior offcial organ called, The Stamp Beacon. Dues are $.200 per year.

Precancel Stamp Society

A good example of the need o specialty organizations is well illustrate by the success of the Precancel Stam Society. The organization is considering at present, publishing its own officia organ. Very efficient Sales and Ex change Departments are being operate by Burt C. Wear, Los Angeles, and A A. Johnson, Tacoma, Wash. John Spauld ing, New Berlin, N. Y., is Secretary Dues are $2.00 per year. The annua 1926 convention will be held in Ne York in October at the time of the Inter national Exhibit. No serious collecto of precancels should neglect joining th P. S. S. The membership is about 500 An annual is always issued.

Aero Philatelic Society of America

Another example of specialty union fo common interest is the Aero Society which is a group of serious collector particularly interested in aeroplane stamp and covers. George W. Angers, P. O Box 412, Springfield, Mass., is Secretary and Joseph Steinmetz is Sales Manager The Society operates its own officia organ, The Aero Newsletter. There are about 160 members. The 1926 convention is at New York during the Exhibition.

Philatelic Plate Number Association

Very little is known regarding this organization. Collectors who are interested may write the secretary, R. W Becker, Easton, Pa.

Postal Card Society of America.

This organization is of long standing It issues its own official organ, Bulletin of the P. C. S. of A. S. N. Edwards De Volne Hotel, Fargo, N. D., is Secretary. Dr. W. I. Mitchell is a prominent booster of the society. The club has been carefully and well managed. It is a good example of an efficient, long-lived side line club.—Philatelic Gossip.

THE PRECANCEL HOBBY

By FREDERICK WALLACE ALLEN

UNITED STATES precancelled postage stamps failed to cause any concern among the collecting fraternity before the opening of the present century. The varieties known prior to this time, composed an insignificant group. The first attempt at any listing of them was made in 1898 by Albert Lloyd Jones, of Wabash, Ind. It is rather curious to note that Mr. Jones, who was one of the precancel hobby's pioneers, lost interest in 1904 and this interest was not reawakened until 1924, when he returned to his early love, and began the formation of a specialized collection of precancelled coil stamps, upon which, it is generally recognized, he is the leading authority.

The late E. R. Aldrich, of Benson, Minn., was considered to be well posted on the early issues of precancels. In 1902 he presented to the public quite a comprehensive check list, and in the same year Walter L. Gates composed a similar list. Mr. Gates is one of the real "old timers" in the game today. His collection, the result of many years accumulating and study, has just been presented to the Smithsonian Institute, where it has been absorbed in the government stamp display. It is hoped that justice will be given to this interesting showing, by it being properly exhibited.

After the first decade of the twentieth century, the hobby began to exhibit signs of life. The old Precancelled Stamp Club, which had been born many years before, and had languished and died because of the indifferent interest toward the class of stamps it relied upon for its life as revived by some of the "old guard," and given the name "International Precancel Club." Important collections were formed by F. L. Smith, Chester Myers, S. M. Schoeman, E. A. Solomon, C. E. Stebbins, Frank McChesney, W. W. Norton, J. J. Cone, W. L. Gates, Dr. W. I. Mitchell, A. A. Johnson, J. D. Hubel, Dr. Geo. B. Newton, Joseph Demers, Gen. C. A. Coolidge, W. H. Field, W. C. Malone, Benj. Cadbury, Rev. Henry Wadtes, and these men took a prominent part in stimulating a steady growth of interest.

With the advent of B. Gordon Bushnell in the field, the whole aspect of the precancel hobby was metamorphosed. The even tenor of the hobby did not been conducive to a boom period, for there was no standard catalog or system of valuation. Bushnell remedied this by compiling a Standard Precancel Catalog, and evolving a method of description and listing that was quite satisfactory for the time being. In this work he received valuable assistance from two sterling collectors, Dr. Walton I. Mitchell, and Walter L. Gates, and co-operation from many others. From 1918 to 1922 the catalog appeared in four editions, the form varying from sectional to complete volumes. As a rule Bushnell's prices were low and the extreme undervaluation was galling to most serious followers of the hobby.

In the fall of 1924 Victor W. Rotnem purchased from Bushnell all copyrights and titles and continued the catalog work. By this time the growth in popularity in precancels had become tremendous and showed no signs of abating. It was possible to secure now expert assistance and unreserved co-operation and the Bushnell book was completely rewritten and revised. When the 1925 Standard Precancel Catalog made its appearance it found a receptive public, and produced a favorable impression. An analyzation of the book by an impartial and intelligent observer would contain the belief that commemorative issues were overpriced as a rule, and also the perforated 10 and 12 issues, where the type of cancellation and stamp, aside from the perforations, did not differ from the lower priced perforated 11 varieties. For collectors of precancels are interested in cancellations primarily. This has been borne out by the fact that the market is extremely weak at present on the aforesaid material. The same comment is in order in reviewing the 1926 edition, just out, and in addition it must be stated that the pricing of the current issue does not reflect true or proportionate valuations. It is to be hoped that the 1927 edition will contain saner and more justifiable prices, for the main value of this book lies in the fact that it is a catalog and not simply a check list. The average collector buys the book to find out what his stamps are worth and not what precancel varieties exist. It is one of the hardest philatelic tasks to reflect prices, in a work of this sort, that the great majority will accept as correct and for that reason thoroughness is the essential factor for the ultimate success of a catalog. We are prone to believe it was forgotten in the rush to publish the 1926 edition.

Turning to another phase that was lightly touched upon in a previous paragraph, organization of precancel collectors, we find that the International Precancel Club lost its "zip" about 1915. This was caused, as is the case when most societies fail to carry on properly, by trouble in the Sales Department. Collectors turned to a new and energetic group called the "Precancel Club of America" which had become established through the efforts of Victor W. Rotnem. After the narrow field had been crowded for two years with two similar fraternities, popular opinion demanded a union. This union was consummated and a joint existence began under a new name, the "Precancel Stamp Society." It has progressed steadily and now boasts a membership of nearly five hundred precancel enthusiasts. Enthusiasts, in truth, are most precancel addicts, and a few of them are to be found in every established club in the country. Who will deny that they lend considerable "pep" to the meetings?

A third dimension of the hobby that may be timely commented upon is literature, aside from catalogues. Handbooks need not be considered for there

The issues of United States being so popular by all classes of collectors, necessarily limits the extent of our approval selections. We have a few books suitable for the beginner or medium collector. To advanced collectors or specialists desiring fine copies, cancellations, etc., we would urge that you send us a detailed want list of your needs in all issues. In this way you receive just such stamps that will be of interest and we do not tie up our limited stock unnecessarily. Try Sending That Want List To-day. References required unless you have an approval account.

Auction Sales of Postage Stamps

Auction Sales of postage stamps enjoy universal popularity for the reason that much material is offered which is seldom available in dealers' stocks. The stamp you have been seeking so long may appear in a sale at anytime with the breaking up of a fine collection. Furthermore, the man who has but a limited allowance for stamps and the man who can spend a thousand dollars, both have an equal chance of securing desirable material for their respective collections. The general collector, the specialist, the investor, the speculator, and the dealer, all can find something of interest in my sales. If you want to buy good stamps, and are willing to pay fair prices for them, I shall be glad to add your name to my mailing list for catalogs of these sales.

I am now settled in the new COLLECTORS CLUB BUILDING, 51 West 48th Street, New York City. My new offices are among the finest in the trade. The location is ideal, right in the heart of the city, a half block from Fifth Avenue.

Due to these increased conveniences, I am enabled to provide unexcelled facilities for the sale of postage stamp collections or good single stamps at auction, and will be very pleased to quote my selling terms on application.

are none, but the future will see their evolution. The first precancel periodical was the Precancel Monthly, published by John M. Stuart of Paris, Ky. This ran through eleven issues. Bushnell's Stamp Herald was originally a precancel organ, but after its disposition to its present owners it changed its character completely. Bushnell later began the organ known as Bushnell's Magazine, with the intention of devoting it exclusively to precancels, but it fell away sadly and degenerated into a sheet occupied with the mail order trade. Next we have to consider the Precancel Gazette, established by V. W. Rotnem, which ran through 55 whole numbers. While it lived it exerted a widespread and beneficial influence. It is now merged with the Precancelist, which is a continuation of the Windy City Precancel News. The latter monthly had its birth in January, 1926. A Chicago dealer, Adolph Gunesch, was its founder and editor. The Precancel Stamp Society now publishes it under the new name, as its official organ. It still lacks complete support, but shows every indication of gaining it. As it fills a long felt want, it shall be continued even at a loss, for that loss, when borne, by an organization such as the Precancel Stamp Society, is unworthy of denunciation, when the welfare of the hobby is at stake. All collectors interested in precancels should accord it their support, and particulars may be obtained from Mr. John Spaulding, New Berlin, N. Y.

Upon the future of precancels we scarce need comment. They have definitely established themselves with philatelists in this country, and many collectors abroad are now turning to them with awakened interest. A strong and stable catalog will assure a rosy future. If this falls, so will the foundation crumble. The catalog makers hold the forthcoming results in the hollow of their hands.

HOW TO BUY STAMPS

By L. H. Brigham.

IT is really not so much a matter of knowing how to buy stamps as it is a case of knowing how to buy right. When we start buying stamps, we find that they can be purchased in a number of different ways:

1. There is the unsorted mixture sold by the pound, consisting of stamps with the paper still on them, just as they were torn off of the corner of the envelope. In these stamps we find very few varieties.

2. Next come packets containing several hundreds or thousands of different varieties, depending on the size of the packet. Each one of these packets is a small collection in itself. If we are just beginning collecting, a packet such as one of these would give us an excellent start, but if we already have a considerable number of stamps, here again we are going to obtain a lot of duplicates on account of finding many stamps we already have, in almost any one of these packets.

3. Entire, complete sets are now called to our attention. Here we see large sets of stamps of both early and recent issue which would fill an entire page, or sets containing a smaller number of stamps which would fill out a line or so on some page. We are greatly surprised to find that we can obtain some of these sets, consisting of the most beautiful stamps, for only a few cents per set. Stamps to be really appreciated must be seen in entire sets, where one has the opportunity to note the great contrast in the colors, shapes, and designs of these beautiful pieces of paper. Even the most disinterested of individuals are moved to expressions of delight and enthusiasm when viewing some such stamps as these.

4. Next, and most popular of all, come the "approval selections." In these we have small books, sheets, and cards filled with both sets and single stamps, priced singly, from every country in the world. The chief advantages of buying from "approval selections" are as follows:

(1) One has a wide range of choice, as general selections submitted on approval are usually fairly large and contain stamps from everywhere.

(2) Stamps can be obtained which are all within a certain price, such as those selling from half a cent to five cents each, net.

(3) You purchase only the exact stamps you desire.

(4) You are enabled to select the best specimen from among several of one kind.

(5) Sets can be completed where only one or two single stamps are missing.

(6) Better copies of low-priced stamps which you already have can be purchased to replace the poor-conditioned ones which you have.

(7) Opportunity is presented for specializing on the stamps of certain countries or groups of countries, if a collector's tastes run to this manner of collecting.

(8) The latest and newest of issues can be found rubbing edges along with their brother and sister stamps of another century; therefore, if a collector desires only recent issues of stamps for his collection, he can find them here, and vice versa.

The size and type of one's collection should determine entirely the manner in which one elects to buy his stamps. The amount of money a collector has to invest in this manner is also another determining factor. The cheapest stamps are not always the best. From an investment point of view, it pays to collect only the very best of specimens, even though the prices on these may be slightly higher than an inferior copy of the same stamp.

A little experimenting on a collector's part with several dealers can soon determine in his mind just where he is able to obtain the greatest value for his money. Always treat a dealer's selection with the greatest of care and make prompt return of the stamps not purchased. This is only fair and right. The dealer will appreciate it and show his appreciaton in various ways, all of which will be to your advantage.

ENJOYING ONE'S VACATION

I'M THE LITTLE RED STAMP

By Sam Walter Foss.

I'm the little red stamp with George Washington's picture;
And I go wherever I may,
To any spot in George Washington's land;
And I go by the shortest way.

And the guns of wrath would clear my path—
A thousand guns at need—
Of the hands that should dare to block my course
Or slacken my onward speed.

Stand back! Hands off of Uncle Sam's Mail!
Stand back there! back! I say,
For the little red stamp with George Washington's picture
Must have the right of way.

COLLECTING OF STATE POSTMARKS

By Delf Norona

THE general interest in United States stamps has about reached the point where almost four out of five collectors will answer in the affirmative when questioned as to whether they specialize in United States stamps.

Every specialist is presumed to take cognizance of the postmarks used during the period of issue of the stamps he specializes in, and the collector of U. S. is certainly no exception. However, the extent and method in which our postmarks are collected varies greatly, from a mere accumulating or gathering together of anything odd or interesting which just "happens along," to the scientific assembling and studying of the various types or groups of postmarks on the part of the true philatelist. The latter will not be satisfied with merely a single specimen of a postmark used by some particular post office, but he will find out just when that post office was opened, and obtain a postmark used as close to the first day of opening as possible. In the case where a change was made in the style of postmark he will hunt up the latest dated copy of the old postmark as well as the earliest dated specimen possible of the new. Suppose that a temporary change was made in the color of the cancelling ink, that too will be duly noted and illustrated by means of appropriate specimens. Finally, the post office may have been discontinued or the name changed. That will also be shown by the postmarks.

With the stamps of some small countries having but a limited number of post offices, the specialism in all the postmarks used either to the present time or for whatever period fancy dictates, is indeed a fascinating task, as any collector who has done any work along these lines will testify. However, owing to their great number, such an undertaking when applied to our post offices, even when applied to those used during a short period of time, is obviously impossible, and limitation of some kind is necessary.

A popular form of specializing in postmarks is to take up certain types of postmarks or cancellations. Railroad, steamship and steamboat cancellations have been given a great deal of attention in the past, while more recently town and county cancellations have come into the philatelic limelight.

An important field for U. S. postmark collecting which seems to have been absolutely neglected, is that of collecting postmarks by States. For the collector who is unable to indulge in the pastime of plating Ten Cent Forty Sevens, for instance (and, alas, their name is legion), this branch of our hobby furnishes an opportunity to do a lot of honest-to-goodness research work with but a minimum outlay of cash. Brain work and perseverance in hunting for that elusive postmark in the place of money work are the requisites in forming an interesting postmark collection.

As a concrete illustration of the possibilities attendant this collecting of postmarks by States is preferable to dealing in generalities, I shall continue in the first person and give some examples as to what can be done with the 19th Century postmarks of West Virginia. Every State, of course, will have points of interest peculiar to itself, and many of the high spots in the history of the State can be illustrated by means of its postmarks.

West Virginia Postmarks

A collection of the postmarks of West Virgina properly begins with the period prior to June 19, 1863, the date of the formation of a new State out of that was then northwestern Virginia. Postmarks of that period will, of course, be found "Wheeling, Va.", "Lewisburg, Va.", etc.

Parkersburg was an important old Dominion town, and I have a typical cancellation in red, on a cover used in 1850, "Parkersburg, Va." in a single circle, 30mm. in diameter. Later, at least some time as early as 1853, the cancelling ink employed was changed to black as evidenced by a 3c 1853 cover, without any year date showing. Some time later, in 1859 or earlier, the spelling was changed to "Parkersburgh" as illustrated by another cancellation 32½ mm. in diameter with the year date 1859 and "Parkersburgh, Va."

Soon after the formation of the new State, the postmarks were duly changed from "Va." to "W. V." or "W. Va." "W. V." seems to have been the abbreviation most generally employed for the first few years and was used until at least after 1870, when "W. Va." was generally adopted.

The collector with an inquiring mind will promptly ask: Just when were these changes made? How soon after the formation of a separate State did the adoption of new cancellers with "W. V." take place? When and why was the name changed from Parkersburg to "Parkersburgh" and then back to its present spelling, "Parkersburg"? Will postmarks be found used just after June 19, 1863, and before new cancelling stamps were supplied, in which a provisional "W." was inserted before the "Va." by some precise post-mistress? These and similar questions can be answered in part by searching official records, and partly by getting together and comparing the various postmarks used as the changes in question were made.

Some of the smaller post offices, "Peytona", for instance, in Boone county, and off from the beaten highways, are really rare. This little town with less than a hundred inhabitants at the time, I find in the '70's used a neat little block lettered cancellation 21½ mm. in diameter and without the usual outer circle. Inasmuch as the law of supply and demand enters into such things, any number of these small town postmarks can be picked up on covers with common postage stamps at next to nothing, whereas some railroad or oddly designed postmark for which there is a popular demand but of which there may be hundreds of examples in existence will command a premium of several dollars.

Although the name had been changed to Charleston many years previously. I find a cover cancelled "Kanawha C. H." used in 1875. Why was this cancellation still being used at such a late date? This suggests another field for specialism, that of collecting Court House postmarks. We have railroad, steamboat, and steamship, town and county, and university postmark enthusiasts, so why not court house postmarks. West Virginia has several: Beckley was formerly "Raleigh C. H.", and there are "Cabell C. H.", "Wayne C. H.", "Clay C. H.", as well as many others.

I have seen only one green West Virginia cancellation, that of a star in green as a cancellation used in combination with a black town postmark, December, 1861, but as the green star doesn't look just right, the name of the town will be withheld for the present.

Once in looking over a fine collection I noticed a beautiful 10c 1869 on cover apparently duly tied with the usual cork cancellation of that period. The postmark on the face of the cover, however, "Wheeling, Va.", gave the thing away—the faker not being up on his history or he never would have applied an 1869 stamp to a stampless cover postmarked "Wheeling, Va."

During the Civil War many of the eastern counties were in the hands of the Confederates. Covers used at different dates in various towns, some with Confederate and others with U. S. stamps are of historical interest

C. H. CALMAN, MGR.

owing the changes in occupation as e fortunes of war swayed back and rth.
This is but a brief summary as to e possibilities of a postmark collec-
n. In order for the work to be dertaken properly, it would be well a number of collectors of differ-t state postmarks but imbued with e true spirit of co-operation to work gether for the common good. I may t a lot of cheap covers, 95% or more which will be of no use to me, but ich collectors of other State postrks would be eager to get, and for ich they would be only too glad to change any West Virginia postrks they may have—useless to them
t greatly sought after by me.
Some one may ask: What is the of all this? Isn't it too much like rk anyway, and what cash value uld such a collection have? To ich we may reply: It is the interin bringing these facts to light, and ving the thrill which follows the aciring of that unexpected item, prov-or disproving some theory, which kes the game so fascinating. Were possible to obtain a complete coltion of the postmarks of some State, carefully written up and explained cording to Hoyle, by merely plunk-down a hundred or a thousand dols, interest would vanish. To quote
m Thomas Bailey Aldrich—

Vhen I behold what pleasure is Pursuit,
Vhat life, what glorious eagerness it is, hen mark how full Possession falls from this,
ow fairer seems the blossom than the fruit,— am perplext."

RE OF YOUR STAMP COLLEC-TION

By Edgar Ashman, Jr.

One of the most important things to member in making up a collection of stage stamps is, that their value is ays increased by the amount of care l neatness used in arranging them. e neater a stamp collection, the more de an owner will take in it, and the ter the mounting, the easier it will be find a buyer should its sale ever bene necessary.
The most expensive stamps can be dily ruined by a lack of care in ndling and mounting them, and a all, inexpensive collection looks like million dollars if time and thought been spent in its formation.
n purchasing materials and accesso-
s, such as albums, hinges, envelopes, ezers, etc., always buy the best you afford, regarding each expenditure an investment for the protection and welfare of your stamps, and certainly result will justify the means.
The less you handle stamps with your nds, the better condition they will be A pair of tweezers, made especially the purpose, is a necessity in handling od stamps, particularly mint specimens.
tle smudges of dirt, a tiny finger nt, accidental tears in the perforations, help to reduce the appearance and ue of a stamp and consequently de-ct from the collection. Therefore, ays pick them up and examine them
h tweezers, and with a little practice twill be found that every operation essary in handling a stamp can be ne with the tongs, thus saving it from possible injury.
Clean hands are absolutely essential in rking with a collection. There is hing which detracts from the looks an album so much as smears and udges on the pages. Even if you do tweezers, you should always wash ur hands thoroughly to prevent any ding of stamps or album.
Never under any circumstance use a ol hinge in your collection. By that I ean a hinge that does not peel, and it hese that should never be allowed in good collector's equipment. Buy the st hinge on the market, then test it to if it is quite peelable, or can be removed with ease from either stamp or album without any chance of tearing the paper. This will save torn stamps, torn albums, etc., and in the end will save the collection and repay the investment.

Even if you observe all the foregoing directions, you can easily ruin everything by the way you mount your stamps. The hinge should be folded down from the end about a quarter of an inch, the shiny or gum side out. In affixing it to the stamp, always let the folded end extend above the stamp, so that in examining the back of the specimen, or reading anything written in the space beneath, it can easily be bent back without getting creased, the folded edge of the sticker acting as the hinge.

The above method has only been derived by much experiment and several years of trial. I used to stick my hinges in the middle of the back of the stamp, then I tried placing the folded part flush with the top, and finally discovered the way I have just described, which has proven itself best.

AIN'T IT JUST SO?

Grab for Moscow and lost and
He says as we go marching down
Into the more or less enemy's Country of every man's life,
Old age, the man that keeps as Much of his youth with him on The march as possible is the Real campaigner, but if he liked
Hunting and gave that up on his First opportunity, or fishing
And gave that up, or movies or Reading novels, or collecting
Postage stamps, and decides that Nothing amounts to anything, why,
He has lost and the sooner he is Measured for his wooden overcoat
The better it will be for his Friends and those he Leaves behind.

Fifth Avenue Buys in Bond Street

Many of the greatest names in American Philately are patrons of the BOND STREET STAMP AUCTIONS. The annual purchases of one New York resident has for several seasons past run into thousands of dollars. With few exceptions all the lots acquired for this gentleman are bought on open bids left to our judgment. Regular mail bids are also received from an extensive clientele in all parts of the United States. The "Week End Cable" is a popular medium used by our more distant American patrons.

We attribute our success in the American Market to the same causes that have built our reputation in Europe. These may be summarized in two words—QUALITY and SERVICE. We appreciate the fact that only the best is good enough for the Modern Philatelist. This point in our policy has earned us favor among American collectors.

Last Season Mr. H. R. HARMER disposed of over $250,000 worth of Rare stamps and Collections, excluding many valuable properties sold privately. This is a record in British Philatelic Auctioneering.

This Season we hope to surpass our recent record. Many thousands of picked and desirable lots will be offered and every collector and dealer catered for.

Aero-philosemy or Aero-philately

By Thatcher R. Kimball.

AERO-PHILATELY has passed the experimental stage and it is now well established as a hobby all over the world. In 1790, one of our early poets, Freneau, wrote these words:

"Come grant me a patent for making balloons—
For I find that the time is approaching—the day
When horses shall fail and horsemen decay,
Post-riders, at present (called Centaurs of old),
Who brave all the seasons, hot weather and cold,
In future shall leave their dull ponies behind,
And travel, like ghosts, on the wings of the wind."

Surely his prophecy is being fulfilled if we substitute "airplanes" for "balloons." In England, Germany, France, Switzerland, India and the United States there are organized clubs of air mail collectors; all the leading stamp papers give much space to its news; many dealers devote their attention entirely to air mail stamps and flown covers and already three exhaustive catalogues in French, English and German have been published.

It is not surprising that this recent hobby has grown so in popularity and is winning new adherents in rapidly increasing numbers. The conquest of the air in recent years has been a matter of keen interest to most people. This has been the result of human intelligence, skill and courage, and in these envelopes carried on adventurous flights, over wide seas, tractless jungles and cloud-capped mountains, we have souvenirs of these splendid feats having a human appeal that a mere printed stamp, however rare, can never have.

There is, however, a great deal of misunderstanding regarding just what the limits of aero-philately are and it may be well to go into that matter. To begin with, the name aero-philately is misleading and only describes one side of it, e.g., the collecting of the special air stamps issued officially by various countries and unofficially or semi-officially by aero organizations and promoters of flights. The collection of such stamps, which are being issued in increasing numbers (86 new ones issued in 1925 by 17 different countries) affords scope for interesting collection. But the unique charm of this hobby can only be realized by those who are collecting the covers carried on the epoch-making flights and opening days of new postal routes, many of which had no distinctive air stamps and some had even no stamps at all, merely the postal cancellations, special cachets or signatures of the aviator. Hence, there is a strong feeling among intelligent collectors that a more fitting name should be adopted that better describes this hobby. Such a name has been coined by one of the pioneer collectors, the Hon. G. G. Duffy, of Dublin. The name he suggests is aero-philosemy, which means, love of the seals of the air. Because it is not the stamp that matters so much as the cancellations or cachets placed on the envelope to mark the time and place of the beginning and end of the flight and its nature. For these are the important and vital markings and guarantee that the cover has been really carried by aeroplane and dirigible. For example, if a cover from New York is cancelled July 1 at its departure from the post office and has a receiving cancellation July 3 marked San Francisco, it must obviously have been carried by aeroplane, as by the regular mail route or by no other way could it have traversed that distance in such a short time. Therefore, since so much depends on these cancellations and cachets or seals, the name aero-philosemy seems much more fitting than aero-philately.

It follows also that to the true collector of air covers it does not matter what stamp is affixed so long as it was accepted in payment by the postal authorities. This is mentioned as today so many dealers are selling flown covers franked with various interesting stamps, such as the Lexington or the Ericsson, etc., which may be attractive to the normal stamp collector, but such stamps add nothing to the value of a flown cover from the aerial point of view, as we must always remember that it is the record of the flight that matters and not the stamp; it is the fact that each cover of a new aerial postal route marks a step forward in the progress of air mail transport and is a documentary record of that step.

A striking fact regarding air cover collecting is the speedy way in which the value of many of the earliest items has increased. In the last two years many pieces have doubled and quadrupled in value, but this is natural when we consider the rapid increase in the number of collectors in that period as compared with the few covers carried on the earliest and most important flights. The demand far exceeds the supply, and so the prices are only limited by what a collector is willing to pay for a piece he wants. Because of the high prices quoted for many covers, some people when thinking of collecting are held back by the thought that it is not worth while to start on a hobby which demands so much expenditure. It certainly is true that every collector cannot possess a Hawker or Alcock or a Ross-Smith, but there are many other covers to be obtained at reasonable prices. A man of moderate means wishing to collect stamps is not deterred by the fact that he cannot buy the rare British Guiana or many of the other philatelic gems, as he knows there is a large field open to him within his reach. The same thing precisely is true of aero-philosemy. Almost every week new stamps are being issued, new flights attempted and new postal routes opened up. Of course, because of the increasing interest in aero-philosemy, many more covers are being carried on such flights than in the early days and their value is not great now, but in a few years even two thousand covers carried on a certain flight will not be enough to go around when four thousand or more collectors want them, and hence they will increase rapidly in value. Aero-philosemy is still in its infancy and the sooner one begins collecting the covers easily obtained today the more valuable will his collection become in the future.

In collecting, however, one must be cautious. First, buy a good catalogue and get familiar with the field. Then subscribe to the Aero News or some of the leading stamp papers that report all the new flights. Finally and always, scrutinize carefully every cover offered, studying the cancellations and cachets, for since air mail collecting has become so popular and prices have mounted fabulously, numerous forgeries have been perpetrated and many envelopes that were never flown have been stamped by complaisant postmasters.

Besides the charm of collecting these interesting souvenirs of the conquest of the air, the development of the air mail is of real value in the aid it is giving to national defense in case of war. The aeroplane will play a still more important part in a future war than it has done, and the country best equipped with planes and skilled aviators will have a distinct advantage. Therefore, the more planes used in our air mail service the more skilled aviators we shall have to protect us if the need arises.

But enough has been said to show what a real human interest may be found in collecting air mail covers and what a good investment such a collection may prove to be, and it certainly is a proof of the interest aroused that such a hobby has become so firmly established in so short a time and has been taken up by so many thoughtful and experienced collectors. Those stamp collectors and dealers who at first scoffed at it as a passing fad now must realize that is has come to stay and that although allied to aero-philately it covers a distinct field that in no ways interferes with it.

ITED STATES ISSUES 1870-1900

Dr. Wm. Evans, Editor,
13 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

Any letter requiring a reply must have a addressed stamped envelope. No attention be given matters that do not belong to the s indicated. What can you contribute of rest?)

HE first four of these illustrations are from stamped envelopes sent by Mr. R. J. Tarpy and described detail below. No. 5 came from same lot but was on a cut square green. No. 6 is on a 1c blue Ameri- printing sent by Mr. L. S. Fair- ks. Who can tell what it is? No. as sent by Mr. C. W. Haynes. It magenta, on a 2c 1883, and another he same design and color is on a 1890. Nos. 8 and 9 were also sent Mr. Haynes. Both are in black; 8 is on a 2c 1890 and the oddly ped grid on a 2c 1883. No. 10 is a 3c green sent by Mr. K. N. odward.

Mr. R. J. Tarpy has sent some more his stamped envelopes and there are ny interesting items among them. There are several Chicago cancella- ns, all in blue. Three of these are metrical figures, and another is a ge B in a rectangular frame. Chi- o seemed to be partial to blue for celling purposes.

A 2c Post Office Dept. envelope is ed Nov. 27, 1878, which Mr. Tarpy s is his earliest date for this. Any got an earlier date?

A 3c green postmarked Burlington, ., has the stamp obliterated by the celler shown above as No. 1, which he first of its kind to be presented my view. Most of the P. Ms. who ired to proclaim to the world that y held that proud position con- ted themselves with doing so via postmark. Not so this one.

A 3c green was mailed at Chapel ll, N. C., June 1, 1876. This will into the next list of dated post- rks between 1870 and 1877.

Then there is a cover from England ring a red "Chicago—A Pkt. Paid" rk, in a circle. This must be un- al. One letter is blurred so that it not be deciphered. Who can give the complete mark?

A 2c vermilion 1883 with St. Louis, ., postmark, has the monogram C or D C shown above, No. 2.

careful observation. None of the stuff from the far West has come to my notice, so that I'm unable to judge as to its execution, but counterfeits have floated into my presence. Some of them stayed, too. They aren't bad to have around for comparison, and as a reminder that there are a few folks in existence who need to be watched.

Here's a 3c green mailed at Blairs- town, N. J., 16 Apr., 1877. The stamp is cancelled by that fancy monogram of the Postmaster's initials shown by Mr. Atherton in the issue of May 3. The postmark and cancellation are in magenta.

Two envelopes, 2c red 1883 from Middletown, O., are cancelled by a large solid five-pointed star, having between the points a solid triangle, the outer side of which is curved.

Cawker City, Kans., and St. Ansgar, Iowa, both used as a canceller that finely lined, intricately webbed little design used by a number of other towns which have been mentioned, and doubtless by some others that have not been named yet. The stamp in one instance is 2c brown and in the other 2c red.

A 2c brown 1884 envelope mailed at Bud, Mo., has a star and crescent can- cellation. You see it above, No. 3. It

A 3c red centennial envelope from tsburg has a large solid star in a le circle. I never saw another cle made by such a wide line.

A 3c green from Pittsburg, Pa., has cross illustrated in the issue of ly 19 as No. 6, and locates the town ich used that design, as well as re- ving if from the suspicion of being unterfeited, by the brother referred in the issue of Aug. 9, who says that thing is proved unless they are on cover, which may be true, but will ke those who adopt it as a motto e a lot of fun.

There are many, many cancellations ich, as yet, have not been seen on vers, and probably never will be and is true that there are counterfeits, t most of them can be nailed by seems as if Mr. Atherton has had it in some of his groups, but I can't locate it so take a chance on its being a "re- peater."

Plattsmouth, Nebr., is represented by a 2c red cancelled by a large P, col- orless in a black block.

A 3c green, with a Wells Fargo & Co. frank, bears the mark of the "Cent. Pac. R. R. Mar. 11," and a mss. notation by the receiver indicates that it reached him on Mar. 16, 1872. It traveled from Walnut Creek, Colo., to Lovington, Mo., in five days. 'Twould go sooner now—maybe.

Two wrappers, (1) Albany, N. Y., in a large oval block, cut out around the letters so that they also are black. Quite striking. (2) A larger oval block. Across the center a black band. Above this a colorless wide band with the word "Skowhegan" in large black letters across its center. Above this a black band in the center of which is a colorless P. Below the central band is a colorless band the same width as that in which the town name appears, and below it a black band with a col- orless O in its center. A very odd cancellation, and probably never used on letters.

A 2c Columbian is postmarked "Os- coda Mich, Dec 6 4 P M" in one hori- zontal line 94 mm. long, in purple. Very odd and unusual.

There are two postal cards with the postmark in the form of a shield. One of these is larger than the other and has the outline of the shield a double line. The town is Maynard, Iowa.

A WONDERFUL COLLECTION

Price $1275.00

This collection of superb contents has just been acquired by me, and while I perhaps have bought and sold more collections and packages than any other dealer in this country during the last five years I must say that I haven't seen anything finer.

My price of $1,275.00 is $400.00 lower than the lowest wholesale offer on a 30,000 variety collection. This doesn't need any comment as people dealing with me know that

"TO GET THE UTMOST FOR THEIR MONEY" SPELLS FRANK SEKULA

I can't give a detailed description of the collection here or by letter as it would take a book to do it justice. Suffice to say that if after 10 days examination you wouldn't find it the best buy you ever made I will refund your money immediately and in full.

THE TRAIL OF A POSTAGE STAMP

By J. B. CHITTENDEN.

Let the man after money risk his soul,
And pile up dollars roll on roll;
Let the lover of etchings rave and rant
Of beauty he finds in old Rembrant;
Let the bookworm bore through ancient lore,
And science search from shore to shore;
The man for me is the graceless scamp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Cancelled, discarded, faded and torn;
Cast in a barrel, lost and worn;
Back in the old desk, off with the junk,
For fifty years in grandma's trunk;
Up in the attic in dusty bags,
On the closet floor with dirty rags;
Boxed in cellars, dark and damp;
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Discovered, recovered, cleaned and framed.
Heralded, glorified, named and famed,
From country to country thy praises will ring,
Sold once for a penny, now prized by a king;
So low was thy fortune, so high is thy rank,
All due to the work of the postage stamp crank;
With patience to guide him and science for lamp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

Worn out, neglected, deprived of the light,
Like the old postage stamp we are lost in the night.
All service forgotten with scarce concealed scorn,
Our treasure is turned into cash on the morn.
Our one hope: some angel collector of such,
"Faithful in small things, deserving of much,"
May land us at last in a glorified camp,
Off on the trail of a postage stamp.

—Philatelic Gazette.

ROYALTY AND PHILATELY

By G. L. TINKER

FOREMOST among Royal philatelists is H. M. King George V, who is one of the leading collectors in the world. "It's one of the greatest pleasure of my life," he once wrote to a friend.

His collection was begun when his Majesty was a midshipman in H. M. S. Bacchante, and he probably owes much of his early enthusiasm to his uncle, the late Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha.

The Royal collection is confined to the postal issues of Great Britain and the British Empire. Many of the specimens are exceedingly rare.

There are few collectors who know more about their hobby than his Majesty. A paper he prepared and personally read before the Royal Philatelic Society, when Prince of Wales, on the early stamps of his father's reign was a masterpiece. On many occasions he has been instrumental in placing official information at the disposal of collectors.

It is not generally known that, in conjunction with another collector his Majesty once designed a postage stamp. This was early in his father's reign, and was the well-known portrait type of Canada, showing King Edward in robes of state. The master die was engraved in London, but on arrival in Canada was slightly altered and lost some of the delicacy of the original design.

In September, 1915, the King sent one of his choicest specimens to the National Philatelic War Fund, where it fetched a considerable sum at auction. The stamp was mounted on a card, which was inscribed with full particulars in the King's own handwriting.

In the making of the Queen's Dolls' House, now on show at Wembly, his Majesty's hobby has not been forgotten. Tiny replicas of the Royal albums have been made, each page being a photographic reproduction of an actual leaf from the King's collection.

The Prince of Wales has followed his Royal father in the choice of a hobby. He, however, does not restrict his collection to the Empire. As long ago as 1906, the Prince exhibited a practically complete collection of Liberia, and an unused collection of France and its Colonies, at the International Philatelic Exhibition held in that year.

In 1919 H. R. H. became the hon. president of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, of which the King is now honorary patron.

Like his father, the Prince has taken stamps from his collection to be sold by auction for various funds in which he is interested.

Philately is represented in the Italian, Royal house by Queen Elena and her son Humbert, Prince of Piedmont and Heir Apparent to the throne. They are both very keen collectors, and are chiefly interested in the stamps of their own country.

The Queen has many nice stamps besides those of Italy, and in 1922 received a beautiful album from the King and Queen of the Belgians, containing a complete collection of Belgian stamps.

Both the Queen and Prince Humbert have taken a great interest in Italian exhibitions and philatelic congresses.

The King and Queen of the Belgians are both interested in philately, as is their son, the Duke of Brabant. Some time ago Queen Elizabeth accepted a collection from the Canadian Government.

King Albert is honorary patron of the Stamp Exhibition held in Brussels.

The King of Spain, too, is a very keen collector. His chief interest is in the stamps of his own country and its colonies, France and Portugal.

The latter collection contains some stamps which are known as "the King of Spain reprints." A few specimens of certain issues were reprinted after they had gone out of use, by order of the King of Portugal, so as to complete his friend's collection.

Don Manoel, ex-King of Portugal, also has a very good collection of Portugue stamps, besides being interested in tho of Brazil.

The president of the Swedish Philate Society is H.R.H. Gustavus Adolph The Crown Prince prefers the gener interest which is derived from a we filled stamp album, to the rarity of h specimens. Nevertheless, he has so choice items, particularly of his ov country. He is very fond of the o issues of Europe—stamps which are nc regarded as classics— and British Col nials.

It is strange what a fascination t stamps of the British Empire have f foreigners of all classes. In Americ philatelic circles, particularly, they a regarded as gilt edge security.

It is believed that King Alexander Jugo-Slavia is also interested in t hobby.

Outside Europe, there are so far as known only two Royal philatelists—t King of Egypt and the Crown Prince Japan.

King Fuad has an exceptionally goo collection, and also makes a special stuc of Egypt, the Sudan, Hedjaz, Palestin Greece, Serbia, Roumania, Austria, a the Argentine. About five years ago acquired a very fine collection of his ow country. This is now amalgamated wi his own, and is probably the finest Egy tian collection in the world.

Prince Hiroyasu Fushimi is one of th many enthusiastic collectors in Japa He has a very good general collection over 12,000 varieties and a very fir specialised array of the interesting issu of the land of the Rising Sun. He als is now very keen about British Colonia stamps.

Stamp collectors are to be found i all parts of the world, and in every grad of society. Judging by the number o Royal enthusiasts and the universal pop ularity of the hobby, it may truly be sai of philately that it is "the hobby o kings, and the king of hobbies."—Birm ingham Post.

AIRPOST CHRONICLE

NOTES ON NEW ISSUES, FLOWN COVERS, AND DETAILS OF DISCOVERIES

Argentina.—We illustrate the cachet (No. 15), which was applied to covers carried on the airmail service from Dolores, in 1925. This route was afterwards extended from Cordoba to Rio Quarto in the same year. At Cordoba, an oval air cachet was employed, and letters from both Cordoba and Dolores have been seen with a one-line framed cachet, reading "Por Correo Aereo," the black impression being much scarcer than the violet.

Canada.—On July 7th, the Patricia Airways and Exploration, Ltd., issued and first brought into use a new semi-official stamp for the Red Lake airmail service, which they are operating in succession to the Elliot-Fairchild Company. This stamp, in red and dull green on yellow paper, depicts the Curtiss "Lark" biplane, surrounded by suitable inscriptions and an emblematic frame design. Cachet No. 12 was used with the stamp on the first day, when mails were carried between Red Lake and Sioux Lookout. Some of the covers were autographed by the pilot, Captain H. A. Oaks, and about 150 letters, carried from Sioux to Pine Ridge, the new administrative seat of the goldfields district, received a circular cancellation of the company, as there is no post office at the latter place. (This is not an official issue, but a private enterprise. Ed. M. W. S. N.)

China.—The Pekin postal department has issued an order forbidding the carrying of mail by any planes passing over Chinese territory.

In response to our paragraph on page 90, regarding the Pinedo covers inscribed "First Airmail China — Japan," Mr. Lloyd S. Ruland has been good enough to inform us that the aviator was due to arrive on September 12, 1925, but was delayed by typhoons in the Philippines. The arrangement for the special mail was made in conjunction with the Deputy Postal Commissioner at Shanghai. The mail was lost for about three months and only after considerable activity by an American consul in Japan were a few of the letters eventually traced through various post offices to the Aviation Bureau at Osaka. Efforts to trace the remaining part of the mail have proved fruitless.

Great Britain.—The next printing of air mail labels, it is rumoured, will bear additional inscriptions, of which we hope to give full particulars shortly.

India.—We are informed that Alan Cobham carried a private mail in this country, by permission of the postal authorities. It included forty-three letters from Karachi, and a number from Calcutta to Rangoon, Singapore and Australia.

Mexico.—According to L'Aviette Postal, the Ministry for the Interior is proposing the inauguration of an air line between Mexico City and Merida (Yucatan).

S. GOVT. EXHIBIT—WHITE PLAINS STAMP ON OPENING DAY—SPECIAL CANCELLATION—EXTENSIVE ADVERTISING—FOREIGN GOVT. EXHIBITS

WE have received entries that assure us of the largest and finest philatelic exhibition ever given. We now know just what the Exhibition will be, and we are in-d proud of the response made by the ectors and the splendid support of ny of the dealers.

lost of the cases in which the stamp mes will be mounted have been com-led. More than 27,000 frames have en taken and all the booths, according he original floor plans, have been sold, we have added another row of booths ing the main cross aisle, where will located the Ladies' Booth, Registry th, Information Booth, and a large th to be equipped as a writing room that collectors wishing to send out ers written at the Exhibition, with special cancellation die of the Post ice and the new two-cent White Plains np may do so. This releases two ths on the sides that remain unsold this writing, but we expect them to be ght by some dealer very soon.

large number of entries have been le for albums in flat cases, in addition the stamps in frames, and many al-ns have also been entered for com-ition, though not for display. Many es will be filled with exhibits of phil-lic literature and accessories.

he United States Government Exhibit will occupy 1,360 square feet of floor space, and will include the Branch Post Office, with special cancellation die, the Philatelic Agency, and a hand press printing in sheets of 25, and with a special imprint the new two-cent stamps to be issued in celebration of the Battle of White Plains. They will be put on sale for the first time on the opening day of the Exhibition.

In addition to the above, considerable space will be occupied by the exhibits of various foreign governments, which will be unusually interesting.

The plans of the Publicity Committee assure us not only of a large attendance, but of making Greater New York, with its 8,000,000 people and its 250,000 daily visitors from all over the world, sit up and take notice.

It has been decided to call the Exhibition in our general publicity and advertising, the International Stamp Exhibition, as many people would not understand the word "Philatelic." An appropriation of $7,500.00 has been allotted to newspaper advertising, and 1,200 large one-sheet posters, bearing at the top a large replica of the five-cent New York stamp, are being lithographed in three colors. They will be placed on all subway and elevated stations in Greater New York and in many schools.

A thousand invitations to the Exhibition are to be sent out to a carefully selected list of men and women in New York, who are not collectors, in the hope that we can convert them into real Philatelists. In addition, our President, Mr. Pack, ordered 2,000 tickets to give to his friends, sending to the treasurer his check for $1,000.00 in payment of same.

Some of the dealers are sending out a large number of tickets to customers and prospective customers, in accordance with the late ruling that, when copy is approved by the Exhibition Manager, dealers may issue as many tickets as they desire, in excess of 100, paying full price for those used but nothing for those unused.

Books of advance sale tickets have been sent to members of the Association, well-known dealers and philatelic societies.

AN INTERNATIONAL STAMP

Fridjof Nansen Pictured On A Stamp Just Issued By The Commission For Refugees Under The League Of Nations

(This interesting article is taken from the Toronto "Star" and is sent in by William F. Fell. It is an interesting contribution to philatelic literature and is written by A. E. Johnson.—Ed.)

TO Dr. Fridjof Nansen, Norwegian explorer and hero of innumerable arctic adventures, and subsequently one of the world's greatest humanitarians, has gone the honor of having his face on the first "international stamp," which has just been issued by the League of Nations, International Labor Office and High Commission for Refugees.

A bas-relief of the celebrated explorer, who was responsible for the repatriation of a half million German and Austrian war prisoners buried in Siberia, and who subsequently engineered the exchange of populations between Turkey and Greece, thereby saving additional thousands of Christians from massacre and starvation, decorates the five gold-franc stamp which will be placed on the Nansen passports, to be given to around 1,000,000 refugees now drifting about Europe.

Nansen is one of Europe's most picturesque characters, and is a well-known figure around international circles in Geneva, where he is an ardent supporter of the league. In fact, he has been one of the pillars of the organization since its founding, ranking with Woodrow Wilson, Leon Bourgeois, Hjalmar Branting and General Jan Smuts.

Tall, weather-beaten Viking that he is, Nansen resembles nothing so much as a lumbering polar bear, among which he spent so many years of his early life while seeking the North pole. His hair is snowy white and grizzled, with head partially bald, disclosing a massive dome. Beneath shaggy brows his eyes are piercing like an eagle's and his chin and jaws are like those of a prize-fighter. But despite his rugged and even bellicose appearance he is as gentle as a woman, and has a heart big enough to hold the entire world—at least big enough to have held him to his task of salvaging more human derelicts than any other five men in history.

Getting the half million German and Austrian prisoners out of Russia was no small task, especially in the days when the Bolsheviks looked upon all Europeans and Americans as blood enemies. But Nansen went unmolested into Moscow, talked face to face with Lenin and Trotzky and won them over so far as the humanitarian objectives of the league were concerned. He not only brought the ex-enemies of the Russians out of the trackless Siberian wastes, but he turned around and extended aid and comfort to a million arch-enemies of the Bolsheviks who were marooned in Europe without incurring the enmity of the rulers in the Kremlin.

To Nansen there is no such thing as a "Red" and "White," an "enemy," or a "friend." Anyone in need is a human being, be he monarchist or communist, Moslem or Christian, Armenian or Turk.

Today there are more than a million derelicts wandering around Europe: Russians who cannot or will not claim Russia as their country; Armenians who cannot return to the Caucasus; Greeks marooned in Asia Minor and Bulgaria, and Syrians driven from Damascus and Palestine. Unable to become citizens of the country in which they are located, they cannot move across a border in search of work because of lack of identification. Consequently the Refugee Commission originated the "Nansen passport," which is now recognized by nearly forty countries. The Nansen stamp is the only assessment made on those who apply for these identification cards, and the money raised therefrom will go into a revolving fund to be used in salvaging the refugees who cannot take care of themselves, or in transporting colonies to Canada, the Argentine or more favorable parts of Europe. The stamps are to be affixed to the "passport" yearly, thereby bringing in a revolving fund of around $1,000,000.

MR. PACK ALWAYS ON HAND

WHEN any proposition to extend the interests in Philately is presented, Hon. Charles L. Pack is always to the fore. No sooner had Mr. Pack learned of the extent of this special number than he immediately planned to mail specimen copies to the philatelic societies of the world and also the large public libraries. The contract was too big for us to accept in its entirety but arrangements have been made to send every stamp club and society this special number. A substantial check accompanied Mr. Pack's order. If your club secretary fails to receive this issue it will be because our sources of information are at fault.

HODGE-PODGE:—

WE have a first flight to chronicle dated Sept. 15, from Miami, Fla., to Atlanta, Ga. The hour of leaving Miami was 6.30 A. M. and the time of arrival was 4 P. M. The markings are the familiar purple on the face and the small receiving postmark upon the back. Our thanks are due to Joel H. DuBose for a specimen cover.

IN the Philadelphia Public Ledger of Sept. 14, is a long stamp story based upon an interview with Dr. Serge Avazon, who entertains the readers of that paper with a story of the Paris balloon stamps. Thanks to Benj. Cadbury for clipping.

THE Sacramento (Cal.) Stamp Society has been organized with Wm. Wyllie, Pres.; F. Ribzinski, Vice Pres. and Walter N. Baker, No. 1314 O St., Sec-Treas. Meets 2nd and 4th Thursdays each month in St. Francis School, 25th and K Sts. There are about thirty members, and local collectors will be welcomed.

WE have received a "Bargain List of U. S. Stamps" from J. O. Moore Inc., Hammondsport, N. Y. The stamps covered range from 1845 to 1851 and subsequent years are to be dealt with in further lists. The arrangement of the list is so excellent that we can heartily endorse the firm's description. We quote from their letter:—

"We enclose a copy of the first section of a specialized price list (not a checklist) of U. S. stamps. So far as I can remember no one (except perhaps the Scott Co.) has ever attempted a detailed list as extensive as this, nor has been able from actual stock to give current market quotations, at net prices, on so many items in both ordinarily good and commercially 'fine' condition. We have as a rule, generally omitted quotations on superb items, because so few collectors actually recognize the difference between fine and superb and to list superb items might give the majority of collectors an altogether false idea of current values. We ask only 2c in postage for the lists."

"I AM enclosing ad for your paper. One year older, but now I am feeling 10 years younger—instead of 73, I feel like 37.—WM. LLOYD. Real optimism, isn't it? Congratulations.

MR. and Mrs. Charles E. Severn of Chicago, Ill., will both be in New York during Exhibition week. Mr and Mrs. H. F. Brooks of Marshall, Mich., will be in attendance also.

A NEW list has just been issued by the Alvonis Co., Monticello, N. Y. It will be mailed anyone upon request.

CARDS have been received announcing the marriage of our long-time advertiser, Max F. Bier to Miss Elizabeth E. Weatherdon, on Saturday, Sept 18. We are certain that Mr. Bier will be heartily congratulated by his wide circle of friends, and in these well wishes the WEEKLY joins.

THE firm of Arthur Barger & Co., formerly at Framingham, Mass., has secured a nice bright office at 839 Beacon St., Boston. Removal will be made October 1. This firm is headquarters for airmail stamps and covers and anyone visiting Boston should call upon Barger & Co. The changed address was not received in time to appear in the big advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

THE usual lineup, consisting of Messrs. Bickert, Dengler, Klein, McCollum and Wolsieffer, met at the St. James Hotel Restaurant, Philadelphia, at noon, Sept. 22. Maj. Steinmetz sent regrets. Letters of acceptance were read from several of the New York Exhibition judges, coming from abroad, including Dr. Emilio Diena of Rome, Dr. Herbert Munk of Berlin, Fred J. Melville of London and Mr. Nils Strandell of Stockholm. The directors of the Philadelphia Stamp Club have decided on an informal reception to be given in honor of these gentlemen and others who may come, at the ball room of the St. James Hotel, October 25, at 8 P. M. Collectors of Philadelphia and vicinity cordially invited.

To The Prospective Collector

This edition of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS will be distributed extensively at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York and no doubt will be carried away by a large number of non-collectors, who have had brought forcibly to their attention through this wonderful exhibition, the fact that stamp collecting offers an unusual diversion for the busy man.

We are living in a quick moving age, in a quicker moving country, and the time is here when the average person needs a quieting diversion when the day's labors are over. I know of no other hobby offering such an opportunity when one considers the investment possibilities resulting from wise selections. He is getting his pleasure and having his money's worth, with a profit besides.

It has been my good fortune to aid in the last several years in building up some of the choicest collections of United States stamps ever gotten together. My thirty years' experience in working with stamps is gladly placed at the disposal of the new collector. Whether you are in a position to expend large or small sums, it is well to lay your plans wisely.

During the last year, I have had the pleasure of breaking up and distributing the quarter of a million dollar Sinkler collection of United States issues—the most valuable collection of United States ever coming upon the market. In addition, I have been the largest professional buyer of the stamps of our country, both privately as well as at public auction. You may, therefore, judge as to the magnitude of my stock. Remember that the professional who concentrates his attention on the stamps of one country is more likely to supply your wants, of that country, as well as to assure you that you are getting the correct variety that you are ordering.

If you are thinking of starting a collection or are looking for either the common or the rare stamp, write me.

Am always in the market to pay substantial prices for choice pieces or collections. The best of banking, commercial and philatelic references gladly furnished. Properties of real importance desired.

New 15c Air Mail Stamp

The new 15c sepia, air mail stamp, similar to the current 10c blue, described in detail in this column of last week, was issued at Washington on Saturday, September 18th, as scheduled. The variety differs in color from any of our other special service stamps and may readily be seen by the mail clerk at a glance. It is good not only for use in connection with postage on air mail communications, but is valid for all other postal purposes for which postage stamps are usable, including special delivery, registered letters and parcels. The Department informs us that these stamps may be had by postmasters throughout the country upon their requisition.

2c Rotary Stamp Booklets

In developing the plates for the new rotary booklet sheets, the Bureau of Printing & Engraving made two pairs of plates of the 2c denomination, experimenting with the spacing—No. 17450-51 and 18550-51.

About 32,000 sheets were printed from the first pair and 60,000 sheets from the second pair. I believe all were made up into booklets, 25c denomination, and turned into the regular stock. Thus, collectors should have little difficulty in locating some of the 910,000 booklets of the first type or 1,800,000 booklets of the second type.

The regular or final type of booklet pane went on sale August 27th, so we have three new booklets to get.

The experimental panes can be easily identified from the regular type as they were, I think, all made up into booklets with the old type of cover, while the regular panes come probably only in the new type cover. The new type cover has resurrected the "Model Address" which used to appear on the back of the booklet outside but they now put it on the inside of the front cover in place of the "Domestic Postage rates." The inside of the back cover has various exemplary admonitions superseding the old "Foreign Postage Rates." The outside front and back are unchanged. These new covers have been in circulation on the two cent 25 cent booklets for several months but with flat plate panes.

Thus anyone finding the old cover with rotary press stamps has the experimental rotary panes. The first type experimental panes, numbers 17450-51, were made with guide lines like the flat plates, while the second type experimental plates 18550-51 and all the regular rotary booklet plates subsequent have no guide lines.

There is thus a positive identification by the guide lines of the first type of experimental plates.

If examination of several cartons of booklets with rotary panes and old covers fails to show any guide lines, one can be fairly sure that the panes are the second type.

Examination of the proof sheets indicates a material difference in the binding margins at the top of the panes but when cut into booklet panes, this means of identification of the second type is destroyed. The spacing of the stamps vertically seems on the proofs to be slightly less in the second type than the first but a study of a number of panes is necessary to determine if this is a practical identification. The proofs are taken before the plate is bent and on a much thicker paper than that used in the finished product, so that the effect of bending the plate and the tension on the paper may destroy the comparatively slight difference in spacing.

As all these rotary booklet stamps are perf. 10, and possess the usual characteristics of increased length, flatter tone, ridged gum and curling of the pane that identify the rotary plate stamp, there should be little difficulty in picking the rotary booklets, which should making their appearance all over country by this time.

Your editor would appreciate hea from collectors locating either of types of experimental rotary book Look out for rotary stamps in 25

Pole Air Mail Covers

Collectors of air mail covers are able to add to their collection carried to the North Pole by Com. R. E. Byrd in his aeroplane, Josephine Ford," on the first trip of its kind ever made to the North Pole.

I have recently seen one of these covers autographed by Lieut. Com. Byrd. The covers carry the current 2c stamp of the 1922 issue which has received a postmark reading, "N. Y.—Alesund—9 V 26." In addition, there are two stamps of the polar bear type of Norway canceled, "Kings Bay 9 V 26." We are told that ninety-nine of these covers were carried to the Brooklyn Navy Yard on April 5th and put into the hands of the Captain of the "Chantier," who in turn delivered them to Com. Byrd, who carried them to the pole. The original intention was to fly over the pole to Alaska—hence, the 2c United States stamp upon the cover.

ANGOLA.—Theodore Champion's Bulletin Mensuel chronicles the appearance of the 60c in carmine, type of the 1913 issue, with the name of the colony and the value in black.

ARGENTINE.—There is an interesting variety in the 25c commemorative issued on July 1st; the ninety-first stamp of the sheet reads "Central de Correos 1326" instead of "1826." This error was discovered and corrected immediately, so that there cannot be many of the variety in existence. Our Buenos Aires correspondent, Mr. A. H. Davis, from whom we have this information, writes that they are selling locally for $10 (the equivalent of 17s6d in blocks of four.—Stamp Collecting.

AZORES.—Messrs. Yvert & Tellier draw attention to the fact that the letter "c" of the overprint on the Independence Commemoratives, chronicled in our issue for August 28th, has a circumflex accent over it as well as the customary cedilla under it. This is the first time the accent has been so used; we wonder whether it is intentional, and, if so, if its appearance on the stamps in question is but the prelude to another avalanche.—Stamp Collecting.

Counterfeits, fake surcharges, Philatelic sorrow of any kind for my large reference collection, now three volumes. I also want good damaged stamps—not discolored or blackened out—which I match with the wicked ones for cancellations, color and printing.

Perhaps we have just what you want---

The backbone of Philately—the very foundation upon which rests its hope of perpetuity — is that great earnest and honest Middle-Class, the old-time "Stamp-Collectors," who still gather stamps for the very love of the gathering. They do not crave Boscawens, or plate Uniontowns—they collect according to the Catalog. They do not, and they can not, pay fabulous sums for a single stamp, but they are always prepared and willing to spend from 5 cts. to $2.50 for good, clean, faultless stamps which enhance in value each year.

This is the clientage we want to do business with. There are thousands of these desirable men, and women, and boys among the readers of this magazine. They should write us — giving reference—and send list of countries in which their especial interest lies.

JUGOSLAVIA.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us that the 3d has been issued in blue, type of the 1926 issue.

MONSERRAT.—Mr. R. Roberts advises that the 2½p has appeared in a pale ultramarine shade on script watermarked paper. This is a reversion of color but quite a distinct shade from the original issue.

MOZAMBIQUE. — Theodore Champion's Bulletin Mensuel reports the following new items that have recently been issued: 2c grey, 24c ultramarine, 25c brown, 50c violet, 60c carmine, 1e blue, 5e yellow brown, 10e lilac rose and 20e green. These are all of the 1913 type with name of the colony and the value in black.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle copies of the 2c red orange, 5c dull green and 10c red of the 1924-25 issue but with a new watermarked paper. Mr. Roberts describes it as follows:

These have been issued on watermarked paper, the wmk. consisting of rows of little rings or circles about 6½mm in diameter and 5½mm apart horizontally, each row being about 4mm apart vertically. This is on the 5c and 10c which are upright, of course the vertical becomes horizontal and vice versa on the 2c, which is of oblong shape.

The rows of rings are spaced alternately so that the circle on one row is exactly above the space between the two circles on the row below, thus:—

o o o o o o

Printed in unbroken sheets of 200, ten across and twenty down.

In addition to the usual small punched designs on the margin there is, on the Queen's Head stamps, a plate No. R97 on the 5c and L88 on the 10c in the same colours as the stamp at top centre of sheet over the fifth stamp.

NORTHERN MONGOLIA.—Whitfield King & Co. send us information regarding an issue of stamps under the authority of the Russian Soviet Government. The name is "Tannou-Touva" and all are of the same design but the rouble values are larger. The values and colors are: 1kop red, 2kop blue, 5kop orange, 8kop green, 10kop violet, 30kop brown, 50kop slate, 1rouble blue green, 3 rouble claret and 5 roubles deep blue. It is strange to note that inscriptions and denominations on these stamps are entirely in the Mongolian language.

SYRIA.—During the course of last week the 75 cent, 1.25P and 2.50P stamps of Syria, Lebanon and Alaouites were withdrawn from the post office without any preliminary notice. It is understood that the remainders of these three values are to be overprinted to meet the urgent need for a 12P stamp, as the foreign postage is to be increased to 12P owing to the low rate of exchange.

INTERNATIONAL EXHIBITION

Springfield, of which Mr. Theodore Steinway and I had the privilege of being the guests of some months ago, has entered a most interesting exhibit as a club. This ought to awaken a lot of larger town stamp clubs and many a smaller society kindle their work for Philately.

I noted that the well-known slicker of Springfield, Mr. E. P. Radford, F. H.S.L., is exhibiting U. S. booklet panes. By giving this exhibit the once over you will learn how many different booklet panes there are.

The Patriotic Covers, this, one of the most fascinating side lines of Philately, will be well taken care of. Mr. William S. White, who has one of the most delightful collections, particularly with respect to rare covers with high values, will be one of the leading exhibitors. The Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman has been kind enough to enter his lovely collection as has Mr. Dana H. Stafford of Brattleboro, Vermont. The writer has also entered his collection, but is not as confident of getting a bronze medal today as he was sure of a gold medal two months ago.

The Historical and Educational class will be of most intense interest to the laymen and the press. The class appeals to everybody and some lovely collections are expected. Mr. John H. Hall is presenting the history of inland steam navigation. Mr. G. P. L. James of London will show his brief history of France, the history of Columbus, and other sections of his most interesting collection that was shown in London in 1923. Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., of Philadelphia, will show his Presidential Postal Franks. The writer is also exhibiting in this class with his miscellany, all about postage stamps.

For years we have been hearing a lot about the juniors and what ought to be done for them. To the everlasting credit of the Committee they have a real and sensible competition for the juniors. There are four sections for collectors under twenty-one years of age and one competition for collectors under fifteen years of age. From a hasty glance from time to time at the entries I noted with much interest that the following junior collections are already assured to us: Wharton Sinkler, Jr., E. R. Thomas, Jr., C. Walter Fenton, Jr., Kenneth Duncan, Hiram E. Clements, John Donaldson.

And now that I have given you a fraction of what will be there to see, let me remind you that there are other treats in store for you. For the A. P. S. members there will be the annual get-together, with all sorts of attractive meetings and social gatherings, special entertainment for the ladies, and winding up in a big burst of glory will be the dinner at the Hotel Astor.

The Exhibition Banquet, the official evening of the Exhibition, will be a wonder. Distinguished visitors and our own ordinary folk will make short speeches, and the Exhibition awards will be made. What a night that will be!

There will be a special auction for the visitors.

And then there is New York, the greatest city in the world! Everything the ladies want, shops, theatres, concerts and cabarets. Everything the men want—and we strive to please.

We expect everyone that can make the trip to be in New York. It will be ten years at least before another International Exhibition will be held. Don't miss it. Don't let your friends in your local stamp society razz you in the future because you failed to attend.

The efforts of a great many people have been put forward in order to make this International Philatelic Exhibition the biggest ever. You must do your part, and see that it has a real representation.

See you in New York, October 16 to 23, at Grand Central Palace.

SUES FOR $30,000

Plaintiff Seeks Commission for Aid in Disposing of Collection

A collection of rare stamps which was valued at $200,000, the larger part of which was sold to Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of Plainfield, N. J., formed the basis of a suit in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday by Elliott Perry of Westfield, N. J. The latter seeks to recover $30,000 from Henry C. Needham of 93 Nassau Street, for commission on the sale. Perry said he had a special agreement with Needham, the terms of which caused him at the time of the sale to waive his fees, and that when the agreement was not fulfilled by Needham no profit had resulted for him.

Prior to bringing the collection to the attention of Mr. Ackerman, Perry said in his complaint that he had been assured by Needham that his private collection was genuine and that the stamps would bring $200,000 at retail.

Mr. Ackerman, it was said, did not care to take the entire collection, but only such part of it as he might desire, and his offer of $116,379 to exercise his choice of selection was accepted. Perry said it was agreed that stamps not wanted by Ackerman were afterward to be disposed of, he acting as Ackerman's broker, some of which Needham was to repurchase, and assist in selling the remainder.

In his complaint Perry alleged that some of the stamps proved to be counterfeits. After Mr. Ackerman had completed his selection Needham had repurchased none that was left and had not aided in selling any, it is charged.—N. Y. Times.

JUST A FEW LINES:—

WE are advised that Harry E. Huber is about to make a trip, which he describes as a "cruise in and out of the ports of Hayti." He will visit twelve or thirteen places, from Cape Haitien to Jacmel. We hope he will escape all the tornadoes.

A LARGE delegation of stamp collectors will attend the New York Exhibition and the A. P. S. Convention from Washington, D. C. William A. Johnson writes us that he will attend with Mrs. Johnson, and philatelists Caudell, Boatwright, Duhamel, Warren, Houston, Dunkhorst, Howard, Vaughan and Plant will be accompanied by their wives. There will also be in the party Hungerford, Weiergang, Gorham, McKelvey, Walter I. Plant, Colman, Robinette and Schaffer.

N. C. HUNT, Box 23, Wakaya Island, via Levuka, Fiji, is secretary of the South Sea Philatelic Exchange and would be glad to hear from any collectors who are interested in the islands of the Pacific and the Australian Commonwealth. Full particulars may be obtained at the address given above, and a copy of the South Sea Philatelist will no doubt be forwarded upon application.

WE have received from G. F. Rapkin, 151 Goswell Road, London, Eng., a specimen copy of a very handsome pricelist of stamp albums and stamp accessories. It is printed in two colors and is a book of some forty pages, very freely illustrated. It will no doubt be sent to any dealer on request.

PITTSBURG, Pa., will send a goodly delegation to New York. Among the number will be Kenneth M. Day, M. D., Justus M. Stahn and Willard J. Reed. Mr. Reed will have with him his artistically mounted U. S. collection and will be pleased to show it to those who will meet him at the Prince George Hotel, where he will be registered. Mr. Reed is an illustrator and designer and his collection has received much favorable comment.

POSTCARDS TO RACE AROUND WORLD

One Travels Eastward Other Westward, On Wager of $500

(Clipping from J. U. Hoffman.)

One of the most novel round-the-world contests for a substantial prize on record is announced. Whether a postcard can be sent from New York around the world in faster time by the east-bound route than the west-bound, is the point to be decided. On the outcome depends a wager of $500, made by two prominent New York philatelists, Hugh Clark and Theodore E. Steinway.

Within a few days the two postcards, Mr. Clark's bearing a portrait of President Coolidge, and that of Mr. Steinway a picture of Gov. Smith, will be started around the world, in opposite directions. The first to circumnavigate the globe and arrive at the Collectors Club, No 51 West 48th Street, this city, will be declared winner. The rules of the contest are simple, it being agreed that the card traveling eastward, of course, shall be entitled to forty-eight hours handicap to make up for the difference in time—the east-bound card losing a day and the other gaining twenty-four hours.—N. Y. World.

Every Visitor to the Exhibition is Cordially Invited to Inspect My Stock of Postage Stamps Issued Before 1880

In Booths Nos. 24 and 26, I shall be very happy to meet you, and show you the class of stamps which I consider the soundest investment for my own funds, and which, after some 36 years' experience, I can recommend to my customers as the best and soundest stamps to purchase.

I have arranged a collection of 19th Century stamps in Scott's loose leaf album and after each country that I prefer as an Investment, I have inserted from two to thirty extra pages, and here I show the finest selected specimens of the early imperforate stamps that I have been able to buy from correspondents all over the world and which are now offered for sale, mostly for the first time.

Prices are marked as low as possible for extra fine copies, and are strictly net in all cases.

Every stamp on sale is priced in plain figures. Come in, look them over, see if this is the class of stamps from which you will like to receive approval selections during the coming season.

STAMPS ON COVERS

Stamps used on the original covers or envelopes are in increasing demand by those collectors who are interested in the Historical side of Stamp Collecting, and by students in general who can so often prove by stamps on covers, the order in which the various shades and colors appear and the rarity of many "Rates of Postage" to Foreign Countries.

I have been seeking for interesting covers for some years, and I can now offer the choice from my carefully selected stock.

FORTUNES IN FAMILY CHESTS

NEGLECTED IN SOME OLD ATTICS LIES WEALTH FOR THE FINDER OF OLD U. S. STAMPS

By GEORGE KNOX MCCAIN.

(The following clipping from the "Philadelphia Public Ledger" has been sent us by several subscribers. Concerning the article Jos. A. Steinmetz writes us as follows:—"There may be some minor errors in this article, but they are not significant as it is not a technical write-up. I hope the article may be productive of finds that will benefit American philately. Let us hope that someone will some day find a 30c black used on original cover. It would give a real thrill because there is no doubt but what the 30c black was authorized, though there is a question as to whether it was really issued to the public". We have previously published one of Mr. McCain's articles and the one following will doubtless be read with as great interest.—W. O. W.)

SOMEWHERE in these United States, lying neglected in an attic or hidden under the dust of decades in some old drawer or family chest, are anywhere from $25,000 to $200,000, perhaps, in the choicest of choice securities.

The amount or value depends on the number found.

Securities that have been growing steadily in value for sixty-six years.

During all the wars and rumors of wars, through famine and pestilence, the downfall of empires and death of rulers, their value was never affected.

And yet so small in bulk that one of them could be clasped and hidden in a baby's fist.

More than this, they were issued and sold by the United States Government.

I AM indebted to Major Joseph Allison Steinmetz, of this city, for the facts in this fascinating old episode.

It was he who gathered the scattered threads of the narrative which are woven into this romance of philately.

For you have doubtless surmised by this time that it relates to postage stamps, of which Major Steinmetz is one of the most discriminating collectors.

As he talked to me he held in his hands a thin, black, cloth-bound book whose pages were 12 by 12 inches in size.

It is one of sixty volumes comprised in his library of stamp albums.

IT IS a curious phase of this hobby that rare stamps grow more valuable with the lapse of years.

The highest price paid thus far for a single stamp was $32,500 for a 1-cent British Guiana stamp of 1856.

It is the rarest in the world, only one of its kind being known.

The one about which I am writing is rarer than the South American specimen, because none of them has yet been found.

And the odd feature about it all is that stamp collectors themselves know little or nothing about it—thus far.

THE first postage stamps issued in the United States were those of 5 and 10 cent denomination.

That was in 1847.

They were the only ones put out for years, being finally withdrawn in 1857 and re-issued in new designs.

The latter were of the denomination of 1, 3 and 12 cents.

In England the first issue of engraved adhesive postage stamps was in 1840—a black, 1-penny stamp bearing the head of Queen Victoria.

It is still considered by connoisseurs as the most beautiful stamp in the world.

PHILADELPHIA steel engravers had a wide fame in the decades prior to the Civil War, and the leading firm was Toppan, Carpenter, Casilear & Co.

Prior to 1860, Mr. Casilear retired and the firm became Toppan, Carpenter & Co.

It was they who engraved all the early stamps for the United States Government. They were the predecessors of the American Bank Note Company.

In 1860 these Philadelphia engravers were ordered by the Third Assistant Postmaster General, A. N. Zeveley, to engrave a new 30-cent postage stamp.

Then, as now, this official passed upon and ordered stamps issued for the Government.

IN THE COURSE of the correspondence, the engravers suggested that the head of Benjamin Franklin on the "Franklin Carrier" stamp of 1851 be used for the new stamp.

This "Carrier" stamp was one which in the early days was affixed to letters for mailing which were carried from a home or business house to the Postoffice by the postman. This was an extra service. There were no street boxes.

After considerable correspondence, this was agreed upon and the die prepared.

The Subcommittee on Postal Service of the House at Washington, which advised with the Postmaster General and his assistants, does not figure conspicuously in this transaction.

Finally, in the matter of color, it was, at the suggestion of the engravers, decided to print the new stamp in black ink.

It was pointed out that this color would enhance the beauty of the engraving.

WITH conditions all fulfilled, the new stamp was put on the presses. Thirty days later, on July 30, 1860, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. notified the Third Assistant Postmaster General that they had shipped thousands of the new stamps to Washington; something like 200,000 of them.

Nothing more was heard of the matter until a letter from the Third Assistant Postmaster General stated that the cancellation marks were not showing on the new stamps.

This was due to their color.

H. F. COLMAN, 509 7th St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

They were printed in black, and the canceling stamps in the postoffices used black ink. As a result, a black ink was simply superimposed on a black ink and there was nothing to indicate that cancellation had taken place.

THERE was more correspondence between the engravers in Philadelphia and Washington.

Weeks went by, in which various colored inks were tried, samples printed and forwarded to Washington.

The upshot was the decision to print the stamp in orange-buff ink.

This eliminated the objection to the black stamp, for the cancellation mark showed up clear and distinct against the brighter background.

This ended the episode. The 30-cent stamp of 1860 was thereafter, or until it was altered in design, printed in orange-buff ink.

BUT what became of the thousands of stamps printed in black ink and shipped to Washington?

There were tens of thousands of them, according to Toppan, Carpenter & Co.

They dropped out of sight and knowledge.

Hundreds, if not thousands, of them must have been used to post heavy letters and documents.

The fact that they were not suited to the postal service because the cancellation marks were not visible on their dark surface indicated that some of them had been used.

Even though this was not the case, it is strange that no samples or specimens were preserved.

This, of course, was before stamp-collecting became an international pursuit.

ONE of these stamps used for postage and a cover (envelope) "tied" with a postmark and authenticated, would bring a big figure, Major Steinmetz says.

But none has ever turned up. Doubtless there are a score of them, possibly hundreds, in this country among bundles of old letters.

All of the details of this stamp issue have been worked out by systematic research by Major Steinmetz.

It involved a mass of correspondence with postal authorities and individuals, but so the facts were gathered.

The market price for stamps has virtually but one course for the scarce and rare varieties.

That course is always upward, because the stamps grow rarer and the number of collectors is constantly increasing, with fiercer rivalry for the gems of the trade.

TRAILERS

We learn from a recent issue of the San Francisco Call and Post that Mr. A. F. Merell's KFRC radio stamp club "now numbers nearly 1000 enthusiasts in the bay district." Recent talks over the radio at this station were on the forthcoming convention of the American Philatelic Society by Mr. Wilhelm, and the surcharged stamps of Hungary by Mr. A. L. Stern, with particular reference to the political history and changes in Hungary since the World War.

The following is a translation of a paragraph, in part, that appeared in the Svensk Filatclistisk Tidskrift, mentioning the WEEKLY: "This truly amiable colleague used to come regularly to our office in the days of L. Harald Kjellstedt, but after his death we have received a copy only now and then. In the issue of June 21st, it is said that the Crown Prince of Sweden received as a present a sheet of the Ericsson stamps. In that of June 28th is a large picture of and very kind words about Nils Strandell on his 50th birthday."

A registered letter from the Chicago office of the WEEKLY addressed to Mr. R. A. Johnson, 814—16th Avenue, Calgary, Alta, Canada, has been returned. Mr. Severn would like to know where Mr. Johnson may be reached.

Mr. Michael Miller, Baltimore, Md., writes: "I am listed somewhere in the Holy Land by reason of the fact that I have contributed to some of the institutions there. In this morning's mail, amongst other appeals, I received one that indeed was quaintly put and enclosed certain cards having pressed flowers from the Holy Land on them. I send you one with my compliments. At this time of the year, thousands upon thousands of circular letters usually go out asking for funds on account of the approaching Hebrew New Year. This, no doubt, made a great demand for postage stamps and I am enclosing an envelope that indicates that the three milliemes stamps must have been entirely used up, so as to require the cancellation as is shown thereon." The envelope is postmarked at Jerusalem and bears the imprint: "Postage Paid 3 mils."

Mr. W. R. Parker, Stockton, California, stopped off at Chicago on his way to the New York festivities and showed a few things to gladden philatelic eyes. Mr. Parker is in good company as he is taking his superb collection of western franks with him.

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

THE FORUM—UNITED STATES ISSUES 1847-70

10.	Rose Ring	3c 1861	?	"	Dr. R. W. Payne

This lot will probably show you many that you haven't seen before. None are common, unless the Eastern collectors find No. 9 with frequency. They are self-explanatory. No. 8 did not show the bottom of the cancel, and is incomplete. No. 10 is quite odd and pretty when cleanly struck.

Mr. T. F. Keith has shown me a 3 leaf clover very similar to our No. 4 here, except that the veins of the leaf are shown, and the frame is some larger. He has also placed his collection at my disposal, and from it we shall annex a host of cancels, as that is all that he collects—just U. S. cancellations. He has a tremendous lot of them, thousands upon thousands. More about these later on.

Readers ask if there is any concentrated article on the cancellations on 3c 1861s? I do not know of anything that could be called concentrated. The articles with illustrations are scattered thro many stamp publications, the WEEKLY having the largest number by far.

I have been actually studying cancellations of late, and have found that when a cancel is newly made, the P. M. hit it more carefully than he did as time went on—"Familiarity breeds contempt," for after the novelty had worn off, it was just a cancel to him, and he banged it at random, I suppose.

In Dr. Chase's Canton Lyres, the covers with the earliest dates (most of these showed month and year) were the best prints, and they differed greatly from the last used. The detail was "lost," and in places the lines ran together, while some showed the top part of two of the three strings as very close together, being probably warped by use.

In reproducing these cancels very few liberties have been taken. If on a cancel it is quite certain that two lines have run together, they are separated, as the original presumably showed them, and if a bit of the design is missing, it is assumed that it has been worn or knocked off, and it is shown as complete in these illustrations.

I wish that you readers had a mint postcard addressed to the Forum alongside when you read the Forum, so that you could send in names of towns missing, or any interesting data, to help complete what has been put before you. Some letters come in starting like this:—"I intended to write you some months ago; but * * *." And there you are. I guess there are a lot of readers that have replies at hand; but never do any thing about them. Oh, never mind. When I first began the Forum, I was pretty much like the fellow who bellowed that song "I want what I want when I want it," but that is merely the title of a song, and doesn't mean anything, so have concluded not to sing it.

Here is something that you ought to "paste in your hat" if you collect 3c '57s and '61s. This is taken by permission from Dr. Chase's articles in the American Philatelist, he being interested in the lin-

WILLIAM EVANS
313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk,

April 12-13 Fort Sumter bombarded; April 17, Virginia adopted ordinance of secession subject to popular vote; May 6, Arkansas seceded; May 20, North Carolina seceded. Texas on seceding became a Republic, and so lived from Feb. 1 till March 5, when they joined the C. S. of A.

This brings us to the regular issue of C. S. of A. stamps, the first being the 5c green, lithographed, which was issued on Oct. 16, 1861 (Scott No. 200). This ends our brief list.

Many covers have been shown me which started with a C. S. of A. stamp going "Through the Lines," a 3c '61 U. S. being affixed later on to complete the trip. Very often the C. S. stamp was quite destroyed by tearing it off with a thumbnail apparently, or a penknife was used if it stuck too tight to get a corner started for ripping it off; they were practically all mutilated in one way or another. These are not handsome covers, but they are certainly real, and carried news, good or bad, as did a handsome cover. Some had the word "Dead" in red ink, some had "$1.00 in U. S. Currency, etc.," and some had "Exchanged," all these notes being in mss.

History and Philately are mysteriously interwoven in the '60s here in this Country.

TWO NEW STAMP CATALOGS

The Yvert & Tellier-Champion Catalog for 1927 is at hand, price $1.50. It may be obtained from the firm of Theodore Champion, 13 Rue Drouot, Paris, France. The edition before us is the third English edition. The catalog in French text has now reached its thirty-first edition. The quotations in this catalog have been carefully revised and adjusted at the rate of a pound sterling to 160 French francs. The firm claims that their quotations are accurate and represent the prices at which they actually sell the stamps. This new edition has been brought up to August 1, 1926, and the work shows the marks of care and scrupulous exactness. It is a distinct tribute to English-speaking philatelists that a great French stamp firm should consider it profitable to publish a catalog of 1250 pages in English text. Our readers are so well acquainted with the book that we have only to mention its appearance to insure its cordial reception.

In almost the same mail the "Europa" Zumstein Catalog for 1927 reached us from its publishers, Zumstein & Co., Berne, Switzerland. The book before us bears upon its title page the words "Tenth Edition," which are self-explanatory. A very comprehensive table of cont makes it easy for one to find just w one is looking for. The book is pri in both French and German, and co the stamps of Europe, colonial po sions, and old German colonies, such were issued prior to Aug. 20, 1926. book is priced at $1 and is obtain from the firm at the address above gi

PHILATELIC RECRUITING

There appeared in the WEEKLY week a quarter-page advertisement f the Martauco Stamp Co. of New Y City. Mr. Hancock has taken the p to write us at length in regard to plan of selling stamps through shops stores by means of packets. We t it best to quote from his letter, and terested parties can write the Mart Stamp Co., 51 W. 48 St., N. Y. (their suggestions:—

"You will notice I have put in advertisement an invitation to stamp lectors to give us the names of li gift-art shops, stationery and book st etc., who might handle a represent line of stamp packets, and further interest of philately by making stamp readily obtainable as other better kn articles. Present collectors realizing possibility of recruiting philately thr stamp packets—the foundation of a lection at small cost of their local tioner, bookseller or tobacconist, w make more business for all of us greater interest in the ever increa fascinating hobby. Needless to say are prepared to furnish the stamp pa to the retail store, and I am going in packet business along this line on a extensive scale. I would appreciate much any mention you might make suggestions being welcomed from lectors as to logical stores to act as tributors; to present collectors and ot who will through universal sale of s packets become interested in the subj

THE OPENING OF MUSTIN FIELD

By Joseph A. Steinmetz
Secretary Committee on Aeronautics

It would be well worth while to give historic mention of the opening of the Mustin Field, which is the great Naval Air Field at the Navy Yard, Philadelphia, and which was officially and formally opened September 17th.

This was a great big event and at 2.30 p. m. Mail Carrier Pigeons were released by the Mustin Boys, sons of Commander Mustin, Naval Aviator and in whose honor the field was named and dedicated. These little carrier pigeons carried messages to the Navy Department, War Department, Department of Commerce, Post Office Department, and other distinguished men of Navy activities, announcing the opening of the field. They had been trained at the home station at Anacostia. Seven of the Mail pigeons released at the Philadelphia Navy Yard arrived safely at Anacostia that evening and the other five came along later.

This is pretty good service and is a real Air Mail effort. As you know the Navy has its own Air Mail and Pigeon Mail Division, battleship and air mail and pigeon mail service. The message read:

"This is to announce to you and the world the opening of the Mustin Field, Philadelphia Navy Yard, September 17, 1926."

These are naturally quite rare and I had the honor to be presented with one of the copies due to the work I am doing in the Air Mails of the World.

DEATH OF LEWIS N. SKINNER

In the death of Lewis Newton Skinner, San Diego, Calif., Sept. 9, philately has lost one of its oldest enthusiasts, oldest in years and point of service as well. Mr. Skinner, who had lived in San Diego for about 40 years, began his collection some 60 years ago, when a mere boy, and kept it up until within a few weeks of his death. He was born in Milwaukee, Wis., Sept, 12, 1847, at about the time that the United States government began its first issue of postage stamps.

Mr. Skinner's collection was of the general variety and of monumental proportions, being mounted in many volumes, and overflowing from those, as such large collections usually do, into other receptacles, into which he was accustomed to dig, in his spare hours, for some unusual variety or odd cancellation. His collection of United States alone was of a kind and magnitude that brought him many visitors from all over the country. It is well known that it contains many real rarities, as the collection was complete as to several countries.

When the San Diego Stamp Club was organized the honor of possessing the first membership card was given, by common consent, to Mr. Skinner. He attended the meetings of the club with regularity until a few months ago, when his health began to fail. He has been in the furniture business in San Diego practically ever since he went to that city. He was a member of Kilbourne Lodge, A. F. & A. M., a member of Commandery No. 25, Knights Templar, of San Diego, also of Lodge No. 168, B. P. O. Elks. A wife and two sons survive him, and a host of friends mourn the passing of a kindly old gentleman who was always glad to share with others the many pleasures he got from his great collection of stamps.

THE NEW MONGOLIA STAMPS

By Elliott M. Walton

The new stamps for Mongolia have appeared and are now at hand. I submit the following data in regard to the same:

Mongolia—Official nomenclature "Northern Mongolia" (Republic of Tannou-Touva).

Currency—Rubles and Kopecks.

Description—Stamps approximately 1 inch by 1⅛th and 1 x 1. Ruble values of the larger size.

Values—Printed in Moscow. 1k red; 2k light blue; 5k orange; 8k light green; 10k violet; 30k brown; 50k grey black; 1r blue green; 2r plum; 5r dark blue. 10 values complete set.

Design—The design is a wheel—"helm" the symbols of Happiness and Chance Bordered with inscription in Mongolian. No English appears on these stamps as was the case with the first issue of this the case with the first issue of this country.

Following is some information on the country supplied by my correspondent:—

Northern Mongolia (Republic of Tannou-Touva) is on the border of Russia and China. Before the War the country was known as Ourenkhay—in the language of the territory—Ourenkhay-Krai. The territory had been under dispute, Russia and China both claiming ownership. After the War it was annexed to China but with the proclamation of a Mongolian state the country was annexed to that country. Two years ago an autonomous republic was formed—Republic of Tannou-Touva. The country is south of Siberia and north of Mongolia. Ethnologically, the country is Mongolian, but politically and economically it is a satrap of Soviet Russia. The country is as large approximately as Latvia, Lithuania and Esthonia combined. Capital city is Krasny (meaning Red) on the banks of the river Enisey. The Government is represented by the Council of Ministers.

Since the inception of the Republic, no stamps have been used. Mail charges have been paid for in currency. The present issue as described above were printed in Moscow by the Soviet Printing Office. Issue is given as 50,000 each of the kopeck values and 10,000 each of the Ruble values.

COURT ACTION

A collection of rare stamps which was valued at $200,000, the larger part of which was sold to Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of Plainfield, N. J., formed the basis of a suit in the Brooklyn Supreme Court yesterday by Elliott Perry of Westfield, N. J. The latter seeks to recover $30,000 from Henry C. Needham of 93 Nassau Street, for commission on the sale. Perry said he had a special agreement with Needham, the terms of which caused him at the time of the sale to waive his fees, and that when the agreement was not fulfilled by Needham no profit had resulted for him.

Prior to bringing the collection to the attention of Mr. Ackerman, Perry said in his complaint, that he had been assured by Needham that his private collection was genuine and that the stamps would bring $200,000 at retail.

Mr. Ackerman, it was said, did not care to take the entire collection, but only such part of it as he might desire, and his offer of $116,379 to exercise his choice of selection was accepted. Perry said, it was agreed that stamps not wanted by Ackerman were afterward to be disposed of, he acting as Ackerman's broker, some of which Needham was to repurchase, and assist in selling the remainder.

In his complaint Perry alleged that some of the stamps proved to be counterfeits. After Mr. Ackerman had completed his selection Needham had repurchased none that was left and had not aided in selling any, it is charged.

Needham requested Justice Charles J. Druhan to compel Perry to make his complaint more definite. Decision was reserved.—New York Times.

EDITORIAL

With the issue of last week in mind, the ordinary number of the WEEKLY comes as a sort of anti-climax. Who knows but that in a decade or so, a sixty-page issue each week will be the customary thing. The Special was run off in a large number and it will be current for some time as the extra copies will be distributed from the WEEKLY's booth at the Exhibition. Our hope is that the person who has had only casual contact with collecting, if, indeed, he is not wholly a stranger to it, will be impressed by the Special sufficiently to lead him to inquire further into the workings of collecting.

While realizing the possibilities of the growth of philately, we try not to exaggerate them. Philately has not yet achieved its place in the catalogue of accepted diversions for adults, although latterly it has been progressing rapidly towards that goal. Stamp collecting deserves a chance to present its case before the public and the Exhibition in New York is a happy means of giving notice of the fact that stamps have solid claims for recognition by others than adolescents.

The International Philatelic Exhibition is almost an accomplished fact and while the public will not exactly crash the gates for admission, yet with a large philatelic attendance, there will be reason to congratulate ourselves. The work that has been so faithfully prosecuted for so many months will stand in its fruition as a monument to the enterprise of philatelists; and aside from considerations of the effect of the display on outsiders, an important end will be gained. Collectors will derive from an examination of the choicest stamps extant, an inspiration and an added interest in collecting. All collectors will have their knowledge broadened through a study of so many stamp treasures brought together to a common storehouse.

The last call for the Exhibition and the convention of the American Philatelic Society now goes forth. If one delays further a decision on attending, it is equivalent to saying that one is not going to take advantage of an opportunity that comes but few times in a philatelic lifetime. At times, we are so singularly remiss in appreciation of privileges that are extended to us that it is impossible to defend this indifference on any logical grounds; and we suppose that on this occasion there will be some who will neglect their best interests. Let us then be up and going.

The Exhibition has been mentioned in a number of newspaper accounts and it is a source of pride to find references to the International Stamp Exhibition in some of the matter emanating from the post office department at Washington. To many newspapers throughout the country, the news was sent by the department that the White Plains stamp would be placed on sale ten days earlier than the date of the battle that it commemorates; and that on Oct. 18th this new two-cent stamp might be bought at the White Plains, New York, post office "and at a branch of the Post Office Department that will be temporarily established for the International Philatelic Exhibition at New York City." The general news value of the Exhibition in some respects must be admitted and the story of the intention of the government to print on a hand press sheets of twenty-five of the two-cent Sesquicentennial stamp, instead of the usual 50, at the Exhibition is a good one for public consumption. Too, the notice of the exhibits by some of the other governments is palatable stuff.

On October 15th, the second Pan American Postal Congress will open in Mexico City, with several delegates from Washington in attendance. It will be remembered that the first congress of the kind was held in 1921, at Buenos Ayres, where important postal legislation was adopted, resulting in two cents postage with the countries entering into the pact. It is possible that the Mexican authorities will recognize the sessions of this congress by some special marking or issue.

Acknowledgment, even though belated, is due to the Cook County Lions' Club for having donated several medals for competition at the Boys' Achievement Exposition, held last June during Boys' Week at the Chicago Municipal Pier. Recently, we had a call from August Kowalski, Chicago, the boy who won the first of two medals in the "Jr. Stamps" division, who proudly displays his trophy and who does not hesitate to admit his debt to philately; and the result is that he is no pussy-footing spokesman for stamp collecting. The Lions are to be credited with an act of kindness that may be emulated on proper occasion by other organizations whose purpose of service is so commendable. A tribute to collecting from a body having no connection with our pursuit is doubly gracious.

Mr. Alvah G. Clark, Trenton, New Jersey, speaks of the Gardner Teall article in the September number of the International Studio, "Design in the Postage Stamp," which is illustrated with five exquisite half-tone plates, containing in all thirty-two representations of artistic merit in stamps of foreign countries. As Mr. Clark says, the article, to which we have referred previously, emphasizes the tendency of foreign governments to institute competitions sufficiently attractive to command the best efforts of their leading artists; and he adds: "As our own government through its Bureau of Engraving and Printing is placing before us many and varied new issues, I believe the best artistic talent of our country would be interested in similar competitions.

From Mr. A. J. Algate, past president of the Toronto Stamp Collectors Club, Canada, comes a timely and interesting correction of a statement made in our issue of September 13th that was based on the remarks of a correspondent in England. Mr. Algate submits some data showing that the private airmail companies in Canada are permitted to run with the sanction of the Canadian post office departments; as well as advertising material indicating that the companies were established to supply real postal needs. Mr. Algate's presentation of the case in favor of these Canadian airmails will appear elsewhere in this or the subsequent issue.

Reports from several cities say that the local societies in the respective localities have begun their seasons auspiciously. Milwaukee, for instance, the home of a real society, furnished food for famished philatelists at its meeting on September 21st, at the Public Museum, when Mr. W. O. Staab, vice-president of the American Philatelic Society, took Mr. MacGuffin's recent book as a text and expounded on "Stamps as an Investment," with findings favorable to the author's contentions. The printed program of the seasons's meeting bespeaks months of activity on the part of the Milwaukee members.

Mr. Francis J. Field, London, informs us that additional values of stamps for use in the newly opened air routes between Vienna and Italy and Vienna and North and Central Europe were issued by Austria on September 8th. The novelties include the 10, 15, 30 and 50 groschen, Pilot's Head design and the 3 and 5 schillings, bird and aeroplane type, with the 10 sch. the same but measuring 29 by 36 millimeters.

Invitation To Everybody

On behalf of the American Philatelic Society, I invite you to make Booths 9 and 11 your headquarters while visiting the International Stamp Exhibition Oct. 16th to 23rd. You can have your mail addressed and make appointments for meeting friends at the Booths. Conveniences for writing letters with A.P.S. stationery will be provided free to all. As I am in charge of the Booths, I will be pleased to see to it that you are made to feel at home. Correspondence concerning my personal business will have to wait till after the Exhibition.

NEWSY NOTES:—

SEVERAL subscribers have sent in clippings giving the particulars of Adolph Menjou's interest in stamp collecting. In the course of an interview with him he mentions one unique feature of our hobby. We quote as follows:—"Stamp collecting has still another appeal. The surest and politest way of disposing of an unwelcome guest is to produce one's album and start to go through it, carefully and lengthily explaining the history of every stamp it contains."

THE Lydia Stamp Co. sends us the previous item and also the following one which is of more than ordinary interest. The firm writes that E. B. Power is giving a series of four fifteen-minute stamp talks over WMAF, owned and operated by Col. Green, South Dartmouth, Mass. He began on Sunday, Sept. 26, and goes on at 9 P. M. for four consecutive weeks. As is well known, Col. Green has one of the most valuable collections in the country.

WE are informed by Elliott M. Walton that the surcharges for Lebanon, noted in our issue of Sept. 27, have also been applied to Alouites and Syria stamps of the same values and types.

A VERY interesting pricelist is at hand from R. Roberts, 430 Strand, London, England. It is more than a mere list, in that much reading matter is contained therein. We note that Mr. Roberts plans to be in Boston, October 12 and 13, and after the New York Exhibition will visit Philadelphia, Washington, Buffalo, Montreal and Toronto.

WE have been advised by Miss Mattie Wadsworth, Hallowell, Me., of the death by accident, Sept. 26, of Harold Sewall Packard, Jr. of Augusta, Me. He was an ardent stamp collector although only fourteen years of age. He was an only child, a member of the sophomore class in the Cony High School, a skilled performer on both piano and saxaphone, a prize winner in literary contests and possessed the prospects of a most brilliant career. Two years ago he became a collector and has been upon our subscription list for some time. Miss Wadsworth pays a tender tribute to Master Packard, with whom she was intimately associated.

WE have received a subscription to the WEEKLY from the Sioux City (Iowa) Philatelic Society. An organization meeting was held Friday, Sept. 24. Kenneth Grabin is president, and the secretary is Wm. Kiepura, 4510 Manor Circle, Sioux City, Ia. Interested parties should communicate with the secretary. Meetings are held the second and fourth Friday evenings of the month, in the lecture room of the Public Library.

FRED SLACK sends us an interesting clipping from the East St. Louis, Ill., Daily Journal. It deals with some of the local collectors and collections, and is just such an article as would tend to make stamp collectors. It is good publicity.

IN the Philadelphia Public Ledger of Sept. 26, appears an interesting story relating to the stamp collection of Charles W. Castor, former postmaster of the city. Mr. Castor has just passed his 86th birthday and holds his collection in high esteem. He declares that we would refuse an offer of $50,000 for it. We are indebted to Prof. Melville J. Boyer for the clipping.

CAN any reader send Frank B. Kirby, New Bedford, Mass., the present address of Wm. H. Bellows, formerly of 17 Taylor St., Boston, Mass. Letters mailed to that address remain unanswered. Interested parties should write Mr. Kirby.

ADVICES from England state that the Postmaster-General's scheme to combine commercial advertising with the cancellation of postage stamps has provoked at least one form of counter-attack in addition to the steadily growing storm of protest all over the country. The counter-attack takes the form of a black envelope, with two white spaces, to take the postage stamp and the address. The envelope, a specimen of which has been received by the "Sunday Express," should certainly prevent any one from using any part of its surface as advertising space. "Self-defence" is the plea of the devisers of the envelope, who write that they are compelled to protect, in this way, "strictly private property" against the Post Office authorities.

THE Vermont-Bennington commemorative half dollar authorized by Congress, largely as a result of the activities of the Vermont State Sesqui-Centennial Commission, has been minted, and the coins will be actually issued on January 1, 1927—the first date upon which they may be legally released. The plan of this Commission to have a special postage stamp commemorative of our Vermont Sesqui-Centennial anniversaries is being carefully pressed.—ARTHUR F. STONE.

HUBERT LYMAN CLARK, well known to many of our readers for his blocks of four advertising sends us a letter from which we are quoting two or three sentences. We do this in the belief that Dr. Clark will not be offended:—

"My small boy, who some 20 years ago introduced me to the joys of stamp collecting, has now broken loose and established a home of his own. He was married in June and is now living in Amherst, where he is instructor in English—the third generation of Clark to graduate from, and then teach in, Amherst College. As part of his proper equipment he needs the WEEKLY, so I enclose a check for a dollar to cover his first year's subscription.

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) West Somerville, Mass.

5c, 10c IMPERFORATE

Two of the rarest United States 20th century varieties are the 1922-25 5c blue Roosevelt and 10c yellow Monroe in imperforate condition. The two stamps are Scott's #557a and #562b respectively and list at $100.00 each. One pane of one hundred are known of each variety, the 5c having been found in New York and the 10c in Oklahoma. Because of the fact that the low denominations from 1c to 10c are being produced on the rotary press and the manufacture of plates for producing the flat stamp have been discontinued, there is little or no likelihood of more of these being found.

It will, therefore, be understood that each of these varieties are equally as rare as such stamps as the 24c 1915 aeroplane inverted center, of which an equal number were located.

Both of these sheets are from the Sinkler collection and have been cut into blocks and pairs and are available in this condition. Price to interested parties upon application.

What else do you require in United States stamps either early or late in mint or used condition?

Always in the market for anything fine in the way of United States issues. Best of commercial, banking and philatelic references furnished.

Washington Notes

I am informed by Washington that the proof for the new 2c red, issued to commemorate the battle of White Plains will be approved on September 29th, and that the Bureau of Engraving and Printing will immediately arrange to lay down the necessary plates to be used in connection with the issuing of this stamp. It was hoped that the stamps would be ready on Oct. 16th, the opening day of the International Philatelic Exhibition but due to shortness of time, it is found that they will not be available until October 18th, when they will be placed on sale for the first time. On Sept. 25th, the Secretary of Treasury granted permission to the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to send a press from Washington to New York so that some of these stamps will actually be engraved at the exhibition and many visitors will see a United States Postage stamp produced for the first time.

The Department announces that a contract has been awarded to the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Air Service, Inc., for a contract airmail service from Philadelphia, Pa., via Washington, D. C., to Norfolk, Va., a distance of 278 miles. The service will begin on October 10th, and will be known as route C. A. M. 15, superseding the service now operated on route C. A. M. 13 by the same company between Philadelphia and Washington. The schedule for this route will be announced later.

Effective Oct. 1st, registered and unregistered letters, post-cards, printed matter, commercial papers and samples addressed for delivery in Belgium, Denmark, France, the Netherlands, Norway and Sweden, will be given the benefit of special delivery service when prepaid 20c in addition to the regular postage by means of United States special delivery or other stamps affixed to each article.

The envelope or cover should have affixed labels reading, "Expres (Special Delivery)." Until a supply of the said labels can be secured from the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, letters and packages should be marked in red ink directly below the stamps.

A similar service is now in effect with Canada and some few other places. This service makes possible the legitimate postal use of a pair of 10c special delivery stamps.

Special Cancellation

Mr. E. F. Bodurtha kindly sends a communication from Springfield, Mass., bearing a very unusual cancellation, the black postmark being in two concentric circles reading, "R. P. O. Exhibit Car Spg. Mass., dated Sept. 21, 1926."

Canal Zone

Mr. R. S. Carter sends a circular communication dated Sept. 9th, from the Director of Posts in which attention is called to the fact that the 2c Sesqui-Centennial stamp with Canal Zone overprint was officially placed on sale July 6th. We are told that the stamps were distributed to all postmasters on July 3rd, with instructions that they would not be placed on sale until the 6th, due to the fact that July 4th and 5th was a double holiday. As none of the post offices were open for business on these two days, any letters with Sesqui-Centennial stamps affixed and postmarked as of July 4th were not authorized by the Director of Posts.

Nevertheless, some of the stamps no doubt were distributed on July 3rd and placed in the mail July 4th, for attention was called in this chronicle recently that letters had been received bearing the earlier cancellation, although July 6th was the official date of issue.

Mr. Carter also calls attention to the fact that the final ratification of the treaty between the United States and Panama is quite apt to result in a complete change in Canal Zone postage stamps. The use of the old Panama stamps surcharged, "Canal Zone" which were available previous to the present issue and of which there is a very large stock of the higher values still on hand, may be reissued under the new arrangements or possibly an entire new issue may be available. Panama is calling a special session of their Congress to consider the treaty and the American Congress, which meets after January 1st next, will no doubt take action.

AUSTRIA.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us copies of new colors in the Air Post stamps. They are 10g orange, 15g claret, 30g olive, 50g greenish blue, all in the design of Scott's AP3, and 3s brown red, type of AP4.

BARBADOS.—Mr. G. V. Stewart submits for our information, a copy of a letter he has received from the Postmaster of this colony in which designs are invited for a stamp to commemorate the Tercentenary of the settlement of the Colony of Barbados in February, 1927. Mr. Stewart also notes that the current 1p stamp has recently been issued in a softer deeper scarlet.

EGYPT.—In commenting upon the surcharged Agricultural Exhibition stamps Mr. Roberts notes that the overprinted stamps vary somewhat in shade from those originally issued. It would appear that special remainders were printed for the purpose of surcharging or possibly there were two printings of these values.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

CANADIAN AIRMAILS

In your issue of September 13th, which has been handed to me, you make a statement regarding Canadian Airmails, particularly to Red Lake, Woman Lake and Birch Lake areas, which in my opinion is erroneous and harmful to your airmail collectors.

I refer to the paragraph on page 470, in which you say, "A warning has reached us from R. Roberts, the British dealer, &c." Being only twenty-four hours from Ottawa, you might have verified this through the Canadian Postal Authorities before quoting a statement made by a third party.

Aerial mails in Canada to-day are carried by private Companies, but in every instance by sanction of the Postal Authorities. If you will take the trouble to write the Post Office Department at Ottawa, and ask for their Monthly Supplement, Canadian Official Postal Guide, April, 1926, which relates to the Elliot Airmail service to the Red Lake Goldfields; July, 1926, which relates to the Elliot-Fairchild service to the Rouyn District; and August, 1926, which relates to the Patricia Airways—(1) to Pine Ridge and Red Lake—(2) to Woman Lake and Birch Lake, you will get a different slant on this question.

I have permission from the Patricia Airways & Exploration Limited, now operating the Red Lake and Woman Lake air service, to send you herewith copies of the Official correspondence relating to this aerial service from which you will note—

(1) The stamp proposed to be issued for this service was submitted and approved by the Postal Authorities.

(2) Special request was made that the Patricia Airways honour mail offering which carried the earlier stamp issued by the Elliot Company.

(3) Instructions by telegram were received by Patricia Airways & Exploration Limited from the Postal Department at Ottawa to forward stamp supplies to Post Offices where these would assist in the carrying on of the fast-developing business in these famous goldfields.

I wish to further point out that covers carrying the airmail stamp are usually back-dated so as to show the date that this mail passes from the custody of the postmaster at the aerial base to the pilot, who is not only authorised to carry mail to the only existing Post Office in this new goldfield, namely, Red Lake, but is also authorised to accept mail to and from; (a) Pine Ridge, the new Government Administrative centre, (b) Woman Lake, (c) Birch Lake, where no Post Offices have yet been established.

It is only fair to state in this criticism of your paragraph that the Postal Authorities stipulate all mail conveyed by this service is carried "at owner's risk." Up to the present time the Government has not subsidized the aerial transport of mail, and therefore, the only revenue the Companies can receive for this incalculable service is by the issuance of their own stamps under the full knowledge, recognition and co-operation of the Postal Authorities. When I tell you that the difference between aerial mail to Red Lake and ordinary courier mail, is the difference between a few hours and several days, you will appreciate what this means to the big interests conducting extensive exploration and development in our last great frontier, the District of Patricialand. Letters leaving Toronto tonight via Sioux Lookout and Patricia Air Service will reach Red Lake within 36 to 40 hours.

These airmails are making history in Canada today. They are the pioneers leading up, we hope, to a time in the near future when the Government will see its way to carrying on such service themselves. In the meantime, the private Companies carrying express and passengers, must be depended upon to give this service, and we in Canada feel they are the pioneers.

The most Surprising Happening in Philately is the tremendous Interest which is being shown in Precancels of U. S. and Canada. We were very much surprised to have sold 80% of our 1926 Standard Precancel Catalogs within 90 days of their appearance, July 10, 1926.

The reason is the appalling scarcity of early U. S. Collectors with limited stamp allowances are turning to precancels because they get the same stamp fun for less money. They also are able to pick up a great number of precancels themselves. There is a strong society, The Precancel Stamp Society, catering only to the needs of Precancel Collectors.

FRANCE.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts have sent copies of the 20c magenta, 1fr blue, 1fr 40c cerise, all of the Sower type, and 1fr 50c blue, Pasteur design. Also a 20fr magenta and green, type of Scott's A18.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us for chronicle the 6p, unsurfaced paper, perf. 15 x 14, new watermark Crown and G V R multiple, printed at Somerset House. Also ½p, 1p, 1½p and 2p, watermarked as above (sideways). These are issued in rolls printed and prepared by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons.

HUNGARY.—Pengo values.—M. Champion announces the issue shortly of the 1p, 2p and 5p values in the new set commenced this year.

INDIA.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the following items from this country: 4a sage green, watermark multiple star. Nasik issue; 1½a rose and 2a 6p orange, both the last printings of De la Rue. Regarding the first mentioned item, Mr. Roberts informs us that this stamp was printed in sheets of 256 (4 panes 64, 16 x 4) from old De la Rue plates, which do not seem to have been interfered with at all. The printing itself is rather an improvement upon the lower values, although it leaves something to be desired in the way of bringing out the minute details in design. The paper, however, is of a thinner, more transparent description and more inclined to curl up, the watermark showing more clearly through it than on the previous values that have appeared. The other two values are watermarked single star with the inscription "Star Paper Star" in double line capitals across the three rows of pillared margin intersecting the panes. The last printings come up to the usual standard of excellence of this firm's production, and there would be nothing remarkable about them except for the comparison of the two printings which have come to hand together, and the expert eye cannot help noticing the remarkable difference.

ITALY.—Mr. R. Roberts informs us that the 20c type of Scott's A49, has been issued in maroon color.

LEEWARD ISLANDS.—Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 1½p rose, on script watermarked paper.

MONTSERRAT.—Mr. G. V. Stewart informs us that the 1½p violet and 2½p orange are sold out at the colony and that new printings will be made in the revised colors for these values, viz., orange for the 1½p and blue for the 2½p.

NEW CALEDONIA.—Whitfild King & Co. send us five new items to chronicle for this colony: The 5fr olive has been surcharged "10f." in red; 1fr lilac postage due stamp has been overprinted "2F." in black; 5frs olive bears the overprint "50c" and "Colis Postaux" in black and the 1fr blue and 2fr red on blue bears the surcharged "Colis Postaux" also in black.

NORTHERN MONGOLIA (Tannou-Touva).—Whitfield King & Co. advise that this is a Republican State in the north of Mongolia, the capital being Krasny, formerly known as "Belotzarsk." Postage stamps have not hitherto been used in this Republic, the postage on letters being paid in cash. The new stamps have been issued under the authority of the Russian Soviet Government with inscriptions entirely in Mongolian.

PARAGUAY.—From Whitfield King & Co. comes a copy of the 1 peso green, design as Scott's A45.

PERSIA.—"Regne de Pahlavi"—Additional values are reported by M. Champion, which he states complete the series: 24c, green and lilac, and 1k, violet and brown.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the 1c postage due stamp, in red lilac shade.

URUGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. report that they have received copies of the 5m grey, 5c blue and 36c rose red, in the re-engraved type of the 1923 bird design.

APPRAISED

Bruce Cartwright, with the assistance of F. W. Reid, local philatelist, has completed the appraisement of the W. H. F. Wolters collection of stamps, fixing the value at $245,871.82. The catalogue value of the collection, on the other hand, is approximately $440,000.

The inventory of the collection shows a total of 230,298 stamps. Four-fifths of these comprising the more valuable specimens valued at about $210,000 have arrived at New York City, where they are being held in safe deposit vaults. The remainder will go forward just as soon as Reid has completed their segregation in groups according to countries of origin.

The Wolters' collection of stamps is a famous one as it contains many unique specimens, unknown to any other collection. The stamps will be sold at public auction in October, during the time that the International Philatelists' Union is in convention in New York City.

Wolters had resided in Honolulu for about 25 years, until his death here during the war. He was a German citizen and bequeathed his collection to the city of Bremen, his birthplace. The Museum authorities there declined the bequest and therefore the probate court directed that the stamps be sold for the benefit of the estate.—Honolulu Advertiser, Sept. 6, 1926.

PRINCELY PHILATELIC SCRIBES

Although there are, and have been, numerous royal personages in the world of stamp collecting, their appearances in the role of philatelic scribes are rare enough to make the debut of Prince Andrew of Russia in philatelic journalism an occasion for comment. Prince Andrew writes with youthful emphasis in Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal "in defence of philatelists," and shows how the detractors of our pursuit either know not what they are talking about, or, if they have sampled stamp-collecting, have lacked the patience and perseverance necessary to uncover the real interest in it.

He goes on to chat of an interesting little variety he has discovered in the 1 centime Monaco 1890 type, in which the left side of the foot of the figure 1 is elongated and curls up somewhat like a ski. Our royal author has found this on a number of sheets (the position, we gather, being No. 16 in pane 4), with the millesime 9 on Grande Consommation paper, and it would be interesting to learn how far the flaw may be traced back, for the millesime 9 in this case stands for 1919, a very late printing of a stamp which had been in use since 1890. There was no printing of this stamp in 1899, but there was in 1909 with the millesime 9, but, of course, that was not on the G. C. paper.

We trust that Prince Andrew's adventure in philatelic writing is only a beginning, and that there may be many more contributions in the philatelic press from his pen.

Among royal writers we have the most notable in H. M. King George V., who as Duke of York and Prince of Wales, conveyed to the world much valuable data on the first issue Denmark, and the King Edward stamps of Great Britain, through the medium of papers read before the Philatelic Society, London.

Of the other royal authors, Russia has given us two in the much lamented young Grand Duke Alexis Michaelvitch and Prince Nicolas Obolenski. The illustrious Italian collector, the late Prince Alphonse Doria Pamphilj, does not appear to have ventured into philatelic literature as a writer, although, as a youth, he wrote to the Editor of the old Philatelist, and received replies through the "Editor's Letter Box." Another Prince who did not write any philatelic articles for publication so far as we know, but contributed substantially to our knowledge of stamps, was Prince Sonapandit of Siam, whose alleged picture was one of many prominent philatelists adorning the cover of Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal in the early 'nineties. — Stamp Collectors Fortnightly.

"50c OF EVERY DOLLAR SPENT FOR STAMPS TODAY IS SPENT THRU THE MEDIUM OF AUCTION SALES"

This is the statement of a prominent veteran Boston Stamp Dealer. We believe this statement is true. It is true because the stamp business has no definite wholesale source of supply like most other businesses. Auction sales cause the dealer to compete with the collector in acquiring stock.

We hold auction sales of Postage Stamps every month and by heavy circulation, we have built up an important auction business in the course of one year.

Our 7th Auction will be held November 6th, 1926, in Minneapolis; our 8th sale will be held December 4 in St. Paul. Send for our catalogs.

We solicit the receipt of lots for our December 4 sale. Our charges are 20% for selling. All lots must reach us by the 4th of November to insure inclusion in Sale No. 8. If your collection is for sale, get in touch with us. We are the only auction house in the Northwest and have a large active group of floor bidders as well as a circulation of 4,000 auction catalogs for sale among mail bidders. We have a specially prepared auction mounting sheet so that sellers can place their own suggested descriptions on their lots. No one knows his own stamps like the owner.

Our Mr. Rotnem will be at the N. Y. Exhibitions and Conventions and will have the lots for the November Sale (a strong showing in U. S. and early B. C. and foreign) on display in his room at the Waldorf Astoria.

EXPOSITIONS BUILD INDUSTRIES

GRAND CENTRAL PALACE HAS BEEN THE SETTING OF MOST IMPORTANT INDUSTRIAL DISPLAYS

To quote the late President McKinley: "Expositions are the Timekeepers of Progress." They herald the new and reveal the improvements which time has helped accomplish in the affairs of the world. They occupy a valuable place in advertising the achievements of many industries and bringing them to a place in the lime-light.

As a means of establishing personal contact with the public the exposition is invaluable. It reaches the people in a direct manner which no amount of advertising, letter-writing, circularizing, etc., can possibly accomplish. Exhibiting in one place presents an unequalled opportunity to display products, merchandise, oddities, and rare objects in a comprehensive manner which can be readily grasped by the passer-by.

Grand Central Palace, which has been the home for many years of such important events as the Flower Show, the Automobile Show, the National Exposition of Power and Mechanical Engineering, the International Silk Show, the Chemical Industries Exposition, National Hotel Exposition and many others, is so located as to be reached easily by visitors from out of town as well as New Yorkers themselves. Beneficial results which have been obtained by the industries participating in these features are many and far-reaching, extending over a long term of years. Mindful of this, the management of the International Stamp Exhibition is making every effort to have this unique display an epoch in the history of Philately.

As a rule, the visitor attends a gigantic exhibition of this kind with an open mind. He is ready and willing to absorb the bewildering number of impressions that he receives at first sight. Somehow, as he goes from booth to booth, they simplify themselves into this, that, and the other fascinating thing until he is prepared to ask questions and willing to listen. In this congenial manner a contact is formed which often proves of great value to both exhibitor and visitor.

Among the enormous number of pilgrims to the expositions at the Palace are school children—thousands of them each year. Hardly a day goes by during the progress of various shows that does not find groups of them assembled under the leadership of teachers and instructors. Still another unit is made up of students from the various colleges and universities, in and around New York, some of them coming in class units from points as far distant as Yale University at New Haven and other seats of learning within a radius of 100 miles or more. A large number of these schools which have been represented in the past at the various industrial expositions, have stamp clubs which play an important part in the social side of educational activities. Most of these are looking forward to the Stamp Show as an opportunity to view for themselves the gems among famous collections of which they have often read, but never before seen.

Expositions, which are actually modernized versions of the ancient fair, must have proven profitable to persist through the ages. Several which have started on a very small scale have assumed gigantic proportions as the years progressed. The National Automobile Show each year has a long list of car and accessory dealers waiting, when the dates are announced, to reserve space in which to display their latest designs.

The Chemical Exposition, which started with a mere handful of exhibitors, had more than 400 last season; the Flower Show, beloved by visitors from all walks of life, has developed into one of the most elaborate displays given annually in the East and visited from the time its doors are opened until they close by enormous crowds from near and far.

Just how important the National Exposition of Power and Mechanical Engineering has become since the first show five years ago, can be understood very simply by a consideration of the registration lists of the last exposition. They bear testimony to the fact that more than 85,000 engineers, operating men and industrial executives were in attendance; representatives in their various lines from forty-three separate states and from twenty-three foreign countries.

Reviving as well as developing interest in various projects is another task entrusted to the exposition. When the Silk Show in the Palace was first started, the silk industry had suffered a severe slump. The staging of this enormous display and pageant was the means of inspiring the industry with a surprising degree of enthusiasm and confidence. Results were immediate and direct in many cases. The public came and saw wonderful fabrics and, during the following weeks, ordered them through the department stores. Dealers attended from all over the country and rehabilitated much of the industry which had become partially dormant.

When the International Stamp Exhibition opens in the Grand Central Palace on October 16th, to continue through October 23rd, it will not only be an important event to the thousands of philatelists planning to attend, from all four corners of the globe, but a revelation to the uninitiated as well.

PHILATELY

A RELIC OF THE DARK AGES

(Being a lecture delivered in the History Section of Shawmut University, Boston, Usona, on November 21, 2001 A. D., by Prof. Myles S. Bates.)

By C. E. Roe.

SISTER and brother students, greetings!

The recent recrudescence of our new Brother, Julian West,* has greatly stimulated research into the by-ways of the life of that extremely interesting period of change and unrest which existed between the years 1880-1950. My talk today will be upon the almost forgotten subject of Philately.

To most of you, I venture to say, this word is utterly without meaning. It was added to our English language about the year 1860 and meant the study and collection of postage stamps, which were small squares of paper affixed by some sort of adhesive paste to the correspondence, or rather to the separate components of the correspondence of the people, and showed that the requisite tax had been paid to the Government for its services in transmitting such things. It is very difficult for us to realize their need, since the simple relations now existing between the State and the individual have rendered so much of what was then considered vitally necessary absolutely without reason for existence.

Philately, then, had to do with these stamps, their manufacture, use, and above all, their collecting. That curious manifestation of the acquisitive instinct, called the collecting mania—now, happily, extinct—which cursed the "civilized" world of that time occurred in a no more ridiculous way than in the amassing of these bits of colored paper. Many other articles were, of course, collected, but most of these had a certain value, cultural, esthetic or of every day usage. We may, if charitably inclined—and we should by all means be very charitable toward our grouping and ignorant ancestors—admit that there might be some reason for acquiring, for instance, furniture, which could be used in the home; objects of art, which could give pleasure from contemplation of their beauty; or the ancient musical devices from which our present instruments are descended. But it is extremely difficult to conceive of any valid reason for the existence of the enormous accumulations of these stamps, which were made by certain individuals at a terrific expense.

In the Public Library is one alcove given over to the literature of this mania, and I find therein a number of curious statements. Each collector, it seems, endeavored to get as many of these stamps as possible, but it was a rule that no two should be alike. The number of such "varieties" is astounding. According to my researches I find that from the beginning, 1840, to 1914 (the year in which the first World War, the one confined to the continent of Europe, began) the number of varieties was, roughly, 50,000.

Between 1914 and 1935, the date of the Great War, the various nations manufactured, or "issued," as the term was, over 120,000 varieties; while in the years between the Peace of 1937 and the Day of Birth in 1952, there were put out and collected no less than 226,000 kinds of stamps. Of course, with the beginning of our present economic and social system which dates from that eventful Seventh of September, all such things with the making of money and of arms and a thousand thousand other fantasies automatically ceased to exist.

Yet human nature, especially among the aged, is hard to change. The last of these collectors in this country died so recently as 1984, and his accumulation of what I have no hesitation in naming trash was turned over by his family to that depository of antiques, the Museum of Fine Arts. Just what its disposal will be is a problem to the curator, since according to the description accompanying it, it consists of some 385,000 different stamps mounted in 820 large books. These are at present resting in the Museum basement waiting for someone with unlimited time and a defective mentality to examine them. The members of the class will be good enough to wait until the close of the lecture before adjourning in a body to Copley Square. (Laughter.)

But where there was one such comprehensive collection which attempted completeness—an ideal never attained, I believe, because the ingenuity of these philatelists in discovering new varieties surpasses belief—there were millions of smaller ones. All degrees of the departed social scale were represented; school children, ordinary citizens, statesmen, kings and billionaires, as men who held vast possessions were called, collected these stamps whose values varied from almost nothing to huge sums of money. A certain stamp, which because of the accidental workings of time, became the sole representative of its class, might be bartered for an amount equal to the productive value of many men working for a long period of years. Only to serious students of history would the meaning of these enormous numbers of dollars paid for small squares of paper be clear, so I will not burden your memories with more figures. (More Laughter.)

It appears, however, that these collectors were comparatively few. Even at the height of the "craze," which was evidently about 1947, the number never exceeded one-half of one per cent of the population, showing that in this respect the majority was sane. Yet because of the character of its devotees, philately was capable of exerting an influence far out of proportion to its numerical strength. Truth compels me to state that this influence was never wielded in any way to further the economic degradation of the people, being used only to foster the curious pursuit. The influence of philately upon the economics of the period was remarkably small, since, owing to its nature, the trade was confined to a few dealers. So that to it we can ascribe only a few of those leeches on the body politic who existed by other means than of productive labor. Socially, philately seems to have greatly aided the trend toward brotherhood,

UNCLE SAM DOES IT RIGHT

A special sheet of 25 of the 2c White Plains stamp will be sold at the Philatelic Agency at the International Philatelic Exhibition. This sheet is made expressly as one of the Government's contributions to the Show. It will have margins on four sides with Philatelic Exhibition inscription at the top, New York, N. Y., at the bottom and plate numbers on two sides. No collection of U. S. stamps will be complete without this memento of the Exhibition. I will mail you one of these sheets, with a lot of dope on first day covers and new U. S. stamps, for only $1.00.

UNITED STATES ISSUES 1870-1900

Dr. Wm. Evans, Editor,
313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

(Any letter requiring a reply must have a self-addressed stamped envelope. No attention can be given matters that do not belong to the years indicated. What can you contribute of interest?)

Numbers 4 and 5 are tracings sent by Dr. J. P. Ball, from stamps in his collection. No. 8 belongs to the writer. No. 9, Skull and Bones on 3c Interior, sent by F. E. Wood. This has also been seen on 3c green and 2c 1883. The others were sent by K. N. Woodward and are on 3c green. No. 1 is the most elaborate one of O. K. that has come to my notice. Who can tell us anything about No. 6? Sigma Chi! Is there a Greek letter fraternity with those initials? Anyone know where it was used? No. 11, "Shield of David" with D in the center. What does the D stand for?

Town or Postmaster? Chicopee, Mass., used a very perfect "Shield" in the 50's you remember. Where was this used?

No. 12, the largest pumpkin head on record. So big that it laps over both sides of the stamps.

K. N. Woodward has sent another lot of 3c green with a number of interesting cancellations, some of which you see above. Some of the others I'll tell you about. A pair is cancelled with a large black star surrounded by a larger circle. This is quite the Jumbo of all the stars that have been sent. It measures 18mm. from tip to tip and the diameter of the circle is 24mm. RGH are the last three letters of the postmark so it's doubtless from some Burgh.

Then here is one with two quarters of a cut cork, and embossed in the stamp, as if it had been done by some bank, in a double circle made up of small blunt points, is SELMA, A with a small star before the S, and above the star are the letters MIT. Inside the inner circle are the letters FEBRUA and the date 1878. Of course this is only a small part of the design, a little more than a quarter of it, but enough to identify it if the rest ever comes to light. This stamp is on a very thin paper and there are about ten more copies on this thin paper all cancelled differently which indicates that it didn't all go to the same town. A few copies on very thin paper have been noted before but I do not remember having seen so many in one lot.

Then here is a star. A solid black centre of pentagonal shape with a colorless point based on each side of the pentagon surrounded by a heavy black block. It covers nearly the whole stamp, and if the cover were present would tie it on three sides. The stamp could certainly pass as being a heavily cancelled specimen, and but for the star would be classed as junk, but the cancellation saves it in this case, and looks almost like a little five-petaled flower.

Two varieties of O.K. One is simply the letters in black, and the other shows the letters colorless surrounded by a black circular block. Cut in cork or wood most likely. There is another quite elaborate one which is worthy of illustration, No. 1.

Here is a monogram U. S. A. with the A between the bars of the U.

Two forms of 76, one new, which has been reproduced for those who want to complete this group. No. 2 and 1876. That is incomplete (No. 3).

Next! A five in a circle and a 10 not in a circle. Throwbacks from the 40's, likely. Then here is a clover leaf.

There are a great many more, including a number of stars in black, or purple, or blue, a number of letters in these colors, and a nice lot of geometrical designs. Also some R. R. cancellations. And I almost omitted one of the best ones. A flying eagle, No. 7.

Then there is one with an offset on the back, almost as clear as the stamp itself. One wonders how it could have been so clearly impressed.

W. E. Whitnall has sent some very fine and very unusual Railroad cancellations of the R. P. O. class on attractive covers:

Char & Sav. R. P. O. Day. The stamp is 2c vermilion on soft paper. Used in 1879.

Mont & N. O. R. P. O. Day and another with the same R. P. O. Night. The stamps on these are 5c blue Garfield and the letters went to England.

N. O. & Hum. R. P. O. resting peacefully beside a 5c Taylor stamp on another cover to England.

N. O. & Houston R. P. O. adorned with another 5c blue Garfield.

Cape Chas. & Norf R. P. O. attractively embellished with a 5c brown Garfield. and Phila & P T. Norris R. P. O. with a 2c red brown 1883.

Thank Mr. Whitnall for a real thrill.

THE POSTAGE STAMPS OF HAYTI

By Bertram W. H. Poole.

Chapter XXIX

The 2c Provisionals of 1919

While we are getting away from chronological sequence for the moment, the handstamp used for this provisional is so distinctive and unlike any of the others that we think it best, to avoid unnecessary confusion, to follow the order of the catalogues and give it a chapter to itself. The surcharge consists of a large numeral "2" within an oblong rectangular frame with the letters "S" and "D" placed diagonally in the upper left and right corners respectively. These letters are the initials of Sudre Dartiguenave, who was elected President of Hayti on August 12, 1915. This surcharge was applied in red to the 1 piastre stamp of the 1906 series. According to Mr. Colson it was first issued on Oct. 4, 1919, and the total issue consisted of 134,400 stamps.

Chapter XXX

The 1917-18 Provisionals With Frame.

Starting in 1917 and continuing through 1918 a number of different provisionals of the values of 1, 2 and 5 centimes de gourde for domestic postage were issued. New handstamps were made with the value in two lines within an oblong frame. The 1c and 5c surcharges are similar, consisting of large upright numerals and letters, but the 2c handstamp shows a sloping numeral "2" and "cts" in sloping or italic letters.

Stamps of various obsolete issues were used as the foundation for these surcharges and in giving the dates of issue and numbers overprinted we are following the sequence in which the original stamps appeared rather than the strictly chronological order of the issue of the provisionals themselves. The numbers issued and dates on which they first appeared are stated to be as follows by Mr. Colson:—

On Issue of 1906 with Oval Overprint

1c in red on 50c brown lake,	Sept. 20, 1918	1,000
1c in red on 1 pia. mauve,	Sept. 20, 1918	1,240

1c in black on 20c green and black,	Mar. 14, 1918	5,4
2c in red on 3c yellow,	Sept. 26, 1918	21,0

On Issue of 1913 for Foreign Postage

1c in red on 4c olive green,	Sept. 20, 1918	26,0
1c in brown on 7c orange red,	Oct. 30, 1918	23,0
1c in red on 15c yellow,	Oct. 30, 1918	20,0
1c in black on 50c yellow,	Mar. 14, 1918	8,9
1c in black on 1 pia. red,	Mar. 14, 1918	9,0
2c in red on 8c olive green,	Mar. 14, 1918	27,0
2c in brown on 10c red brown,	Dec. 20, 1918	50,0
2c in red on 15c yellow,	Nov. 18, 1918	19,0
5c in blue on 10c red brown, 5c in black on 10c red brown,	Nov. 18, 1918	16,0
5c in red on 15c yellow,	Nov. 18, 1918	4,0

The colors of some of these surcharg are rather difficult to determine and wi regard to this we cannot do better tha quote Mr. Everett's comments, viz.:—

"After commencing the surcharging the 1c on 10c red orange in black, t surcharging committee stopped operatio at the figure given, reporting in its mi utes published in the official journal (t Moniteur) that the bad quality of t ink rendered the work defective, that t oil in the ink spread over the stamps an the inscription became illegible, and tha they had decided to change to blue ink Thereafter black ink was not used, ex cept for the 5c on 10c red brown, thoug a number of the stamps are catalogue as surcharged in black. This so-calle black of the catalogue is a very dar brown and is reported by the surchargin committee as chocolate. The surcharg ing committee does not recognize the blu surcharge on the 5c on 10c red brown reporting it as black. The surcharge o this stamp sometimes appears to be combination of blue and black inks an sometimes a combination of blue an brown, but never a pure black. All o these indeterminate colors are probabl the result of a number of different ink used on the same stamp pad."

SPLIT REVENUES

nong the many stamps that I have cted in the past 38 years—most in irst 12 of them, are the following h I have never seen catalogued.

——— NW diagonal half used as n original document and tied to with official seal of Parish nty) Court.

Conveyance: SW diagonal half as 25c on original piece of Docu- of Protest and tied to same htly) by cancellation.

Foreign Exchange: NW diagonal used as 50c on original piece of ument of Protest and tied to same htly) by cancellation.

5585 5c blue A. Dougherty Play-ards used as documentary stamp, on of original document and tied to by cancellation.

be perfectly frank, I would be or less suspicious of these four ps, had I not found them myself, n the original documents, and had I seen several times in going over old ments, the notice "Out of Revenue nps" or "out of 5 ct stamps." The tion seems to be this: Shreveport he time these stamps were current dependent solely on river transporta- and its supply of stamps undoubted- ame from New Orleans by river ner, a distance of about 700 miles. town did a great deal of business the surrounding country for miles nd, and undoubtedly ran short at s, and was forced to use larger de- inations split to fulfill the require- s of the law.

have also a 3c envelope type E38 e overprinted for use by dead letter e, the Penalty Notice being sur- ged (black) across stamp, with the letter triangle beneath. The orig- return address is blocked out and official Post Office Department notice rinted beneath. In the lower left l corner is "Collect 3 cents on de- y" (printed). — A. T. WITBECK, veport, La.

THE KING GEORGE COLLECTION

(Several of our subscribers have sent in the following clipping, and we think it wise to pass it on to those club members who are desirous of securing some publicity in their local newspapers. Most any editor will consider this good copy if one will take the trouble to place it before him.—Ed.)

LONDON, Sept. 28. — King George has formed the habit of reserving Friday evening to poring over his stamp collection, according to those in the inner circles of British philately.

He now has, it is believed, one of the greatest stamp collections in the world. King George is a rich man and he could pay, if he liked, any sum in reason for some rare stamp which he really wanted, but his "outside limit," according to close observers of the stamp auctions, is around $7,500.

Anything more than that, it is said, draws a negative shake of the royal head. The King is known to have said that all he wanted was a gentleman's collection, not a "plutocrat's."

His own personal collection is confined solely to stamps of the British Empire. His ambition as a philatelist is to get the first complete collection in the world of all the stamps issued in Great Britain, each and all the Dominions, the various colonies, protectorates and since the Great War—the mandatories. These are the only stamps he will buy.

When he started out as a midshipman in the British Navy, he collected the usual miscellaneous assortment, but when, through the death of his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, he realized that he was destined to succeed to the British throne, he sold his job-lot of stamps and began almost immediately laying the foundation for the greatest collection in the world of stamps issued within the British Empire.

However, he has received from other monarch in other lands some very rare stamps. Several of them, in fact, far exceed in value anything in his own conscientiously gathered British collection. These "alien" stamps are separately catalogued in distinctive portfolios, but the King does not regard them as in any sense part of the remarkable collection which he intends to leave to the world.

Very few people have ever been privileged to glimpse the King's collection in its entirety.

Whenever there is an international stamp exhibition in England or abroad, the King always sends several portfolios which, he thinks, would be of special interest to lovers of stamps, but at no time has he ever placed his entire collection upon public display at one time.

It has been suggested that he plans to do this in 1940, which would be the centenary of the first postage stamp in the world, that of the famous "black penny stamp" in Great Britain put through by the great-grandfather of all philatelists, Rowland Hill, known to English history as the father of the "penny post."

He has a well-known dealer on the Strand who is commissioned to send up to Buckingham Palace any stamps which he thinks might fill a vacancy in the King's collection; he also has the assistance of an expert, officially designated as "curator" of the King's collection who consults with him on being "summoned" to Buckingham Palace.

However, neither the dealer on the Strand, nor the curator who lives at South Croydon, is permitted to divulge anything to the public regarding the vast extent and the very high character of the King's collection.

TID BITS:—

THE October number of the Stamp Hunter marks the beginning of Volume 3. W. W. MacLaren, Box 663, Cleveland, O., who publishes this interesting sheet and gives all the happenings of the Garfield-Perry Stamp Club, will doubtless be pleased to send a sample copy upon receipt of stamp.

EVIDENTLY a new airmail contract is in force between Minneapolis and Chicago. Two covers are at hand from Albert E. Gorham of Washington, D. C., one indicating the following information: —"Last Flight Present Contract Sept. 30, 1926", while the other cover has:—"New Contract First Flight October 1, 1926". There are no special airmail markings on either of these two covers.

AN interesting program of meetings of the Cincinnati Collectors Club has been sent us by Dr. Hussey. No doubt this enthusiastic advertiser will be glad to send a copy to any club secretary who would like to profit by the features introduced in this program.

WE have received from Frank Halloran, 18 Williams St., Marrickville, New South Wales, a check-list of the stamps of the Commonwealth of Australia. It is compiled by the sub-committee of the J. P. S. of Australia and may be obtained for 12c. Mr. Halloran is interested in the stamps of Guatemala and would like to correspond with collectors similarly interested.

A WHOLESALE pricelist of U. S. Postage Stamps has just been issued by Charles Johnson, Grantwood, N. J. A copy will be sent upon application.

EDITORIAL

The great International Philatelic Exhibition will be in full force by the time this issue of the WEEKLY has been circulated, and while predictions sometimes are treated ironically by circumstance, one does not have to qualify as a prophet to say that the Exhibition is a huge success. It could not be otherwise with the co-ordination of all the favorable influences that have been working to a happy end for so many months; and with the support that comes from abroad as a capstone, the occasion becomes glorious reality.

Dozen of distinguished philatelists from foreign lands are to be present and not a few of them are exhibitors. It is reported that more than six hundred entries have been received, and so the basic requirement of stamps for exhibition is met; and this fact, topped off by a great attendance, may be translated into success.

The originators of the plan f[illegible] are much concerned about the plaudits that they are receiving for faithful performance, but they know that they have done something for philately that will be of lasting benefit.

The convention of the American Philatelic Society is an important factor in the jubilee week in New York; and it is not to be overlooked by the collector who sees so many things to interest him. With President Wilhelm in the chair and about a full quota of the other officers present, the opening session should be impressive as showing a large numerical representation of real philatelists. Of course it is expected that more will be done by the A. P. S. to justify its foremost position than the assembling of members in force. The time for legislation of philatelic benefit is always ripe at a convention, but it is not easy to place one's fingers on proper measures. Whatever is done should be prudent and practical and not in haste merely for the purpose of "doing something." Much of the time of the convention necessarily must be given over to the transaction of the business of the society, itself.

The yearly meeting of the A. P. S. and of the other societies that will have their conventions during Exhibition week has been entering the thoughts of some of the members, judging from several letters that have come offering suggestions and criticisms. In fact, the tendency to revert somewhat sharply upon certain aspects of the A. P. S. by a few critics, is noticed and beyond saying that it is within the rights of any member to indulge in expression of the kind, remarks affecting the conduct of the society should be addresed to the officers, who, we are convinced, are doing their best to fill their positions. There are certain limitations on the work that may be undertaken by the society but, even so, constructive criticism will not be rejected by the officers who are running the organization.

The new edition of the catalog of the Scott Stamp & Coin Company, New York, sets a good example of promptness in appearing on the promised date. The early arrival of this indispensable volume has a stimulating influence on collecting, timed, as it is, with the opening of the new season. The new edition, the eighty-third, is a sturdy looking book, well over [illegible]en hundred pages in size, a number [illegible] is about sixty more than claimed by [illegible]redecessor; and it is a substantial [illegible]mony to the growth of our pursuit. [illegible]ning through the pages of the book, [illegible]onviction comes that more care than [illegible] before is bestowed on the contents. [illegible]tendency to multiply the explanatory [illegible] is one to be applauded, and it is [illegible]) be gainsaid that the fixing of prices [illegible]ne more closely than ever before. [illegible] changes are always a matter for [illegible] consideration and the basis for ad[illegible]s or declines must be studied be[illegible]action is taken. Indeed, as time [illegible]s, the question of individual price for each stamp becomes more inportant than ever before, as prices must be arrived at by analysis and comparison in order to be authoritative. It is inevitable that there will be criticism of some of the prices but, no doubt, the cataloguers can defend their position in this regard. New countries make their appearance in this edition and it is interesting to find that some of the comparatively recent issues are mounting in price, as many examples show. Consequently not only the old stamps are to be deemed "investment" possibilities, but many of the new ones as well. It looks as though the consistent buyer was bound to strike oil now and then; and here is one of the piquancies of collecting. We are glad to be able to say that the catalogue is of increased usefulness; and it is needless to add that the catalogue is a fine old institution of American philately. The two dollar price of the book has not been increased and its typographical dress is inviting. It is certain that more catalogues of the present edition will be sold than of any previous edition.

In the Chicago "Daily News" of September 29, 1926, is an article on the editorial page styled, "Stamps Level All Ranks; Hobby of Prince, Peasant, Boss, Boy," by James A. Sanaker, whose name is not unfamiliar to readers of the great daily. The story is illustrated by a picture of a boy in the attic "cutting up the envelopes" for stamps. The article is well-conceived and is certainly readable, touching as it does, on a wide range of philatelic topics. The New York Exhibition is told of and among the general observations we read that "art students find the design on various postage stamps worth considerable study."

One of the most striking "variants" in stamp printing that we have seen for some time has been shown us by Mr. E. O. Howle, in the shape of a sheet of rotary press 3c of the current issue, on which the fifty stamps at the right deviate from the normal. The label, "United Stated Postage," as well as some other details of designs shows twice in addition to the regular printing and these impressions are right side up and removed from the "off-set" category. There is no question as to the extra impressions, one of which is found on the white margin above the top stamps of the pane. Even with an understanding of the rotary press printing process, it is difficult to account for this startling combination as shown on the stamps and about the only theory that would hold water, in case it is impossible to entertain any idea of repeated type touches on the stamps, is that the inkings are due to the impressions of an off-set on another sheet of the 3c stamps! However, the stamps speak for themselves and are worthy of the attention of the specialists it need not be said. It is fair to say that the discovery is of importance; and the finder deserves the satisfaction that follows his stroke of enterprise.

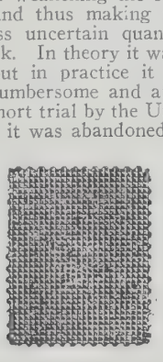
Frei Durch Ablosung Nr. 21

This inscription is shown on a set of postage stamps issued in Prussia in 1903. There are about thirty different states and administrations in Germany having the privilege of free postage, and in order to ascertain the approximate amount to be credited to the revenue of the Post Office for carrying Prussia's official correspondence these stamps were ordered to be used for twelve months. The three words mean "free through redemption," and the number "21" is the official number assigned to Prussia. A similarly inscribed set was used in Baden in 1904, and on these stamps the number is "16."

Grills

A pattern of small, square, embossed dots, usually arranged in the form of a small square or rectangle and occasionally covering the whole of the stamp. It is found upon some of the stamps of the United States and Peru. The object of this grill (or "grid" as it is sometimes called) was to act as a discouragement to the stamp cleaner. The embossing had the effect of weakening the substance of the paper and thus making it absorb a more or less uncertain quantity of the cancelling ink. In theory it was an excellent idea, but in practice it was found somewhat cumbersome and after a comparatively short trial by the United States Government it was abandoned.



Fuera De Hora"

These words, meaning "after the hour," are frequently found on the stamps of Uruguay and generally prove perplexing to the inexperienced collector. The words are not an overprint and the hand-stamp from which they were struck was intended to be placed on letters received after the closing of the mail boxes, but which were forwarded on payment of a special extra fee. It is possible that in some offices postmasters kept a supply of stamps already cancelled with this mark on hand for use on these letters, though such a proceeding appears to be entirely unauthorized. The varieties are analogous to the "Too late" varieties of Trinidad.

Two Types of Boys

There are two types of boy collectors, and a distinction must be made between them. One type is the boy who takes up stamp collecting only to throw it over in a few weeks or months; the other, who intends and proves himself to be a firm adherent of the hobby. It is true, the schoolboy does aim rather at quantity than at quality, but in this he is hardly to be censured. There must always be taken into account the very vital, though often overlooked, point—the question of pocket money. He can scarcely be blamed for not buying merely half-a-dozen rare stamps with the money he would otherwise spend on a large collection. There are few boys who are in a position to spend even so small a sum as two shillings on a single stamp.

Detail plays a far more important part in the junior's collection than the big men of the philatelic world would have us believe. Varieties of design different watermarks, perforation and shade are all studied with as much care and precision as is exercised by any member of the Philatelic Society. But here, again, money is necessary. Out-of-the-way varieties can rarely be obtained without having to buy them, and pay highly for them.

The suggestion that young stamp collectors be included amongst the members of philatelic clubs is an excellent one for sympathetic encouragement and recognition are at present greatly needed. A few words of depreciation, however, do not by any means discourage permanently a boy who is a true philatelist. Advanced collectors must at last be made to see that their juniors are as serious and as observant as they themselves.—A junior in S. Coll. Fortnightly.

The Meaning of "Y ¼"

The real meaning of this surcharge has caused a controversy extending over many years. One argument is that as "y¼" would mean "and ¼" in Spanish, the stamp is of a value of 2¼ reales. The other argument, and the one which is accepted by the best authorities, is that "Y" stands for "Ynterior" and the stamp is a ¼ real stamp for "interior" or local postage. That this is the fact is clearly enough shown by the decree of Nov. 15, 1855, which "ordered the establishment of an interior post (correo interior) for the City (Havana) and suburbs, beginning on the 19th instant" and also that mail matter "must not circulate without being prepaid by stamps of one-quarter of one real, silver, specially prepared for the purpose, and to be found on sale at all postal stations." Only one stamp was required on a missive, irrespective of weight, and the surcharged stamps were used until replaced by a definite type of this value in 1862. The use of the "Y" for "I" as an initial is an old Spanish custom, as witness, "Ysabel," and "Ygnacio," for Isabella and Ignatius, and the painter Yriarte.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) West Somerville, Mass.

2c Battle of White Plains

This most interesting stamp is now available in panes of twenty-five, issued especially for distribution at the International Philatelic Exhibition at New York. It is of such a size that it will fit into the normal stamp album and will make a beautiful appearance. The variety differs in perforation from the sheets distributed through the post office.

For those interested in adding an unusual page to their collection. I take pleasure in offering a complete sheet of twenty-five of these stamps as issued at the Exhibition, a block of four of the same variety with the normal perforation 11 and four first day covers, that is, both perforations used from both New York and White Plains, the only two cities in which the stamp was officially placed on sale. These six items as a whole, mailed flat, at $1.50.

If you are looking for any of the other first day covers including the current series, the Huguenot-Walloons, the Lexington-Concords or the Norse-Americans used on day of issue, I will be pleased to receive your list.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR. Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address

United States

2c White Plains Stamp

The Bureau of Engraving and Printing has designed the plate of 2c White Plains stamps, to be used in connection with printing the little panes of twenty-five with margins all around, that are to be distributed through the branch Philatelic Agency at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York. The plate will print one hundred stamps at one time and these are arranged into panes of twenty-five with a large space between each pane. They are properly lettered "International Philatelic Exhibition," etc., with plate numbers on each pane, so that the different panes from the different corners of the sheet are supposed to be identical after they have been cut apart for distribution. At this time it is expected that these smaller sheets will be perforated 10 because it will be necessary to arrange a special perforation machine to perf. these unusual sized sheets. The normal stamps, of course, will be printed in sheets of four hundred, distributed in panes of one hundred and perforated 11.

I am informed by Washington that they are agreeably surprised by reason of the fact that the unusual white background of this stamp is something entirely new and distinctive. While I have not seen a copy, I believe that it is going to be one of the most pleasing varieties that has as yet appeared.

1845 5c "New York" Stitch Watermark

I have recently been shown a copy of the 5c black "New York," issue of 1845 with a very distinct stitch watermark. The famous Hart collection did not contain a copy of this stamp and the one which has recently been shown me is the first that I have seen or noted heretofore.

Air Mail Notes

Mr. T. J. Eppes sends a clipping from the Florida Times of Jacksonville, calling attention to the establishment of Macon, Ga., as the sixth air mail port between Atlanta and Miami.

A proclamation was issued setting aside September 27th as air mail day at Macon. At that time planes carrying air mail included Macon on their regular route. The first plane to carry mail from this port was christened "Miss Macon" with appropriate ceremonies. The first regular pilot to make the trip was Mr. C. B. Eielson, who will be remembered as the one who made the first United States air mail flight to Alaska.

Philippine 1925 Imperforates

The Philippine imperfs., issue of 1925, which recently came upon the market, have caused some discussion and one of our readers recently commented on the status of these varieties. Of course, they are speculative in every sense of the word and this chronicle has called our readers' attention to this fact whenever the stamps have been mentioned.

It, however, must be remembered that the stamps were printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing on requisition of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, who have charge of Philippine matters and they in turn were honoring a requisition of the Director of Posts at Manila.

The Lambert Sales Company, one of the largest distributors of Philippine lace, used hundreds of the stamps in mailing out their parcel post packages. We further know that copies were sold at the Manila post office. Whether the quantity was large or small, I cannot say. I however, can say that the stamps were printed and issued in accordance with legal procedure and that they are not only good for postage but have been used for postal purposes. If this does not constitute a postage stamp, whether speculative or not, I do not know what does.

ALGERIA.—Mr. R. Roberts sends for chronicle the several new values recently placed on sale. They are all the same design as the 1fr noted a few weeks ago and are of the following values and colorings: 1fr 25c deep blue and ultramarine, 2fr blue green and sepia, 3fr violet and orange and 5fr scarlet and violet. Whitfield, King & Co. also send the 2fr for our inspection.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—Worn-out machines.—Notes sent by Mr. S. E. Whellans of Melbourne.

It is probable that a Commonwealth officer may be sent to Europe shortly to investigate up-to-date methods of engraving and printing, particularly of bank notes and stamps.

In view of the Postmaster-General's statement that a complete new issue of postage stamps may follow the proposed 1½d Canberra commemorative stamp next year, the officer sent will be asked also to inquire into stamp production development, and particularly to report on the latest machinery.

For many months past officers of the stamp printing department have complained that the present plates used for the more common varieties have become so worn out that in touching them up errors have occurred. In one case the "f" of the word "half-penny" on the 1½d stamp became blurred. The ether, when re-engraving the letter, apparently allowed the tool to slip, making a lower line at the bottom of the "f" and the word ultimately read "hale", and the stamp was circulated with that mistake.

The perforation machines are also out-of-date. Nine months ago new machines were ordered from the Newport workshops, but they have not yet been delivered. In the meantime, the machines are so broken down that perforations have occurred out of line, and, in some cases, have missed perforating the paper altogether.—Philatelic Magazine.

BECHUANALAND PROTECTORATE.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the appearance of the following postage due stamps of Great Britain surcharged for use in this colony: ½p green, new watermark; 1p red, old watermark on chalky; 2p slate, new watermarked paper. The ½p is watermarked sideways top of Crown pointing to the right, the 1p, old watermark, top of Crown facing to the left while the 2p, watermarked sideways, has the top of Crown pointing to the left. The watermark in all instances being recorded from the front of the stamp. The ½p and 1p have the surcharge vertically "Bechuanaland" on the left reading up while "Protectorate" on the right reading down, whereas on the 2p the surcharge is in two horizontal parallel lines in the centre close together, the type being the same.

FIJI.—We are informed by Mr. L. Meister that the ¼p is obsolete for over a year already and will not be re-issued.

FRANCE.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us a copy of the 50c vermilion, Sower type.

HUNGARY.—Whitfield King & Co. report a 1 pengo, grey violet, stamp of new design. At the top within a frame is "Magyarorszag" with the usual female figure with a child in her arms in the centre. Below are the words "Patrona" and "Hungariae" and the figure of value in each lower corner with "Pengo" between. Our correspondent also informs us that they have also received 2p red and 5p blue of the same design.

JAPAN.—New Pictorial Issue.—We are indebted to Mr. Umejiro Kimura for copies of the new typographed pictorial stamps which were, according to our correspondent, "formally issued" on July 5th, but which will not be put on sale until the old stamps of the same value are sold out (probably in about 2 or 3 months). The stamps are expressly intended for foreign mails. The design were described in our last reference. The sheet consists of 100 (10x10) stamps and is perf. 13½x13. 2 sen. green; 6 sen, red 10 sen, blue.—Philatelic Magazine.

NEW ZEALAND.—We learn from Mr. L. Meister that No. 179, No. 180 and No. 181 were withdrawn in March.

PERU.—Mr. John M. Ehni calls our attention to a 2c stamp that he writes has evidently been issued as an addition to the Tacna Arica Plebiscite series. The stamp resembles Scott's No. 401. On the top border the coat of arms appears in the centre with flags draped on each side. The branches which were crossed beneath the coat of arms do not appear on the 2c stamp. The wording is also different, all that appears being "Pro Tacna y Arica."

POLAND.—Madame Curie.—We reprint the following description of Poland's latest stamp (10gr brown) from the Times Educational Supplement:

On one of the latest postage stamps of Poland appears the likeness of Madame

PHILATELY IN WALL STREET

Establishment in the National City Bank of a department through which employes interested may satisfy their desires in collection of stamps from all over the world emphasizes the worldwide activities of the bank and recognizes the steady expansion of the hobby of philately. Time was when stamp collecting was usually regarded as a boy's fancy; that's the way it generally starts and often ends. But a substantial part of stamp gathering youths continue to collect the elusive little engravings as mature men. That it is not to be regarded as only a boy's hobby is indicated by the fact that more than 18,000 varieties were issued throughout the world in the 19th century, more than 23,000 in the first twenty years of the 20th century and that one could hand out more than $100 a year currently in acquiring only the new issues. Except for the sons of wealthy families, few boys are situated to spend so much a year to keep abreast of the game without allowing for purchase of the 41,000 existing prior to 1921, many of which sell for thousands. For instance, a 1-cent British Guiana stamp, issued in 1856, sold in 1922 for $36,585. One New York banker, who has a valuable collection, has his eye on a collection made by a woman, now well along in years, who gathered them in her younger days when living in South America. He expects to obtain them on her demise through a mutual friend; when he meets the latter his first remark invariably is: "Isn't that old lady dead yet!"—Wall St. Journal. per E. R. Ackerman.

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB

Dr. Jason S. Parker, White Plains, N. Y.

We have one application for membership in our Honor Club this week, Dr. Jason S. Parker of White Plains, N. Y. We thank Dr. Parker for his faith in the WEEKLY and trust that our issue of October 4 will confirm his good opinion of our publication.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

THE SPANISH RED CROSS ISSUE

By HERMANN FOCKE.

(Mr. Focke supplements this article with an interesting cover from Palma de Mallorca upon which are the two values 25c carmine and 40c gray blue. These stamps will undoubtedly be scarce on the original cover.—Ed.)

It develops that with the above issue we are confronted with a repetition of the recent Malta "Postage" episode, only in a somewhat more pronounced degree, because very few of these stamps were sold to the public at large over the P. O. counters, and less were used for actual postage purposes.

I had written in good time to a friend residing in one of the provincial capitals, counting over 100,000 inhabitants, which should therefore be considered one of the 70 principal cities, where these stamps were supposed to be issued for regular postage during the days of September 15 to 17, but all that he could get on the first day were the 25 Ctos. rose-carmine and the 40 Ctos. grey-blue, in other words, the two most common values, and these were all sold out the next day, and my friend was informed by the postal authorities that these were the only two values which had been received from Madrid.

There remains no doubt but that the majority of this issue went into the hands of speculators, one of whom was offering the set two months before its actual issue at 50% over face, and there will be very few, if any, who bought the entire set at the counter at its actual face value.

How many copies did actual postal duty remains a question, no doubt by far the greater number, particularly of the higher denominations, must by necessity have been cancelled to order, if later on they are offered in used condition, and as far as the unused stamps of this issue are concerned, they are, in my opinion, not any better than semi-revenue or charity stamps, since they could not be used for postage after September 17th.

It is a pity that the Spanish Authorities should have lent themselves to this kind of business, which will only serve to discourage stamp collectors, and it would not be surprising if the self-same favoured speculators would in the end be "stung," by not being able to dispose of their stock to the collecting world, which has been itself stung too often in the past.

The stamps are without doubt beautiful, and if they had been at the disposal of everybody during the three days of issue, they would have had a very large sale, and still would have become semi-rarities, at least in used condition, in a very short time, because every collector would have been desirous of securing a complete set, if only on account of its beauty.

To avoid confusion we have followed the catalogue descriptions and named these surcharges black in spite of the fact that they are really a very dark brown.

CHAPTER XXXI

The 1918-19 Provisionals Without Frame

In December, 1918, an entirely new type of handstamp was introduced. The surcharge is in two lines, the upper one showing three numerals of value so arranged that the centre one is upright and the others are horizontal pointing to the left and right sides respectively. The lower line of the surcharge shows a large numeral followed by "ct" or "cts" and "GOURDE" in large capitals. There is no frame line in this overprint. The stamps used for surcharging were remainders of the series of 1914, which had already been overprinted "Gl. O.Z.—7 FEV. 1914." As the original overprint was not a thing of beauty when the stamps were further disfigured with the gourde surcharges they became a particularly unsavory looking mess. The numbers overprinted and dates on which they first appeared were as follows:—

On "Gl. O. Z." Issue of 1914

1c in red on 15c slate green,	Mar. 13, 1919	27,000
1c in red on 20c blue green,	Apr. 7, 1919	100,000
1c in red on 20c green and black,	Mar. 1, 1919	37,000
1c in brown on 1 pia. claret,	Jan. 3, 1919	135,000
1c in red on 1 pia. claret,	Dec. 21, 1918	10,000
5c in brown on 1 pia. red,	Jan. 4, 1919	45,000

The above series contains the last of the 1c provisionals which were required and when provisionals of other denominations were wanted this type of handstamp was discarded and some of the old ones resurrected.

THE TECHNIQUE OF PERFORATIONS

By Geo. E. Danielson.

I WONDER how most of you collectors go about it when you want to find out whether a stamp is perforated 10; 11 or 12. Do you glance at a stamp and immediately decide that it is perforated 10, or do you look all over the house for a gauge and then when you do find it, laboriously compare each stamp with the printed diagram? One collector told me that he did not collect perforations because they gave him a headache. That seems to be the point with many collectors. They take their detecting too seriously.

In the first place, what are perforations, and what is a perforation gauge? Perforations may be of many kinds, but we are interested in those of the later issues of U. S. Perforations in our case, then, are a series of holes punched between stamps to facilitate their separation. A perforation gauge is a gauge for use in measuring the holes on any one or more sides of a stamp. It has been universally adopted that the number of holes in 20 millimeters shall be a stamp's perforation.

(The metric system is used in stamp articles because it has been universally adopted. Roughly speaking, 20 millimeters equals ¾ of an inch.)

Therefore, if in 20 millimeters there are 12 holes, a stamp is perforated 12, if there are 11 holes it is perforated 11, and so on.

Here is one thing that you should familiarize yourself with as it has an important bearing on what will follow. The perforation holes in our later U. S. stamps are all the same size. We get the different perforation by spacing the holes, not by making them larger. If the holes are spaced closely, the stamps naturally all tear apart more easily than if they were spaced farther apart.

The important thing I am trying to bring out in this article is that it is foolish for a precancel collector to use a gauge if he can get along without it. He must necessarily examine many stamps, and it is necessary that he be able to classify them quickly. Lack of ability to detect perforations may mean the loss of scarce varieties for your collection.

To begin with, if you want to break away from the gauge, look at the back of the stamps, as the design has tendency to confuse the eye. Remember that the holes are all the same size. Look at the "teeth" made in tearing the stamps apart. On the perforation 12 the teeth are almost pointed and on some stamps are actually sharp. The perforation 11 are little more blunt, while the perforation 10 appear still more blunt, and the space between the holes is about the same as the holes themselves.

Look over your stamps carefully and decide which of the three perforations apply. Then compare with the gauge and see if you are right. Like anything else requiring special skill, it will be some time before you will always be sure of the perforations, but once you have the ability you have something worth while.

While on the subject of gauges, I might mention that it is easier to find the perforations if you match the "teeth" of the stamps with the top of the balls than trying to fit the perforations between. If you have a gauge with lines, it is best to match the teeth with the lines. A gauge printed on colored card has been found best.

Other helps in detecting perforations are issues in which there is only one perforation. A study of Scott's catalogue will give you these in detail. For instance, the 1898 and 1902 issues come perforated 12 only. In the 1908 issues the 1c, 2c, 8c, 10c, 13c, 15c, 50c and $1.00 come perforated 12 only. The 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c of this issue are used, in later issues perforation 10 and 11. The surface prints and 13c are perforated 11 only. The 11c is perforated only 10 and 11. All the aeroplane, Victory and Pilgrims are perforated 11 only.—Precancel Gazette.

LOOKING ROUND

By "Marguette."

While the Geographical Congr stamps of Egypt are rising steadily price, the Agricultural Exhibition ser are almost unobtainable. Our Publi ers tell me they only have a few to of just now, and anyone who can obt them should not have cause to regret

Mr. Nyberg tells me that he belie only 30,000 each of the ½d and 2d N Zealand, Postage Due, with the lit graphed "Watermark" were printed. this is correct, these stamps should worth much more than the prices t have been fetching hitherto. Other N Zealand correspondents tell me that demand for all these litho. waterma is very keen, and stocks remaining in t Dominion are very small.

The Mauritius provisionals are also the up grade. I only know of one Lo don dealer who got any stock of the and his holding is practically exhaust I do not know if any local speculato got hold of stocks, but, if so, they keeping remarkably quiet about it. must be remembered that these stan were made to fill a legitimate shorta and most of the 3c value would, in ordinary course, be used for local c respondence.

Very little attention has been paid the official figures of the Rhodesia iss of 1910 and 1913, as given by Mr. Reed, F.R.P.S.L., in a recent paper bef the Royal Philatelic Society, but they certainly worthy of study. Of double-portrait type, there were o 42,050 of the 10d, 58,050 of the 96,050 of the 5d and 169,050 of the The 10s should also be good on an iss figure of 9,550. In the Admiral type 2½d provides the surprise, with a v low total of 147,000, and the 5d, 8d a 10d are again good.

When one remembers the numer shade and perf. varieties into which c lectors have divided these issues, scarcity of individual items is easily derstood. From the Admiral type figu there must also be deducted the numb in the remainders destroyed recently. all remainders of this issue have been burned.

The new Nejd series, issued in co memoration of the Grand Muslim C ference, held at Mecca this year, mi have been rare if the issue had b confined to the two sets presented to e of the delegates, of whom there w only 59. The issue appears to have b considerably larger, however, and s should be obtainable at £1 or und Nejd will be fully listed in the new e tion of Gibbons Catalogue, Part II Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

YEAR'S SUBSCRIPTION RECORD

THREE FIRMS SECURED A TOTAL OF NEARLY 1200 NEW SUBSCRIPTIONS DURING THE YEAR

We present herewith our subscription record for the year ending Sept. 30. It is a splendid record of achievement and we are greatly pleased with the work that has been done. The record shows that we have many friends to whom we are indebted for their co-operation.

It is difficult to single out from this list those who are entitled to special credit, yet we feel that attention should be called to the three leaders, the Pacific Stamp Co. with 435, the Hawkeye Stamp Co. with 370 and the Payn Stamp Co with 369 subscriptions respectively.

While the metropolitan dealers have helped us out somewhat we feel that special mention should be made of the fact that the firm of Eugene Klein of Philadelphia has sent in a total of 109 new subscriptions. There are some dealers who feel that it is unwise to propagate philately by taking subscriptions to stamp papers, but this is not Mr. Klein's platform.

We shall also do well to call attention to the fine lot of names, 110, sent in by A. F. Merell of San Francisco. Mr. Merell is on the radio each week and has formed a stamp club numbering hundreds of collectors gained through his stamp talks.

Let us again assure those whose names have not been mentioned that even the smallest amount of assistance rendered in promoting our circulation is appreciated, and we hope that the coming year will witness a larger measure of co-operation than ever before. We shall continue our practise of placing on the Honor Roll each month those who send in ten or more new subscriptions during the month. It will be noticed that the Hawkeye Stamp Co. secured 45 for September, and the Ancher Stamp Co. follows with 31.

The dealer has a particularly good opportunity to secure new subscribers but we covet the aid of our subscribers who know stamp collectors or who come in contact with them at club meetings. The WEEKLY is well worth $1 per year to any collector who is purchasing stamps of any kind. We have subscription forms without imprint for those who desire a limited quantity, and will gladly print a special supply for the dealers who are advertising in other publications than our own. Subscriptions may be had for the asking. The record for September for those who have sent in ten or more subscriptions is as follows:

AIRPOST COLLECTORS' CHRONICLE

Argentina.—We learn that a proposal was made by the "Spanish Commission of Hospitality to the Pilots" to the Director of Posts, that a special series of stamps should be issued to commemorate the flight and arrival of Commander Franco last February. The postal official is to be congratulated on his decision not to accede to the suggestion, for its value would only have been appreciated by the revenue authorities. Instead of the stamps, therefore, the Post Office paid homage by the use of a special postmark, which was inscribed, "Commandante Franco, Cubrio, Via Aerea. 10120 Kms. en 61 Horas 44 Minutos."

Austria.—A Junkers aeroplane opened the service between Vienna and Venice, on August 19th, writes Mr. Sobetzky. Thirty registered and 280 ordinary letters were carried to Venice that day, and of the latter, fifty were flown to Pavia. A red cachet was used at the Vienna airmail office, and all letters received the Italian air postmarks on their arrival at Venice and Pavia, the former being dated 19:8:26, and the latter 20.8.26. The service operates three alternate days per week in each direction. Direct airmail services between the capital and various European airports were brought into use on June 14th, particulars of which we shall give later.

Brazil.—An airline, for the transport of mail and passengers, was due to open on September 1st, between Barbacena and Juiz de Flora, advises our correspondent, Mr. A. H. Davis. It is to be run by a private company, which will benefit by a subsidy from the State of Minas Geraes.

Finland.—During March 2nd to 20th of this year, the usual boat connection between Abo and Stockholm was held up by ice, and an airmail service, three times weekly, was substituted. We have seen some flown covers bearing ordinary postmarks, but those dated the first day have a small cachet "Poste Aerienne" in violet.

Greece.—Covers flown from Athens on the new route between Italy and Turkey receive at this city a large violet cachet, which reads "Surtaxe Aerienne Percu En Numeraire."

Egypt.—It appears that as soon as the official airstamp was issued in March, the familiar blue and white air label was withdrawn from the post offices.

Italy.—Three hundred and thirty-one letters were borne on the first airmail flight from Venice to Vienna, the aeroplane leaving on August 18th, and returning from Vienna the following day.

Norway.—"L'Aviette" announces the proposed inauguration of an air service between Tronhjem and Tromso, with further extensions to the north and south. This service will reduce the time taken in the despatch of letters from the capital by half.

Spain.—We are going to press before the arrival of the anticipated new aero stamps from this country. Our correspondents tell us that—as with other types of a special "Red Cross" Charity issue—they will be on sale for three days only, September 14th to 16th. There will be five values in the set, each of which will be printed in two colours.

Sweden.—In connection with the temporary service mentioned under "Finland," we are informed that the post office applied the blue air labels for the last time to Swedish mail that was flown from Stockholm. In July, a large black aero cachet was applied at the Malmo post office to outgoing airmail; it reads "Services aeriennes Luftpost."

Turkey.—Airmail bearing special aero postmarks and labels was first carried from Constantinople on August 15th. So short was the official notice regarding this first mail—the plane left early in the morning, and the public were only informed at 6 p.m. the previous evening—that only sixty-one letters are said to have constituted the first day's mail.—The Aero Field.

COMPARATIVE SCARCITY OF EARLY U. S. COVERS

After six years of persistent, and rather successful stamp hunting, I believe my opinion on this subject may be a fairly accurate one, and of some value to my friends.

I speak entirely from my own observations and my readers can take these figures for what they are worth. During this period I have nearly spent $5,000.00 for advertising alone, and have received thousands of lots containing from one to over 4,000 covers used prior to 1870.

Less than a dozen lots have come from collectors or dealers, the others all from the holders of the correspondence, "original source" as we usually call it. With few exceptions it has been strictly family mail, only one being from a manufacturer, and two or three from lawyers' mail.

I have found only three New Yorks, and three 10c 1847. Less than 20 5c 1847, and only 5 semi-official carriers. Locals, with the exception of Blood's, have also been uncommon, not exceeding a score. Without question, the 3c 1861 is the commonest cover prior to 1870. The grilled 1867 comes next, being much more plentiful than the 3c 1857. Speaking of 3c 1857, it will surprise most of you to know that I have found fewer of these than of the 3c 1851.

Type I is scarce, and has not run over three per cent. The 3c 1869 is a much scarcer cover than generally supposed, and I have found 5 3c 1851 and 10 3c 1867 to every 3c 1869. Comparing stamped envelopes with 3c 1851 and 1857 adhesives I have found they run one in four, which ratio also holds during the 1860's.

Basing my estimate on an analysis of the total figures representing a number of my largest finds, each containing over 250 covers, I offer the following estimate of what constitutes one hundred covers as obtained in my manner of hunting.

1c 1851, 1; 3c '51, 9; 1c '57, 2; 3c '57, 6; 1c '61, 3; 2c '62, 3; 3c '61, 35; 3c '67, 20; 2c '69, 1; 3c '69, 5; stamped envelopes—15, total 100.

Stamps not mentioned have run less than one to the hundred.

Patriotic covers have arranged one to every 200 3c '57 and '61.—The Stamp Hunter.

FROM THE FINANCIAL PAGE

(Clipping from the Boston "American".)

One of the hobbies of Wall street men of which one hears but little is that of stamp collecting. Less is generally known of this fancy than of others, such as paintings and etchings, rare American and first editions. Issuance of postage stamps dates back to about 1840, since which time probably 50,000 different varieties of stamps have been brought forth throughout the world. Many of them sell for thousands of dollars; in one or two cases only two or three copies are known to be in existence. As is the case with other sought-after articles, stamps are frequently counterfeited, not for use in the mails, but for sale to collectors; postoffice cancellations also are imitated to add to the appearance of genuineness. As a consequence, the big collector has to have recourse to experts to pass upon the authenticity of various rarities. Two of the prominent collectors in New York's financial district are B. D. Forster, vice-president of the Bank of the Manhattan Company, and Arthur Lamborn, well-known authority on sugar and member of Lamborn, Hutchings & Co. Mr. Forster devotes his attention to stamps of the nineteenth century, while Mr. Lamborn specializes in twentieth century issues. Both have valuable collections in their particular fields, I understand, and are the recipients of offerings of special types from dealers all over the country.

Stamps Of The Chinese Dependencies

By E. G. YOUNG.

THE Republic of China nominally consists of the eighteen provinces composing China proper, and four outlying dependencies, Manchuria, Mongolia, Chinese Turkestan or Sinkiang, and Tibet. The entire territory has a population of between 400,000,000 and 430,000,000 in an area of 4,300,000 square miles. The eighteen provinces contain thirty-five percent of the area and about ninety-three percent of the people, giving an average density of 270 per square mile. Manchuria with 290,000 square miles has 23,000,000 people. In the other dependencies 8,000,000 people are scattered over 2,500,000 square miles, in which are found some of the world's greatest mountains, most barren deserts, and greatest climatic extremes.

Manchuria

The territory commonly referred to as "San Tung Shung" is marked on English maps, "Manchuria" from the name of the tribe which ruled the country up to the time of the Chinese revolution. It lies between the Russian Maritime Provinces and China proper, with about five hundred miles of coast line along a peninsula jutting into the Gulf of Laotung and Korea Bay. At the point of this peninsula lies the Japanese leasehold of Kuantung, with the important port of Dairen. The area and population have been given, but the average density means nothing; the southern province, Fengtien, being populated almost as thickly as parts of China proper while the two northern provinces are still sparsely settled, though rapidly filling up, with emigrants from other provinces, especially Shantung.

Manchuria became united with China in the seventeenth century, the Manchurian dynasty having seized control of the Peking government, and within a few years the entire country was subdued; the dynasty which thus ascended the dragon throne lasted until 1911. The three provinces are nominally governed by the same methods of those of China proper, but of recent years all this territory has become the private empire of Chang Tso Lin, and virtually independent of China. The only tie is a common postal system. Chang has ruled severely but reasonably well except in the frequent periods when he was trying to control more or less territory outside his legitimate domain; war with other Chinese militarists has been intermittent since 1920, and even as these notes are written a Mengtien air-man is trying to hit Peking with black powder bombs. Manchuria has no charactistic stamps, except the dollar values, which are occasionally seen with an overprinted control-mark.

Mongolia

Mongolia is the largest of the dependencies in area and probably the smallest in population, though no definite figures are available. It is a land of great deserts and of wandering nomads hunting pasturage for their herds. Mongolia became united to China in the same manner as Manchuria: Khublai Khan, the Mongol conqueror, founded the Yuan dynasty (1260-1368). After the fall of this dynasty Chinese control of Mongolia was more or less nominal, the Mongols having practically an autonomous government under their own princes. In the last two years, Russian influence has taken complete possession of the Mongols and their government, and a set of stamps for the "Mongolian Peoples" Republic" has recently appeared, the work of the Moscow mint. These have been noted by writers of new-issue chronicles, and accepted by Yvert and perhaps other catalogs. The stamps are good only for internal postage and postage into Russia; those coming into China have the covers liberally plastered with postage due stamps (eighteen cents for single weight letter, as the rate is nine cents). The design consists of what appears to be four crowns in a frame with appropriate wording; the "crowns" have led the chronicler astray. One fanciful writer described them as the four crowns or empires of the Khanate—north, south, east, and west! Aside from the fact that the use of crowns as symbols on the stamps of a "peoples' republic" is rather improbable, the thing shown is not a crown or group of crowns, but a pair of dumb-bell-like objects used in the Lama temple worship. An open work metal frame takes the place of the end-knob of the "dumb-bell"; no one knows a name for the thing (which symbolizes thunderbolts) but you can buy one for fifty cents in any Peking curio shop. The stamps (seen only cancelled to order) are held at monopoly prices; strangest of all the cancellations are mostly in English!

Tibet

Tibet has been called the "roof of the world." It is a great bare tableland, bounded on the north by the provinces of Yunnan, Szechuen and Sinkiang, also the Kuen Lun mountains, and rising in the south to the heights of the Himalyas. The area is about a million square miles, with a population of 3,000,000. The country was in the hands of various Himalyan tribes during the middle ages; in 1792 Chinese authority was established by the driving out of the Ghurkas. The government has always been practically autonomous and feudalistic, the Dalai Lama at Lasa (or L'hassa) exercises large power, both temporal and spiritual, while several minor chiefs combining similar functions divide the remainder of the land. The country has been the ground for much negotiation between China and Great Britain, but it is only worth the worry of either as a buffer state. Not more than a tenth of the area is habitable, and this is only fit for grazing. At the present time the Chinese allow the Tibetan pontiffs to run things as they please, providing them with some subsidy and considerable military equipment to keep them "loyal." The currency used up to recent years has been silver ingots, and also any kind of coin which passed at its bullion value only, but in recent years the people have discovered that the Indian rupee is a very convenient medium of exchange and its use has become general.

Several Chinese postoffices are maintained in Tibet, served by long and attenuated courier lines, but they serve no purpose except the forwarding of small amounts of official correspondence. Internal mails are handled by native posting agencies. So little business is done that the accounts of the Tibet offices are included in those districts from which the courier-routes start. In the effort to widen the scope of the Chinese postal service, eight offices in principal places in Tibet were supplied with stamps overprinted in Indian currency in 1911. In October of that year the republic was set up and the experiment never repeated. The overprinting was done by the Statistical Department of the Customs, at Shanghai. The set is a strange "mix-up" as the following tables show:

1c	½c	Three Pies
2c	1c	Half Anna
4c	2c	One Anna
7c	4c	Two Annas
10c	5c	Two and Half Annas
16c	6c	Three Annas
20c	8c	Four Annas
30c	12c	Six Annas
50c	24c	Twelve Annas
$1	$1	One Rupee
$2	$2	Two Rupees

The Tibetan characters read the same as the English except that the lowest value is "one fourth anna." All overprints are in black. One important minor variety is mentioned by the cataloguers: on some of the 16c-8c-3 anna stamp the "S" of annas is from a wrong font and inverted. It will be seen from the table that there is no consistent or even approximate value ratio: for some unfathomable reason the low value Chinese overprints correspond to the value in gold cents!

How much use there was for these stamps is a debatable question. That the Chinese government was perfectly willing to let collectors contribute to its revenue is well enough known, but that the stamps were purely speculative is disproved by the small numbers printed. Philatelic covers with a portion or all of the set are occasionally met with, and c.t.o. singles are to be had at a price, but the "real thing" in used stamps seems to be unknown. The standard and only proper cancellation is a double lined circle, the outer one 1.5" in diameter, the inner out 1", the space between containing the station name in English, Chinese and Thibetan, the date in English and Chinese occupying the inner circle with bars above and below.

Sinkiang and Its Stamps

From a philatelic standpoint at least, the most important of the dependencies is Sinkiang, or Chinese Turkestan as it is less correctly called abroad, Eastern or Chinese Turkestan makes up the larger part of the province, which also includes the districts of Ili and Dzungaria lying between the Tien Shanrange and the Mongolian border. The greater part of the province is a high plateau between the Tienshan and Kuen Lun ranges, the latter reaching a height of 26,000 feet in Mt. Tagorma. The plateau is largely desert, the Tarim river circling its edge close to the foot of the mountains, making possible some irrigation of grain and fruit crops. The arable land is confined to small oases near the river, and including that which is irrigated is less than one-twelfth of the area. The climate is that of maritime Alaskan winter and of the Sahara in summer: under these conditions and with the added joy of Chinese military rule live between two and three million people, mostly Khirghiz, of hopelessly mixed ancestry and polyglot speech, but both in appearance and language reminiscent of Turkish forbears. Chinese influence seems to date from the Second Century, but the territory was autonomous until 1750. A rebellion against an attempted extension of Chinese authority led to the sending of a considerable army from Kansu province, and the perpetration of probably the most extensive and thorough massacres in recorded history, in which the population of some entire districts was wiped out. Insurrections were recurrent: in 1825, 1830, 1847, there were periods of brief local sovereignty, and finally in 1864 the great Mohammedan Rebellion, destined to spread over all west China and cost the lives of from thirteen to fifteen million directly or indirectly, had its origin in a Sinkiang revolt. In 1874 a regular provincial government was set up at Tihuafu by the Chinese, hence the name usually rendered Sinkiang, better "Hsin-chang" (new border or boundary) or "Hsin-shung" (new province).

Surcharged stamps for this province are a real necessity, because of the fluctuation in exchange rates between the local brass cash and the silver currency of the Chinese government. Interprovincial speculation otherwise would be quite profitable: unused Sinkiang stamps can often be had at sixty percent of face value. The first stamps were overprinted by the Supply Department of the postal service, at Shanghai, shortly after the printing of stamps in Peking was begun.

The surcharge reads "Hsien Hsin Shung Tieh Yung"—"allotted to New Province use." (This is really a problem for a better sinalog than the writer: "tieh yung" means "for use by being stuck on"—a better literal translation will be gratefully received!) The then current junk-reaper-temple stamps received the overprint, all values from ½c to $2 being so treated. The minimum rate on any article being 1½c (local circulars), the two lowest values serve only to make up rates. The two-dollar value was not issued with the others but came later as will be shown. The cents values were

A special sheet of 25 of the 2c White Plains stamp will be sold at the Philatelic Agency at the International Philatelic Exhibition. This sheet is made expressly as one of the Government's contributions to the Show. It will have margins on four sides with Philatelic Exhibition inscription at the top, New York, N. Y., at the bottom and plate numbers on two sides. No collection of U. S. stamps will be complete without this memento of the Exhibition. I will mail you one of these sheets, with a lot of dope on first day covers and new U. S. stamps, for only $1.00.

THE PHILA TELIC BATS, [C4
8 E. Buffalo St., ITHACA, N. Y.

A WARM WELCOME

A vanguard of across-the-ocean philatelists visited Boston on Wednesday, October 13. In the party was Fred J. Melville, Frank Godden and R. Roberts, all of London. The day was spent in a very pleasant trip along the shore north of Boston, including Swampscott, Marblehead, Nahant, Salem, Beverly, Manchester and Gloucester. Albert W. Batchelder, formerly of the New England Stamp Co., piloted the party and in this he was assisted by the Managing Editor of the WEEKLY. Luncheon was served at the Kernwood Inn in Beverly, and the golfing members of the party wielded their clubs over a small portion of the Wenham Course.

In the evening a special meeting of the A.P.S. was held at the clubrooms. It was preceded by dinner at Young's, where some thirty members of the society gathered. The program in the clubroom was informal and under the direction of F. L. Drew. Good fellowship reigned. Addresses of welcome were made by Messrs. Sawyer, Dunning, Batchelder, Hill, Howes and Wylie with appropriate responses by all three of the visitors. Mr. Melville had made two previous visits to Boston, and his return was hailed with much enthusiasm. Some sixty philatelists were present and each one formally introduced to the visitors. The evening's festivities closed with an inspection of some Godden rarities and with the adjournment it was felt that the function was one of the most successful ever staged by the local society.

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

The drawing of these cancellations hardly does justice to No. 5, which I have found later on, and with a better shading where the compass meets at the top, tho this one shows the silhouette as perfect as any. This town used the double lined interlaced triangles which is one of the popular cancellations on the 3c 1851. No. 6 is a very handsomely made design. No. 7 is generally hit with an ink which does not give a clear impression, and No. 10 is as fine a cancellation as you would care to find among these Masonic cancellations.

Since drawing the above, many others have arrived. Some are very large, and on a 12c National I saw one which was not over 1½ mm. in height, probably not a cancel, however; it is as clear as tho printed.

Mr. S. W. Richey has kindly straightened us out by verifying our No. 6 in Forum of July 12th as coming from "WELLSBURG, WEST VA.", for his cover corresponds exactly with this, even to the 16 lumps around the outer perimeter. He also enclosed another cover very similar to our No. 8, same issue of Forum, tho with a different center, a trifling change in detail, and it may be that both were from the same town, Putnam, Ct.

Mr. G. C. Davis has sent in a cover without stamp pmkd, from Compston, C.E. (Canada East) on Mar. 10, 1856. It has a large "6" and a PAID on face of cover in addition to the pmk. But the interesting feature of this cover, addressed to East Boston, Mass., is the huge RR pmk. on reverse, a double ring one, showing "MON. & ISLD. PD. GRAND TR'K R. WAY No. 5" between the two rings, while the inner ring contains four horizontal lines of printing—large capital "C" at top, then "DOWN," and "MAR 10," while at bottom is "1856." An unusual and interesting Railway Mail mark. While this is very clearly hit, I am uncertain whether the first abbreviation is "MON" or "MUN," and the PD may be PO, tho it appears as a D, if an O, it is about the earliest of year dated PO cancels used with Railway mail cancellations.

Here is a really interesting item. The Official Stamped Envelope of the War Dept. on blue paper (Scott 3260) pmkd. "PORT TOWNSEND, WASH," in 1890. This was evidently used to carry some sort of report. There were two of these found, and in each case the mule was not attached to the pmk.; but struck separately, in one, the mule was in a vertical position as tho doing a high dive. They are the first that I have seen on Official envelopes, tho many are found on the War Dept. adhesives. Also the date of usage is late, and the mule is somewhat worn looking, as is the pmk. itself.

Mr. H. C. Woodruff writes that he has found a cover bearing a Black Jack plus the unsevered diagonal half of another used for three cents postage, nicely tied to the cover by a target cancellation, mailed from Manchester, Md., to Railroad, York County, Pa. An item like this is always cheerfully welcomed into the collection. In original finds, very often a good part of the pleasure of the finding of a "split" Black Jack on cover is greatly to be deplored owing to the cancellation. It sometimes falls short of covering the line of the bisect, while in many a case they were used from towns so small that they had no obliterator, in which case the town pmk. is generally hit far away from the stamp and a half, and a pencancel is used to "spoil" the stamps. Why did they do that, when all they had to do to tickle us philatelists was to hammer the split one lick, good and proper, and then they would not have to stop and hunt up a gummy old pen, and draw some scratches over the desired stamps? That is always one of the things that I can't understand.

AUCTION SALES MONTHLY.
HUDSON COUNTY STAMP CO. [H
68 Hudson Street, Hoboken, N.J.

The Black Jack market has been what might be termed sluggish of late. The only real beautiful cancellation that I have had come in for a long time is a peculiar device made up of an oddly shaped design which is cut from a square to begin with; a hole in the center, and then more cuts, the whole surrounded by a circle. As this is in a brilliant red, thought it worth describing, tho this description is not very illuminating, will draw it for you.

Trying to describe a cancellation without a cut of it, is about like the reading of an auction item. Then there was the man who described his horse to a prospective buyer, it was a beautiful creature, with the long stream line body of a Kentucky racer, a coat like a seal, and as intelligent as an English Setter. The p. b. did buy it, and he was not at all pleased on receiving it to find that the seller had forgotten to mention that the horse was blind. It is these little oversights in describing cancellations that make me write them as completely as I can, for I am trying to have you see them if possible. A cover can be described so that you may have a mental image of it; but a cancel—that's why you prefer to see the illustrations, and that goes for all of us.

COLONIALS AS AN INVESTMENT

By DOUGLAS B. ARMSTRONG.

The subject of Philatelic Finance is of perennial interest to the average Stamp Collector, and it is upon this ever interesting topic that Mr. J. T. Molony has written one of the most practical and fascinating thesis that we have been privileged to peruse.

At the outset the writer declares boldly that "There is a great deal of hypocrisy today about the motives which induce people to collect stamps, and it has often been said that unless we can eliminate the question of stamp values and the love of gain implanted in the human breast our hobby will be ruined. Writers on Philately who condemn the money side of collecting and concentrate their attention exclusively upon the beauty of stamps and the interest which stamps inspire, may believe what they say, and if so, all honour to them, but alas! the average man of the world is firmly convinced that you cannot destroy human love of gain unless you first destroy Humanity itself!"

Personally, we believe that it is possible to combine the two. The philatelic investor need not remain blind to the artistic or romantic appeal of the objects of his investment, in fact, many of the most astute stamp market operators are keen philatelic students also. Philatelic knowledge is undoubtedly an asset to the would-be successful speculator in stamps.

A firm believer in British Colonials and the Modern issues at that, Mr. Molony bases his faith on the fact that "Colonial Governments, as a rule, are fairly honest in their dealings with philatelists, confining their attentions mostly to postal needs, and the small countries have issued such small numbers, especially of the higher values, that the supply is unable to keep pace with the demand." He proceeds to compare Cyprus with Nicaragua (whose postal needs are about equal) to the disadvantage of the latter country.

Points to Consider.—On the subject of the market value of a stamp the writer has some sound advice to offer. His warning against too ready acceptance of figures relating to "numbers printed" (other than official) is timely in view of recent notorious cases. The possibility of a second or third printing must also be reckoned with. Other points to be considered are—what proportion of the total supply was well-centered and up to the philatelic standard in every way; what proportion of the higher values was required for Revenue purposes; and how much of the available supply is held by speculators?

As An Investment.—Apart from the recreation and entertainment derived from its pursuit the author shows that stamp collecting is not after all the profitable investment that some enthusiasts would have us believe. Money doubles itself in fourteen or fifteen years at 5 per cent compound interest, yet the annual interest upon a stamp collection seldom exceeds 5 per cent. Nevertheless it is remarkable, in our opinion, that it is possible to make money out of a hobby at all—a clear case of eating one's cake and having it too!

Judging the Market.—To decide whether a stamp is likely to continue its upward course the would-be investor is advised to study the last half-dozen catalogues and compare any rises in value "If the yearly appreciation has been consistent a mild form of gambling may be justified even at several times face, but if the price has remained stationary for a great length of time care must be taken when purchasing."

Fallacy of One-Third Catalogue.—So consistently have we animadverted against the ridiculous theory that all stamps can be procured at a fraction of catalogue value, that we cannot refrain from quoting in extenso the following pertinent passage from Mr. Molony's absorbing treatise:—

"The man who never pays more than one-third catalogue will certainly be able to get together a large collection of overpriced and unpopular stuff, especially in doubtful condition, but he will soon find an imposing array of blank spaces when he comes to the accumulation of perfect mint Colonial stamps. The man who will generally win is the one who has not been afraid to open his purse strings wide, when a good stamp comes along."

Guiding Principles.—We should like to enlarge still further upon this interesting theme, but space forbids. In conclusion we would commend to our readers some of the excellent precepts advanced by the writer in question. They are. (1) Collect well-centered stamps of the smaller countries; (2) When a stamp is reported obsolete, wait for official confirmation; (3) Aim at high and uncommon values; (4) Join a New Issue service; (5) Avoid speculative stamps; (6) Use your reasoning powers to decide what stamps are popular or likely to be so.

Altogether a most fascinating brochure and one that it should profit every Modern Philatelist to "read, mark, learn and inwardly digest."—Stamp Collector.

SEEN AND HEARD:—

Quite many of our readers have come in contact with Miss Esther F. Webster, the office assistant of Bertrand L. Shaw of Boston, that we feel impelled to quote the following from a letter, just received, and, from Mr. Drew:—"My esteemed secretary, Miss Webster, departed this life Thursday, Sept. 30. She was very efficient in her work, relieving me of all the clerical duties of my business. She was refined and ladylike by nature and had won the respect and esteem of all our customers and friends. As an ideal assistant her place will be very difficult to fill."

A CORRESPONDENT, A. H. Albert, expresses the hope that in the future we can give advance notice of the issue of new U. S. stamps. He has in mind the 15c airmail stamp in sepia, which was announced Sept. 20 in advance of information from Mr. Ward. It is seldom that a thing like this occurs, as our department of New Issues has access to sources of information which have seldom failed us in the past. Lovers of first day cancellations will usually find that we measure up to their expectations as regards first day cancellations. Mr. Albert also favors us with several other things.

THE program of the Milwaukee Philatelic Society for the coming season has been sent us by R. L. Hustis. It is all gotten up and a copy of the program will no doubt be sent to any club official who is desirous of securing suggestions for local use. Mr. Hustis' address is 1707 Marshall St., Milwaukee, Wis.

THE Hackensack, N. J., Philatelic Society has just published its constitution and by-laws. It is willing to furnish a copy to any organization that would agree to profit by its experiences in this publication. Address Wm. C. Steiger, Sec., 70 Lookout Av., Hackensack, N. J.

SOMEWHERE in this issue is an important announcement by the Fenton Stamp Co. E. A. Moseley has taken an interest in the firm and has become the secretary and manager. Further advancements of this company may well be watched for interesting announcements.

C. B. POWER will broadcast the news of the Exhibition thru WEAF on Oct 18, at 6.50 N. Y. time. This is a real favor to Mr. Power from the Broadcasting Co. of America, and his talk on stamps will be heard by not less than 750,000 people.

C. Z. POSTAL STATIONERY

By Harry E. Huber.

U.S.A. stamped envelopes, size 5 (6¼ x 3½ inches), in two denominations, 1c olive green, and 2c carmine, watermarked U.S. 1921, and overprinted "Canal Zone," were received by the Canal Zone authorities in time for issue with the overprinted postage and due stamps on July 1, 1924.

The stamp dies are circular (27½ mm. diameter), with a profile bust, facing left, of Franklin on the 1c, and of Washington on the 2c, within a circle, around which at the top and sides is "United States Postage." The numeral ("1" or "2") appears in a small circle at either side at the foot, with "Cent" (or "Cents") between. The bust, lettering and numerals are embossed in colorless on a solid ground of color (olive green or carmine).

The overprint "Canal Zone" is in two horizontal lines of serifed caps (spaced vertically 9 mm.), in the same flat "A" type as used for the postage and due stamps, and was presumably applied by the Government Printing Office, Washing, D. C.

The quantities dispatched were small, only 50,000 of the 1c and 100,000 of the 2c, and these shortly exhausted. In October, 1924, there appeared 1c and 2c stamped envelopes, in sizes No. 6 (6½" x 3¾"), and the 2c in size No. 9 (9½" x 4⅛") manufactured locally at the Canal Zone Printing Plant, Mount Hope, Canal Zone, with an upright rectangular stamp, measuring 20½ x 28 mm. (green for 1c and carmine for the 2c) in the upper right corner. The central feature of the stamp is the Seal of the Panama Canal, surrounded by a circular band, inscribed "Seal of the Canal Zone, Isthmus of Panama" with three small stars at the bottom, which is enclosed in a single rule frame 15½ x 14½ mm. The Seal depicts on a shield a sailing vessel on a waterway between mountains, indicative of the cutting down of the barriers separating the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Underneath the shield on a ribbon, is the motto of the Canal Zone "The land divided, the world united." At the top of the stamp in two lines is "Canal Zone — Postage." Before and after "Postage" are four stars arranged in pyramid formation. At the foot is the value "1 Cent 1" (or "2 Cents 2"). The whole is enclosed in a frame of swastikas (10 horizontal by 13 vertical) and typographically printed (not embossed) on a faint conventional underprinting of pale green (1c) or pale pink (2c). The paper is cream, of poor quality, without watermark, and the flaps are not gummed.

The 2c envelope, No. 6, is also issued with an imprint in the upper left corner —"After . . . . days return to— (two lines of dashes)—Balboa Heights, Canal Zone." This is known as "No. 6 Official Request."

The quantities of envelopes manufactured locally up to the end of August, 1926, are as follows:—

	1c, No. 6.	2c, No. 6.	2c, No. 9.
October 1924,	25,000	100,000	25,000
January 1925,		75,000
June 1925,	50,000	300,000	10,000
December 1925,			25,000
January 1926,		72,000
July-August 1926.		203,000	25,000
	75,000	750,000	85,000

July 1, 1924. Contemporary stamped envelopes of U.S.A., overprinted by Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., "Canal Zone," 2 horizontal lines, in black. Watermarked "U.S. 1921."

1c olive green (Franklin), size No. 5.
2c carmine (Washington), size No. 5.

October, 1924. Seal of Canal Zone, manufactured at Canal Zone Printing Plant, Mt. Hope, C. Z. Unwatermarked.

1c green (pale green underprinting), size No. 6.

2c carmine (pale pink underprinting), sizes No. 6, No. 6 Official Request and No. 9.

Post Cards.

The 1c green, Jefferson, post card of the U.S.A. was also issued July 1, 1924, with "Canal Zone" overprint, in black.

The stamps contain a profile bust of Jefferson, facing the left, in an oval, around which is a band inscribed "U.S. Postal Card"—and at the foot "One Cent." Small ovals at the foot, at either side, contain the numeral "1" with "Jefferson" in small colored caps appearing between. The only other letter press is "This side of card is for address"—enclosed in a single line frame. The card measures 3¼" x 5½", and 50,000 received the overprint.

The overprint "Canal Zone" is in two horizontal lines, but in a type quite different from that used for the stamps and envelopes. The letters are sans serif, the words measuring 10 and 8½ mm. respectively, spaced vertically 9½ mm. The overprint was applied (presumably by the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.), to 50,000 cards.

In November, 1924, a 1c post card (25,000) was manufactured locally, with the Canal Zone Seal stamp duplicating that used for the 1c envelope, printed in green on a faint underprinting of pale green. There is on this card a single line of letter press "This side of card is for address."

Although manufactured in November, 1924, it was not issued until the stock of overprinted U.S. cards had lowered, and seems not to have been on sale until about May, 1925. The U.S. card was being sold at the Ancon Post Office when I was there in September, 1925, and this with the 1c and 2c overprinted U.S.A. envelopes are still to be had (October, 1926), from the Philatelic Agency, Balboa Heights, C. Z.

July 1, 1924. Contemporary post card of U.S.A., overprinted by the Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. "Canal Zone" in two lines of sans serif caps, in black.

May, 1925. Seal of Canal Zone, manufactured at Canal Zone Printing Plant, Mt. Hope, C. Z.

It has proved its extreme value not only to the specialist in United States, but the general collector as well, and in its present enlarged form it is an authoritative book of reference that should form part of every collector's library.

It lists and prices major and minor varieties of United States Postage, Dues, Parcel Post, Special Delivery, Commemorative, Airplane, Newspaper and Department stamps, on cover, imperforate pairs, blocks of four, bisects, double transfers, recut varieties, stitch watermarks and various cancellations.

EDITORIAL

The high-water mark has been reached in the volume of philatelic publicity in the outside press; and the indications are that the tide will become so swollen that it will never again recede to the old level. The new philately has emerged from the semi-obscurity that clouded it in the estimation of the onlooker and is now before the public in a proper guise that has nothing to do with mystery or hocus-pocus. Carlyle said that the clock welcomed the new hour with a chime but that the tones of no bell reverberated down the corridors of time when a new era arrived. The Exhibition has hastened the day of recognition for philately in the fullest sense and stamp collecting is to be known for what it really is.

Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, the publisher of Stamp Collecting, our weekly contemporary of London, England, was in Chicago several days where a coterie of friends were proud to do him honor. Mr. Vallancey, accompanied by Mrs. Vallancey, was on the way to New York from Los Angeles and remained in Chicago for a time all too short for us. The guests were present at a luncheon and later, a dinner that was given for them was an enjoyable occasion. The editor of the WEEKLY was gratified to meet his enterprising confrere and to hear of publishing conditions from the London viewpoint. In his remarks at the dinner, Mr. Vallancey told of the necessity of maintaining a balance in the contents of the paper in order that all classes of readers would feel that the journal was a common meeting-ground. In endeavoring to equalize the reading matter, so to say, one sometimes found that problems were presented whose solution was almost impossible in the short time allowed for a decision. He mentioned, for instance, the difficulty in handling in an authoritative way, the question of market values of stamps and kindred subjects. Mr. Vallancey said that the growth of interest in philatelic literature in Great Britain, particularly books, was an encouraging sign; and we should say that the future has better things in store for literature in this country; we should add that Mr. Vallancey has done his share to bring the printed page to the fore. In the words of the ecstatic reportorial observer, Mr. Vallancey is sui generis and the acme of affability and acumen. He says that he was surprised to find how many friends he has in this country, but we are not now that we have met him face to face, and we predict that he will learn that he has not been forgotten in the United States as time rolls on. Business has no part in Mr. Vallancey's trip; and he says that the warmth of his welcome here almost overwhelmed him. He now can visualize the U. S. and it is needless to say that it fills the eye. It is not likely that he will forget his coast-to-coast trip. We are encouraged to know that a philatelic publisher can prosper to the extent that he is in a position to spend three or four months in travel in a country overseas; and so long as it is Mr. Vallancey who is in that happy condition we shall not be jealous of the favoring winds of fortune that mark him for their own. Mr. Vallancey has a huge collection of Great Britain and his lecture on the stamps is at the disposal of clubs and societies; and through his lantern displays and lectures he has done effective work in interesting the man on the street in stamp collecting.

Another welcome visitor to Chicago at the time of Mr. Vallancey's stay was Mr. B. W. H. Poole of Los Angeles, who, with Mrs. Poole, was making New York the objective. Mr. Poole attended a meeting of the Chicago Philatelic Society and met many of his old acquaintances at the session. He says that the stamp business will respond to the stimulating influence of the Exhibition and that particularly the stamps of seasoned kind will continue to give a good report of themselves in an esthetic and material sense. It seems but a short time since Mr. Poole went from England to South Africa at the time of the Boer war and placed the V.R.I. and E.R.I. surcharges of Orange River and Transvaal on the philatelic map. However, the years do march on and in the meantime Mr. Poole has been full of good works, many of which are published by us at a price that is not conducive to royalties for the author! However, when that philatelic literature renaissance hits this country, things may look up for both of us.

The Grand Rapids "Herald" has done something that compels our recommendation. In the issue of October 11, 1926, of the Herald, a newspaper ably conducted and with a solid following as a result, the longest editorial is headed, "Philatelists." Here we have an intelligent and sympathetic description of stamp collecting suggested by the news of the Exhibition in New York. Some time ago, the Herald, in speaking of a revival of stamp collecting, described the pursuit as one with an educational cast, and moreover, of a clean and entertaining nature. Its satisfaction in hearing of the "revival" was unqualified. Now the editor says that "the news from New York, where the philatelists are gathering, is even more welcome and encouraging." It is said that "between 50,000 and 60,000 persons are expected to attend the New York show." The editorial is readable in every word and the friendliness that is shown to collecting is marked. The last paragraph of the editorial has a practical application: "Stamp collecting is an amusement that should be encouraged. Because it must appeal in order to hold the youthful interest, it cannot be forced upon the boy or girl but when it does appeal, it most certainly should be encouraged." An article of the word would grace the pages of a stamp paper but when it appears in a stamp paper, its influence for good is pronounced. We thank Mr. Guy Johnson for the copy of the Herald.

In the New York "Times" for October 10, 1926, Mr. Frank W. Crane has a feature article that is of most informing kind and shows a knowledge of philately and writing ability hand in hand. The article, which is illustrated with "some of the world's rarest postage stamps" and pictures of Thomas William Hall, president of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and Charles Lathrop Pack, president of the International Philatelic Exhibition, tells of the magnitude of the Exhibition and the huge task of the judges to scrutinize the great number of entries, which will be composed of the best specimens that the philatelic world can produce. In many respects the article is timely; and one is that it prepares the stage in a public sense for the opening of the Exhibition.

The Chicago "Journal" for October 9, 1926, contained an interview with the editor of the WEEKLY. Other newspapers throughout the country have been giving special attention to the Exhibition and too, the convention of the American Philatelic Society. While the convention of the leading national organization is always good for some space, the combined features seem to have made their impression on the editorial mind. There is little doubt but that with the co-operation of the managing editors of the newspapers, the future will find that philatelists do not remain articulate. Once accepted as a staple subject for consideration, it is safe to say that it will not easily be dispossessed of its position.

Knocking Approval Cards
is a favorite indoor sport of one solitary dealer. It sure is funny when the same danger he warns against can be attributed to all Stock Books with pockets which he himself uses. Any collector or dealer thru careless use of hinges, tongs, envelopes, soiled fingers, etc., can damage stamps in every way. Users of "Approval Cards" know their value and how to use them. Stock Books and Cards have come to stay, even if my First Patent has expired. I have a new Patent on an Improved Card and am now considering an offer for it. BOOK REVIEW

The new Stanley Gibbons Catalog for 1927 is a very substantial volume of 1200 pages. It is published by Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., 391 Strand, London, England, and is known as the "Whole World" volume. The price of the book is $4.00 plus 25c for postage.

In the British Empire section, most of the countries are so fully worked out that there is not very much scope for rewriting. This year, however, the list of Australian Commonwealth has been further extended, and considerable additions have been made to the Hejaz list. The lists of the modern issues of North Borneo have been elaborated to include all known perforation varieties, and it is likely that many of these will prove to be very scarce. This country has been in often demand of late years. The list of the rare provisionals of Niger Coast has been revised and extended, and advantage has been taken of the purchase by the Publishers of the wonderful "Daun" collection and of another important collection, to re-write the lists of the "T.R.I." and "E.R.I." issues of the Orange River Colony. The anomaly, by which errors occurring in sheets of the "thick V" setting, but not on stamps with the "thick V" variety, were listed in the "thick V" group, has now been removed. The lists of the Admiral type of Rhodesia have been slightly rearranged, in order that the stamps formerly described as Die II may now come in their proper order as Die I. and vice versa. An attempt has also been made to differentiate between the shades of the 1922 and 1923 printings of this issue, on white paper, though all values are not sufficiently distinct for separate listing. In Victoria the "earliest known dates" for stamps of the early issues have been considerably revised in the light of up-to-date knowledge.

Much new work has also been done on the Foreign section. Two new countries, Mongolia and Nejd, here make their bow to the philatelic public. A certain amount of revision has been done in the lists of the Greek islands, and in the modern issues of Roumania and Russia. The Italian States, Kingdom of Italy, and Italian Colonies, have been thoroughly revised, and these lists, always an outstanding feature of the Catalogue, are now better than ever. Perhaps the most important new work is an entirely fresh list of the interesting stamps of Denmark, based on the splendid handbook published not very long ago by the Copenhagen Philatelist Club. The "inverted frames" of the figure type of 1870 to 1896 are now listed for the first time, and we anticipate a keen hunt for these interesting varieties. The list of Danish West Indies has also been improved in some respects.

Very careful investigations have been made, in conjunction with the printers, in order to provide a thin paper which would enable certain difficulties met with by users of the last edition to be overcome. The result has been the choice of a paper which, while still thin, and suitable in all respects for the printing of the Catalogue and illustrations, is stouter, and has therefore better wearing qualities. This paper has been provided with a surface on which it is possible to write in ink—another improvement over that used for the 1926 edition.

THE FIRST COLLECTOR

("I gathered me also—the peculiar treasure of kings and of the provinces—and behold, all was vanity and vexation of spirit." Ecclesiastes, 2: 8.)

By C. E. R.

Three thousand years or so ago there lived a Hebrew king,
The acme of all wisdom, as his minstrels used to sing:
Lord of the sea and the desert, Prince of the earth and the air,
King and Master-builder, his fame spread ev'rywhere.
Tales of his might and wisdom were told in hut and hall,
From the Lion Rock of the utmost South, to the North Sea's icy wall.
Never had such a king been seen, since the day of the planet's birth,
As Solomon, son of David, the envy of all the earth.

Now when his Temple was finished, his palace and harem too,
His authority fixed, his trade-lines set, he had nothing left to do.
At the peak of his pride and his glory, in the flush of his mellow years, Solomon, son of David, was simply bored to tears.
"Vanity, all is vanity!" bewailed this monarch grand;
So he sent a proclamation forth to every foreign land
Offering gold and power to that individual who Could give him that priceless blessing, an interest which was new.
Countless the schemes that followed, the plans and devices too,
But the weary king rejected them all, and greater his boredom grew.
Until a skin-clad pilgrim from the misty Isles of Tin
Remarked, "King, try collecting stamps," and Solomon said, "You win."
(There were no postage stamps those days, of course that's understood;
But royal, noble, and private seals were every bit as good.)

Then great was the joy of his people, when the news was spread around,
For a bored king is a dangerous thing, as many a man has found.
Letters they joyfully brought to him, and at his stern behest
A chamber deep in the rock they hewed, wherein his hoard might rest.
Missives came in a growing flood, papyri from ancient Nile,
Sheepskins from Punt and Tarshish, steles from each Grecian isle,
Bricks with arrow-head writing of the Mesopotamian clay,
Yellowish, odorous paper, from the fabled land of Cathay,
Letters woven of cotton from the Ganges' muddy banks,
Painted silk from Cipango, potsherds from Etna's flanks,
Zimbabwe, deep in Africa, sent sheets of the graven gold,
While letters written on permanent ice came from Cimmeria cold,
Plates of bronze from Etruria, leaves of Knossian brass,
Letters from Tyre and Sidon, on the royal purple glass,
Waxen tablets, sealed and stamped, from that mystery place, Gadyre,
Sheep-bone missives from desert lands, where the sun is hot as fire,
Skins of lions, tanned and enscribed, from Ethiopia's land,
And messages scratched on broad palm leaves, from Libya's burning sand.

So, when he showed his collection to Sheba's queen, Balkis,
He had ev'ry material possible, and every known device.
Yet for all of Solomon's wisdom, he missed his chief desire,
For there isn't much joy in collecting things, unless they are hard to acquire.
For whenever he heard of an item he didn't happen to own,
He called up one of his resident djinns before the royal throne,
And told him what was wanted, and rubbed a lamp or a ring,
And the djinn was back in an instant, with the thing he'd been sent to bring,
So it isn't much of a wonder that, when his collecting was done,
And he had a sample of everything from ev'rywhere under the sun,
King Solomon sealed that treasure-vault, and took to his bed, and sighed,
"Vanity, all is vanity!" and turned up his toes and died.

Oh, quickly his kingdom vanished, his Temple and palace too,
For the conquering Chaldean took the place of the royal crew.
Down went the walls of Jerusalem, in tumbled heaps of rock,
And the homes of the people were leveled, as if by an earthquake shock.
And in the centuries following the City arose and fell,
At the hands of the Greek and the Roman, Crusader and Turk as well.
Yet deep under masses of rock and brick, rubbish and kindred things,
Lies Solomon's great collection, that "peculiar treasure of kings."
And when some day it's discovered, and brought to the upper air,
Brother collector, you and I, what wouldn't we give to be there!

FIVE-YEAR HONOR CLUB

H. K. Irvin, Beaver Falls, Penn.
Percy A. Hill, Nueva Ecija, Phil. Ids.

We welcome to our Honor Club H. Kenneth Irvin, College Hill, Beaver Falls, Penn. A remittance of $5 is at hand for his five years' renewal of subscription. Our Club now numbers very nearly five hundred members. Mr. Irvin is a member of the American Philatelic Society and we are grateful to him for the confidence he reposes in our publication.

Percy A. Hill, Nueva Ecija, Philippines, not only makes application for membership in the Honor Club, but also sends in a new subscription, and both of these favors are appreciated. Mr. Hill intimates he is somewhat tired keeping track of the Whole Number and in addition makes this interesting comment:—

"This remittance of $5 can well be made you in view of the fact that I saved that much money on a single stamp which I saw advertised in the WEEKLY. A subscription to your paper is money profitably spent."

ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) West Somerville, Mass.

2c Battle of White Plains

This most interesting stamp is now available in panes of twenty-five, issued especially for distribution at the International Philatelic Exhibition at New York. It is of such a size that it will fit into the normal stamp album and will make a beautiful appearance. The variety differs in perforation from the sheets distributed through the post office.

For those interested in adding an unusual page to their collection, I take pleasure in offering a complete sheet of twenty-five of these stamps as issued at the Exhibition, a block of four of the same variety with the normal perforation 11 and four first day covers, that is, both perforations used from both New York and White Plains, the only two cities in which the stamp was officially placed on sale. These six items as a whole, mailed flat, at $1.50.

If you are looking for any of the other first day covers including the current series, the Huguenot-Walloons, the Lexington-Concords or the Norse-Americans used on day of issue, I will be pleased to receive your list.

2c White Plains

Mention was made in this column last week, that the small panes of twenty-five 2c White Plains stamps, which were prepared for the International Philatelic Exhibition would be perforated 10. It is now found that the machine designed to perforate these stamps will be the same as the normal—hence, perforated 11 Five plates have been prepared consisting of one hundred stamps in four panes of twenty-five. These are perforated straight through the margins and are then cut into post office panes of twenty-five with margins all around. Four of these plates were used in preparing stamps at Washington, which in turn were distributed at the Exhibiton. The fifth plate was used on the hand press at the Exhibition and the unperforated gummed sheets will be returned to Washington to be finished.

This will mean that we can tell by the plate number as to whether the stamp was printed on the power press at Washington or whether it was printed by hand at New York. At this writing I cannot give definite information as to the number of the plate which will be in operation at the International Philatelic Exhibition.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of October 8th, the First Assistant Postmaster General calls attention of postal employees to the fact that every piece of air mail must be handled with the greatest possible expedition and with absolutely no delay in post offices. Postmasters are instructed to so organize their offices that air mail will be immediately spotted, segregated and handled so as to make the very first dispatch or delivery as the case may be. It is desired to make the air mail service as nearly perfect as possible, so that it will have the full confidence of the public. To do this, it was mentioned that it is imperative that the closest possible connections be made from points where mail is dispatched by train to the air mail routes.

Dr. H. E. Radsch kindly submits a most interesting air mail cover used in the recent flight from Seattle to Los Angeles. This communication was posted at Sacramento with instructions to connect at San Francisco for Los Angeles on the first trip. In addition to the San Francisco contract air mail postmark, it bears a five line postmark reading, "Special flight Sacramento to San Francisco, September Fourteen, Nineteen Hundred Twenty-Six, to Connect Seattle to Los Angeles Route."

Louisiana Tobacco Stamps

Through the courtesy of Rev. J. Dreyer, S. M., I am enabled to announce that the State of Louisiana has just placed on sale effective October 1st, a series of tobacco tax stamps to be used in connection with collecting a school tax. It is a straight 10% levy with fractional amounts rounded out into full cents. The act, which went into effect on October 1st, will run for four years. It is stated that many consider the tax unconstitutional and a test case is scheduled for early in October. So far two denominations have appeared, namely a 1c in green and a 2c in red. The stamps, which are lithographed, are rectangular in shape, perforated 12, on unwatermarked wove paper. The stamps have as a central design the Coat of Arms of the State of Louisiana with large figures of value enclosed within circles at the lower corners. Across the top we find within a semi-circle, "Tobacco Tax," and below the Coat of Arms, "For Schools." Immediately above the Coat of Arms, we find "State of Louisiana." More values will appear just as soon as the test case has been decided.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—The Philatelic Magazine in the issue of October 2nd, announces that six hundred designs have been submitted for the Canberra commemorative stamp to be issued during the Duke of York's visit to Australia. Designs were sent from England, Scotland, Canada, the United States and New Zealand. The prize winners are two Australians.

BECHUANALAND.—Mr. R. Roberts shows us the 3p Great Britain stamp with the new watermark surcharged in the usual manner for use in this protectorate.

FRANCE.—Philatelic Magazine prints the following, "Further to the note in our last issue, we are now able to state that the 55c precancel was issued for the Louvre, who, when sending out their new catalogue found that the postage would be 55c. They therefore suggested to the Post Office Department that the quantity of stamps required should be surcharged 55c (as this would save using two stamps) and precancelled at the same operation. The P.O.D., seeing the point, issued 200,000 copies all of which were used by the Louvre.

FRANCE.—Whitfield King & Co. advise that they have received the following postage due stamps type D3 surcharged in black "50c" on 10c violet, "1fr" on 60c red and "2fr" on 60c red.

ITALY.—Mr. R. Roberts reports that the 60c has been issued in orange same design, perf. and watermark as before.

ORCHA.—Philatelic Magazine says that the 4a change of color is reported by Mr. Oswald Marsh. It is now appearing in brown-orange.

PARAGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co. have sent for chronicle, the 1 peso green, type A45, surcharged "C" in upper left corner in black; 5c light blue, type A38, and the same stamp in dark blue overprinted "Habilitado en 1 centavo" in three lines in black and 40c rose, type A40, surchared "Habilitado en 7 centavos" in like manner.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Mr. R. Roberts reports the $5 green and carmine, script watermark.

URUGUAY.—Whitfield King & Co's Bulletin report that an official decree has been issued to the effect that all issues of postage stamps previous to and including of the "Mercury" design and all commemorative issues except that of the Legislative Palace have been demonetized. The design of the current stamps have been retouched and the inscription at the foot of each stamp is now "Imp Nacional," so far only the 5mils, 5 and 36 centesimos have appeared.

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS

By Rev. W. G. Iremonger

Of all the countries that I have had o deal with these islands have been the ıost difficult. To begin with, they are ıe most inaccessible possible; the group onsists of four groups of islands: the ilberts or Kingsmill, the Ellice or La-oon, the Tokelau or Union, and the 'hœnix, together with the island of)cean; all correspondence has to pass ırough Ocean Island on the outward ›urney, and either through that, or Apia, amoa, on the return; sometimes the re-ırn letters are sent direct to Sydney, ıt this is very seldom. In addition to ıis the smaller islands have only native ›stmasters, who are often but poorly lucated, and especially in English. To ıow this I append a letter that I re-ived from one of these natives after I ıd received the envelopes that I had ent. He was evidently a friendly per-n, and wanted to keep up a correspond-ıce with me.

"I am very sorry for the postmark amps not much received, but waiting t a little time as so be sending forward close postmark stamp if it's can so uch do best. Should have remember of ur asked for, and I am trying hold at stmark stamp from every mail. Please on't laugh this letter for the English-riter to hard to me, so be try to answer ur kind letter, and don't remember e in yours.

Hope on your kindness if answer with ve.

Give my love to thy wife and to all."

I addition he signs himself as "The Scribe and Postmaster"! Needless to sy that he did not even know a thing out my private life, and had only had plain business letter.

A further difficulty presented itself in t: Postmaster of Ocean Island; twice ıd I write and ask him for a list of IO's and got no reply. Then I sent ne envelopes to one or two islands that I new to possess postmarks, only to have to lots opened at the aforesaid P. O., ıd returned with the Ocean Island post-rk. Finally in despair I wrote to the Crown Agents for the Colonies, who ommended me to apply to the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific a Suva, Fiji, which was going to the hest quarters with a vengeance. How-er I did so, and at the same time wrote the R. M. (Resident Magistrate) at Can Island, and also at another one as wl; from the former I received what I anted at last.

May I, in passing, pay a tribute to these RM's; not only is their work very hard —n a trying climate most likely, where there are probably but few chances of ever seeing a man of their own class or colour, and where they are the only representatives of order. In addition, they are always ready to give help to anyone who bothers them with such trifling questions as I did; and not only so, but with an unvarying courtesy that it is a treat to meet with. One of these men in this group wrote to me, and said that people seemed to be very interested in the stamps of the colony, and sometimes he wished that they were not. At the same time may I add that the "difficult" postmaster is an exception to the general rule, as in practically every instance I have found them the most obliging people possible.

The postal business of the group under consideration is managed from Ocean Island as the chief office, while each of the most important groups have G.P.O's of their own. Date stamps are in use at all these latter offices, and are of the same make-up as the Ocean Island cancellation—an outer circle of from 32 to 34 mm. in diameter, and an inner one of 22 to 23 mm.; in between these is the name of the Colony—"Gilbert and Ellice Islands"—at the top, and "Colony" at the bottom. In the centre is the name of the office, e.g., "G.P.O. Ocean Island," across the top, and the date across in two lines in the centre and bottom.

The names of these chief post offices and the groups they represent are as follows; Ocean Island, G.P.O.; Tarawa (G.P.O. for the Gilberts as a whole); Butaritari (Northern Gilberts); Abemama (Central Gilberts); Beru (Southern Gilberts); Funafuti (Ellice Islands).

There are also rubber stamp cancellations in use at a great number of the islands; these all take the same form—a double-lined circle of 32 mm. in diameter, with "Gilbert and Ellice Islands Colony" round the circle, and a star at the bottom, while across the centre is, e.g., "P. O. Kuria Island" in three lines. These are generally impressed in purple, but in a few cases in either black (B), or red (R). The list is as follows:—

Northern Gilberts.
Abaiang.
Maiana.
Marakei.

Central Gilberts.
Aranuka.
Kuria.
Nonouti (B).
Tabiteua.

Southern Gilberts.
Arorae (R).

Nukunonu.

Ellice Islands.
Nanumaga.
Nanomea (B).

There is no date at all on any of these cancellations.

Another postal cancellation that is to be met with is the "Postal Department"

THE "George Walcott" Collection

I have great pleasure in announcing the purchase of this famous collection.

Mr. Walcott has decided to confine his attention to his magnificent specialized collections, such as the Confederate States and United States and therefore parts with his general collection which he has formed in the past twenty years.

This general collection consists of the postage stamps of the world, but omitting those groups of stamps which Mr. Walcott did not consider of sound commercial value. Therefore, in this fine collection we do not have any of the "Seebeck" issues, nor any Spanish Colonies, French Colonies, Portuguese Colonies, speculative issues made, mainly for sale to collectors, or any Officials, or Postal Fiscals, etc., etc.

The collection is mostly unused, consisting of picked specimens in superb condition. Where unused stamps could not be obtained, fine used copies are included.

Many countries are specialized and in these there are rows of unused and used stamps in the real classic and sound issues.

In forming this fine collection, Mr. Walcott purchased very largely from Stanley Gibbons, Inc. (New York) and from the New York auctions, also very many stamps were obtained from Mr. Warren Colson and Mr. B. W. H. Poole.

This collection contains, in general, postage stamps up to 1914. As these later issues are not in my line of general business, and not the class of stamps I prefer as an investment for my own funds, I have decided to price these very low indeed so as to clear them out quickly.

Collectors of 20th Century stamps will thus have the opportunity of securing superb copies from their "Want Lists" at prices 35% to 50% under catalogue. The older and rarer issues are many priced 20% to 30% under catalogue.

The collection is contained in twenty Oriel Albums, beautifully arranged and written up by Mr. E. B. Power.

I am now pricing this collection and will describe each volume, when priced, in my regular space in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

From these advertisements you will see which countries are ready and I can send collectors, known to me (or after usual references) any country so priced, or I will be glad to have "Want Lists" in these countries from those who wish to take advantage of the very special low rates I am quoting for superb copies.

one; there is one in use at Nukunonu—in fact, as far as I can gather, it is the only cancellation in use there at all. This is evidently an old one, as it is much worn, and also has the inscription "Protectorate" instead of "Colony"; it is a double-lined circle, 39 mm. in diameter, with "Gilbert and Ellice Islands Protectorate" round the edge, and a star at the bottom; inside this is another circle of 25 mm., with "Postal Department" between two lines across the centre. A similar mark is in use at Tabiteua, in which the outer circle is 40 mm. and the inner circle is a wavy one of 27 mm.; also there are no lines across the centre. This is also an old Protectorate cancellation. There may be other types of this in use, but these are the only ones that I have seen.

Some of these postmasters have a curious way of doing things. I have more than once received the envelopes that I sent for return carefully stamped and enclosed in another cover for return to me; in the case of these islands, I received a very bulky cover from Funafuti, one day, that included all the covers sent to the Ellice Islands, with the exception of Nukulaelae. Of course, one sees that all these covers arrived at the same time to be sent on, and had to be registered at Funafuti; it was therefore much simpler to enclose them in an "On H.M.S." envelope and send them on than to register them separately. The same thing happened in the case of the Union, of which Atafu is the chief P. O. Of course, the envelopes have been genuinely through the post, but have lost some of their interest, which consists not only of the postmark on the face, but also of those on the back. In one case these latter show that the cover came through San Francisco and New York; another through Apia, and thence via Canada; another, again, through Sydney or Melbourne, and so home via Suez. What traveling these marks suggest, and how one wishes that one could travel as easily!

A word in conclusion as to the islands themselves. The Gilberts form the principal portion of the group, being among the most densely populated in the Pacific, with a population of 30,000 to 166 square miles; the Ellice Islands are small in area, only 14 square miles in extent, but have 2,400 people in that small space; in the Unions there are 500 only to 7 square miles; while in the Phœnix, with no post office (and they hardly need one!), there are sixty all told in 16 square miles. Ocean Island lies to the west of the Gilberts, and owes its relative importance to the fact that it is a port of call for the steamers from Australia to Japan, and also to its deposits of phosphates. The islands were made a Protectorate in 1892, and formed into a Colony, under the Administration of the High Commissioner of the Western Pacific, in 1915. The principal products of the islands are coconuts.

I have simply dealt with the modern cancellations of these islands as with Fiji, and do not in any way pretend that my list is complete, though it is as near so as patience and persistence has been able to make it with regard to the current postmarks.

Note.—Since the above was written I have received information that Nukunonu in the Union Islands possesses only one cancellation stamp, and this is the "Postal Department" one referred to above.

In addition, the Union group has been lately transferred to the control of New Zealand, and its postal business will in future be controlled from Samoa: this means, I imagine, that the group will use Samoan stamps in future, and that new cancellation stamps will also be introduced. So closes one chapter in the postal history of this diminutive group of islands.—Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

LITERATURE'S ECLIPSE

By Edwin B. Hill, Ysleta, Tex.

The curtain has been rung down upon the Philatelic Literature Society of London. Its members have been notified that the Society has ceased to exist. In a circular letter, sent from the office of the provisional honorary secretary in London, the membership are further enlightened as follows:

"The activity of the Philatelic Literature Society ceased with the publication of the last number of the Journal in 1918. Between that time and the beginning of 1922, the Council met to consider the future of the Society, and a special general meeting was held on 12 May, 1922 (to which persons interested in philatelic literature other than members of the Society were invited), to see if it was possible to reconstitute the Society and to renew its work. The meeting expressed itself in favor of such a proposal and a provisional committee was formed. It was decided to carry out in the first instance the original intention of the Society to publish a Supplement to the Catalogue of the Crawford Library, issued by the Society, which Mr. Bacon had had in hand for some years, and for which certain of the Society's funds had long been earmarked. This has now been printed, in an edition of 200 copies."

This supplementary Catalogue, consisting of 136 pages of valuable material of incalculable value to the student of philatelic literature, has been received by all members who have been traced. The vicissitudes of Time and Space probably have caused certain copies to be returned to London. American claimants, who have not received their supplementary catalogue, should write at once to the honorary secretary.

DUKE'S DANDY APPROVALS,
Fine U. S. and Br. Cols. my specialty.
A.C.LeDUC, 800 N.Broome, Wilmington,Del.

Fifteen years have elapsed since the monumental work,—the Catalogue of the Library of the Earl of Crawford,—was issued to members of the Society, and to that portion of the discerning public which was interested in the literature of our hobby. Meantime, the war came and all activities were suspended. In his foreword to the Supplement, Mr. F. D. Bacon, C.V.O., the compiler, mentions by name five residents of the United States (presumably members of the Society), who have aided him in the publication. As there are eighteen names recorded in this list, it would seem the love for philatelic literature is by no means waning in these United States.

The Philatelic Literature Society, during its years of existence, served well the student of bookish trend. Its demise then leaves us bereft, with none to take its place. There are perhaps fewer philatelic papers and magazines printed today than at any period since the halcyon days when every boyish dealer flaunted his organ,—thumb-nail and valueless as literature perhaps, but of interest to the little circle of readers. Later philately became a serious study, and its literature improved greatly. Today we are perhaps at the pinnacle, with papers and magazines few but worthy of their kind. It is well to study these papers,—to preserve them,—to catalogue them and their contents. This can best be done through organized effort, along the pleasant by-ways of systematic and conscientious application.

The question to be decided then, is shall we have an American Philatelic Literature Society? Several attempts to form an organization of this sort have failed, principally for the reason that the English Society covered the field so adequately that it could have no rival. Now that the London Society has practically ceased to exist, the time seems propitious for a renewal of activities in this, our country. We have the material and the men; and it is to be hoped that upon a firm foundation may be builded a society which may do honor to philatelic literature.

THE STAMPS OF THE CHINESE DEPENDENCIES

overprinted in black, the dollars in red; the first of the latter were overprinted in a red so dark as to be almost maroon. In the first lot of dollar stamps the error of "first two characters reversed" occurred, but this was soon corrected. The red was afterwards lightened to carmine-vermilion, and the two-dollar stamp is seen only in this color, this and the lack of the "reversed character" error showing its later issue.

In 1918 the Bureau of Engraving and Printing at Peking took over the overprinting, and made a new overprint. The Peking overprint differs from the Shanghai overprint principally in the positions of the top characters of each: in the Shanghai print this character is displaced slightly to the left, an immeasurable amount, but very clearly seen; in the second overprint the line of characters is straight. The bottom character in the second overprint also furnishes a good test in that its two lower cross-strokes fall short of the right vertical stroke. In addition to this, the Shanghai overprint was always heavily impressed, while the Peking overprint is so light and thin in some cases as to have the appearance of a new setting, and Chinese collectors commonly accept it as such. The Peking overprint is found on all values from ½c to $20, including the 1½c and 13c added to the set in 1919. In this connection, it is of interest to note that there is no charge in the Chinese postal tariff which requires a $20 stamp, these having been issued for money order use for which they are now superseded by a pagoda design not receivable for postage. Local arrangements may have been in force in Sinkiang which brought charges up to $20, but these stamps like the regular "twenties" when used probably represent the fact that the user knew that the sale of his cancelled "twenty" would save him money on mailing even a ten-dollar package. The fifteen-cent brown was withdrawn from use shortly after the overprinting in Peking began, and is a scarce stamp, not many hundred existing.

In 1921 the three-portrait commemorative set was overprinted, and to fit the design the characters were arranged horizontally. In this case someone "on the inside" tried to corner the ten-cent value, a la Japonaise, and it still commands a price out of proportion to the numbers issued. In 1923 the Constitution set of four values was overprinted, the characters being impressed three over the right column and two over the left. An attempt was made to corner the one-cent of this series, one man having purchased 100,000 of them, to which the Bureau promptly replied by printing an equal number more.

In 1924 the "reengraved" set (miscalled, as this was in reality the original set of dies made in 1913) appeared with the Sinkiang overprint. Many of the values of the reengraved set were on sale at the head office in Peking before the corresponding stamps without overprint were issued. The characters remained the same but the electros were all renewed, and more evenly and heavily printed; the colors are as before, black on the cents and red on the dollar values. The red is obscure on the colored centers, and the color somewhat discharges in water. The three high values, $5, $10, and $20, were withdrawn after a short time and are not now being issued. The fact that the Sinkiang stamps may be purchased in Peking either unused or "c. t. o.," makes it difficult to tell which values are actually in use in the province —probably all have appeared there except the 7c, 8c and 10c. (April, 1926).

Sinkiang postmarks are identical with those used elsewhere in China, except that for most of the offices the Romanization of both the Chinese and Turkish names are given. Two distinct types are in use, both having outer circles about 1.2" in diameter; one type has an inner rectangle containing the date in Chinese, with the names in English above and in Chinese below. The other has the Chinese name in a zone at the top, underlined, with name or names in English and date in English below. (I have been told very positively that the reason for the use of both types of canceller by Chinese offices is for the convenience of those who do not read Chinese; all letters bound abroad, and all letters in China to or from foreigners are to bear the English date. Needless to say this rule is not possible of enforcement.) Sinkiang stamps sold in Peking are cancelled with the chop of the capital, Tihuafu (Urumitsi), which is also the commonest one on the actually used stamps. Shufu (Kashgar) and Hami are the next most important towns and commonest cancellations.

About the time the overprinting was transferred to Peking, the province began to use official stamps. These were the regular overprints, with the characters "Kung Wen Tieh Yung" punched. These are arranged in a square, the "kung" being at the upper right, when normally read. (The punching means literally "public business stick use.") Any similar punching could be applied to a stamp in eight possible ways: direct (reading from front of stamp), reversed, inverted direct, inverted reversed, and four corresponding positions sideways. The work is done locally and with little care, and probably all positions could be found on any of the common values, though sideways punching is not found on more than one stamp in ten. On the most recent stamps seen, the punches are in such bad conditions that the characters could not be read with "the eye of love," divided half and half per stamp, at angles, and otherwise mussily applied. The commemoratives were never punched. The following regular issues are found with the punching: Shanghai overprint, 15c, 16c; Peking overprint, all values up to $5, the ½c and 1½c being scarce stamps; reengraved set, all values to $2.

For convenience of reference the following check list in tabular form is given.

Explanation:

X—means that the stamp actually exists in the classification given.

N—means that the denomination was lacking in the set as printed, hence absolutely cannot exist, for use in Sinkiang.

A blank space indicates a stamp not yet seen but which will doubtless be issued soon.

XM—calls attention to the two important minor varieties of this stamp: the maroon surcharge and the reversed-character error.

XW—means overprinted and issued, but now withdrawn.

NS—and NP means "not surcharged" or "not punched" so far as can be learned.

STRAGGLING ITEMS:—

WE have received a new Wholesale Price-list just issued by the Scott Stamp & Coin Co. It lists the albums, packets, catalogs, and other accessories published by this firm. Our attention is called to the fact that some new and important items have been added to their supplies, viz.:—the Luxor Hinge, Imperial Collectors Outfit, large sized transparent envelopes, and a new line of blank albums. No doubt a copy of this list will be sent any dealer requesting the same.

FRANK W. CRANE has a very fine article in the New York Times of Sunday, October 10, in which he deals with the great Exhibition. The title of his article is "Precious Stamps to be Seen Here" and it contains several illustrations of great rarities and pictures of Charles L. Pack, president of the Exhibition and T. W. Hall, president of the Royal Philatelic Society.

THE WEEKLY is receiving a considerable number of clippings dealing with the Exhibition. It is, of course, impossible and it would be unwise for us to use our space in more than a mere mention of the publicity that our hobby is now receiving from the metropolitan press. Will our friends please take this general word of thanks instead of individual mention? We appreciate all that our subscribers do for us in this direction and always reprint matter that we consider really worth while.

ELSEWHERE in this issue will be found the advertisement of H. & G. H. Jopling, a British firm which is conducting a new issue British Colonial service on a 5% above face basis. This is certainly an interesting proposition.

TWO errors occurred in the advertisement of the Cortlandt Stamp Co., October 4. The first line of Grenada should have read Nos. 68-74, ½d-1sh, and the Nyasaland No. 21 should have been 4sh instead of 5sh.

JOTTINGS

That lively emanation from the P. M. at Springfield, Illinois, the Postmark, is still issued, being issued monthly. It is a little sheet filled with hints for the more intelligent use of the mails and no patron will go to sleep while reading it. Springfield, we may add, is certainly to the fore on the airmail proposition.

"Old Wells Fargo Days" was the subject of an address by Mr. Grover B. Simpson at a recent meeting of the Illinois Relations Committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce. Mr. Simpson was with the famous express company during frontier days and has many a colorful tale to tell.

Philadelphia Branch No. 18 of the American Philatelic Society held a meeting on October 14th, to greet President A. H. Wilhelm of San Francisco, who stopped off at Philadelphia en route to New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore E. Steinway will hold a reception at the Steinway Salon on Monday, October 18, 1926, from four to six o'clock P. M., in honor of Mr. Thomas William Hall, president of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and Mrs. Thomas William Hall.

The following clipping has come from Mr. Wilson D. Wood who says that it seems to him that those interested in philately could get behind the bill with the idea of eliminating unsolicited approvals. The Better Business Bulletin of Kansas City is circulating the call:

"Complaints are constantly coming to this office from persons who have received unsolicited merchandise through the mails and then later received a bill for the goods. The only recourse left was to return the goods and refuse payment of the bill. This practice has proven to be a nuisance to those receiving the merchandise and has lowered confidence in advertising. The firms resorting to this method of forcing merchandise upon the public realize that many will send the money rather than go to the trouble and expense of sending back the unordered merchandise.

The Bureau has worked with the Post Office authorities to stop this unfair use of the mails. The public is also being educated to hold all such deliveries. Recipients of unordered merchandise are not obliged to return the goods; are not obliged to pay for such merchandise; are however morally asked to give such merchandise ordinary care, until the company's representative calls or sends for the articles.

A bill to prevent sending unordered merchandise through the mails has been introduced in Congress, and is now in the hands of the Committee on Post Office and Post Roads. Business men and firms interested in this bill are asked to get in touch with their representatives in Congress."

Success Beyond Belief

The International Philatelic Exhibition at New York Exceeds the Highest Expectations in Every Respect

THE STUPENDOUS ENTERPRISE ESTABLISHED PHILATELY IN THE FRONT RANK OF RECREATIONAL STUDIES

Stamp collecting has come into its own and no longer will it be content to take the side streets now that it has marched down the boulevard acclaimed by thousands. Basking in the warmth of enthusiasm shown by the press in the Exhibition, philately may well feel a quickened pulse; and a vast concourse of men and women, boys and girls, representing every station in life and phase of society, registered their approval of the great display. Judged by general exhibition standards, the stamp show was phenomenally successful and it was deemed by experts to be the best advertised of any exposition in many a day. In a philatelic sense, the stamps on view have never been equalled in variety, value and number. Experienced judges from abroad and habitual attendants at philatelic exhibitions gave testimony to that effect.

Thousands examined the many rows of frames, containing the richest philatelic offerings ever assembled together heretofore and found it almost impossible to absorb the bountiful range at one visit. All the booths at the Exhibition were taken and were hives of activity. At times it became impossible to wait upon all comers at the booths and under ordinary circumstances the crowd around many of the places was large.

The projectors of the Exhibition have written their names on the record of philately in golden letters. Never in their most sanguine hopes, dared they predict the consummation that is now philatelic history. Tired but triumphant, they may rest on their honors, even though it may never be known by many how much energy and time were expended by them in compassing the philatelic event of the century.

The announcement of the findings of the judges of the Exhibition were made at the grand banquet at the Astor Hotel on the evening of October 21st and was as follows:

Foreword

The Jury, in the first place, desire to place on record the fact that this Exhibition is by far the largest that has been held. The following statistics of the number of Stamp Exhibits speak for themselves: New York, 1913, 280; London, 1923, 304; New York, 1926, 480.

The comparison, however, does not stop here, because the size of the frames at this Exhibition is fully double that of those used at previous Exhibitions. It is a matter of satisfaction to find a much larger number of stamps displayed, and, therefore, available for inspection by the general public. Notwithstanding this, the size of the balance or remnants of the Exhibits remaining in the albums and which have been examined by the Jury, though not seen by the public, is much larger than heretofore.

The Jury desire to express their appreciation of the arrangements made by the Exhibition Committee for the display of the stamps.

The high standard of many of the Exhibits and their status as a whole have shown a distinct advance and this, coupled with keen competition in several classes, has brought about an increased appreciation of all the awards which the Jury have made.

The Catalogue of the Exhibits was compiled from descriptions sent in by their owners. When the stamps were displayed the Jury found that a few Exhibits were incorrectly allocated and judged them as if they had been shown in their proper classes and sections. It was necessary to transpose the following Exhibits: 27, from Class I, Sec. 12, to Class XIII, Sec. 7; 29, from Class I, Sec. 13 to Class III, Sec. 1; 39, from Class I, Sec. 18 to Class XI, Sec. 3; 47, 48, 49, from Class I, Sec. 21, to Class XI, Sec. 3; 120, from Class IV, Sec. 2, to Class XI, Sec. 3; 147, from Class IV, Sec. 4, to Class XIII, Sec. 19.

U. S. A. Cancellation Material

We are pleased to announce that Mr. Watson, who has just returned from abroad, has succeeded in locating and purchasing the biggest "find" of U. S. A. cancellation material that has ever come out of Europe.

This lot is of such size as to make it impossible for us to go through in its entirety. Accordingly, we are placing One Hundred Thousand Copies on the market, guaranteed unpicked and unseen for 35 years. Condition fine throughout and cancellation and paper varieties galore. We guarantee this statement because we know what has been found in one lot of only 15,000 copies.

This is bona-fide and we offer while one hundred thousand lasts:—

3 Cent Greens—all issued mixed, per 1000 ..... $20.00
2 Cent Vermilions—both issues, per 1000 ..... 25.00
1 Cent Blues—all issues mixed, per 500 ..... 20.00
2 Cent Browns, #210, per 100 ..... 2.00
4 Cent Greens—per 100 ..... 11.00
10 Cent Browns (209), per 100 ..... 4.00
3 Cent 1861, per 500 ..... 8.00

Orders for smaller quantities than stated above must be declined except in case of the 2c vermilions, which come to us in sealed packages of 500, so orders for this quantity will be filled.

We must decline all requests to look over our entire stock of any of the above, as UNPICKED means just that to you as well as the other fellow.

We can offer approval selections from the 15,000 that we reserved to pick for our own stock, mounted in books and each stamp priced separately.

FOUR JOVIAL BRITISH PIRATES

You have heard of the "Pirates of Penzance" and here are some of their relatives. Their home is in London. There is one queer thing about this, they are all stamp dealers, a most unusual circumstance to find pirates in the stamp trade. They sailed the briny seas in the "Orca" and made a peaceful conquest of the Exhibition attendants. Can you name them? Especially the blonde.

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

CANADA PROVINCE AND DOMINION IN THE NEW CATALOGUES

By E. E. GOODCHILD

Once again we have with us our old companion in all its glory, with its annual changes of prices and additional wealth of information, but alas! With its ever re-occurring error of the listing of Canadian issues.

Whether it be due to faulty knowledge of history, editorial indifference or interior management matters not, the fact remains that the first issue of the Dominion of Canada still retains its place as the umpteen number of Canada.

Thus the listing of the stamps of the Province of Canada have no more right to be listed other than such is patent by the fact that the compilers of the catalogues in their wisdom list the stamps of the Province of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, etc., under, and rightly so, their correct heading, so why not the Province of Canada and the Dominion of Canada? The first of the latter beginning with number one.

Under this arrangement we should attain several benefits. Firstly, those who are so disposed, could complete the collections of the Province of Canada with the last issue of such, viz., the 17c of 1859-64.

Then those who fight shy of commencing a collection of Canada, believing the strength of their purse strings insufficient to meet the demands of the higher values of the pence issues of the Province of Canada, could commence their studies and collection from number one, the half-cent black of 1868 of the first issue of the Dominion of Canada.

Last, but by no means least, we should be collecting upon a correct basis and the strength of any edifice is based upon its foundation.

U. S. ABANDONS AIR MAIL SERVICE

RATES OF POSTAGE TO BE REVISED IN PROPOSED PROGRAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Definite steps to give up the transcontinental and the overnight New York-Chicago air mail services are being taken by the Post Office Department. Within thirty days bids will be sought from contractors to take over the service, Postmaster General New announced today. The bids will be made returnable sixty days from the date of advertisement.

This delay is considered necessary to give bidders time to arrange for financing. At present no organization in the aviation field, postal officials said, is fully equipped mechanically or financially to operate the service.

"It has never been the intention of the Post Office Department to continue permanently in operation of the air mail service," said Mr. New. "It was planned merely to develop it to a point where its feasibility and practicability could be adequately demonstrated, and then, as soon as commercial flying companies became strong enough to handle such an enterprise, to relinquish the fruits of the department's pioneering.

"It is felt that the work of the department in this direction has pushed commercial flying in America several years ahead."

With the passage at the recent session of Congress of legislation vesting the Department of Commerce with authority to maintain flying fields and lighted airways, and with the continued growth and development of private air enterprise, the Postmaster General feels that his department may now gracefully step out.

The Postoffice Department has eighty-five airplanes and fifteen hangars on flying fields all of the way across the country, and shop equipment worth several million dollars, which probably will be disposed of advantageously.

Postmaster General New reiterated today his oft-repeated statement that no company can successfully operate a commercial air service on a mail contract alone, but must also be prepared to transport passengers and express. This condition, he said, would be all the more applicable to the contractor who takes over the present lines.

The Postmaster General and W. Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, in charge of air mail, are planning changes in air mail postage rates to make them uniform and provide a flat national air rate regardless of distan or other factors.

The present rates, complicated by t zone system and by a different basis pr vided by legislation for contract route are extremely conflicting. They are n only incomprehensible to mail patrons, b are not entirely understood by post clerks. The transfer of the transco tinental service to private contracto might make them even more confusing. N. Y. Times.

THE 2c WHITE PLAINS

There is a live Chamber of Commer in White Plains, N. Y. The followi is the meat of a circular letter whi shows the genesis of the special 2c:

"For your information the stamp this envelope is to commemorate the O Hundred and Fiftieth Anniversary of t Battle of White Plains. It is bei mailed to you the first day the stam are on sale. If this envelope with stan and cancellation date is kept intact, in few years it will have a value of mar times its cost.

The idea of this commemorative stam was conceived by the writer (Fred Brown, White Plains.—Ed.), who w appointed by the Chamber of Commerc the Chairman of a committee to get th Postmaster General to issue this stam There were six additional members t the committee and with the co-operatio of the Congressman, the Senator and ou good Col. William Muldoon, the stam was assured after three trips to Wash ington and one to New York.

We believe this a fine thing in an edu cational way for young stamp collectors and it should do White Plains no sma amount of good to have at least twent million of these stamps which is the firs issue, put on sale in White Plains an surrounding towns."

U. S. PHILATELIC BUREAU IS BEST

Government's Aid Copied by Canada and European Countries

(Clipping from W. M. Sisson.)

Philately, the study and collection of postage stamps, has grown to gigantic proportions in recent years. It is no longer a mere pastime of children or an old man's hobby. Many people in nearly all walks of life are interested in this fascinating "game." The army of collectors in this country and in other lands is ever increasing, reads an article in Pathfinder.

As a result of the great demand for stamps, the United States Post Office Department has established a government bureau or philatelic agency to cater to the wants of the collectors. This bureau was started in 1921 and is under the direction of the third assistant postmaster general. But the work was begun at the initiative of Second Assistant Postmaster General W. I. Glover, who conceived the idea of the section within the department to meet the philatelic demands.

Before the establishment of this bureau the man who wrote asking post office officials for a certain "well centered stamp," etc., was treated discourteously and called a "nut" by employees. During the first month of its operation the section took in over $4,500. Now it takes in about $100,000 annually, practically all of which is clear profit. This is due to the fact that stamps cost the government about six and a half cents per 1,000 for printing. When sold to collectors at face value the money is practically a gift, because no service is performed in return as in the case of stamps placed on letters, etc.

Uncle Sam's philatelic agency was the first of its kind in the world. But since it proved so practical, other nations have imitated the idea. Canada went so far as to send a representative to Washington to study the method used and copied the plan outright. Several foreign countries also modeled their philatelic departments after ours.

The philatelic bureau is located on the second floor of the city post office building at Washington. It does some local business and has an immense mail order business. When a philatelist calls at the office window he is waited on courteously by a lady clerk. She speaks the collectors' language. If he wants a "well-centered stamp," "plate numbers," "arrows," etc., he gets accurate and impartial service. Although no one associated with the agency is a philatelist, the employes are enthusiastic over their work. Five members of the office staff are kept busy with the mail order business.

With the exception of the month of December and a few hot days in the summer, the agency's business is said to be uniform. However, rush periods always occur when a new issue of stamps is brought out. This bureau has stamps of all current issues of the United States, as well as some sets now out of circulation, going back as far as 1902.

All its stamps are sold at face value, thus stamps may be obtained there at a much lower cost than they can be obtained through dealers. An entire set of United States stamps of the issue of 1923 can be had for a little over $10. The set includes 25 denominations, ranging from one-half cent to $5. In most cases, or whenever possible, it is claimed, the agency is careful only to sell stamps that are as nearly perfect as can be obtained.

Although the agency will take care of orders involving any amount of money, its business is chiefly with the private collector and small dealer. This is indicated by the fact that the average sale amounts to slightly over $6. The largest order ever filled by the section was the $20,000 order of a national chain store which bought a pane of the Harding memorial 2 cent issue to be placed in a window of each of its establishments. — Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

CONVENTION OF THE A.P.S.

At 10.10 A.M. on Monday, Oct. 18, 1926, President A. H. Wilhelm called the 41st annual convention to order and immediately got proceedings on their way. The beautiful hall at the Waldorf Astoria was tastefully decorated and high on one of the walls a welcome to the A. P. S. blazed out. The usual verbal preliminaries were lacking and while some of the delegates necessarily were at the Exhibition, there was a good number in the room when President Wilhelm read his report. This was succeeded by reports from other officers and committees, and the morning was well advanced when the convention committees were appointed. A report of the proceedings will be given in some detail next week, but we may say here that St. Louis was chosen as the seat of the next convention. All of the nominees, headed by Mr. Wilhelm, were re-elected to office. The Charles J. Phillips' Prize of a free trip to New York was bestowed on Mr. E. P. Seebohm of San Francisco, and the Charles Beamish Prize of $50 was given Mr. L. R. Saunders, these two members having led the list of proposers of new members. All of the new enactments proposed on the ballot were carried easily, and the changes in the by-laws were made substantially as tendered on the list sent to members with the ballot.

COOLIDGE OPENS STAMP SHOW

Turns Key Which Flashes Light at Grand Central Palace

More than 2,000 persons, including prominent stamp collectors in this country and abroad, witnessed the flashing of the light over the arcaded entrance to the International Stamp Exhibition at 2.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when President Coolidge turned the golden key in the White House, which was electrically connected with the Grand Central Palace. Charles Lathrop Pack, President of the Exhibition Committee in a brief address, said he hoped that "as the light shines throughout the coming week it will extend a warm glow of welcome and good friendship to all."

The exhibition occupied the fourth floor of the Palace, and in glass-covered frames more than 1,000,000 postage stamps from virtually all nations were displayed. Not only did the number exceed that of any other similar event here or abroad, but the greatest number of rarities were on view.

$32,500 Stamp Displayed

The celebrated British Guiana stamp for which Arthur Hind, textile manufacturer of Utica, paid $32,500 at the Ferrary collection sale in Paris a few years ago, is shown. There are several others which experts consider equally as valuable, among them being the fine Mauritius "Post Office" copies owned by Mr. Hind and Alfred F. Lichtenstein of this city, as well as some of the early United States and Confederate provisionals.

Thomas William Hall, President of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, said he regarded the present exhibition as the greatest in respect to value and conditioned stamps he had ever seen. Mr. Hall is one of the judges from England. Fred J. Melville, another English judge and founder of the Junior Philatelic Society, recalling the recognition in the international value of the exhibition by President Coolidge, told of the enthusiasm for the show expressed by King George, who has one of the finest collections of stamps of Great Britain and the British Colonies.

Puts Value at Over $10,000,000

"More than fifty leading British collectors have sent their best stamps here," said Mr. Melville. "Their value easily aggregates $2,500,000, and they are insured for that amount with Lloyd's. I should place the total value of all the stamps in the exhibition at fully $10,000,000, and when the large number of stamps in albums, which cannot be publicly shown but which will come under the inspection of the judges, is considered, their value will exceed that figure considerably."

Because of the publicity surrounding the $32,500 British Guiana stamp, publicly displayed in America for the first time, all the first-day visitors seemed impelled to look at that stamp first. It occupies a modest space in the frame of fifty rarities. Printed in black on a richly colored magenta paper, it stands out clearly on a white sheet below a rare pair of the British Guiana circular stamps of the first 1850 issue, 2 cents in value and in a pale rose color. That pair is worth more than $20,000.

Among other rarities are an 1878 2 cents, Fiji; Hawaiian "Missionary" stamps, 2, 5 and 13 cents; a pair of the Canadian 12-penny black on laid paper; Moldavian 27 and 81 paras; United States and Confederate provisionals.

Among the American exhibitors are: Colonel E. H. R. Green, Henry C. Gibson of Philadelphia, Arthur H. Lamborn; Edward R. Wood Jr. of Philadelphia, Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey, former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, Charles J. Phillips Jr., Judge Robert E. Emerson of Providence and Henry C. Needham.

The big English exhibitors include, Colonel George F. S. Napier, Benjamin Goodfellow, the Rev. C. S. Morton, William J. F. Stanley, Alexander J. Sefi, Captain Herbert R. Oldfield and Frank J. Peplow.—N. Y. Times.

F. HUGH VALLANCEY VISITS DETROIT

By Herman W. Boers, Publicity Mgr.

Accepting the invitation of the Michigan Stamp Club to visit Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hugh Vallancey, of London, England, were the guests of the Club, Monday, October 11. They arrived in the Motor City early in the morning and were met at the depot by W. C. Lancsweert and taken to the Hotel Fort Wayne for breakfast. During the day the visitors were given an automobile ride, which had been arranged through the courtesy of Albert C. Butzen, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. H. Preston Hoskins, and were shown about Detroit and other places of interest. The trip included a visit to the Ford Motor Company's Highland Park plant. Here they were shown how Fords were made. An hour was spent here inspecting the various departments.

In the afternoon visits were paid to several of the local collectors and dealers. At 7.00 p.m. came the banquet, which some fifty stamp collectors, members of the Michigan Stamp Club and the Detroit Philatelic Society, and their la attended. The arrangements for banquet were in charge of S. E. Andre Dr. Hoskins, acting as toastmaster, troduced Mr. Vallancey, who gave a sh address on the experiences and obser tions of his 20,000-mile trip through United States and Canada, where he numerous collectors and attended m meetings.

Following his address, Mr. Vallan gave a lecture, illustrated with lante slides, on the stamps of Great Brit beginning with the Mulready envelo down to the present time. His sli showed many of the rare varieties types of the different issues. The l ture was most interesting and those w attended no doubt have a much dee interest in British stamps, as a result Mr. Vallancey's careful and detailed scriptions. All were well pleased w his visit. At nearly midnight Mr. a Mrs. Vallancey took the train for N York, to attend the International Sta Exhibition. The Detroit papers gave British visitors considerable publicity.

Knocking Approval Cards

is a favorite indoor sport of one solitary dealer. It sure is funny when the same danger he warns against can be attributed to all Stock Books with pockets which he himself uses. Any collector or dealer thru careless use of hinges, tongs, envelopes, soiled fingers, etc., can damage stamps in every way. Users of "Approval Cards" know their value and how to use them. Stock Books and Cards have come to stay, even if my First Patent has expired. I have a new Patent on an Improved Card and am now considering an offer for it. Don't forget your bids for Sale 278 on Oct. 27th.

RARITIES EVERYMAN MAY OWN

THE REACTION OF MANY A COLLECTOR to the MARVELS OF THE EXHIBITION has been a REAL DISCOURAGEMENT. The RARITIES are all cornered—the NEAR-RARITIES soar in price, and sit in the hard-to-get pews—the HUGENESS of the stamp-collector's field,—ETC. It's all true. But when we go to the AUTO SHOW and pick out our next car, we won't want ALL OF THEM, we'll take a "PRICELER" or a "PRICELESS", according to our pile,—WE'LL CHOOSE. And the NEAR-RARITIES and the "FIFTY RAREST" were once "JUST ISSUED". Let's look for the "STAMPS OF THE FUTURE."

BRITISH EXHIBITS AT NEW YORK

British Philately has swum the Channel with a fine vengeance—the narrow channel that separates the Old World and the New, and has afforded the real thing in joy rides to the philatelic pilgrim. The magnificent array of British-owned collections and rare stamps assembled at the Grand Central Palace, New York City, is the most extensive ever sent from this country to an International Exhibition, and we feel sure our friends in America will take this as a fine compliment; for the prevailing industrial depression in England and the expense of sending exhibits to the United States might well have proved serious obstacles.

Many of the finest collections have been brought to New York, on behalf of their owners, by Mr. Frank Godden, Managing Director of the famous Strand firm of that name. Several of these have already received high awards, but have been added to since they were last publicly shown, and, through the courtesy of Mr. Godden, we are able to publish a few notes concerning these, together with a list of the principal exhibits.

Mr. A. J. Warren's world-famous collection of the stamps of Holland has been augmented by no fewer than six volumes since it was exhibited in London in May, 1923, when it won for him a Grand Gold Medal.

Another famous collection, Mr. Henry Harvey's magnificent specialized study of Victoria, has had five volumes added to it since it was last publicly shown.

So extensive and so varied are the British collectors' exhibits, that it seems invidious to enumerate any particular collection. In the Great Britain section we cannot resist brief commendatory notes, however.

Thus there is Dr. Gordon Ward's fine study of the Penny Red with Stars in upper corners, plated complete. We wager that very few specialists in the world could successfully accomplish such an arduous task as this. Dr. Ward, however, by dint of years of perseverance, has disclosed such a wealth of detail and interesting material that his collection, which is ably written up, should prove the key that unlocks the door to the "Stars" of the beautiful early penny stamp of Great Britain.

This country is also well represented by the collection of Mr. R. J. White, which contains mint blocks of all plates of the early issues, including the rare Plate 11 of the 1d black, also a superb block of twenty of the 2d blue "no line," and innumerable blocks of the subsequent surface-printed stamps.

Another of the stalwarts of the Old Country, Mr. B. Goodfellow, F. R. P. S. L., is showing what is probably the finest British-owned collection of the First Type of New Zealand, also a splendid lot of Prince Edward Island issues, and another study for which he is eminent—Re-entries or "Double Strikes." The New Zealand collection is mainly representative of the 2d stamp, which is displayed in an enormous range of shades arranged by dated postmarks, and there are many mint copies and rare perforations.

In the Prince Edward Island collection are complete mint sheets, while split provisionals abound, with many fine used entires and pieces.

Mr. Goodfellow's Re-entries comprise many countries and form a wonderful study that would enlighten many specialists and help them to discover dormant and unsuspected treasure in their own albums.

We must also mention the same Fellow's fine study of the 1 öre stamp of Norway, which is shown in mint and used examples, complete sheets, and partly reconstructed sheets.

Mr. George Ginger's exhibit is unparallelled in the annals of public displays of New South Wales stamps. His magnificent Sydney Views are replete with numbered cancellations and entires, proving the correct name of the respective post offices. Few philatelists could even commence such a task, for it is a matter of supreme difficulty to collect and collate the necessary material. It is no exaggeration for us to say that Mr. Ginger's collection of early New South Wales stamps is one of the finest in existence.

Captain H. R. Oldfield is showing a wonderful lot of Persia, particularly strong in the first type, including the unique strip of four 2 shahis with tête-bêche, also studies of Bosnia and the 5c Bolivia.

Mr. Fred D. Walters is exhibiting his splendid collection of Greece, and Dr. E. W. Floyd his famous Modena.

Mr. A. J. Séfi is showing (not for competition) a study of the second engraved issue of Saxony, which he has divided into plates, proving the possibility of reconstruction.

Appended is a list of the principal British exhibitors and their respective subjects, those marked with an asterisk being shown for the first time at an Exhibition of this character:—

Stamp Facts for the Beginner

We want our subscribers 18 years old and under who visited the New York Exhibition to write us about the ONE thing that was most enjoyed. If we print your letter you may expect a stamp reward. Remember—NOT OVER 50 WORDS WANTED AND FEWER IF POSSIBLE.

Another thing, will you boys and girls write us telling the WEEKLY what you would like to see in this department? We want to help you in every way.

Mr. Senior Collector

Do you think you could edit this department so as to interest the boy and girl collector? If so send in your copy and we will follow your suggestions as closely as possible and pay $10 for any contribution that meets our approval.

We could name a score of writers whose co-operation would be welcomed, such as Howes, Lindquist, Toaspern, Stiles, Hustis, Thompson, Rich, et al. We want a real beginner's department and would like copy such as might appear three months after one had taken over the department.

A Payer—Te Betalen

The only inscriptions shown upon the Postage Due stamps of Belgium in use since November 1, 1895. They both mean "to pay," referring to the amount of deficient postage to be paid on the delivery of the letter, the former being the French and the latter the Flemish form.

The Meaning of Wove Paper

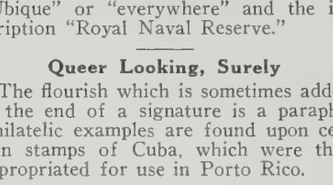
This is paper of a plain even texture such as is usually employed for books and newspapers. It is the one most generally used in producing postage stamps.

Trail of the Caribou

This is the name of a set of stamps issued by Newfoundland in 1918 to commemorate the part played by the forces of the Island in the World War. All values have the head of the Caribou, which is the regimental crest of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Eight values of the set are inscribed with names representing war engagement honors, while the remaining four have the word "Ubique" or "everywhere" and the inscription "Royal Naval Reserve."

Queer Looking, Surely

The flourish which is sometimes added to the end of a signature is a paraphe. Philatelic examples are found upon certain stamps of Cuba, which were thus appropriated for use in Porto Rico.



Our Hobby—Philately

The term by which the pursuit of stamp collecting is now almost universally known. The word is derived from the Greek philos, fond, and ateleia, exemption from tax, so that its connection with stamp collecting is not too obvious. The word was invented by M. Herpin, of Paris, about 1865, and, in its literal meaning, would appear to be more applicable to those gentlemen who have an aversion to taxation of any kind. Stamps upon a letter or document denote that the postage tax has been paid and that the article is thus exempt from further taxation. By a slight stretch of the imagination the term can thus be construed to mean "fondness for stamps." It is certainly obscure and ill-chosen, but it is now so generally used that it is too late to enquire whether a more suitable term could not be invented.

The Three "K. K. K."

These letters, placed in triangular arrangement on the Philippine insurgent stamps, were the initials of the first three words of the famous or infamous "Katipunan" society, a secret organization formed upon Masonic usage for patriotic purposes. It was the instigator of the various rebellions against the Spaniards and the power behind the so-called "Aguinaldo Government," its symbolism—a triangle enclosing a sun and three stars—appearing on the stamps as well. Its full name was Kataas-taasang Kalagayan Katipunan Nang Manga Anac Nang Bayan or "Sovereign Worshipful Association of the Sons of the Country."

"Day of Victory"

In 1918 Siam issued a set of stamps commemorating the end of the world war. The stamps were placed on sale at Bankok, Dec. 2, 1918. The entire issue of nine values was sold out in a few days. The overprint on the stamps, WUN CHAI, is in Siamese and means "Day of Victory."

A GRATEFUL DAD

A correspondent in Atlanta, Georgia, has favored us with a clipping from the Fortune Magazine, which is one of the best appreciations of stamp collecting for the boys and girls that has been found in print for some time. Here is the story: "My son, at the age of eleven, has gone in for stamp collecting, and it seems to be the best thing that ever happened to him. He has suddenly found a specific and understandable use for all the things he has been learning at school.

He now has a selfish interest in knowing the name and location of every country in the world. He conducts a vast correspondence with stamp selling agencies which forces him to write legible, well-composed letters. He receives great quantities of mail, containing valuable enclosures of stamps sent on approval. This enforces order and a complicated accounting system, for he must keep track of the stamps he keeps and send the proper payment and the 'returns' to the right agency. Since he was formerly allowed to spend only a limited amount of money for candy and movies, he depended on his allowance, and had no particular incentive to earn extra money by doing chores.

Now he begs me for the privilege of building a fire in the living room, for which he receives a nickel. One day, when he was desperately in need of thirty cents I could think of no chores, so I told him I would give him a dime for each composition of two hundred or more words on any subject he cared to write about. He delivered three themes and collected the money within twenty-four hours, and they were very well done."

Will the boys who want this department continued write us a letter and tell us what country they are specially interested in and why? Also ask us questions if you want to for this department, but don't send any stamps for us to return.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL
A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.
Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."
C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."
The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

STAMP MARKET GOSSIP

I am informed by a Dublin correspondent who "is in the know" that the new ½d, 5sh and 10sh definite Irish Free State issue are ready for the counter. This is being so, there is now a big rush for the late printings, and a market rise is certainly be anticipated very shortly. The Gibraltar 6d has made its appearance in a new shade, and judging from past experience the old shade with script watermark will eventually turn out to be a very desirable item. I certainly advocate this stamp being looked after.

An item of news which will interest many readers, and which I claim to be exclusive, is that no more 5d current Virgin Islands are available in the Colony. As no further supplies have been indented for, I have no hesitation in making this stamp my "Best thing of the Month." Readers should profit by this "inside" information.

I have on more than one occasion given it as my opinion that all 2½d orange stamps are likely to be good. I will go a step further now and emphatically state that it is a mistake to ignore the fact that all these are being superseded fast. Blank spaces should be filled at the earliest possible date, as witness the rapid advance in prices already, such as St Lucia, Montserrat, Leeward Islands, etc. The first named is now quoted at 2s each, and the others are following very quickly.

The 3d South West Africa Postage Due, De La Rue printing on Union of South Africa stamps, spaced 9½mm. between lines of overprint should be well worth acquiring, as the Pretoria printing on unwatermarked paper is now current. The former had an extremely short life, and already prices are beginning to soar.

STANLEY GIBBONS, Ltd., Dept. 20, 391 Strand, London, Eng.

I again wish to draw attention to the two stamps mentioned in these notes a month or two back. I allude to the 2½d olive and the 3d blue Bermuda current type. Of the two, I think the 3d will be the best, but neither should be ignored. This stamp is now exhausted in the Colony, and it is hardly likely to be reprinted, whilst supplies of the former are exceedingly low.

I note the rapid advance of the Egyptian Exhibition issue. Whilst admitting that this is a good set, and well worth having at ruling prices, I consider that the Geographical set will turn out to be the better, and have no hesitation in advising all my readers to secure these, as they are certain to keep on the upgrade for some considerable time.

An extremely difficult stamp to obtain is the 40 heller Czecho-Slovakia, 1925 issue (S.G. 234). This stamp is, in my opinion, greatly undercatalogued, and my information is to the effect that it has long been obsolete. It has never shown itself in this country in bank parcels, etc., such as the other denominations, and consequently I venture to think that it is non est in the majority of collections. I may have more to say about this stamp in my next month's notes.

By the time this is in print the Spanish Red Cross stamps will be already obsolete. This set cannot truly be classed as a Charity issue, as there is no surtax, but the fact that it has been issued in the interests of charity makes it an interesting item. I learn that one of our foremost New Issue services has decided not to send this set out to their clients on account of the probability of not being able to obtain them at face value. I have nothing to say regarding this, but my opinion is that this will not preclude the set from becoming one of the most popular issues of modern times. I am unable to deal very fully with this issue, which, by the way, includes Morocco, Tangiers, Cape Juby, Sahara, Guinea, as at the time of writing they have not made their appearance, but if published illustrations are anything to go by, the complete set will make a very fine show in any collection.—The Stamp Collector.

NEWSY ITEMS:—

A NEW price-list has just been received from A. H. Goetz, 7 W. 42nd St., New York City. It has 16 pages of attractive offers and will be sent to any address upon request.

WE are informed that A. Herbst, formerly publisher of the New York Philatelist and of the Perforator, is about to begin the publication of a new weekly theatrical magazine. Mr. Herbst will be the manager, and he announces that $100 will be given for a suitable title.

AN eight-page folder has been issued by the Rutherford, N. J., and the Saturday Afternoon Clubs, giving particulars of both of these organizations. It was distributed at the Exhibition. The Rutherford Club has 230 members and the Saturday Afternoon Club 70.

IT is suggested that any collector having surplus stamps to donate, may send them to the Children's Hospital, 300 Longwood Ave., Boston, Mass. The officials of the Hospital announce that such donations will be gratefully received, as many of the little patients are much interested in the hobby.

WE are indebted to Herbert S. Ackerman for some notes on the 2c White Plains stamp, in which he gives us the numbers upon the plates and certain other particulars. This stamp has been well covered by Mr. Ward, and we extend our thanks to our numerous friends who have written us.

WE have just heard of the death of Dr. Henry J. Perry, 19 Bay State Rd., Boston, Mass. Dr. Perry will be remembered by many of our readers, and we wish it were possible to give detailed information regarding his philatelic activities.

AT the last meeting of the Bronx Philatelic Society held at their Club room at 784 East 156 St., N. Y. C., the following officers were elected:—President, Morris Judas; Vice Pres., Arthur Lynch; Treasurer, Christian Burke; Secretary, Isidore Billig; Auctioneer, William Kimelman. Meetings are held the second and fourth Tuesday in the month. All visitors and collectors are welcome.

THERE will be a stamp exhibition by the Jamaica Philatelic Society on February 21-26, 1927. Entry blanks and other information can be obtained from the secretary, G. C. Gunter, Kingston, Jamaica.

A STAMP club for Summit, N. J., and vicinity has been organized and the first meeting was held Monday, Oct. 4, at the residence of Willis M. Pott, 133 Summit Av. The club now has a membership of seven and growing. Among the members are Dr. G. Ward Disbrow and A. C. Bode, formerly of the East Orange Stamp Club, Henry C. DeWitt, Jr., and A. H. Richardson. ATLAS STAMP CO. (P. C. Smith) West Somerville, Mass.

2c Battle of White Plains

This most interesting stamp is now available in panes of twenty-five, issued especially for distribution at the International Philatelic Exhibition at New York. It is of such a size that it will fit into the normal stamp album and will make a beautiful appearance. The variety differs in perforation from the sheets distributed through the post office.

For those interested in adding an unusual page to their collection, I take pleasure in offering a complete sheet of twenty-five of these stamps as issued at the Exhibition, a block of four of the same variety with the normal perforation 11 and four first day covers, that is, both perforations used from both New York and White Plains, the only two cities in which the stamp was officially placed on sale. These six items as a whole, mailed flat, at $1.50.

If you are looking for any of the other first day covers including the current series, the Huguenot-Walloons, the Lexington-Concords or the Norse-Americans used on day of issue, I will be pleased to receive your list.

2c White Plains Stamp Issued

When the branch Philatelic Agency at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York opened for business on the morning of October 18th and offered for the first time the 2c stamp, issued to commemorate the Battle of White Plains, there had already formed a double line one-half square long awaiting the privilege of buying these varieties. Those in attendance at the Exhibition continued to purchase so that the line was constant from the opening hour until the office closed at 9.30 P.M. During this time stamps having a face value of $9,000.00 were sold—the largest amount by far ever taken in by the Philatelic Agency.

The stamp has been fully described in this column previously and as informed last week, both the large and small sheets are perforated 11 instead of perforated 11 and 10 as we at first thought would be the case. The small panes of one hundred which are on sale at the Agency bear plate numbers 18770-71, 18773 and 18774. A fifth plate for making these small panes has been turned out bearing number 18772, but this is the plate in use at the Exhibition and impressions from it have not as yet reached the public. The stamps being printed at the Exhibition have attracted a great amount of attention and there is a crowd constantly around the roller hand press where impressions from this plate are being made. The branch of the New York post office kindly postmarked all first-day covers quite clearly and there is no doubt but what a larger number of these have gone through the mail than possibly any other first-day issue.

Dr. Jason Samuel Parker informs me that at White Plains there was a very substantial number of people purchasing the stamp, and that the mail from other cities was so large that it was necessary for the postmaster, Mr. Leroy Smith, together with his wife and children, to spend two evenings working well into the night in order to get the first-day covers ready for mailing on the 18th.

Dr. Parker kindly favored me with a very fine illustration taken from the painting by Mr. Edmond Ward of the subject that appears upon the stamp. A full description of this painting, together with information relative to the designing of the stamp, has been mentioned heretofore.

New Plate Numbers

Through the courtesy of Mr. A. W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, I have been enabled to continue our list of plate numbers up to and including those issued to Oct. 13th. In this lot we get our first Ericsson and Sesqui-Centennial stamps, as well as those issued to commemorate the Battle of White Plains. We also find on the list the first plates made for the 15c air mail.

Air Mail Notes

Contract air mail route between Philadelphia and Norfolk was established on October 10th per previous advice in this column. Covers sent on the first day bear the usual contract air mail postmark reading, "Philadelphia - Norfolk Route." There is one stop between the two points, namely, at Washington, D. C.

AUSTRALIAN COMMONWEALTH.—Messrs. J. H. Smyth, Ltd., have been informed by a Brisbane correspondent that in the Records Branch of the Post Office in that city there reposes a copy of the ½d denomination (in the King's head type) in brown. It may be remembered that brown was the colour originally proposed for the ½d value, when the changes, in consequence of the revised U.P.U. rates of postage, were decided upon in 1922. In fact, the ½d brown was listed in several catalogues about that time. It is evident that a supply of stamps was actually printed off before the colour was altered to orange, and it would be curious to know whether the ½d brown was ever distributed through the Berne agency with the "Specimen" overprint.—Stamp Collecting.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON'S BATTERY AT WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., OCT. 28, 1776.

THE NEW 2c WHITE PLAINS STAMP

First Day Covers Are Varied and Furnish An Interesting Study

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

While the 2c White Plains stamp was first placed on sale on Monday, October 18th, at both the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York, as well as the post office at White Plains, nevertheless, covers may be found canceled at the International Exhibition dated October 16th. This is due to the fact that the hand cancelling stamp used at the Exhibition was applied to ordinary mail on the opening day, Saturday the 16th. While the Exhibition was open on Sunday, the post office was closed and when it opened Monday morning, the clerk in charge canceled some letters before he discovered that he had overlooked changing the date. These covers, however, bearing the earlier date, were posted on the 18th.

The postage stamps printed at the Exhibition were all from plate No. 18772 and if the Department does not perforate the stamps which were produced at the Exhibition or run this plate later on for a supply for the Agency, this variety from this plate will not be available. The four other plates designed in order to turn out the small sheets of twenty-five bear plate numbers 18770, 18771, 18773 and 18774 and were all available at the branch Agency at the Exhibition. These small sheets like the larger sheets were perforated 11 and printed on unwatermarked paper. While I have not had the opportunity as yet of checking up impressions from these several plates, my attention has been called to a slight variety on the southwest pane from plate 18774. On the ninth stamp directly above the "S" of "States" is a large dot.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

Various of our subscribers have sent us first day covers of the new 2c White Plains stamp. In the number are the following—Raymond C. Schaffer, Metropolitan Stamp Co., Harry Ioor, A. E. Gorham, Dr. Jason S. Parker, Herbert A. Feaster, George B. Sloane, Wm. C. Steiger, Wm. F. Fell, P. M. Wolsieffer, Philip H. Ward, Jr., C. F. Richards.

There are some features in this group of covers worth noting. Two of them, the Schaffer and Gorham covers contained a circular exploiting the advantages of White Plains. It included a fine map of the city and surrounding country and also a story of the battle of White Plains, which was a part of the struggle for the Hudson River, between Generals Howe and Washington.

All of the above covers but two bear a New York cancellation and these two that of White Plains. The common cancellation consists of the words "International Philatelic Exhibition Station" in a black oblong rectangular frame. The White Plains cancellation is of the usual type.

It is of especial interest to note that the Feaster envelope and one mailed by Miss Wylie to our Beverly office are postmarked in red and circular in shape. The Feaster cover, singularly enough, is postmarked Oct. 16, 10 P. M. in error, and is the only cover bearing this date, that of the opening of the Exhibition.

THE PROGRESS OF AIR MAIL

AN INTERESTING ACCOUNT IN WHICH MAJOR JOS. A. STEINMETZ FIGURES

(Clipping from Philadelphia Record.)

The development of air mail service as part of the modern postal system has prompted the various Governments of the world who are making use of the airplane as a medium of speeding up their mail services, to issue special air mail stamps, which must be affixed to the letters and packages destined for conveyance by air in order to distinguish such mail from ordinary postal matter, which is to be handled in the orthodox manner.

The air mail stamps issued by the American and other Governments that established postal air services, because of their uniqueness and the artistry of their designs, have early attracted the attention of philatelists who began to foresee great potential philatelic value in the new stamps.

Among the pioneer collectors of air mail stamps, represented at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York, is Major J. A. Steinmetz, prominent in Philadelphia civic affairs and one of the leaders in American aircraft development.

Major Steinmetz, a mechanical engineer by profession, has been laboring for many years to bring his countrymen to a realization of the great national vision "America First in the Air." He was in charge of the aviation activities at the Sesquicentennial and one of the leading members of the committee in charge of the National Air Races, which were held here about a month ago.

Major Steinmetz's first interest in aviation began about 30 years ago, when he worked out certain steel-forged parts for Professor Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, which Langley used in his first successful flight experiment. He was president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania for six years and represented the city of Philadelphia and the aeronautic interests as chairman at the dedication of the Bustleston air field opening of the New York-Philadelphia-Washington Air Mail Service in May, 1918. He is also a member of the committee on aeronautics of the Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce and of the aeronautic committee of the American Society of Engineers.

Because of his deep interest in aviation, Major Steinmetz naturally made a specialty of collecting air mail stamps from the time they were first issued, and he has in his possession original stamps and wrappers of letters carried by famous aviators across the Atlantic and Pacific and across the remote deserts and tropical jungles.

Among the exhibits which he will display at the New York stamp show, will be a selected collection of 100 air mail covers from all of the important countries of the world, including priceless treasures dating back to the pioneer days of the air mail service. Among them are letters that were carried by American fliers in their circumnavigation of the globe; mail carried by Commander Richard Byrd on his recent polar flight; letters transported on the initial flight of the ZR-3—now the Los Angeles—from Germany to Lakehurst, N. J., and wrappers carried by the same dirigible on a visit to the West Indies. Major Steinmetz also had mail on the ill-fated Sikorsky biplane, which Captain Rene Fonck was scheduled to pilot on his New York-Paris flight.

Some of the stamps and wrappers in the Steinmetz collection convey stories of tragedy as well as of romance and adventure, such as the letters carried by the Shenandoah when the giant dirigible was destroyed in a whirling hurricane while soaring over Ohio about a year ago. These letters bring back sad memories of one of the tragic catastrophes in the history of aviation.

There are also included in this notable collection, which is valued at many thousands of dollars, mail carried across the Atlantic in the British dirigible R-34; letters carried by Alcock and Brown on their flight from Newfoundland to Ireland, a feat which marked the successful accomplishment of the first trans-Atlantic flight; writings borne by Sir Ross Smith on his flight from London to Australia, and mail carried by Hocker when he flew from Labrador across the Atlantic and crashed in the North Sea off the coast of Scotland. Hocker was rescued and the mail carried in his plane was dried and ironed and then delivered safely to the addresses.

In discussing the history of the air mail service, Major Steinmetz traced it back to antiquity, based on the story of Noah in the book of Genesis, who, he pointed out, established the first pigeon post when he sent the dove from the ark which brought the "greenback"—denomination unspecified. The return to the ark of the dove with the olive branch proved to Noah that the flood waters had receded to such an extent that dry land was once more visible and enabled him to make a safe landing with the ark.

In the United States the beginning of the air mail service dates back to 1911, when for the first time experimental flights were made to carry letters by air to mail steamers leaving or arriving in port, and the envelopes used on these flights are now numbered as great philatelic rarities.

For several years thereafter scores of short experimental flights were authorized by the Post Office Department, mainly through the effort of pioneer spirits, who saw the great vision of making America foremost in aviation, and the "flown covers" used on these flights are also prized very highly by collectors today.

It was not until quite a few years later that the various Governments of the

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

UNITED STATES ISSUES 1870-1900

Dr. Wm. Evans, Editor,
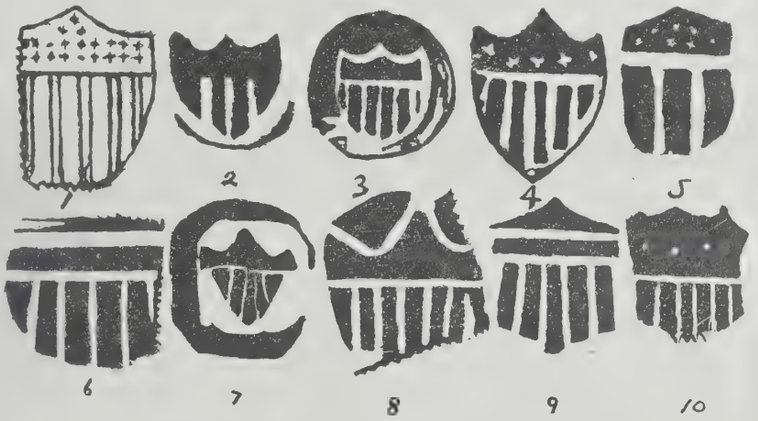
313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

(Any letter requiring a reply must have a self-addressed stamped envelope. No attention can be given matters that do not belong to the years indicated. What can you contribute of interest?)

A group of shields — patriotic — and some of them quite ornamental. All in black except Nos. 2 and 7. No. 2 is purple and No. 7 blue, and is the only one not on a 3c green stamp. This one is on a 6c Cont. Dr. H. A. Robinson contributes Nos. 6 and 8 and H. C. Reinhart No. 5 on a pair, each stamp being cancelled by the shield, and making a very pretty item.



As so often happens only two of the shields with stars have any shape to the stars. The others are spots, and Mr. Atherton called attention to this a short time ago.

No. 7 was used at Chicago, Ill., as was shown by a postal card received some time ago from O. J. Klinger, with what seems to be this same cancellation. It is also known on 3c green.

John W. Ross has sent a little lot of cancellations, on 2c 1883 and 1887, part on covers, and the others on pieces bearing postmarks as well as the stamps. Many of them are from Virginia. Salem, Va., is represented by a colorless H in a black block—round, and a colorless S in a black block with notches around its outer circumference. Roanoke, Va., shows the use on a 2c 1887 of a small hollow square of rather heavy lines 11mm long and 2mm thick. It is really a very neat little design. Weyerhoeffers Store, Va., has a postmark 37mm in diameter and a solid star in a circle for an obliterator on a 2c 1883, and Dayton, Va., has the same kind of a star. These are both purple.

Whites, Va., used a P.O.D. monogram on a 2c 1883 nicely tied by the obliterator. This is quite a different place from Blacks and Whites in another part of the state.

Here are two stamps each cancelled by a large D. One is a 3c re-engraved used in 1883 at Guineys, Va., and the other a 2c 1883 from Chineys, Va. Both on covers. Here's a chance to do some calisthenics with your imaginations.

W. F. Goerner sends an official size cover with a Dept. of Interior frank, and just to the left of it a 5c brown Garfield stamp, postmarked Washington, D. C., Jul. 25, '87. It is addressed to Panama, U. S. Colombia. U. S. S. "Mohican" care U. S. Consul. In the lower right corner is a pair of 10 centavos orange stamps of the Colombian Republic of the 1886 issue, cancelled by the postmark Agencia Postal Nacional, Panama 10 Ago. The year cannot be deciphered but is no doubt 1887. Beside this postmark is an oval grid of nine heavy bars. On the left is part of a printed notice. Not enough of it is left to say what message it carried. Near the center is a large T in a circle with small letters N. Y. above the T, and that probably explains the presence of the Panama stamps. The letter was doubtless overweight and these stamps were used as Postage Due stamps, to collect the unpaid postage for the excess weight.

Concerning the vertical ellipse used on Supplementary Mail at New York, and illustrated as No. 5 in the Aug. 16 issue, Dr. W. L. Babcock calls attention to the fact that the obliterator and postmark were fastened together on a hand stamp, and were in possession of the foreign mailing clerks only. Therefore unless identical figures were used in some other city, and it's not likely they were, the figures 1 and 2 of this particular shape may be said to be Supplementary Mail markings, and to identify stamps on which they are found as having been used for this purpose. This ought to have been deduced from what Dr. Babcock said in the May issue of the American Philatelist, concerning these cancellations.

A. H. Albert has sent a 1c re-engraved with U. S. Mail monogram cancellation, which is very interesting but not quite heavy enough to see through tracing paper.

H. C. Woodruff reports No. 2 of the Sept. 13 issue on a cover from South Orange, N. J. That locates this one definitely and is just the kind of information that is greatly appreciated concerning cancellations, but which so infrequently comes to hand.

Geo. W. Corwin has sent some interesting covers. A 2c 1887 stamped envelope marked COLLECN & DISN BUFFALO, N.Y. JAN. 1. TRIP 4 WAGON No. 1.

A second cover of the same issue marked ROCHESTER N.Y.
CAR COLL SERVICE B OCT. 7. 7 P.M.

A cover from Japan with two back-stamps 1. P.O.N.Y. PAID ALL and THIRD AVE. DIST. CAR. N.Y. CITY. This was used in 1898.

And a cover from St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 29, 1904, to Norwood, Ohio, with three back-stamps 1. CINCINNATI, O. in a circle, 2 STATION H RECEIVED in an oval, and 3 CD — — — OHIO VIA CIN & ST. L. R.P.O. in a circle, with the date in the center surrounded by another circle.

And in this same class C. W. Parker sends several covers addressed from various places to Omaha, Neb., with this back-stamp: RECD OMAHA NEBR VIA OMAHA & OGDEN in two lines at the top following the curve of a circular frame. At the bottom TR4 and in the center the date in three lines surrounded by a circle. These are all dated 1895.

These two are the first R.R. markings of this character which have come to my attention, and their significance is unknown to me. Can someone explain why they were used? Anyone got any other examples to submit?

One of Mr. Palmer's covers mailed at David City, Nebr., has the stamp cancelled by a large T surrounded by a circle which impinges upon each arm of the letter. Or is it a letter? It could be a cross and have some religious significance. Any one know?

PRECANCEL STAMP SOCIETY CONVENTION

The P. S. S. convention opened at 10 A. M., Thursday, October 21st, at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, New York City. Mr. D. D. Berolzheimer, representing the New York members, delivered the opening address, welcomed all to the convention and introduced Mr. John L. Parker, president of the Society. President Parker introduced Mr. W. L. Gates, of Teaticket, Mass., one of the oldest members. After Mr. Gates had spoken a few words of greeting, Mr. Parker gave his report as president, followed by the report of the secretary and other officers and committees. Secretary John Spaulding was given a vote of thanks for the work he had done as secretary and the work done as editor of the Precancelist. The Credentials Committee reported John L. Parker and John Spaulding re-elected to office. The subject of junior membership was discussed and it was decided that juniors be admitted at one-half ($1) adult dues. To increase the junior membership Mr. V. W. Rotnem proposed that the Society advertise in various boys' magazines. He further proposed that a fund be raised for this purpose and he generously offered to start it with ten dollars. In ten minutes the fund reached exactly One Hundred Dollars in Cash. A remarkable achievement

The second session opened Friday morning at 10 A. M. and lasted until 6 P. M. The new revised constitution was read and adopted; the subject of adopting a button was laid on the table; it was decided to continue publishing the Precancelist as a quarterly under the name The Precancel Gazette, with Prof. A. F. Gamber as editor. The balance of the time was spent in discussing the catalog, pricing, listing, fakes, etc. Full verbatim report of the convention, election results and membership list will appear in the next year book, to be published shortly.

The banquet, held Friday night, was indeed a wonderful success. Thirty-three members and visitors were present. The convention wound up with a Precancel auction of over 300 lots, staged by Messrs. Hoover Brothers. The auction contained a fine variety, good quality, and some really rare items. The bidding was quite spirited and many uncommon items brought high prices. It is indeed an honor to be a member of the P. S. S., to know the men that make up its roll, to see the spirit of good fellowship portrayed in such sincerity; it was a pleasure to be present at the convention and banquet. The co-operation of all collectors of precancels is desired; you need the P. S. S.; it needs you. An application blank may be obtained from John Spaulding, secretary, New Berlin, N. Y.

DEATH OF DR. BOWERS

On Friday, October 22, Dr. Wm. C Bowers of Bridgeport, Conn., visited the New York Exhibition, and upon the following day he was stricken with heart disease at a friend's house and died immediately. His sudden death has greatly shocked the entire community, even as it will surprise his many philatelic friends. Dr. Bowers is well known as a stamp collector and the files of the WEEKLY will bear testimony to his interest in our hobby. He was seventy-five years of age, prominent in church activities and a member of several clubs.

MR. MELVILLE VISITS AMERICA

Mr. Melville has a very warm place in the affection of American philatelists and his third visit to our shores has been greatly appreciated. It is quite apropos for us to reprint the skit of Chas H. Fowle, who in 1906 commented thus wise upon Mr. Melville's first visit:—

"What's this I hear about a big furrin collictor being in Boston?" asked Finnerty.

"It's true," says Undooley, "his name is Melville; he's a little fellow, but he's a big gun in sthamps."

"What did he iver do?" says Finnerty.

"Well," says Undooley, "he wrote the 'A.B.C.'"—

"Hold on right there," broke in Finnerty. "Adam wrote the 'A.B.C.'; how could he spell his own name and Eve's if he didn't?"

"If ye hadn't butted in," says Undooley, "I would have finished me say an' told ye it was the 'A.B.C. of Sthamp Collicting' he wrote, an he also wrote siveral other books, an' he's prisidint av the Junior Phil. Society av London, England."

"He's English, is he?"says Finnerty.

"He are! Hav ye anything agin him on that account?" asked Undooley.

"I made wan av thim run wance," says Finnerty.

"Go on, I don't believe it," says Undooley.

"I did," insisted Finnerty, "but he couldn't catch me."

"Very funny av yees," says Undooley, "but I haven't time to laugh now. Thin besides writing several books he lectures, an' has travelled round a great deal, an' he wrote a play, 'The Lady Forger,' which had enormous success—for wan night."

"He's a busy little lad I shud think," says Finnerty.

"Yis, he worked night an' day in England," says Undooley.

"When did he slape?" asked Finnerty.

"He didn't slape. He just closed his eyes now an' thin. They don't slape in England for fear if they turn over they might fall off the edge."

"How do they stand it?" asked Finnerty.

"Whin they git all tired out they run over to the Continent to rest, an' that's the reason he came here," says Undooley.

"Has he found rest here?" asked Finnerty.

"Well, the lads have run him all over Boston afther it. Wylie, Kelley, Bartels, Howes, Lombard, Carpenter and others have hustled him around, but I don't think he's found it yit," says Undooley.

"Doesn't he kick a bit at any av it?" asked Finnerty.

"Yes, he drew the line at climbing to the top av Bunker Hill Monument, but they got him into Cob's elevator an' tuk him to the top of the sky scraper where the 'Hub Sthamp Co.' is," says Undooley.

"He's a brave lad to go in that," says Finnerty. "Hav he seen any other av the colonial relics in Boston?"

"Yis, he saw the State House an' Faneuil Hall, an' S. Allen Taylor, but it's too bad he cuddent see the little stove Wylie had in the old office at 355 Washington Street," says Undooley.

"That ud be a foine stove to use during the coal strike," says Finnerty, "it wudden burn a hod av coal a week."

"Is Melville a spicialist?" asked Finnerty.

"He are on Sarahwhack," says Undooley.

"Where in the wurruld is that?" says Finnerty.

"It's part av Borneo," replied Undooley.

"I'm just as near to it now as I ever was," says Finnerty. "How far is it from South Boston?"

"Well, I really dunno," says Undooley, "but it's too far for a Sunday fishing trip. He also is hot after Great Britain plate numbers—"

"Well, if I kin git all the food I want on me plate, I don't give a hang for the numbers. To till the truth I didn't know they were numbered."

"I won't try to explain it to ye, Finn," says Undooley, "for that little brain of yees has got about all it kin attind to for wan avening, but it wud really tickle ye to see Wylie taking the little feller round town. He's nearly run the legs off av him."

"How's that he did it," asked Finnerty.

"Running him by the liquor shops," says Undooley.

"Don't the little feller ever drink anything?" asked Finnerty.

"About two barrels av wather since he met Wylie," says Undooley.

"Can't the society for the previntion av cruelty to animals do anything about it?" asked Finnerty.

"They hardly like to," says Undooley, "whin the parties seem to be rational otherwise, but I'm afeared they'll git the little feller so waterlogged he'll sink going back if they let Wylie steer him round much more."

"Whin do he go back?" asked Finnerty.

"To-morrow morning bright and early he leaves Boston for New York City, where for five or six days he will dash into the whirl av excitement and make up for the quiet an' rist he hav enjoyed in deer old sleepy Boston."

"Well, be the powers, ye may talk about Prisidint Roosevelt's strenuous life, I think Melville cud give him some points on 'how to be up and doing' that wud joggle aven Tiddy a bit," says Finnerty.

"Well, there's wan thing, there ain't much av him to git tired," says Undooley.

"I suppose he'll slape all the way back," says Finnerty.

"More like he'll write a couple av books an' a play in his state-room just to kill time," was Undooley's rejoinder.

EDITORIAL

The great International Philatelic Exhibition has passed into history as marking the most glorious consummation ever attained by philately. It would be impossible to exaggerate the success and significance of the undertaking that has transcended all anticipations; and to quote the experienced manager of "expositions" who superintended the housing of the Exhibition, our show was "a howling success." judged by standards dissociated in any way with philately. Further, the testimony was offered that the Philatelic Exhibition was the best advertised affair of the kind that has been held for many a day; and it is safe to say that all New York knew of the stamp display, because of the liberal treatment of it in the columns of the papers of the city. The attendance exceeded all expectations and we are told that on one day the receipts were eight hundred dollars and as many of the patrons had tickets that they received from friends or dealers, this amount is not a reflection of the number present at the time. The last day, Saturday, October 23rd, was the banner session and the number of visitors was estimated at ten thousand. It was seen that many collectors became habitual attendants and at times there were delegations from schools and societies in charge of teachers and professors on the floor. The number of the clergy in attendance was noticeable and, all in all, we doubt whether any vocation was not represented in the crowds. The booths occupied all the space that could be allotted for their purpose and the indications are that those who bought the privileges were rewarded for their enterprise, as during much of the time the stalls were scenes of activity. Some weeks ago we said that it was not likely that the public would crash the gates for admittance, but here we recall our words, because there was the familiar "veritable crush" awaiting the opening of the doors to the public on the first day of the show. At times the crowds in the hall were so large that they filled the spacious floor and that the visitors, both large and small, were orderly and interested need not be said. The total attendance figures, while not available at this time, are certainly large. There were no free days and on one occasion the services of two ticket sellers were needed. By sheer weight of the number of people who went to the Exhibition the great stamp display was an outstanding event that will always live in the lore of philately.

It is certain that the most hopeful expectations of success for the Exhibition were more than matched by reality. No one could have foreseen the grand climax, because it is an axiom that no prophet can foretell the reactions of the public mind with certainty. Everything had been done to ensure the success of the occasion and the practical test was awaited with a tremor or two on the part of the workers, and it developed that the managers of the big machine had it headed in the right direction. The public responded and this meant that the requisite of attendance was met. The stamps were in hand and it was found that the people would come to see them. The first hour proved that the Exhibition was a hit and the satisfied customers, as it were, spread the news about that treasures were to be found in the house of philatelic wonders. There were no off-days and it was apparent from the start that the persons who engineered the Exhibition had made the proper approach to the man on the street or the boy on the corner, who had a liking for stamps. Before the Exhibition had become an actuality it had been said so many times in this course of conversation that the benefits that would follow a successful show would be of incalculable good to our pursuit that we shall not repeat the old story. It is not necessary to speak now of the thousand and one favoring influences that have been born through the Exhibition, we shall see for ourselves. The publicity that was received by the display was almost inconceivably great, as we have been told that no fewer than eight hundred newspapers throughout the land had something to say about the occasion. Not a few of the notices were in the form of editorials, commendatory of the great event. The marvelous City of New York was the only place in this country where so stupendous a project could have been carried to perfect fruition, and due acknowledgment is made of this fact. The splendid results that have been achieved must relieve the taut nerves of the projectors of the huge affair, who, in their philatelic omniscience, provided for every contingency, it seems. Surely the participants in Exhibition Week who came from a distance pledge their appreciation of the work that was done for their delectation. Well they may, because as one of the distinguished visitors said, this great Exhibition required brains, above all, for its fullest expression.

The stamps shown were such as to make a profound impression by their kind and number. Competent observers said that in value and range, the character of the displays was never before equalled at any event of the kind. The maximum amount of insurance, amounting to millions of dollars, was placed on the exhibits and there were no untoward incidents, such as fire or theft, to detract from the pleasure of the occasion. The place was well-guarded by officers, who followed their instructions, and in every respect the most approved regulations were enforced. The exhibits held material, the examination of which required hours of time, and if one were to examine all the stamps, literature, etc., carefully, several days would be consumed. As a whole, the Exhibition was a striking commentary of the advanced plane of latter-day philately, and no collector was at a loss to find something to see, it booted not what his preference was. The ordinary collector was not neglected, through the wisdom of the president. The philatelic research shown in some of the exhibits was remarkable. While there was an example of unusual popular appeal here and there, it was noticeable that in the aggregate all the stamps received attention. The rarity class appealed to many patrons and the unique British Guiana and the Post Office Mauritius proved that they were stamps that often were described in print, and as natural, the Boscawen postmaster was a lode-star, again showing the potency of advertising. The ten classes, from Philatelic Research to Exhibits by Governments, Manufacturers, Engravers, Engineers and Printers, now seem almost dream-like in quality and quantity. It is impossible to visualize the exhibits as a whole, we find, after having looked at it piece-meal, but each visitor carried away with him or her a fleeting vision of the philatelic Valhalla that does not embrace the details, even though parts are vividly remembered. The week seemed all too short and those who were so fortunate as to have attended this triumph of philately would give much to be allowed to repeat the wonderful experiences made possible during those shining dates, October 16th to 23rd. 1926.

The prestige and novelty afforded by the presence of foreign philatelists were realized by all the visitors from the country and the opportunity to meet the distinguished group was considered an enviable one. The prominent guests from abroad gave the Exhibition a distinction that was recognized and the attendance of not a few of the exhibitors and others from Europe, South America and Australia, not to mention Canada, was an inspiration to all of our own collectors. The great names borne by some of the strangers within the gates, so far as their physical entities were concerned, were known to many of us and due reverence was given to these visitors who had travelled many days and nights to pay tribute to the monumental work that had been wrought for the edification of philatelists the world over and to voice their opinion that it stood forth as a magnificent achievement that would stimulate philatelists for time to come. The guests enlarged upon the hospitality that they had received. International good-will has been greatly cemented by the New York Exhibition and this fact was stressed by speakers of the day and evening, as were.

THANK YOU!

To the Members of the Stamp Fraternity:

We take this occasion to express our grateful appreciation of the generous co-operation and assistance which the entire Stamp Fraternity so kindly rendered us during the recent International Stamp Exhibition in New York. Although we were "outsiders" and the only Coin Dealers exhibiting, your efforts in our behalf were a source of gratification to us, and in no small measure, were responsible for the success of our COIN EXHIBIT.

Yours very truly,

LICHTENSTEIN WINS GRAND TROPHY

INTERNATIONAL DINNER AT THE HOTEL ASTOR MARKED BY ANNOUNCEMENT OF AWARDS

At the International Stamp Exhibition dinner at the Hotel Astor, John N. Luff, Chairman of the Board of Judges, announced that the grand trophy, the highest award, had been won by Alfred F. Lichtenstein of this city for his collection of the stamps of Uruguay. The trophy is a bronze statuette of an American Indian. The conditions stipulated that this prize should be given to a single collection of outstanding merit and to which a palm of honor had been awarded

Of the twelve palms of honor, Mr. Lichtenstein received two and also won seven gold medals, outstripping Arthur Hind of Utica, who received two palms of honor and three gold medals. Mr. Hind's two palms were for his United States stamps, acknowledged to be the best in the world, and his Mauritius stamps. His gold medals were won in the rarities class, the Native Indian States and Spain. Mr. Lichtenstein's two palms of honor were for his Uruguay and British Columbia with Vancouver. He won gold medals for his exhibits of Western Franks, Buenos Aires, Canadian pence issues, Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, Mauritius and Cape of Good Hope.

The other palm of honor winners with their exhibits were: Dr. Carroll Chase, Brooklyn, United States 3-cent issue, 1851-57; Senator J. A. Calder, Ottawa, Canadian cents issues; Dr. Emilio Diena, Rome, old issues of Naples; A. H. Caspary, New York, United States carriers; Adolph Passer, Czechoslovakia, Turkey; Frank J. Peplow, London, Japan; Michael Van Gelder, Belgium, Classic issues of Europe prior to 1870, and W. E. Hawkins, New York, for his general collection of unused stamps of the world in seventy-two volumes. — N. Y. Times, Oct. 22.

His collection of Uruguayan stamps, some of them misprinted and many paled with age, brought to the President of an international business firm one of his happiest moments, when last night, as nearly a thousand philatelists at a dinner at the Hotel Astor, applauded him. Alfred F. Lichtenstein of this city received an award for having the best display at the International Stamp Exhibition here.

A loving cup, in token of long devotion to stamp collecting, was presented to Dr. Emilio Diena of Italy.

Philatelists spend $125,000 yearly with the United States postal service's department for stamp collectors, Robert S. Regar, Third Assistant Postmaster General, told the gathering. Thomas William Hall, President of the Royal Philatelic Society of London, England, also spoke.

Twelve awards of merit were made, as follows:

Class 1, section 1, Dr. Carroll Chase; section 8, J. A. Calder, Canada; section 20, Dr. Emilio Diena, Italy; class 1-A, Arthur Hind, for a general collection of the United States; class 2, section 4, A. H. Caspary; class 3, section 1, Alfred F. Lichtenstein, for the championship display; section 3, Adolf Passer, Prague; class 6, section 3, Alfred F. Lichtenstein, for issues of British Columbia and Vancouver Island; section 7, Arthur Hind, for Mauritius; class 7, section 2, Frank J. Peplow, for Japanese issues; section 6, Michael van Gelder of Belgium, for European issues; class 12, section 1, W. E. Hawkins, for a world collection.—N. Y. World, Oct. 22.

THE JUDGES

The work of the judges in scrutinizing the huge number of stamps and adhering to the line of duty, without a deviation, was of such a character and volume as to make one realize that it was not beer and skittles for them but nerve-racking labor that was not wholly relieved by the fact that they were contrasting flowers in a congenial field. The general high standard of the stamps made the task of judging a delicate one and it is something to be able to say that the judges emerged from their protracted deliberations with collected minds. So many considerations entered into the comparisons instituted by the expert observers that it would be difficult to enumerate them all, but it is merely fair to say that these men worked with all intentness and intelligence. The mission of the judge is a thankless one and the duties that he must perform are not of the most engaging nature, which the question of satisfying all competitors arises. It is a good sign, that knowing all this, there are men of training and experience in philately who will immoliate themselves, to stretch it a bit, on the sacrificial altars. The awards that were made and first announced at the Exhibition Banquet on the evening of October 21st, were the subject of much comment of approbationary kind and the news of the results was cheered by the banqueters.

FOR CO-OPERATION EXTENDED

We owe a debt of gratitude to Charles J. Phillips of New York City, for the aid extended in connection with the issue of our special number of October 4. With his pen and voice he helped materially in the production of our great number, and we thus publicly acknowledge his splendid co-operation. Few know the tremendous amount of energy and time that Mr. Phillips gave to the Exhibition, but it can be truly said that he contributed tremendously to the success of this enterprise.

Charles Lathrop Pack was congratulated upon all sides, not only at the success of the Exhibition, but also the great dinner over which he presided. Mr. Pack built himself very largely into the functions of the week. His forcefulness, his zeal and withal his purse were offered without stint.

The WEEKLY is indebted to Hans Sergl of N. Y. City and Stephen Khanzardian of New Britain, Conn., for framed stamp designs which attracted a great deal of attention. E. J. H. Halvorsen of Salem, Mass., also furnished three large cards of first flight air-mail envelopes, which interested the passers-by.

To the many others who have contributed to the success of the week spent in New York, we express our thanks and appreciation. The event was too large to be covered in any one number of the WEEKLY. Indeed, there will be lasting value to the benefits that have come from this International Stamp Exhibition which Thomas William Hall, President of the R.P.S., declared to be "the greatest philatelic event the world has ever known."

Stamp Facts for the Beginner

We want our subscribers 18 years old and under who visited the New York Exhibition to write us about the ONE thing that was most enjoyed. If we print your letter you may expect a stamp reward. Remember—NOT OVER 50 WORDS WANTED AND FEWER IF POSSIBLE.

Another thing, will you boys and girls write us telling the WEEKLY what you would like to see in this department? We want to help you in every way.

Mr. Senior Collector

Do you think you could edit this department so as to interest the boy and girl collector? If so send in your copy and we will follow your suggestions as closely as possible and pay $10 for any contribution that meets our approval.

We could name a score of writers whose co-operation would be welcomed, such as Howes, Lindquist, Toaspern, Stiles, Hustis, Thompson, Rich, et al. We want a real beginner's department and would like copy such as might appear three months after one had taken over the department.

Alsace and Lorraine

Boys and girls, here's a little essay on a Franco-German province. What can you do with your favorite country? Not over 100 words and a stamp prize if we print your article.

An important territory of the German Empire forming its southwest border next to France. The German name for the province is "Elsass-Lothringen," and they have had a somewhat chequered history. Originally part of the old German empire, the territory was partly transferred to and partly seized by France between 1648 and 1697. In the Franco-German war of 1870-1 it was reclaimed by Germany. During this war special stamps were issued for the use of the German Army in those parts of France temporarily occupied and they were afterwards used provisionally in the annexed provinces of Alsace and Lorraine until superseded by the ordinary stamps of the German Empire. The stamps bear no name, but consist of the word "POSTES" and value in centimes on a network background.

Aero Mail

This refers to mail carried by means of aeroplanes. It can, of course, only be identified from ordinary mail when special postage stamps or special cancellations are used in connection therewith. Until recently the carrying of mail by aeroplane has only taken place between certain localities on special occasions and all such mail has been marked with distinctive cancellations. Foreign governments have inaugurated more or less permanent services by aeroplane and hydroplane and has issued special postage stamps for franking matter sent by these services.

Control Numbers

These are numbers stamped upon the margins of some sheets of stamps as a check or control on the number of stamps contained in a given supply. Sometimes the figures are preceded by a consignment letter thus:—"F 10975." In this case the group of figures refers to a particular sheet in the "F" or sixth consignment. Other numbers are found preceded by a value, thus "3d 23589." In this case the control numbers are impressed before the stamps are printed and they serve as a check on the number of sheets of watermarked paper intended for a particular value in stock at the printing office.

Meaning of "Buiten Bezit"

The last word is a contraction for "Bezittingen" and the whole means literally "outlying possessions." These words were overprinted on the then current stamps of the Dutch Indies in 1908, and they were issued for use in all the islands with the exception of Java and Madura, which had a separate series. The object of the overprint was to ascertain the volume of correspondence within the group with the object of reducing the postal rates and these overprinted stamps were only in use for a few months, from June, 1908.

What Is a Pane

A pane is one of the divisions of a sheet of stamps usually separated from the others by a width of margin. Most large sheets of stamps are divided into two or more panes or blocks. Thus most of the sheets of British colonial stamps consisting of 240 examples are divided into four panes of 60 specimens each, the upper and lower panes being separated by a comparatively wide strip of margin while a narrower margin divides the panes vertically. The guide lines on United States stamps serve a similar purpose in dividing the printed sheets into four panes of 100 each. A sheet of stamps resembles a window to some extent, the glass being represented by the stamps, and the framework by the margins of the sheets and the divisions between the blocks, or panes, of stamps. Panes of the White Plains stamp of 25 each were eagerly bought at the Exhibition.

Kinds of Albums

So far as stamp collectors are concerned an album is a book issued for the express purpose of housing a stamp collection. These volumes may be divided into three main classes:—(a) Printed albums in which the collector is left to arrange his stamps as best he can; (b) printed albums with the spaces numbered and arranged so that the stamps can be inserted in their proper order and (c) blank albums.

In the first division the albums—which are those generally favored by beginners—consist of pages ruled into rectangles, with the name of the country and perhaps an illustration or two at the top of each page. In the second division are those albums most suitable for advanced general collectors. The underlying principle of these is the same in all, i.e., spaces are provided for all the more important varieties listed in the stamp catalogues, and these are so arranged that the stamps can be placed in their proper chronological and philatelic order with a minimum of trouble. Blank albums, as the name indicates, have the pages innocent of printed matter, and these are the ones used by specialists. In these books, as a rule, the leaves are kept in place by some mechanical contrivance so that they can be easily removed, re-arranged or added to when necessary.

Plate Number

The number officially assigned to any particular plate from which stamps are printed. All the earlier plates from which British stamps were printed were numbered on the margin in the numerical sequence in which they were made, and a record was kept of the time a plate was in use. At first these numbers were only shown on the margins, but about 1858 they were also engraved as part of the design of the stamps as well. The practice was discontinued about 1880. The plates used for printing United States stamps are all numbered in the margins in a similar consecutive manner.

Aguinaldo Stamps

A series of labels issued by the Revolutionary Government in the Philippines under the leadership of Aguinaldo in 1898. They are, of course, locals, and though it has been asserted that they were of an entirely speculative character, it seems more probable that they were issued for legitimate postal purposes, and were undoubtedly used in the territory occupied by the revolutionaries until the Aguinaldo government was finally suppressed by the Americans.

world issued regular air mail stamps, and the early postcards and letters were distinguished from ordinary air mail by a special design and postmark which indicated and specified the official air route.

The first United States air mail stamp was one of 24 cent denomination, showing in the centre medallion an airplane in flight, surrounded by a pink frame.

An unusual incident which greatly increased the rarity of this first issue occurred during the printing of these stamps, when the Bureau of Engraving, through a mechanical error, printed one sheet of these stamps with the airplane upside down while shifting the seal from the pink to the blue impression.

The present market value of the stamps with the airplane reversed is $1000 apiece, according to Major Steinmetz, who with Eugene Klein, another well-known Philadelphia collector, was the original purchaser of this misprinted sheet of 100 stamps, which the Government sold in 1918 at 24 cents each.

Later, the United States also issued air mail stamps in six and eight-cent denominations and changed the color of the 24-cent stamp to plain carmine, rather than risk the possibility of another such costly error.

The air mail development in this country has expanded to such an extent during the past few years that most of the important centres of the United States have daily air mail service. A letter mailed in New York today with a 24-cent aerial stamp affixed to the wrapper will reach its destination within 33 hours. This transcontinental line is "tapped" at numerous points along the route to accommodate the north and south lines, which connect all States of the Union.

Major Steinmetz pointed out that America has undoubtedly the best air mail service in the world, but that future aerial development, especially in the commercial field, is dependent on patriotic public support. It was the vision of the early pioneers who saw the great possibilities of aviation and who mailed and collected the messages borne on the early flights that greatly encouraged the Government in its development of the air mails.

In the last 18 months a dozen new contract routes have been established, and the latest of these new air lines will be inaugurated today, when the P. R. T. will open a route from Mustin Field, at the Navy Yard, to Norfolk, Va., via Washington, D. C.

For these numerous contract routes established, the Post Office Department printed a special blue 10 cent and a brown 15 cent stamp, showing a map of the United States with airplanes starting from both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, with the noses of the planes pointed in opposite directions.

All mail intended for transportation by air is further designated by the use of a red, white and blue sticker with the words "Air Mail" printed thereon. The purpose of these distinguishing marks is to speed up the letters on the assorting tables in the post office, so that it will not suffer a moment's unnecessary delay.

Among other noted collections which will be displayed by Philadelphia philatelists at the New York stamp exhibition will be a collection of Presidential stamps by Philip Ward, Jr., who has collected the autographed stamps of every President, from George Washington, the first Chief Executive, to Calvin Coolidge, the present incumbent.

In the early days of the Republic, Congress passed a law authorizing the President to frank his own mail by simply writing his name on the corner of the envelope; but later, when the Presidential mail became too numerous, this custom was discarded by the Presidents and official White House envelopes were used. This frankage privilege is also granted to members of Congress, among whom the custom is still in vogue.

In the case of the later Presidents, such as Taft, Wilson, Harding and Coolidge, Mr. Ward obtained their personal signatures to the letters to fill out the collection. With this collection Mr. Ward has included the official photograph of each President from the Bureau of Engraving, a fact which greatly enhances its value.

White Plains Curiosity

Knowing that the little sheets of 2c White Plains stamps issued at the International Philatelic Exhibition would be of special interest to philatelists, I hurriedly had canceled on the entire cover, eleven complete panes of this small variety. These covers were run through the electric canceling machine and bear the special cancellation of the Exhibition. As this cancellation only hit the top row of the sheets, the balance were canceled by the special hand stamp in red. The red cancellations are not common for the Department soon stopped the mail clerk from canceling in this way as it is contrary to post office regulations.

While these eleven covers are available, they may be had at $5.00 each, the price including a complete unused pane of twenty-five of the same variety. I doubt whether over twenty-five or thirty covers in all were put through in this manner.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

William Lycett, Cape May, N. J.
G. F. Bottomley, Merchantville, N. J.
Alfred F. Lichtenstein, N. Y. City.
Gustave de Lachasse, Avignon, France.
F. H. Tows, N. Y. City.
R. J. Wagner, Fostoria, Ohio.

We brought back with us from the New York Exhibition no fewer than six applications for membership in our Honor Club. We present the list as above indicated. Mr. Lachasse was a prominent figure at the Exhibition. He will be remembered by a wide circle of our readers as a former resident of California and is now located in Avignon, France. Though advanced in years he is alert and keenly enjoyed the Exhibition.

We are of the opinion that Wm. Lycett, the veteran member of the S.P.A., also received a great deal of enjoyment from the Exhibition. His booth was the scene of great activity. The Managing Editor was pleased to make his acquaintance.

Of course Mr. Lichtenstein was very much in the public eye. As chairman of the Directing Committee he was here, there and everywhere. Quite naturally he would feel elated at the honors awarded him by the Exhibition Judges, but he bore them very modestly.

To Messrs. Wagner, Tows and Bottomley we also extend greetings and well wishes and in this public manner express appreciation of their support of our publication.

New Air Mail Stamps

At the banquet held at the Hotel Astor during the Exhibition week, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, in charge of air mail, announced that the Department was taking steps towards the relinquishment of the transcontinental and the over-night New York-Chicago air mail service. It is expected that during November advertisements will be issued inviting bids from contractors to take over the service. The bids will be returnable sixty days from the date of advertisement.

Mr. Glover also stated privately, that the Department was laying plans for changes in air mail postage rates that will render them uniform and provide a flat rate applicable throughout the country for all air mail transportation regardless of distance or other factors. The Information Service of the Post Office Department under date of October 15th states that the present rates complicated by the zone system and by a different basis provided by legislation for contract routes are extremely conflicting. They are not only incomprehensible to mail patrons but are not entirely understood by postal clerks. The transfer of the transcontinental service to private contractor would render them even more confusing.

They give an illustration of conflicting air mail rates now in existence in the case of a letter from New York to certain points in Idaho. This could go by way of the Twin City Route No. 9 at fifteen cents. If it went on Sundays over the transcontinental route to Salt Lake City and then via the Elko-Pasco route via Boise, the rate would amount to twenty-five cents, while over the transcontinental route if posted on Saturday out of New York, would be carried via Salt Lake City at a rate of twenty-four cents.

Present indications are that the rate will be fixed at ten cents per half ounce or fraction thereof. Such a basis would materially reduce charges on long hauls but would increase rates somewhat on short haul letters or packages weighing more than half an ounce.

Mr. Glover stated that the new rate would possibly go into effect at the time the transcontinental service was taken over by a private contractor or contractors and that there is a possibility of a special air mail stamp being issued for this service. Should this happen, the present air mail stamps would possibly be discontinued.

In this collection will be found several copies each of the "skilling-banco" issue, two very fine "tretio" errors, several of the very rare imperforates in mint pairs, while the 20th Century portion is complete with all the errors. No collector of Sweden should fail to get a catalogue.

3.—UNITED STATES—A small but choice section is devoted to the stamps of our own country. No great rarities, but many nice pieces.

2c Sesquicentennial Envelope

Mr. R. H. Mason has called my attention to the fact that the 2c Sesquicentennial Exposition envelope produced at Philadelphia may be distinguished from those turned out by the envelope factory at Dayton.

In the "E" of "Postage" in the Philadelphia die the two upper horizontal bars are of the same length, whereas in the Dayton die, the upper bar is slightly longer than the middle one. I have examined hundreds of envelopes and find that this distinguishing mark prevails throughout the several sizes.

To date the Philadelphia die is available in size 5 only, whereas the Dayton type can be secured in sizes 5, 8 and 13.

From the original master die about twenty-five secondary dies have been turned out and these vary somewhat in slight detail. Mr. David H. Burr sends two envelopes of the Dayton type wherein the lettering on one is quite thin and is thickened on the others. There is little doubt but what if an impression from each die was studied carefully, that minor differences would be found.

Mr. Claude W. Parker sends a copy of the size 13, wherein the "5" and the "S" in one of the watermarks is entirely missing. This, of course, is due to a defective dandy roll and is likely to be seen in all the extra quality envelopes now appearing.

FRANCE.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the 30c blue, surcharged "25c" in black, two parallel lines obliterate the former figures of value.

GUATEMALA.—Preparations are now being made for an entirely new series of postage stamps with denominations in the new currency, of which the unit is the quetzal (the name of the familiar parrot on many of the stamps of this Republic), corresponding practically to the United States dollar.—Stamp Collecting.

ITALY.—Whitfield King & Co. and Mr. R. Roberts report the appearance of the 30c, St. Francis' Centenary series, in dark grey. Also the Lire 1.25c blue and Lire 2.50c blue and rose, special delivery stamps.

The Official Gazette of September 15th publishes a decree authorizing the issue of special stamps commemorating the institution of the so-called voluntary militia or National Defence force. NEW ZEALAND.—We are indebted to Mr. R. Roberts for copies of the 6p Special Delivery stamp, perf. 14x14½, on chalky paper.

RAROTONGA.—Whitfield King & Co. advise of the appearance of the ½p pictorial stamp, watermarked single lined "N.Z." and star and the 2sh, New Zealand stamp recently chronicled, with the surcharge "Rarotonga" in red.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

BRITISH EMPIRE

Australian Commonwealth.—Mr. T. H. Nicolle sends us a clipping from the Sydney Herald relative to the reception of a deputation from the Victorian Philatelic Society by the Postmaster General. The deputation asked for a new series of Australian stamps with a more characteristic Australian design. The P. M. G. stated that it might be possible to consider the question after the special Canberra 1½d had been issued. He understood that there were 20,000,000 collectors in the world, of whom 10,000 were in Australia. The world figure sounds rather high, but the Commonwealth total is probably nearer the mark.

Barbados.—A gratuity of £10 is offered for a design for a special stamp which will be issued to commemorate the tercentenary of the settlement of the Colony. The stamp is to appear in February, 1927. Mr. F. M. Phillips and a lady reader kindly send us cuttings re this.

Fiji.—Rev. W. G. Iremonger shows us new printings from Plate 11, of certain values, differing in shade from the Plate 10 printings.

In the ½d the green is brighter. The 1d is now deep scarlet instead of a more rosy shade. The 2d is a paler (pearl) grey, and the head-plate of the 6d is printed in a deeper purple.

Gibraltar.—The latest printing of the 6d, for specimens of which we are indebted to Mr. J. P. Chipulana, is now in a normal dull and bright purple, instead of the dull muddy colour of the earlier printings.

India.—Charkhari.—The long stamp listed not many months ago in the M. J. is now said to be issued only for fiscal purposes—this on the authority of a correspondent who had the information from the postal head in the State itself. We must allow the postal authorities to know their own purpose in issuing the stamp, but in this case, why inscribe it "REVENUE AND POSTAGE"?

Labuan.—Our Publishers have shown us the larger portion of a very interesting sheet of the 1c (No. 83), with the Jubilee overprint in orange instead of in black. We understand that these stamps have been in the island ever since the issue was made in 1896, and that, with the exception of a block of 4 and possibly a single, those held by our Publishers are the only ones known.

Unfortunately the whole of the stamps now discovered are not perfect as the ant has been busy with some of them during the past thirty years.

This interesting discovery will be listed in the new Gibbons Catalogue, and we understand that the price quoted will be £2 per stamp.

Leeward Is.—Rev. W. G. Iremonger shows us the 3d, from Plate 11, printed in a very fine bright blue. This was put on sale at St. Kitts.

New Zealand.—Mr. Roberts says that the perforation of the 9d in the new shade is peculiar, being done in two operations, five rows of 12 from the bottom, and this repeated from the sixth row up. It often happens, therefore, that the vertical perforations of the top half of the sheet are not in line with those in the lower half, so that many stamps from the middle rows have the corners torn

OTHER COUNTRIES

Afghanistan.—Major R. B. Phayre sends us some interesting notes about recent issues. He has seen two and a half of the Mazar-i-Sharif fiscals, already referred to, used by the local postmaster to make up an odd amount.

The whole coinage system of the country is being revised on the metric system, and this may give rise to new stamps. The rupee, now of slightly higher value, is called "Afghani" instead of "Kabuli," ten of the former being equal to eleven of the latter. One Afghani rupee is subdivided into 100 "pals," of which only 2½ and 10 pal coins are minted. Twenty Afghani rupees make one "Amani," which is the standard gold coin.

Major Phayre gives an interesting account of a visit to an Afghan post office in Peshawar, now closed. The venerable postmaster was quite a "character." It required considerable time to find the office in the heart of the city, on the first floor of a small shanty. Business had to be done through an interpreter. The postmaster had a vague idea that some stamps were more sought after than others, so the sheets were gone through stamp by stamp. Although these were current stamps, he never adhered to the face value, but assigned a different value to each, putting a premium on the first stamp asked for. He usually stuck to his word and did not object to the removal of the corner of each sheet of 30 paisa, green (No. 310a). Nearly all the sheets had a lot of gum of the obverse.

A few sheets of No. 308 had a large inscription on the reverse, bearing the Afghan arms, and covering about eight stamps. About one per cent of the sheets were found thus. Major Phayre also has a used copy showing the arms in blue (but of reduced size).

Major Phayre agrees with us as to the philatelic interest of these later Afghan issues, which are well worth studying.

Chili.—We appear to have made a mistake in our recent reference to the current 10c with dot in the corner stars. The only value we can now find with the dot in the stars is the 50c.

Holland.—A correspondent who signs himself "A. H. B." sends us an amusing curiosity consisting of the 10c, Jubilee, cancelled with the "Royal Mail Route" advertising postmark. The "GR" of "GREAT BRITAIN" does not come on the stamp, so that the slogan reads "EAT BRITAIN," and point is given to the jest by the fact that the word "EAT" comes directly opposite the Queen's mouth.

Surinam.—Mr. J. R. Alvares gives the following dates of issue and numbers printed of the recent provisionals:

27 December, 1925—
3 on 5c,	175,000
10 on 12½c,	65,000
15 on 12½c,	225,000
15 on 20c,	120,000
7 January, 1926—
12½ on 22½c,	9,300
12½ on 40c (First type),	25,000
12½ on 40c (Second type),	10,000

In sheets of the 12½ on 22½c, two stamps in each sheet of 100 have no stop after "ct."

Mexico.—A correspondent reminds us that when the U. S. Army occupied the port of Vera Cruz, in 1914, the postal service came temporarily under American control. As all Mexican stamps had been removed from the post office, current U. S. stamps up to the 10 cent denomination were used. Later a quantity of the 1910 issue of Mexico came into American hands, together with the same stamps overprinted "Gobierno Constitucionalista," and these may be found stamped on the face U. S. M. Agency."

Nejd.—A special overprint was applied to certain stamps of Nejd during the Grand Muslim Conference recently held at Mecca. Two sets were presented to each of the fifty-nine delegates as a souvenir of the occasion, but further stocks were also overprinted, as they are coming through in fair quantities from dealers in Egypt and elsewhere. The overprint reads, we are told, "20th Zikad" (=7 June) at right, "1344 Hegira" at left, and "AL-MOTAR-AL-ISLAMI" (—Grand Muslim Conference) across the stamp. The issues of Nejd will be listed fully in the forthcoming Gibbons Catalogue (Part II).

Roumania.—Mr. A. Popescu kindly tells us that 200,000 of each value of the new Birthday set have been printed, while 40,000 of the 10 bani have been destroyed. It will evidently be better than the Coronation issue, though the latter has proved very popular and prices show an upward tendency.

In the current 5l, brown, there are two types of the figure "5," one considerably thicker than the other.

Spain.—While the figures given for the new Red Cross issue indicate something under half a million printed of the commonest value, and only 33,500 of the scarcest, we are not quite clear whether these figures indicate the quantity to be put on sale in Spain, or the actual quantities printed for all purposes. As the stamps are to be sold at face value, we do not see how the Red Cross Society is to benefit, unless there are large remainders to be handed over to them for sale to the philatelic public after the issue is withdrawn. We learn that the Society has promised not to issue any more stamps for fifteen years—an example which we commend to those responsible for other charity issues.

Syria.—Mr. Norman Joly informs us that the 75c, 1.25pi and 2.50pi stamps of Syria, Grand Lebanon and Alaouites were withdrawn from the post office early in August, without notice. It is understood that remainders will be surcharged, as a 12pi stamp is urgently needed, foreign postage having been increased.

An entirely new set is likely for Grand Lebanon, when the currency is changed to a gold basis.

Uruguay.—Mr. A. H. Davis tells us that there is an error in the 45c stamp issued in connection with the Rincon celebrations a few months back, the word "DEL" reading "DFL." This stamp is unobtainable unused, as all covers were handed in at the post office and franked by the officials.

From the same kind correspondent we learn that the air mail service between Uruguay and Argentina, temporarily interrupted owing to the sinking, during a storm, of the hydroplane employed, has now been resumed. The contract with the Junkers Company for this service has been renewed for a second period of three months. So far the service has not proved a financial success.

A company called the Aero Lloyd Argentino has just been formed to obtain air mail concessions in Brazil, Bolivia, Argentina, Uruguay and Paraguay. It is hoped to have air lines working on a the most important commercial rout within two years.

Mr. H. G. Spanton tells us that tende are being asked for by Uruguay for 8 000,000 stamps of fourteen different d nominations. The printing is to be do from steel engraved plates, the desig being supplied by the Government dire to the contractor who secures the tende —Stanley Gibbons Monthly Journal.

BORNO OF HAYTI

By HARRY E. HUBER.

In March, 1915, shortly after M. Vilbrun Guillaume Sam was elected President of Haiti, by the National Assembly, Dr. Rosalvo Bobo headed a revolution, charging President Sam with being about to sign a treaty with the United States which would give the latter control of the custom houses.

On the night of July 27, 1915, during an attack upon the Presidential Palace, at Port au Prince, President Sam ordered the execution of some 160 odd leading men of town, then in the prisons of Port au Prince, and the next morning, wounded in the fight of the preceding night, took refuge in the French Legation. When the news of the slaughter spread through the city relatives of the victims invaded the Legation, and seizing the ex-President, dragged him outside. There he was murdered and his body dismembered, and sent to different sections of the town. On the same day (July 28, 1915) the U. S. S. "Washington," Rear Admiral W. B. Caperton, in command, entered the harbor of Port au Prince, and during the night Marines were landed to restore order. Similar action was taken at the other ports of the Republic, in the following weeks.

(Two Brigades of U. S. Marines are still in Occupation.)

Had Rear Admiral Caperton permitted an election immediately after the death of President Sam, Dr. Bobo undoubtedly would have been elected President, and Dr. Bobo was unfriendly to the policies of United States in Haiti. An effort was made by Rear Admiral Caperton to secure as a candidate the former Minister from Haiti to the U. S., J. N. Leger, but the latter refused to run, saying, "I am for Haiti, not for the U. S.—and cannot bind myself in advance to any terms which the United States will demand." M. Sudre Dartiguenave, President of the Senate, volunteered, while still a candidate for the Presidency, to accede to "any terms which the U. S. might propose," and for this reason was from the point of view of the U. S., the most desirable candidate, and in fact, almost the only man who would be willing to run upon the terms offered. On August 9th, the Navy Department cabled Rear Admiral Caperton—"Whenever the Haitians wish you may permit the election of a President to take place. The election of Dartiguenave is preferred by the U. S."

On August 12, 1915, the National Assembly met and elected M. Sudre Dartiguenave to the Presidency of the Republic for a term of 7 years, under the Constitution of 1889.

In Dartiguenave's cabinet, M. Jos. Louis Borno held the very important portfolio of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs and Public Instruction, and with Robt. Beale Davis, Jr., Charge d' Affaires of the United States, signed on September 16, 1915, the treaty, by the terms of which the President of Haiti appoints (on nomination of the President of U. S.) a general receiver of customs to take charge of the custom houses; a financial adviser to be attached to the Ministry of Finance; engineers to supervise public works and sanitation, and American officers to organize and command a Haitian constabulary, or gendarmerie, such officers to be later succeeded by qualified Haitians. After being ratified by President Dartiguenave this treaty was sanctioned by the Chamber of Deputies on October 6, 1915, and by the Haitian Senate on November 11, 1915.

On April 10, 1922, the Haitian Council of State met as a National Assembly, and elected M. Borno, President of Haiti, for a term of four years (under the constitution promulgated June 19, 1918); his inauguration took place May 15, 1922. The constitution of 1918 was adopted by 98,294 votes (only 769 votes were cast against the Government programme out of a population of 2,050,000).

M. Borno was elected again April 12, 1926, for a second four year term, by the Council of State, which he himself had appointed. One of the 21 members was absent, another cast a blank ballot, but as no contrary votes were recorded, the election was declared unanimous.

Robert Borno, the father of the President, was born at Pointe a Pitre, Guadeloupe, French West Indies, November 22nd, 1831, while the family was in exile from Haiti. He landed in Haiti with a French passport June 8, 1840, and his son, J. L. Borno, was born 25 years later, September 20, 1865. The father did not become a Haitian by naturalization until September 3, 1874, nine years after the birth of Jos. L. Borno, and based on this, the Opposition party in Haiti claims that M. Borno being the son of an alien is not eligible for the Presidency, according to article 73 of the constitution.

President Borno receives a salary of $2000 a month, another $1000 as entertainment allowance and expense of secret service, the free use of the National Palace, and $575 a month for service stables and automobile—a total of over $40,000 a year.

On September 3, 1924, Haiti issued a series of five postage stamps, designed, engraved and printed by the American Bank Note Co. of New York, from line engraved plates, in sheets of 100 (10 horizontal by 10 vertical) on white wove paper, unwatermarked, and perforated single line 12. The 5c, 20c and 50c are upright rectangular in shape (23x29 mm.), and the 10c and 1 gourde, horizontal rectangular (29x23 mm.). All are inscribed "Republique d'Haiti—Postes—centimes de gourde (or gourde)"; the numerals of value appear twice on each, and under each stamp of the sheet in minute caps is "AMERICAN BANK NOTE Co." Three million of the 5c were printed, and 500,000 of each of the other values.

The 5c green and the 50c orange and black (with differing frames) portray the features of President Borno; on the 10c carmine is a representation of the famous citadel of Henri Cristophe, La Ferriere (see M. W. S. N. July 12, 1926); on the 20c deep blue, a map of Haiti and the Western Caribbean; while on the 1 gourde olive green, is the new Palais National, erected to take the place of that blown up and burned August 8, 1912, and in which explosion President Cincinnatus Le Conte lost his life. The building is of two stories, of concrete and steel construction, and in size and appearance compares favorably with public buildings in the United States. Above its pillared entrance, reached by a broad flight of steps, is a large central dome, with a smaller dome over each of the flanking side wings. The grounds, enclosed by an iron fence mounted on a concrete base, are attractively laid out with grass lawns and walks, and a guard stands at the gate. The Dessalines Barracks and parade grounds are at the rear, and facing the western wing of the building, is the new Palace of Finance, constructed at a cost of 500,000 gourdes ($100,000. U. S. currency), and dedicated January 3, 1926.

To the east and north of the National Palace is the great open space of Champ de Mars, once sunbaked and bare of vegetation, but now laid out with concrete walks, grass plots, and stately cocoanut palms. On the northern side of Champ de Mars, facing the Palace, is a pedestal bearing a bronze bust of Toussaint L'Ouverture.

Philatelic Sportsmanship

In connection with the New York Exhibition, Messrs. Hall, Beckton and Goodfellow of England, who acted on the Jury of Awards, withdrew their exhibits from competition. This may not be generally known, and we take this opportunity of commending the fine philatelic sportsmanship which marked the co-operation of these distinguished British philatelists. It is possible that other members of the Jury of Awards did the same, and if so the same praise should be accorded them.

Lost in New York City, a small red book of rare and scarce U. S. Postage. No. 54 used, 5c '47 dark brown O. G., some 1869, and other earlies. Collectors and dealers please report if any clues turn up. Stamps were mounted in a small approval book. Reward. A. Atlas Leve, Syracuse, N. Y.—Advertisement.

BITS OF NEWS:—

WE have received an account of the organization of a new stamp club at Toledo, Ohio. Don C. Minnick was elected president, Dr. P. B. Brockway vice-president, Fred B. McGown, 1809 Macomber St., Toledo, Ohio, secretary-treasurer. Meetings will be held the third Monday of each month at 220 Gardner Bldg. Local collectors are earnestly urged to get into touch with Mr. McGown and help promote what promises to be a live organization.

THERE is going around the press an item which declares that a bad likeness of King George upon a recent issue of New Zealand stamps is being severely criticised. The clipping goes on to say that a "firm in Ipswich," evidently referring to Whitfield King & Co. of Ipswich, Eng., declared the representation "the worst that ever has appeared on a stamp and we should not be surprised to have them withdrawn from circulation immediately." The stamps show the King in admiral's uniform and are in two values, 2sh blue and 3sh mauve. Clipping from Ernest H. Sonnenstine.

THE Society of Philatelic Americans has inaugurated a Junior membership, open to collectors between the ages of 12 and 18 years. The dues for Junior membership are $1.20 per year and there is no initiation fee. Junior members will also receive the official organ of the society, free of charge. They can participate in the Sales and Exchange departments provided their parents sign a guarantee. This is a great step forward by the S. P. A. to enroll the Junior collectors in the United States, of whom there are thousands, at present unorganized. Junior membership application blanks may be obtained from William Lycett, Secretary, 1221 Washington St., Cape May, N. J., or R. C. Bach, Recorder, Board of Governors, 82 Nassau St., New York City.

WE have received a letter from Wm. H. Avery of Havana, Cuba, which we should be very glad to publish in its entirety, but space will not permit. Mr. Avery describes the devastation wrought by the cyclone which recently visited Havana and the surrounding country. He writes that while there has been much destruction of property and people killed by the hundreds, his personal losses have not been great. We quote: "All the actual loss will probably not exceed $500 but my stock is in a whirl due to torn roof, broken windows and smashed doors. It will take weeks before I shall be in order again. I am working overtime trying to catch up, but some of the orders and inquiries will suffer delay." Our subscribers will readily understand the inconvenience, disappointment and financial loss that Mr. Avery has sustained and will be lenient in connection with delays in correspondence.

Philatelic Stamp Agency

One of the surprising things to me at the International Philatelic Exhibition was the fact that great numbers of collectors are unaware of the existence of the Government Philatelic Agency at Washington. The establishment of this Agency was one of the most important events in philatelic history.

I have under preparation a little treatise which I hope to make of some value to collectors. It will tell what the Agency is for and will give a complete list of United States stamps which the Agency has issued, with the date of issue of each stamp.

I'd like to give this pamphlet away entirely free, but printing costs too much. I shall make a nominal charge of ten cents per copy and will give free with each one a copy of the latest official list of stamps for sale by the Philatelic Agency.

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

THE B. L. DREW BOOTH AT THE GREAT EXHIBITION

Four of this group are not unknown to philatelic fame. At the left is Wm. W. Jewett of the Jewett Printing Co., to whom the WEEKLY is indebted for its beauty typographically. Then our only "P. M." Wolsieffer, also Mr. Drew in pensive attitude. No, he is not napping, the camera merely caught him unawares. At the right, our Managing Editor.

A. P. S. SECRETARY'S ANNUAL REPORT

DENVER, COLO., Aug. 31, 1926.

Many of us here present have seen the Society grow from a membership of 1500 to over double that number and there are some who remember its conception forty years ago. The storms that it has weathered and the difficulties it has met have only made it the stronger and placed it on a foundation where we must and shall overcome and solve all the difficult problems to be met each year as our history grows.

The fiscal year just closed has seen many difficulties to be overcome. The Board of Directors has been confronted with many problems. They have been met squarely and unflinchingly, whether for good or bad the future will unfold. One of our greatest problems was the "carrying on" and giving a $5 service to our members for $3.00 per year. We have worked out a system whereby our expenses will be reduced to a minimum. In the Treasurer's office, one example, for instance, has been the sending your dues notice with the ballot, which, in postage alone, is a great saving. In the Secretary's office, the receipts for application fees instead of being sent under a 2c stamp, is now being sent on a 1c postal card; thus saving 1c postage and the cost of envelopes and extra receipts on each application.

Heretofore when a member paid his annual dues, not only a receipt was sent under a 2c stamp, but a new membership card as well. As an experiment we will change this system this coming year. Membership cards undated will be sent to new members only. A postal card receipt will be sent only to old members with explanatory information. As we are just putting this into effect, another year will decide a satisfactory or unsatisfactory result.

In case all our ideas work out as we hope, we will have reduced expenses over $1,500 annually. There are other changes contemplated which will be inaugurated from time to time, so that our new system will be running smoothly on the new plan with no reduction of service to our members and no change in dues, no inconveniences and with a great saving of expense.

I trust these reforms will meet with general favor from our members, for it has been demonstrated that we cannot conduct a 4,000 membership Society on the plans laid out for a few hundred members.

The Chas. J. Phillips prize of free transportation to the convention and Exhibition and a substantial amount of expense money to enjoy it as well as the Charles Beamish prize of $50.00 cash to the best recruiter for the year has been the means of a wonderful growth.

While we did not hit the mark of 5.000 I trust we may all continue to aim at the star until our ideal has been met.

The credit for obtaining new members includes applications received from June 1, 1925, to September 1, 1926, and shows that 352 members obtained one or more recruits.

Twenty-one have taken life membership during the fiscal year. We have

AIR MAIL NEWS

A Department Conducted by E. O. HOWLE, 1709 Ea. 72nd St., Chicago, Ill.

Hardly has any transportation means developed so rapidly as the flying machine. Long sustained flights with marvelous speeds are obtained by the modern aeroplane. As the art stands at present fast transportation of comparatively small weights makes the aeroplane an ideal long distance postal carrier, while a few years ago a letter sent by air-post was a rarity; and today air mail is an accepted standard.

The Air Mail Division of the Post Office Department is rapidly developing this service throughout the United States and it will only be a short time until there will be a network of planes covering the entire country. To follow the expansion of the air mail service is a very interesting study to the collector of covers. It is not surprising how quickly collectors in every part of the country started to collect flown covers on the regular "first flights." It simply gets back to an interesting cancellation on a few of the earlier issues. We know there is a wild rush for these stamps. For the same reason "first flight" covers are demanding world wide attention, and besides they are marked "first flight," which adds to their attractiveness. Covers mailed on first flights a few years ago are sought by so many collectors today that they bring a fancy price. The writer asked a Chicago dealer to pick up some first day covers at the International Philatelic Exhibition, which was recently held in New York City, and he was informed that there were lots of covers on exhibition, but none for sale—this tells the story.

As the new field in philately is in its infancy and will continue to grow rapidly, it is logical that this is the opportune time to begin building up a collection of "air mail" covers. Every collector of covers will want to complete his collection and how is it going to be done without someone paying the price. It's a case of the "early bird gets the worm," and, if you want yours, you will have to hurry because there are added converts to the great throng of present-day collectors.

When we speak of "air mail covers" they are not limited to specimens of our own country. Europe, Asia and South America are striving to install air mail routes. Continental Europe, especially Germany and England, are not asleep. The systematic collecting of first flight covers in Europe, especially in England, is so complete that many pay large prices for United States first flight covers. They simply looked ahead and they have the covers.

The philatelists, or whatever they may have been called during the period of railway mail development, were certainly asleep at the switch. "First Despatch" covers, which were forwarded on the first mail trains, would most assuredly be something to look at in this age. They would be a priceless possession of which one could well be proud.

Postal officials and postage rate experts are concentrating their efforts toward the fixing of a universal flat rate of postage for the transportation of air mail to replace the cumbersome, involved, and conflicting air mail rate structure now in use, it was announced today by Postmaster-General New.

It is expected that the basis for the proposed flat rate will have been decided upon and placed in effect by the time the government-operated air mail lines are taken over by private contractors.

Present indications are that the rate will be fixed at ten cents per half ounce or fraction thereof. Such a basis would materially reduce charges on long hauls but would increase rates somewhat on short haul letters or packages weighing more than half an ounce. At the same time, however, such a rate would obviate charges of governmental subsidies to air mail contractors, since the Post Office Department would receive $3.20 per pound of air mail while only paying contractors $3.00 per pound, which is the maximum fixed by law.

A rate of 10 cents per half ounce would not increase the rate for the average business letter, which seldom runs beyond two pages of medium heavy paper enclosed in long envelopes. Three such pages in short envelopes would be mailable under the half-ounce basis. It also is believed that few social letters run beyond half an ounce.

While such a rate would obviously reduce the number of packages offered for transportation by air mail, on the other hand it is believed the proposed rate would attract a large amount of business and social correspondence and perhaps some advertising matter.

WALL ST. AT THE EXHIBITION

The following editorial appeared in a recent issue of the Boston News Bureau. We thank Frank P. Brown for the clipping:—

Wall Street was by no means a negligible quantity at the recent International Philatelic Exhibition, commonly known as the stamp show. Prize-winners include Arthur H. Lamborn, of Lamborn & Co., A. H. Caspary of Caspary & Co. and Col. E. H. R. Green. Mr. Caspary, I understand, owns one of the outstanding stamp collections in this country, if not in the world; he devotes himself largely to rarities, a hobby which requires ample funds at one's disposal.

Wall Street men are more interested in philately than the mere record of exhibitors at the show would indicate, but they are less voluble about this hobby than they are about their golf. But bring up the subject in the course of your conversation and indicate that you are interested in the gathering of the elusive little stickers and golf fades into the background, nineteenth century values as against twentieth centuries come to the fore and the attraction of early Americans, British and French colonials and so on take the center of the stage. They are as great devotees of the stamp auctions as are other bankers of the auctions of great masters of painting. Other active collectors in the financial district are John Insley Blair, some years ago a member of Blair & Co., and W. J. K. Vanston of White, Weld & Co.

EDITORIAL

Several weeks will elapse before the news features of the Exhibition and the convention of the American Philatelic Society may be dismissed, as, held contemporaneously, the two events made a philatelic occasion, the like of which has never been seen before. So concentrated was the entertainment that the social and other diversions overlapped each other at times, and the sessions of the convention were not attended by some of the members whose duties or inclinations caused them to stay at the Exhibition during the meetings. The A. P. S. was not the only convention held during the week, and other meetings, such as those of the American Stamp Dealers' Association, and the societies devoted to precanceled stamps and air mail issues, were held during the off hours. One person could not have covered all the affairs and an editor literally would have to be "we" to have heard all and seen all. The circus had too many rings for any one pair of eyes to have envisaged everything. While it was expected that there would be an embarrassment of riches, yet it could not have been foreseen that the Exhibition would have the potency of attraction that it had. Many of the visitors could not force themselves to attend to convention duties because of the lure of the exhibits. While something extraordinary was anticipated, the lavish outpouring from the Exhibition cornucopia was such as to astound the optimistic. The attendance at the A. P. S. Convention did suffer through the deflection of attendance, but even so, the convention work was not neglected, and while the sessions at times were prolonged, the results attained justified the overtime.

The convention proved the advantage of announcing beforehand proposed changes in the by-laws and other business of importance affecting the organization. The vote on the questions that were presented on the ballots was a guide that indicated the preferences of the members and their wishes were not to be ignored. The amendments to the by-laws were the chief consideration of the convention and one of the most significant changes was that which provided for the formation of "units" within the society for the purpose of cultivating special fields, thus affording what may be specialized societies within the confines of the big organization. Five or more members may institute a "unit," which may have an exchange department and space for announcements in the American Philatelist.

Chapters replace Branches in the nomenclature of the society and all appointive officers, except the sales manager and editor, will serve for two years beginning in 1927, while the two exceptions will have a tenure of five years each. However, removals will be made by the Board for just cause in its estimation and suspensions ordered pending investigation, at the option of the Board. The editor of the American Philatelist is given a salary of $600 a year and 15% on paid advertising as a commission, together with postage and printing expenses. The treasurer is awarded $200 per annum and office expenses, and independent audits are to be made of his books, as well as those of the sales manager. A permanent fund is created by the transfer of all future admission fees, including those of life membership to it, and only the interest from the fund will be available for use. The officers are to be elected hereafter for a term of two years. A budget system is to be installed by the directors and the salary of the secretary is placed at $1,200 a year, with the allowance of $75 a month for help and also his car fare to and from the convention, with $10 per diem during the convention, with office expenses. The articles of incorporation were amended so that a certificate of stock no longer will be issued to each applicant when elected, but instead an admission fee will be charged. Thus, the cumbersome plan of issuing stock will be discarded.

The next convention was allotted to St. Louis upon the invitation from that city, although an earlier vote favored Toronto as the site. However, the vote was reconsidered, because of the omission of the committee on place of next convention to report on St. Louis, through a misunderstanding; and further in view of the opinion expressed that the legality of the convention might be questioned if it were held outside this country. The only proxy vote was then taken and St. Louis was returned the winner with 680 votes and Toronto 361. The committee on library showed in its report that it was incumbent on the society to make inquiry on the present condition of the library, now in the possession of the Carnegie Institute in Pittsburgh. The representation was made that it was difficult to obtain philatelic works supposed to be on hand and that all in all, the wants of the members are not given due attention. The suggestion that the Carnegie Institute would be glad to dispense with the philatelic section was followed by the appointment of a committee, to be announced later, to make a thorough investigation into the subject of the library in its various phases.

It was not easy to perform committee work during the busy days of the convention, because of the pleasant demands made by the entertainment attractions. Indeed, the social features were of a character to engage all and in consequence some of the committees did not deliberate on their work at length. Latterly, there has been a movement for more time for convention work and fewer social diversions, but perhaps wisely, the following resolution was tabled: Resolved, That while recognizing the generous spirit that impels the local collectors of the convention city to devise entertainment for the visiting delegates, yet such has become the necessity for unremitting attention to the business of the convention that hereafter it is advised that the purely social activities of the convention be curtailed so that they may not encroach unduly upon the time of the members. It is not to be gainsaid that a good many delegates look upon convention time as a season for relaxation and that their enjoyment of the social contact is one of the inducements for attending the yearly meetings. While the work of preparing for the reception of a large number of visitors is not a light task for local entertainers, it is likely that under the new order of submitting beforehand to members a minute of the important business to come before the convention, much time will be conserved as a consequence of this plan. With the new by-laws in force, it is likely that the operations of the huge corporation that the society has got to be will run smoother than before. With a large enough proxy vote at a convention, it will be possible to change by-laws, as occasion requires.

SOME NOTES ON USED MODERN COLONIALS

By "Calabar."

As a specialist in these, I have been most interested in the two articles which have appeared quite recently in the Weekly, from the pen of Mr. Robert S. Gordon. Of especial interest is the list which he gives of those Colonies whose stamps are very much scarcer used than mint, viz., Ascension, Brunei and Kuwait. There are, I think, several other Colonies which may be rightly included in the same category, and which Mr. Gordon does not mention. These are as follows:—The Solomon Islands Protectorate, the Cayman Islands, the Falkland Islands, Gambia, the Gilberts, the New Hebrides, the New Zealand Dependencies—Aitutaki, Niue and Penrhyn Island,—St. Helena, St. Kitts, Tonga, the Turks & Caicos Islands and the Virgin Islands. Barbuda, although no longer a stamp-issuing Colony, should be included also.

Those who follow the market rather closely may be inclined to take exception to the first-named Colony—the Solomons—in view of the numbers of used high value K. G. stamps of this Protectorate which are about just now. But I think a moment's reflection will show that in this case, at least, appearances are somewhat deceptive. Consider the number of offers of these same stamps in mint condition with the very infrequent offers of used copies, and you have ample proof of the scarcity of the latter. In attempting to estimate the number of stamps used in these islands, one should bear in mind the fact that there are only four P.O's in the entire group,—a decided contrast to the situation in, say, the Fijis, where there are more than a score of offices scattered over the various islands.

The two "ship" type series are very scarce used; of the small ship type high values only 5,880 of the 2s were sold, 5,460 of the 2s6d and 4,860 of the 5s—the bulk of each being absorbed in mint condition.

In the K.G. stamps, the coloured paper varieties are rarely met with used,—the 3d on yellow (Postage & Revenue design) being the best of the lot, and worth at least double the price of mint copies.

Similar remarks apply to the Caymans, where again the coloured papers are most desirable, the 10s line engraved old CA, which has just become obsolete, is now fetching £3 10s and there is every possibility that it will go higher, less than 40 sheets having been printed.

Amongst the other Colonies mentioned, the Falkland Islands 5s red old CA, the small type scripts of Gambia, the various New Hebrides provisionals, the Niue handstamped overprints, the St. Kitts Tercentenary series, the 1s Turks Islands old type script and the 2s "Crown" type old CA of the same Colony, and the Virgin Islands 5s new type old CA are a few of the more outstanding "sleepers." When the demand for used Colonials really asserts itself—as it must inevitably—there is no telling to what heights these will soar.

In addition to the Colonies which I have given, there are several others whose current stamps are quite scarce used, but because their War issues are fairly common in this condition, are not in great demand. New Guinea is a case in point. The North West Pacific overprints, generally speaking, are worth about the same, used or mint, so many dealers and collectors during the War pasting complete sets on envelopes and sending them out to the Colony to get them postmarked. This is also true as regards the Nauru overprints, although exception must be taken to the Waterlow and De La Rue printings of the high values, which are undoubted rarities either used or mint.

Those who make a specialty of used modern Colonials are well aware of the difficulty of getting copies of the "short run" varieties used during period of currency. For example, the Solomon Islands 3d referred to above is occasionally offered, but nine times out of ten the date of the postmark—if it shows—is several weeks or months after the stamp became obsolete. In such a case, unless one has at his disposal the dates of issue and withdrawal or exhaustion, it is impossible, except by a rough approximation, to know whether the stamp has been actually used during period of currency, This point, of course, is more often raised in connection with provisional issues, as, for example, the Ascension overprints. The definitive series of this Colony was issued in September, and hence copies of the overprinted stamps postmarked October and November of the same year are frequently accepted as used during their proper period by those who are uninformed as to the date of withdrawal.

The difficulties of the problem are further increased by the illegibility of the postmarks, although fortunately this is confined to only a few Colonies. Montserrat and the Gilberts are two of the greatest offenders, the cancellation stamp being too lightly applied in the case of the former, and too heavily in the case of the latter. Then again, if one sends several stamped envelopes to the Solomon Islands postmaster to be returned through the post, they will come back with the words "Postmarked by request of addressee" written across their faces in red ink. (I have not received any "covers" from these islands for some time, and so am unable to say whether this practice is still in use.) Specializing in used modern Colonials, whilst fascinating and remunerative, is after all not always smooth sailing.

Stamp Facts for the Beginner

We want our subscribers 18 years old and under who visited the New York Exhibition to write us about the ONE thing that was most enjoyed. If we print your letter you may expect a stamp reward. Remember—NOT OVER 50 WORDS WANTED AND FEWER IF POSSIBLE.

Another thing, will you boys and girls write us telling the WEEKLY what you would like to see in this department? We want to help you in every way.

Gossip

Our first boy's letter comes from F. B. McMahon, Tarrytown, N. Y. He writes:—"I am interested in the early U. S. stamps but as I am only a boy of fifteen I must collect anything I can get." You are doing quite right, Mr. McMahon. Don't worry about the stamps you cannot get. They may come to you as the years pass by.

One of our correspondents wants to know how to start a stamp club. Here is a chance for some of the boys to tell us how they are conducting their clubs. Make your letters as compact as possible, as fifty words is the limit in this department.

A boy subscriber writes us:—"I sure do hope you will keep this department, because I think it just grand." It will be all the better if the boys themselves take an active interest in promoting it.

C. R. P.—The letter "G" on your Cape of Good Hope stamp signifies that it was intended for use in Griqualand— now a part of Cape Colony but at one time having its own postal administration.

J. L. R.—Your Sudan stamp perforated with the letters "SG" is an official stamp. It was in use before the set overprinted "O.S.G.S." made its appearance

Hair Lines on Stamps

Another reader tells me he notices several British stamps are listed in Scott's catalogue as having "hairlines" and he would like to know how to identify these varieties. These hair-lines are small white lines drawn diagonally across the four extreme corners of the stamps. They are only found on the 4d, 6d and 9d stamps of the 1862 issue of Great Britain and they were added to the design so that the stamps printed from certain plates could be identified from those produced from other plates. They really take the place of the plate numbers found on later editions of the same design.

Another sort of hair-lines known to specialists are very fine coloured lines running through various parts of the designs of certain stamps. They are often found in connection with early line-engraved stamps. These lines are really "guide-lines" drawn on the plates as a help in accurately placing the impressions, and their presence on the stamps is purely accidental and due to certain impressions not being in the exact positions they should occupy. They are varieties the young collector need hardly trouble about though it is as well he should understand their real character.

Canada "Twelve Pence"

A correspondent asks why the 12d stamp of the 1851-52 issue of Canada is inscribed "Twelve Pence" instead of "One Shilling" as is usual with other British Colonial stamps of corresponding value. It is due to the fact that at the period the stamp was issued a penny had a fixed value throughout Canada, while a shilling varied in value in different parts of the Colony. This stamp, therefore, had its value denoted in pence to save dispute and prevent loss to the Post Office. Had it been simply a shilling stamp it would have had to be sold for 6½d, 7½d, 10d or 12d, according to locality, but as it was plainly inscribed "Twelve Pence" no misunderstanding could possibly arise.

Eendraght Maakt Magt

A correspondent asks the meaning of the motto "EENDRAGHT MAAKT MAGT" which appears on so many of the stamps of the Transvaal or South African Republic, as it was once called. This is Dutch for "Union is Strength," and it was chosen as a suitable motto by the dissatisfied Cape Colony farmers who formed the Republic.

Boy Sells Collection For $300

Little Jack McManamin can prove to his schoolmates that he "knows his business." His stamp collection, which had caused considerable derision from his playmates, brought him $300 this morning in a certified check from a Los Angeles collector. Jack is just 9 years old and his emotions today can scarcely be described.

For the past two years Jack has been enthusiastic over stamp collections and has constantly been adding to his own which was becoming remarkably complete. Then he decided he would sell and begin all over again so his mother, Mrs. Chris A. Rapine, advertised in a Los Angeles paper recently. Today, Josh H. Medinio, a collector from the southern city, arrived with his check book and viewed the array of stamps. He went scarcely half through the book when he offered Mrs. Rapine the money. She consulted Jack, who was too breathless to more than nod, and the check was given and the stamp book taken. Then Jack turned to his mother, "Well, I'm not so nutty," he gasped.—"Californian."

Honor Roll

We want to enlist our boys and girls in our campaign to get 10,000 subscribers and so we open an honor roll upon which we shall enter the name of every one who sends in a new subscription, 3 mos. 25c or 6 mos. 50c. Just say when you write us: "Here's one for the 10,000."

Who will respond?

Hong Kong "D P"

A correspondent says he has the current 4c Hong Kong stamp overprinted "DP" and asks the meaning of this surcharge. The letters are merely the initials of the Daily Press, the leading newspaper in the colony. They are quite unofficial and have no philatelic significance. They are only intended to act as a safeguard against theft, in the same way that the stamps used by many large firms in this country are punched with initials.

"Acor" Means Hawk

"Acores" is the Portuguese form for "Azores" as shown upon all the stamps of that colony. The word Açor means a "hawk," and this bird is seen pictured on the stamps of the 1910 issue.

British Corner Letters

When adhesive postage stamps were first introduced into Great Britain in 1840 the great fear of the authorities was that they might be successfully counterfeited, which would, of course, mean a great loss to the revenue. To guard against forgery a special watermarked paper was used, and as an additional safeguard it was decided that letters should be placed in the lower angles, these differing on each stamp in the sheet. The sheets consisted of 240 stamps arranged in twenty horizontal rows of twelve each. The stamps in the top row were lettered AA, AB, AC, etc., to AL; those in the second row BA, BB, BC, etc., to BL; and so on to the twentieth row, which was lettered TA to TL. Thus by these letters the position occupied by any particular stamp on the sheet can be readily ascertained. The letter in the left-hand corner denotes the row and that in the right-hand corner the number of the stamp in the row. By these means we can tell that a stamp lettered, say, EG, was the seventh specimen on the fifth row of the sheet.

Later on, in 1858, letters were added in all four corners, those in the upper angles being the same as those in the bottom corners, but in reverse order. That is, if the letters at the bottom were GL they would be BG in the top corner. This system was retained for all values issued from 1858 to 1887 with the exception of a few denominations of the 1887 set. Stamps with different corner letters are not regarded as distinct varieties by the general collector nor, indeed, by specialists unless an attempt is made to reconstruct the plates.

SUBSCRIPTION RENEWALS

Some of our subscribers need to know our rule regarding discontinuances. We discontinue all subscriptions in arrears promptly the second issue of each month. This means that your subscription should be renewed prior to expiration. The expiration number can be ascertained by consulting your wrapper. No free copies of the WEEKLY are sent out and this rule is as fixed as the laws of the M. and P. Our older subscribers understand our rule and the newer subscribers should get acquainted with it

Advertising Wanted

At the New York Exhibition we added 875 new subcribers to our mailing list. To help them in their problems, this page will be given over to their difficulties and delights.

We want some advertising for columns one and four that will appeal to the boy and girl collector. The limit will be two inches. Early application will get top of column positions.

COMMUNICATIONS

To the Editor:

I have read with interest Mr. Robert S. Gordon's notes in a recent issue of the Weekly on the subject of modern Colonials used on covers. Mr. Gordon, in the course of his remarks, says, "But the Catalogue can very well take care of these when the time comes." Now, as you are undoubtedly aware, this statement has been made many, many times in the past, and, singularly enough, has never been explained, at least, never to my satisfaction. How, I should like to ask Mr. Gordon and his supporters, can the Catalogue take care of stamps so used, i. e., on the original envelopes? Obviously, the answer will be, Because they are on the original envelopes. A moment's reflection, however, will show the absurdity of this reply. For, what is to prevent the enthusiastic collector from cutting the stamps from the envelopes, and offering them as "used on piece," or, to go a step farther, from soaking them off, and offering them as ordinary used stamps? The answer to this may be summed up in two words, his conscience, and I have no hesitation in saying that there are many, who, when the time comes, will be little troubled by the clamourings of this "still small voice."

I wonder if Mr. Gordon has ever been puzzled as to the source from which dealers offering used modern Colonials procure their supplies? But, and I know little of these matters, perhaps Mr. Dealer has a very dear friend in, say, the Solomon Islands, who, in the most obliging of manners, writes him a score or more of letters yearly, and of such length (and, incidentally, of such weight) as to require postage to the amount of 5sh or 10sh per letter.

The question is, after all, capable of no simple solution. What does Mr Gordon think?

Ad Rem.

To the Editor:—

Is an International Stamp Exhibition a proper place to display race prejudice? That was the question which arose in the writer's mind when he saw in the display of the Springfield Stamp Club on the sheet of Belgium, the stamps issued under German occupation with the headline "Oh! What a pity Belgium overrun by the Huns." It certainly looks like a gratuitous display of race feeling to have the epithet of "Huns" applied to the German Nation and flaunted in the face of distinguished German visitors and collectors of German birth and descent.

LA CRUZ ROJA ESPANOLA

By William M. McFarlan.

The Spanish Red Cross stamps, of which there has been so much talk of late, have arrived in this country, but mostly in mint condition. I feel quite sure that the cancelled on cover, postally used copies are the ones that collectors will want and those must have the postal dates September 15, 16 and 17, 1926, as it was on these dates that the stamps were good for postal duty.

For my collection of original covers I have tried in the various cities of Spain thru friends located there to obtain these stamps used on cover for me and in most cases failed. It seems that a certain few, including one large Spanish stamp dealer, have them for sale in mint condition only and it seems that both the stamps for Spain and Colonies were all sold in Spain by the various agents.

With the exception of the stamps that actually passed thru the mails, and these were very few indeed not to say the least of postally used stamps from the small colonies in West Africa. I think that the unused ought to be classed as our own Red Cross Christmas seals—with no philatelic value.

Everyone knows how hard it is to get the regular issue postally used from these small colonies let alone the Red Cross stamps during their three-day sale in some oasis of the desert.

It seems that these stamps were to be placed on sale at the large cities of Spain, so I wrote to these places for covers and in no case did I get the certain denomination on the covers I asked for, as my correspondents would reply that the Post Offices had on sale only certain denominations and some none at all.

As a summary of the various cities of Spain I might say that Barcelona had the most complete. In Seville only a limited number were sent to the P.O. and these were sold out the first day. From Vigo, Spain, reports have it that only the 25c was on sale and this being the stamp most used and the local rate in Spain.

In the capital, Madrid, I am referred to a list of agents for uncancelled copies as well as in other places, as the Spanish newspapers published in the various cities seem to carry quite a bit of advertising of stamp dealers and agents announcing the sale of the La Cruz Roja Espanola.

A special cancellation seems to have been used in connection with the postmarking of these stamps. The usual large round circle is used with Barcelona or other towns at the top in a box curved. Cruz Roja Espanola in the other half of the circle at the bottom of the postmark and in another rectangular box in the center is the date 17 Set 26.

PERHAPS YOU DO NOT BELIEVE IT!!! BUT IT IS SO!!!

that my collections 100-15,000 different, quality packets by countries, cpl. sets, etc of Europe are with regard to the quality and low prices without competition. Philatelic Agency Activities

The branch Philatelic Agency at the International Philatelic Exhibition remained open for six and one-half days and during this time took in just a few dollars short of $30,000.00. Had they been able to complete the mail orders which arrived in New York, these sales would possibly have exceeded $32,000.00. In all, 100,000 small panes of twenty-five White Plains stamps were especially printed for sale at the Exhibition and I now learn from Washington that no further quantity will be prepared. So far, sales of the White Plains stamps, which include the larger sheets of one hundred, have reached $42,000.00—possibly the largest philatelic sale heretofore noted in the case of a new issue.

Attention was recently called to the fact that five plates were made for turning out these special panes of stamps and that four of the plates were used in preparing the stamps that have been sold, these four bearing numbers 18770, 18771, 18773 and 18774. The fifth plate number 18772 was used by the Bureau of Engraving & Printing at the Exhibition. On the return of Mr. A. C. Radue, the plate printer in charge, he made an accounting to the Bureau for every sheet printed at the Exhibition and also accounted for the unused paper. All of the sheets printed at the Exhibition, together with the plate from which they were printed, were cancelled at the Bureau in the presence of a committee consisting of Bureau employees, in addition to a representative of the Post Office Department. As a result, none of the sheets in imperforate condition are available notwithstanding rumors to the contrary. As this plate was not used for turning out any of the perforated stamps, impressions from it are not available in any condition.

The 20,000,000 copies of the White Plains stamps in panes of one hundred were placed on sale in Washington for the first time on October 28th, although they had previously been available at both White Plains and at the Exhibition. Since then the stamps have been distributed to a number of the larger cities throughout the country. At the present time, it is doubtful whether a further quantity will be ordered by the Post Office Department from the Bureau.

1873, 90c Stitch Watermark.

Mr. William West reports that he recently located a copy of the 1873, 90c rose carmine, Continental print, showing a distinct stitch watermark. Here of late more attention is being given to these watermarks resulting from imperfections in the paper and it is quite likely that most of our early emissions will finally be located with a stitch watermark.

Canal Zone

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown me a portion of a pane of the 17c Wilson from plate 18022 wherein the surcharge is shifted in such a manner that one row of stamps show the "Zone" overprint only and the balance with an overprint reading, "Zone—Canal."

A similar pane of the 1c from plate 15456 has been found but in this case the surcharge is shifted downward instead of upward, resulting in copies showing the overprint, "Canal" only, with the balance of the sheet reading, "Zone—Canal."

ALAOUITES.—Whitfield King & Co. report that the 75c brown orange and 2p50 peacock blue stamps have been surcharged "3p50" and "6p" respectively. The former surcharge is in black while the other is in red. In addition to the above the Economist Stamp Co. advise that the 1p25 green has been surcharged "12p" also in red.

Of these quantities 150,000 sets will be overprinted for the districts of Ruanda and Urundi, and in this connexion those concerned promise to apply the overprint more carefully than hitherto, so that it does not obscure the central subject.—Stamp Collecting.

CZECHOSLOVAKIA.—Three new pictorials are reported, viz.:—Wmk. Linden leaf, Perf. 10. 20h yellow (Karlúv Tyn), 30h green (Pernstyn), 40h brown (Orava). THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

ODD ITEMS:—

HARRY E. HUBER has just returned from a trip to the West Indies. When at Inaqua, Bahamas, on October 11, the Acting Governor of the Island was there on the ship "Valerian," which foundered eleven days later with such heavy loss of life.

A. F. MERELL, who is an enthusiastic booster for the WEEKLY, writes us that he has just issued the 903rd membership card in his Radio Club, and he has two hundred boys and girls listed who have not yet qualified for membership. Mr. Merell is not seeking extensive numbers but requires that each and every member be an enthusiastic stamp collector, taking pride in his collection, and knowing his stamps. We have frequently commended the work that our San Francisco subscriber is doing and wish him success in the continuance of his labors.

AS an aftermath of the New York Exhibition Frank E. Wilson of Birmingham with Frank J. Mole of the same city paid a visit to Boston. In this connection both were entertained by Albert W. Batchelder and the Managing Editor of the WEEKLY with a day's outing in the Essex County district, which included a match upon the Wenham Golf Course. It will have to be admitted that the honors of the occasion went to Mr. Mole.

WE have received from the London Stamp Club, 89 Farringdon St., London, Eng., a very useful club program for the season of 1926-27. It combines a detailed program of events from October to May with a page of pockets for stamps, a millimetre scale and club information. These pages are enclosed in a substantial cover upon which is given a complete list of the officers of the club and the advantages of membership.

O. S. HART of Akron, Ohio, favors the Managing Editor with two old 2c U.S. stamps found in separate bundles of 275,000 obsolete U.S. which he had just finished sorting for cancellations, shades, etc. These two stamps when fitted together show a continuous cancellation of "Beverly, Mass.," evidently the work of a rubber stamp, and appearing in inverted form upon the stamps in question.

ROBIN LAMPSON gave a stamp talk recently before the Commercial Club of Fresno, Cal. Louis Gundelfinger presided at the luncheon.

A NEW pricelist is being issued by the Cortlandt Stamp Co., 337 Gates Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., and a specimen copy will gladly be sent upon request.

U. S. Exhibits At The Exhibition

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

THE great International Philatelic Exhibition held at the Grand Central Palace in New York City, from October 16th to the 23rd inclusive is now history. It is not an exaggeration to say that it was the greatest philatelic exhibition ever held and that in point of attendance as well as superiority of the stamps exhibited, it will be many days before it will be equaled, much less surpassed. From the opening hour at 11.00 A. M. on Saturday, October 16th, for a private view to the members of the Association for Stamp Exhibitions, until the closing at 10.30 P.M., Saturday, October 23rd, there was never a time when there was a lull in the attendance.

Upward of one thousand glass cases were filled with the philatelic wonders of the world. The most famous rarities were on view and the finest specialized and general collections known could be seen by the passerby. Not only the marvels of America were on hand, but Europe, Australia and South America were ably represented. The exhibition was a wonderful success and it is doubtful if there has been anything in late years that has done so much to advance the interest of philately. It was not only visited by the collector, but thousands were in attendance who came merely out of curiosity and left with the idea that stamps offered an unusual diversion. Dealers' booths surrounded the exhibits and these were generally crowded. Almost without exception they report substantial sales.

Praise was to be heard from everyone. It was unfortunate, however, that most of the judges participated in the several classes and as a result were not in a position to judge in those classes in which they were best posted. Some few errors which were called to their attention, later resulted in the changing of several awards and the granting of additional medals to some few who had been overlooked.

The United States exhibit, which drew the greatest crowd, was the exhibit of the United States Post Office Department, of which Mr. M. L. Eidsness, Jr., Superintendent of the Division of Stamps, was in charge. Their main attraction was the Philatelic Agency, and daily from its opening to its close, a line was to be found in front of the three windows. They had on sale not only the White Plains stamps, but the other varieties still available at the main Agency in Washington. Mr. Eidsness was ably assisted by Mr. A. D. Collins, the Philatelic Agent, Mrs. M. E. Shaughnessy, the Assistant Agent, in addition to Mrs. G. H. Armentrout and Miss Masier Baxter.

Mr. A. C. Radue, in operating the printing press from the Bureau producing the White Plains stamps, attracted a great amount of attention, and his assistant, Miss Grace Vallandingham, kindly handed out the imperforate sheets as they were printed for the inspection of visitors but unfortunately she watched each sheet carefully, so that none of the imperforate stamps are now in the hands of collectors. A large sign over the press called attention to the fact that this was a hand roller press and not the type that is used daily in the Bureau for producing our emissions.

Those in charge of the branch of the New York post office were unusually accommodating and in cancelling the first day covers applied the type of cancellation desired, namely, that of the electric machine, showing the bars or the rubber hand stamp, both of them reading, "International Philatelic Exhibition Station."

The Department had on view a number of frames, consisting of the approved die proofs of our current stamps, together with a very unusual frame designed at the Bureau showing the current stamps worked into an artistic picture.

As to the United States exhibits, the outstanding collection was that of Mr. Arthur Hind. While Mr. Hind's collection would not equal the combined strength of the individual United States collections on exhibit belonging to others, nevertheless as a whole, it was the finest lot shown. He had on view the rarer Postmasters, such as the Alexandria, the Annapolis, the Baltimore 10c on both blue and white, the Boscawen, the Lockport, as well as reconstructed sheets of the St. Louis. His early blocks of the general issues are fast nearing completion and his collection contains one of the few complete sets of the 1861 August issue known. His 20th century, however, are not as strong as one might expect in a collection of this size for he lacks many of the rarer varieties. His Provisional issues of the Confederate States are among the finest known.

In the section devoted to research in United States stamps previous to 1870, the palm of honor went to Dr. Carroll Chase for his wonderful lot of the 3c 1851. Through his untiring labor he has practically completed the reconstruction of the nine plates of two hundred subjects made for the imperforate stamps, two of which exist in two distinct states and one in three states, a total of thirteen plates, consisting of twenty-six hundred stamps. Twelve have been entirely reconstructed and the thirteenth shows one hundred sixty-nine out of the two hundred positions placed.

A gold medal in this class was received by Mr. Henry C. Gibson, for his wonderful collection of the 5c and 10c issue of 1847, the finest lot ever gotten together. I especially noted in this exhibit perfection mint blocks of six of the 5c and 10c. Of the latter, this is the largest block known and is the only block in superb condition that exists. But three other blocks are in existence in any condition. The largest used strip of the 10c ever found is a strip of six, of which two are known and both are in this collection on the entire covers, one of which bears a French transit cancellation in addition to a Philadelphia Railroad postmark. Mr. Gibson shows a complete reconstruction of the plate of 10c, consisting of two hundred subjects. In addition, the stamps are shown in combination with each other and in combination with later issues, together with Railroad, Steamboat and other cancellations. The reprints of 1875 are shown in partially reconstructed sheets, for the first time.

The next award in this class went to Mr. H. P. Atherton for his unusual lot of the 2c black Jackson. He shows this stamp with almost every cancellation known, together with covers in unusual combinations. The third award went to Mr. A. W. Filstrup for his collection of the 10c 1851 to 1857. It was generally agreed that the award for this unusual lot of stamps should have followed the Gibson collection. Mr. Filstrup shows partially reconstructed plates of these varieties in addition to wonderful blocks and unusual covers.

In the second section of this class devoted to research from 1870 to date, no awards were made. This was certainly an oversight for the unusual lot of 1871 to 1873—7c, gotten together by Mr. J. W. Sampson, was worthy of recognition. He has devoted years to his research and has produced a wonderful lot, including blocks and cancellations in addition to a number of most interesting covers. One who has searched for these covers will appreciate that it takes time and labor as well as money to get them together.

In the same class Hon. E. R. Ackerman showed a specialized collection of the 24c 1871 to 1875. This included a block of four of this very rare stamp in addition to pairs and covers—many of the latter being addressed to foreign countries. His assortment of this variety is possibly the finest now in existence. Mr. Ackerman also had in this class a specialized collection of the 3c vermilion of 1887, including a large number of the stamps used on cover. If you have ever searched for this variety on the entire cover, you know what it means when I say that he showed probably ten or fifteen covers in combination with other stamps used both locally and abroad.

Mr. H. E. Coulson has shown what it is possible to do with a common stamp, for he has taken the 2c Columbian, which can be purchased at a few cents per thousand, and made a really attractive exhibit by writing up the plate flaws and defects.

In this section Philip H. Ward, Jr., showed his specialized collection of the Columbian issue of 1893, which includes the artist sketches, essays, proofs and finished stamps—the latter being in blocks and singles in shades, including the error in addition to the 2c imperforate.

In section 3, devoted to Postmasters and Carriers, a gold medal went to Mr. Henry G. Lapham for his wonderful showing of the 5c New York Postmaster. A finer lot of this stamp could not be imagined, and it is doubtful if such a collection could ever be gotten together again. He has several reconstructed plates, including one made up entirely of pairs, which prove conclusively the number of stamps on the sheet. The rare R. H. M. varieties were shown in profusion as well as the stamp used abroad. Personally, this exhibit appealed to me as one of the finest lot of early stamps shown.

In section 4, there was one entry, namely, the Nesbit die envelopes of Mr. J. M. Bartels, which received a silver medal. The collection was in cut square condition and contained die varieties of practically everything known.

Another award well merited was the gold medal given to Mr. Edward S. Knapp, for his Confederate States New Orleans 5c. Mr. Knapp has worked up a wonderful collection of this stamp which he has plated in the three states, namely, on white paper, on blue paper and on yellow paper. In addition many unusual covers are shown, including one marked, "Captured by Farragut's Fleet." In this class Mr. Thomas H. Pratt showed an unusually attractive lot of the Confederate 5c of the first design in both green and blue.

In Class II, devoted to United States and Possessions in Section 1, General Issues of the 19th Century, the gold medal went to Mr. Edward R. Wood, Jr. All issues are here represented by mint singles and blocks and of the latter he shows an exceedingly fine lot, including such outstanding items as the 5c 1847 in block of six, the 1857 through the 90c in blocks, practically all of the 1861, as well as the 90c 1869. In the singles he shows all of the special prints, including the rare 2c and 5c on both soft and hard paper. The inverts of 1869 are all present, including a mint copy of the 30c, of which but three or four are known.

The second award was received by Mr. A. H. Lamborn for an unusually fine lot of our early issues. To my way of viewing it, his complete set of the August issue was the outstanding page. Mr. Lamborn also shows fine copies of the inverts of 1869 and has all of the special printings, which are not to be found in many collections.

The third award was received by Mr. J. B. Kremer, who devotes his attention to the single copy in superb mint condition and one must search carefully to find the few varieties that are lacking. This collection includes the 1869 inverts used, as well as most of our early issues, with fine margins and full gum.

Mr. Edward C. Worden exhibited in this section four frames devoted to our

Philatelic Stamp Agency

One of the surprising things to me at the International Philatelic Exhibition was the fact that great numbers of collectors are unaware of the existence of the Government Philatelic Agency at Washington. The establishment of this Agency was one of the most important events in philatelic history.

I have under preparation a little treatise which I hope to make of some value to collectors. It will tell what the Agency is for and will give a complete list of United States stamps which the Agency has issued, with the date of issue of each stamp.

I'd like to give this pamphlet away entirely free, but printing costs too much. I shall make a nominal charge of ten cents per copy and will give free with each one a copy of the latest official list of stamps for sale by the Philatelic Agency.

rly stamps. Mr. Worden collects in iantity, and of the stamps which inter-t him he seems to buy any number of pies. These are mounted in an elab-rate way, which detracts from the amps, for the stamps are only incidental, id as stated by Mr. Worden, these were ore particularly shown for arrangement id mounting.

In section 2, covering the Bureau is-ues from 1894 to date, the gold medal, hich was designated as first award, was ven to Mr. Edward R. Wood, Jr. This llection is undoubtedly the finest lot of ureau issues ever gotten together and arts in with the essays and sketches llowed by the proofs, and then the is-ued stamps in singles, blocks and sheets. his collection contains practically every-ing known in the Bureau issues, includ-g the four 20th Century inverted cen-rs in mint blocks of four, that is, the 901—1c, 2c, 4c and the 1915 Aeroplane c. Of the 2c, but one other block is nown. Mr. Wood has the imperf. 5c ror as well as all of the other imperf. id part perf. varieties to be found in ese issues.

A gold medal was also awarded Mr. . H. Lamborn for his showing in this ass. Mr. Lamborn goes in for singles id blocks and has a wonderful lot of ades. His collection is especially strong plate numbers, which he shows in both ngles and strips from the four positions.

(To be concluded.)

Have You a Surplus of These?

We always want to buy for ready cash and at the top of the market anything fine in early U. S. stamps or covers. If you have a specialized collection of any stamp or series; a find of old correspondence; an accumulation of 3c '51s, '57s or '61s on or off cover; patriotic covers of the Civil War, either Confederate or Union, or of the Spanish American war; a few thousand Bank Note issues, even the common 2c and 3c stamps if there are enough to bother with.

Send them to us with your best cash price. Particularly if you have items you think are worth more than anyone else will pay, for that is just the kind we want. Our check or the stamps will come to you by return mail if you ask it.

Just now we are anxious to spend some real money for fine items, but don't want the culls at any price.

THE FORUM—UNITED STATES ISSUES 1847-70

By H. P. Atherton, 1562 Main St., Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to United States postage stamps, 1847-1870 only. Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

If your Aug. 9 Forum is handy, you might jot down that our cancel No. 3, the little four leaf clover, is from Austenberg, Ohio, this check up coming from Mr. R. F. Molitor. Also No. 2, of June 14, was used at St. Louis, Mo., as Dr. Evans has this on 3c green on cover.

Cahaba, Ala., Verified on Pre-stamp cover, 1847, 1857, and Confederates. This leaves the 1851 issue unlisted till War Times. Mr. H. C. Brooks sent the pretty Pre-stamp folded letter, mailed by a man in Cahaba on business, to his brother in Dartmouth College, Hanover, N. H., the pmk. being "Cahaba Jul 31 Ala" (1836) in jet black at top left, with "25" in mss. at right.

Mr. E. Perry makes mention of the pmk. on a 5c 1847 cover; Mr. A. H. Benners sends three covers mailed in 1860 and 1861 with a larger pmk. than that of 1836; and Mr. I. C. Overman ends our list by mention of a cover pmkd. "Cahaba Feb 14 1863 Ala." with two 5c Davis Confederates.

Did you ever think of starting a collection of covers showing the pmks. of the Capitols of our United States? This would make a novelty that would be of interest, as the towns change in some of the states. Start, of course, with a Tallahassee, Fla., in green on a 10c '47 cover, for black and green make a nice vivid contrast. Omitting some of the real rarities tho, one could make a nice little book full of covers from the various capitols.

Here is some Light Summer Literature—part fiction (the names and locality) the rest being based upon fact.

AUCTION SALE of Household Furniture and Antiques from residence of Essie Eskins, Piney Lane, Linenhurst, (near center) on thursday, Sept. 3, at 2 P. M. SHARP. Consisting of Antique Chairs, Desk, Bed, Dressers, Copper Kettle, Prints, Pewter, Crockery, Glass, Farm Tools and general line of household goods; 6 (six) barrels of postage stamps.
Per Order of Essie Eskins.
John Jones, Auctioneer.

How would you like to see that notice looming up at you out of your morning local newspaper? This "something for everybody" country auction notice was torn from a newspaper and handed to me by a man who was interested solely in that almost unbelievable last line—"6 (six) barrels of postage stamps." When he handed me this ad to read over, his eyes were still as big as saucers, and he admitted that he had been lying awake nights, speculating!

Lot to think about! How could any one family ever save up all these stamps? What could be in a single barrel? Maybe they were all old covers! How much could they be bought for? Would many dealers be "wise" to this Auction? Would all the '47s be in one barrel? The '51s in another, etc., etc.? Those were some of the rapid fire questions that run through one's mind at such a time.

What would you do in a case like this, go and look the auction over surely. (This part was told to me after the Auction was over.)

The impatiently awaited day dawned bright and fair, oh, happy day! Let the assembled multitude scramble for their Pie Crust Tables, Copper Kettle, Louis Quince Chairs, etc.; but us for the 6 (six) barrels of postage stamps—nothing else but!

Ah, those six barrels, there they were as big as life, even bigger, all six of them. Sealed up of course—they looked as tho they had originally housed sugar, or maybe flour. They were rather too newish to intrigue a stamp collector, who would have much preferred seeing them in six old hair trunks. How inconsiderate to have the barrels tightly sealed, no corners of covers with '47s on them were sticking out of the tops, where the barrels had been headed up.

Oh, for a periscope, or a night glass, or some kind of a ray that would penetrate those thin barrel staves and show a little flash of the contents, even if it would only show the color of the stamps, for if it was green, well, 3c greens often have beautiful cancellations, and if the mass was of variegated hue, we would still have a fine chance; but, if the general tone was red, that would spell disaster.

There were few there who looked like stamp collectors; the auctioneer was interminably slow, never was such a slow auctioneer, and all the while there were "our" six barrels!

At last, ah, here they come, "Six barrels of postage stamps, to be sold by the barrel. What am I bid," after a pause, "Fifty cents!" Right here you should have seen that auctioneer, would he have apoplexy, or just faint away? "Who said that," he finally gasped, utter silence. Then came a bid "One Dollar." It was a good day to buy; but not to sell, and this first barrel was "sold to the man with the brown derby at one dollar and fifty cents." Owing to the fact that these barrels were coming right along, you could not rush in and claim your purchase, and knock it in the head to ascertain if its interior was filled with gems, or office sweepings.

Each of the remaining barrels in order fetched a bit more than its predecessor, till finally the sixth was knocked off at an even five dollars.

When the barrels were finally disposed of, the happy owners loaded them into their various equipages, still unopened, and they were toted to their new homes to be painstakingly classified and mounted during the long winter evenings.

It is difficult to pry off the top of a barrel without injuring the contents nearest the top, for you know what a few torn perfs mean to a beautiful 30c '57 with brilliant red cancellation, so with the greatest of care the head of the barrel was finally raised, and the proud possessor gazed upon thousands and thousands of our 2c red stamps, with a scattering of other stamps, equally valueless, all gathered in since 1900.

Cheer up, barrels sell for 40c so all is not lost. Thus ends one awful experience of what help one may get in his accumulations by buying stamps at auctions, far from the cities. This was told me by a man who knew what happened, and I fear that it suffers somewhat in the telling, for various minute details are omitted, and they were quite amusing, as is generally the case where one lives near the scene of the action.

AMERICA'S AIR ACHIEVEMENTS

The great land expanses of the United States of America, and the fact that they are not liable to very wide extremes of temperature, make it a country of unusual opportunities as far as aeronautics are concerned. During the past two or three years, these opportunities have been seized upon and developed with amazing results.

Previously, there had been a generous amount of private effort in this sphere; but, owing chiefly to its experimental nature, they were little more than enterprising attempts to catch the public eye. Yet to this persistent pioneering, America is now indebted for its unique position in aviation. The public are familiar with its practical aspects; finance and big business are supporting it, and public officials are awake to its possibilities. The position of commercial aviation is in a more healthy, self-supporting state than that of other important nations, and since facts are always more conclusive than generalisations, we will give a few statistics which will prove them.

During 1925 about three hundred concerns and operators were actively flying, some five-and-a-half millions of miles being covered, and over 200,000 passengers carried; according to the findings of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, 676 machines which made 258,762 flights were responsible for these operations. The mail carried in that year amounted to over 65,000 lbs.—a figure that will be very easily surpassed in 1926, owing to the opening of the contract services. (The routes of these contract services, which, with the exception of those operating in Florida, all branch off from the New York-San Francisco route, are shown on our map.) Six years previously the poundage of air mail was only 2,100.

Apart from the transport of passengers and goods, which continues to prosper and increase, aircraft has been exceedingly active in crop surveying, destroying pests, forest patrol, coast guard service, aerial photography and exploration. All these facts go to prove that America is heeding her President's words—that "a serious responsibility rests upon us to see that air transport be developed along constructive, economic lines."

So far, we have roughly sketched America's inland activities only. We should fail to do the subject justice, unless we outlined a few of the meritorious ultra-territorial achievements.

The Atlantic was first crossed by an American flying boat in the spring of 1919, the route being Long Island, Newfoundland, Horta, Lisbon and Ferrol to Plymouth; the world was first encircled by American aeroplanes in 1924, as described by Lowell Thomas, whose book we review this month; and the North Pole was first viewed from the air by Commander Byrd, during the present summer. These three achievements naturally outshine, from the historian's point of view, others that demanded an almost equal amount of courage and fortitude. Private and service flying men have, in their turn, attempted other polar and Arctic exploration flights, explored the forests of Central and South America, attempted to reach the Hawaiian Islands by air, and made long coastal trips between the northern and southern continents.

America is fortunate in having no international rivalry to contend with as regards the political aspects of aviation. While regulating to some extent the use and safety of aircraft, Congress is thus able to foster air commerce and leave progressive citizens with a free hand for developing its scope and application. In no other country are so many substantial business concerns interested in aviation. Important combines have been formed to finance it, and, to give an instance of practical application, Ford has turned his mechanical and organising genius to the operation of air lines and output of machines. Typical also, of American private interest, is the grant of half-a-million dollars, by Daniel Guggenheim, for the endowment of a school of aeronautics, and the same benefactor's fund of two-and-a-half millions for the promotion of aeronautics education, research, information and civil development, whereby not only American but international aviation will benefit.—The Aero Field.

NEW TYPE METER INDICIA

By Albert W. Draves.

Attention is called to the appearance of a new type of meter indicia, which closely resembles the Postage Meter Co. indicia, generally known to collectors as Type E. The new type is presumably the product of The International Postal Supply Company, Brooklyn, N. Y.

This type of indicia was first seen as date of October 7, 1926, on meter No. 1002, under permit 525, New York, N. Y., "Psychology, 17 West 60th St., New York."

The town mark diameters are 26 mm. and 14 mm., date in two lines, no hour, figures in small 2 mm. caps. Legend of town mark are in slightly larger caps than type E. The indicia auxiliary mark shows variations, notably in the larger caps, close spacing and a larger 2.

Two machines are in use, but meter collectors are urged to note this new type, as well as other types which may appear. Meter No. 5798 type E is the highest number recorded to date.

Elsewhere Mr. Ward has noted the slogan type used at the International Philatelic Exhibition. In accordance with the policy of the Post Office Department, attention was called to the fact that this is NOT a slogan, but a station mark, as the legend is "International Philatelic Exhibition Station." Collectors will recall the strictly slogan type used at the A.P.S. Convention at Springfield, Mass., in 1922.

SCOTT STAMP & COIN CO.
1 WEST 47TH STREET, NEW YORK, N. Y.

EDITORIAL

In answer to inquiries on the subject, we have obtained information as to the disposal of the White Plains stamps printed in sheets of 25 stamps at the New York Exhibition, from one in authority. These sheets that were manufactured in New York and which were imperforate and ungummed were returned to Washington, where they have been or will be, destroyed. It is known that the stock of sheets of 25, sold as souvenirs of the International Philatelic Exhibition, were brought there in a finished state, while the sheets that were printed before the eyes of the visitors at New York were used for illustrative purposes only.

Several readers have called attention to the postmarking by favor that was done at the Philatelic Exhibition post office, with critical comments on the action. It will be remembered that some allusion was made to the circumstance by one of the delegates to the American Philatelic Society convention, on the floor. In view of the fact that the custom of canceling stamps prevails at different post offices and that there is no inhibition, as we recall, on the act by the government, the acquiescence of the Agency did not stand out, particularly. It is predicted that a number of collectors will not be happy until they have something to say on the subject.

The aftermath of the Exhibition is a volume of verbosity in the outside press that is a striking commentary on the different angles from which the stamps were viewed as they lay in state at the Exhibition. It is now evident, more than ever before, that the event was advertised in a most effective way, and we suppose that for a year or so, publicity inspired by the great display will flow on. Some of the observations and deductions are of exceptional interest, while others prove that the writers were incompetent to catch the suggestions of the Exhibition. Perhaps the papers that were most impressed were journals devoted to different lines of trade, akin to stamp dealing. In each of the papers of the kind that has reached us, the business possibilities of stamp dealing is stressed and, for instance, the stationer is shown how he may include stamps in his stock and the book seller, as well. In a practical sense, the strength of philately seems to have surprised the business seer and he has gained a new perspective. These opinions on the Exhibition will be of interest as they are referred to in the coming weeks.

Mr. Kenneth A. Millican, San Francisco, is a business man of broad vision and withal a collector whose philatelic acumen is known to his many friends. These few words are a prelude to the following letter that Mr. Millican wrote to us on October 24, 1926, and incidentally we think that he has shown a fine spirit in writing as he has. "You will give me a line or two, I hope, in which to speak of the unparalleled service given me by the Philatelic Agency in Washington, in connection with an order for the White Plains two-cent commemorative. Unwittingly, I sent my remittance to Washington for the first day's issue and the Bureau there very courteously transmitted my order to New York; and as a consequence, I received my supply promptly here, with a plate-number block of the new stamps on cover, as I requested. I am not a frequent patron of the Agency; I don't know anyone there and my orders would be so small, compared with others, that I could scarcely be called a profitable customer. To the last detail, however, my order was filled intelligently, promptly and courteously; and I realize that the Agency must have been much handicapped by the press of business on the first day of issue. So I feel that a word of thanks and appreciation from an almost unknown and uninfluential patron of the Agency ought to be broadcasted a bit for two reasons: to let the Agency know that we collectors are grateful, and also to have the general run of collectors realize how impartially and intelligently the Bureau is being conducted."

The Collectors Club, New York City, was the objective of many of the members of the American Philatelic Society who participated in the affairs of the crowded week at our greatest stamp center. A few particulars of somewhat intimate kind as affecting the Club will be permitted, under the circumstances. The present headquarters of the organization at 51 West 48th Street is not the property of the Club, except in the sense that it is a tenant under a lease with about four years to run. The building is owned by the West 48th Street Syndicate. The Club has a fund of $17,500 in a savings account that is being held for use when the body decides to acquire a home of its own. The annual dues recently were increased from ten to twenty-five dollars for resident members, of whom there are about 180, while the five hundred or more non-resident members pay five dollars a year. The library, in which the splendid Joseph Rich donation was installed, as well as the club-room, is open from 10 A.M. to 6 P.M., thus meeting all the requirements of an institution of the kind. The president of this progressive organization is Mr. Theodore E. Steinway, while the secretary is efficient and erudite Dr. Chittenden. The treasurer is Mr. Lewy and Mr. Charles Curie is chairman of the house committee. It may be added that Dr. Chittenden, who, too, is librarian, has dominion over what is said by the discriminating to be the best library in the world, the Ricketts' library having been added to it some time ago. Here we have tangible proof of the flourishing growth of philately that is more convincing than words.

Our faithful chronicler of philately in all its aspects, Mr. Charles E. Roe, now sojourning in Massachusetts, writes: "Recently, there was shown me a copy of the ten cent U.S. printed by the National Bank Note Company on double paper. I make no claim to be an expert, but since I have never seen this variety catalogued, it should be brought to the attention of the collecting fraternity. At present the stamp is in the possession of my brother, L. Scott Roe of Waltham, Mass." The existence of some of National set on double paper is recognized, although they do not seem ever to have been catalogued. Many years ago, we submitted a six cent National, on the envelope, double paper to Mr. Luff, who duly made announcement of its existence; and at the time he mentioned that the twenty-four cent National was known on double paper. The six cent went into the Worthington collection.

Supplementing his remarks in the issue of August 2, 1926, on the significance of the letters, R.V., on the Travancore stamps, Mr. E. B. Aiyar, Puthenchanthai, Trivandrum, India, writes: "Enclosed please find four fiscal stamps of one anna and you will note therefrom the words, Rama Varna, in initials, indicating the ruling king of Travancore as occupying the four corners in small circles. In the calendar sent, the royal emblem, R.V., flanked by elephants and crowned by conch, is the typical illustration of what has already been published. By-the-way, the conch shell is the design and watermark of our stamps." We thank our correspondent for the calendar that he has sent, that certainly speaks emphatically of other lands and other customs.

The new Mexican, 10 centavos, commemorating the second postal congress of the Pan-American countries, was predicted some months ago, in this paper through the courtesy of one in touch with the congress in Mexico City, from whom we have had a synopsis of the business of the convention.

OBSERVATIONS OF A MOUSE

By CHARLES E. ROE.

The place was the assembly room of Boston Philatelic Society, the time, evening of October 12, 1926, and the se was a humble outsider, no member, philatelist even, simply a common or len, dub collector, present through kindness of Mr. Wylie and the cour- of the Society.

he presence of those three eminent lemen from England, Messrs. Mel-, Roberts and Godden, was the oc- on of the meeting, the largest in the ory of the Society, so we were as- d. After the preliminary circulation ooks of stamps for sale, in which the se plunged to the extent of seven. s, the meeting was called to order by Drew, who filled the Chair ably and pletely. The mouse can vouch for second adverb, since he sat directly nd that Chair and whenever Mr. w sat down he was wholly obscured. was eminently fitting.

roceedings started with introductions, person present having the pleasure clasping hands with the guests of or. Then, starting with "Grandpa" yer, came a series of brief, entertain- and instructive talks—they were too an to be called mere speeches—by the sts and members, during which the se gathered much information not lly connected with stamps, concerning public and domestic lives of certain atelists. It wouldn't be right to give es, and anyway the mouse has for- en or confused most of them: as a rter he is a washout. Then when the gram was completed a number of ies were shown by Mr. Godden; and e tenth commandment was not broken e those little red and black books ed around the big table, close exami- on would undoubtedly show the re- s of abnormal strains.

was a wonderful evening for the se, who had never seen more than e collectors together at one time, and ie sat watching all those intelligent tantial men (there were about sixty ent) he could not help recognizing the that there is a lot more in philately sticking stamps in a book. Adher- to a common cause is always a basis brotherhood, but in most organizations e are the inevitable black sheep. The ernity of the postage stamp is com- d of individuals who are of necessity usiasts, or they wouldn't belong. In the words of a somewhat moronic outside world, if they weren't nuts, they wouldn't be bugs, yet in that very "insanity" lies their strength. And in good old virtues, such as loyalty, honor, charity and the like, the stamp lovers can challenge any human organization, not excepting the League of Nations.

All these profound reflections came to the observant mouse and as he sat and watched the faces and listened to the talks and conversations, it became more firmly impressed upon him that there is no need to worry over the future of Philately. It is as solid as civilization, and that is because it springs from the same endur- ing roots.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

ENCOURAGE STAMP COLLECTING

(The following article is taken from the "Herald," Grand Rapids, Mich. It is sent us by Charles Lathrop Pack, who considers it one of the most interesting editorials of the many that were published in regard to the Exhibition.—Ed.)

Exhibits to be housed in the Grand Central Palace, New York City, during the week of Oct. 16 to 23 will be insured for more than $5,000,000. Yet these exhibits comprise only postage stamps, most of them used, and the most valuable of them of ancient printing. The occasion will be the International Philatelic Exhibition; and, if an expert appraisal could be made, it would be found in all probability that the display is under-insured, since a single individual's stamp collection has been known to bring $2,000,000 when placed at auction.

These figures give some idea of the popularity of stamp collecting, in which 1,000,000 persons in the United States are said to participate as a hobby. But, although stamp values may explain a part of the appeal of the unique amusement, the truth is that collectors get much more than money profit from their hobby. They get, for one thing, a colorful close-up of geography and history.

Some months ago the Herald, discussing a reported revival of interest in stamp collecting, called attention to the educational value of this clean, entertaining hobby. We at that time welcomed the reports of such a revival. But the news from New York where the philatelists are gathering is even more welcome and encouraging. Between 50,000 and 60,000 persons are expected to attend the show. A large proportion of this number will be boys and girls. Numerous prizes are offered for exhibits by youthful collectors. They are not, however, alone in their interest. Charles Lathrop Pack is chairman of the committee which has arranged the New York show. Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, former New Jersey senator, is on the committee with him, as are also Congressman Ernest H. Ackerman of New Jersey, Judge Robert S. Emerson of Providence, R. I., Col. E. H. R. Green and others of equally mature stability.

That one stamp on exhibit is worth $40.000; that displays will be made by Prince Otto, the son of the former Empress Zita of Austria-Hungary, and that King George of England is a well-known philatelist, are interesting facts which will be brought out in connection with the stamp show. But to our mind the most important and interesting feature is that there are 1,000.000 collectors in the United States and that most of them are youths. Every boy—or girl, although the hobby seems most to appeal to male youth—who has a stamp album and is actively engaged in filling it, is learning lessons of geography and history which will not soon be forgotten. Many a lad has first discovered Switzerland through the medium of the unique Swiss stamps; and there are matured men today for whom any mention of Siam brings up a picture of a white elephant superimposed upon a field of red on a Siamese postage stamp.

Stamp collecting is an amusement that should be encouraged. Because it must appeal in order to hold youthful interest, it cannot be forced upon the boy or the girl, but when it does appeal it most certainly should be encouraged.

Stamp Facts for the Beginner

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines?

Eugene Liked the Rarities

Dear Mr. Editor,—I see that such of us what has been to the Exhibition would be thanked if we wrote something about what we liked best there. I may not be as good as some of your polished city folks, but here goes. Out of all the wonders, one thing interested me more than any other, the wonderful display of rarities and unusual stamps at the many booths. It was an education for a real dyed-in-the-wool collector to study the many items displayed. Yours till the cows come home,

EUGENE F. ENDICOTT.

For Poor Dutch Children

Stamp Collecting says that last year's experiment of Christmas stamps in aid of poor children is to be repeated in December next, by the issue of the following:—

2+2c. Symbolic flowers of Zeeland.
5+3c. Symbolic flowers of Utrecht.
10+3c. Symbolic flowers of Friesland.
15+3c. Symbolic flowers of North Holland.

The plus values, no doubt, represent the amount over the face value that is intended for charity.

What Is A Bisect?

Oswald Pierce writes us: "Yes, I want the department for beginners continued. I am interested in U.S. and Canada. I have been collecting nearly three years, but I realize I have much to learn." Then Oswald asks us what a "bi-sect is." Here is our answer:—

A term applied to a certain class of provisional or "emergency" stamps. These are stamps cut into halves or smaller pieces, each portion of which then has franking power as a separate stamp. They may be separated diagonally, vertically, or horizontally, and, more often than not, the bi-sected portions are overprinted with the value for which they are intended to pay postage. Various British Colonies—Barbados, Falkland Is., Niger Coast and Grenada, to mention a few—have issued bi-sected stamps with the halves surcharged with the value for which they had franking power.

How to Exchange Stamps

The stamps should be neatly mounted and arranged in alphabetical order on sheets or in small books. That is simple enough but the matter of pricing presents a little more difficulty and must in a large degree depend on circumstances and mutual agreement. Supposing A wishes to exchange stamps with B, they might do so (1) on a cash basis or (2) on the principle of catalogue value for catalogue value. If they agree to a cash basis then each prices his stamp at about what he thinks they are worth and if A purchases $10.00 worth and B $8.00 worth then A will naturally have to pay B $2.00 in cash to balance the deal. If catalogue value for catalogue value is agreed upon some particular catalogue must be specified and both A and B will price their duplicates at the quotations given in that catalogue. Then if B takes $5.00 catalogue value from A's stamps A must return the compliment by removing stamps to the same amount from B's duplicates.

Current Cancellations

While the postal regulations distinctly state that stamps be especially canceled in black ink, nevertheless, now and then letters are received showing cancellations in different colors. As a matter of fact, it is not uncommon, especially in the case of registered letters from smaller offices, for a clerk to use the rubber stamp handy, and while this is against the postal regulations, it seems to be permitted.

Mr. Art Bledsoe kindly submits for inspection such a cover, registered on October 30th last, from Yazoo City, Miss., wherein the stamps on the cover are postmarked by means of a rubber stamp in magenta reading, "Canceled."

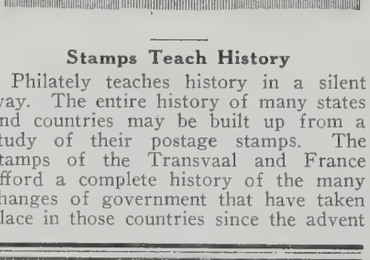
While but a few collectors seem to be interested in our current cancellations, the time is coming when many of those that are now common will be much sought after. For instance, a wonderful lot could be gotten together of our railroad postmarks, as well as postmarks of battleships. But few are aware at the present time that there is even a supplementary mail cancellation used from the small branch offices at the piers just before ships are about to sail. These offices usually consist of one small room with a couple of clerks, who are present just about an hour before the departure of the steamer.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

A Little Essay on Aitutaki

The northernmost island in the Hervey or Cook Archipelago. It is of volcanic formation, is surrounded by dangerous reefs, and has no harbor of any importance. The island was annexed to the British Empire in October, 1900, and in the following June it was included in the boundaries of the Dominion of New Zealand. Its government is administered locally, under the direction of New Zealand, by the Federal Council of the Cook Islands. In 1903 postage stamps were first issued, these being formed by overprinting the then current stamps of New Zealand with "Aitutaki" and values in the local equivalents.

The Crown As a Watermark

The device of a crown has been used for a watermark in the stamps of many countries, including Great Britain, Hungary, Denmark, and Italy. These crowns are naturally of various shapes, Great Britain alone providing three varieties, distinguished as "small," "large," and "Imperial."



Stamps Teach History

Philately teaches history in a silent way. The entire history of many states and countries may be built up from a study of their postage stamps. The stamps of the Transvaal and France afford a complete history of the many changes of government that have taken place in those countries since the advent of the postage stamp. The prevail idea now with many countries is to co memorate the great events in their h tory by a special issue of stamps, and find Italy, Chili, Argentine, Canada, United States and many other countr opening out pages of their country's h tory for our enlightenment.—Post Stamp.

A, H and P D on Azores

"What do the letters A, H and P on Azores 1906 represent?" This easily answered: They stand for districts of Angra, Horta and Po Delgada, the special series for wh ceased on the issue of these overprin stamps.

A Word About Bi-Colored Stamp

Bi-colored stamps are, of course, th printed in two different colors. As rule the centre-piece is in one color a the surrounding border in another. some cases, however, where stock pla are in use like those so extensively e ployed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. the production of British Colonial stam the main portion of the design is in o color and the name of the country a value in another. Bi-color printi naturally necessitates the use of t plates. The plate from which the p tion of the design denoting the value printed, is known as the "duty-plat while the other plate is known as t "head-plate."

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL
A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.
Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."
C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."
The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

THE CUBAN Y¼ SURCHARGE

By Elliott Perry.

the Department headed "Stamp s for the Beginner" on page 579 of October 18th issue of the Weekly, explanation of the "Y¼" surcharge ne Cuban stamps is given which I be- is not correct. While it is true that surcharge made the value of the sur- ged stamp ¼ of a real, the "Y" was intended as an abbreviation of the l "Ynterior." In attempting to find true meaning of the surcharge, the r students overlooked the simplest most logical explanation. The "Y" used exactly as we use our dollar s and stood for real or reales. It is e clear that without this sign there ld be no definite indication of the t value of the surcharged stamp. ad the "Y" represented anything ex- "real" the fraction might have meant uarter of a peso instead of a quarter real.

is very difficult to believe that an in- tion of the service for which the ip was the fee was placed on the ip instead of putting a mark to in- te the exact monetary value of the p. Yet this is what we are obliged elieve if we accept the "Y" as stand- for "Ynterior." No such dilemma ronts the "real" sign explanation.

ART AND THE POSTAGE STAMP

(A book has appeared under the above caption by Sheldon Cheney. It is reported that only a limited edition has been issued. We have not seen the book, but take the liberty of reprinting a review which appeared recently in the New York "Times."—Ed.)

Sheldon Cheney, founder of The Theatre Arts magazine and author of several books on the modern art of the theatre, asks us to consider the art of the humble postage stamp in a naive and small brochure illustrated with mounted examples of effective stamps which clearly interpret the author's theory that > a stamp may be a work of art to just as full an extent as any other decorative label of similar size, may afford the same esthetic thrill as one of those miniature prints by the "Little Masters," or the finest small book-plate of today.

That the utilitarian postage stamp with its tremendous circulation may be original in subject and designed as a thing of beauty instead of a "tight little portrait microscopically detailed" is practically exemplified by divers well-designed stamps of other nations. The "William Tell" Swiss stamp, the symbolic figure-designs of various Bavarian, Polish and French issues, and the Esthonian and Wurttemberg postage stamps all conform to the first essentials of modern poster art in their directness and simplicity. The designs are built on a single idea without complicating detail and ornamentation. The lettering is simplified and gains strength and character as an integral part of the design. If a central figure or portrait is used it is given the full free space of the stamp instead of being cramped about by a fussy border. In color, too, these modern art stamps are far superior to those of the United States and England. The clean, clear reds, blues and greens of many Italian, German and Bavarian stamps refresh the eye after the jaded red of our George Washington two-center.

Mr. Cheney suggests that the art of our postage stamps may be improved, as the design of United States coins has so noticeably been in the past decade, by enlisting the advice and services of recognized creative artists. In his enthusiasm he asks us to consider what really original and beautiful bits of design might be achieved in the limits of a stamp by such artists as Rockwell Kent, Allen Lewis or Arthur B. Davis.

A nation-wide contest, such as was conducted in Bavaria and Germany in connection with their last postage issues, offering prizes for the best original philatelic designs, would awaken the interest of artists and critics, while the reproduction of the prize-winning designs in our art magazines would assure the corrective influence of public opinion.

Mr. Cheney's idea gains interest and timeliness from the fact that the eyes of thousands of stamp enthusiasts will be turned early in October toward the International Philatelic Exhibition to be held at the Grand Central Palace in this city.

UNITED STATES WINE STAMPS
During 1914 to 1918 the Government obtained a considerable amount of revenue by collecting a tax on cordials and wines. While these stamps are not at the present time obtainable on the original cover with contents intact, nevertheless, in fine condition off the cover they are most desirable. Right at the present time I have obtained a supply of the $2 value imperforate, showing both the single line postage watermark in addition to the double line revenue watermark. The latter I have heretofore found to be quite a scarce stamp and much more desirable than its mate, which catalogues half again as much. These two stamps, bearing Scott's catalogue number 4169 and 4189 respectively and listing at $1.00, are available at 50c for the two stamps. Pairs and blocks may be had at proportionate rates.

Air Mail Notes.

Under date of November 8th, the Postmaster General announced that he had awarded the contract for carrying the mails by air from Cleveland, Ohio, to Louisville, Ky., to the Kaess Aircraft Engineering Corporation of Amityville, L. I. The concern will receive $2.20 a pound for the service and will be entitled to carry passengers and freight should they so desire.

The distance between the two cities is 339 miles and in addition to the two cities named, the route will serve Akron, Columbus, Dayton and Cincinnati, Ohio. The service will connect with the overnight New York to Chicago air mail and will be performed entirely at night. A supplementary day service is also contemplated by the successful bidder.

Neither the Postmaster General nor the Postal Bulletin have as yet stated when this service becomes effective.

Louisiana Tax Stamps

In further reference to my notes of October 25th relative to tobacco tax stamps issued by the State of Louisiana, Mr. A. T. Witbeck writes that the following denominations have now appeared: 1c green, 2c carmine, 3c orange, 5c blue, 10c color not given, 25c olive and 50c color not mentioned. He states that an injunction was asked for by a New Orleans retailer enjoining the collection of the tax. Upon his giving bond, a temporary injunction was granted affecting him alone, and the constitutionality of the law will be tested. In the meantime, all others are required to affix the stamps and collect the tax, much to their disgust, as the tax is very unpopular. Mr. Witbeck states if the money were to go for educational purposes, it would not be so bad but that many people are under the impression it is to go to the state school authorities and will be wasted in "administration."

As a result of this tax, a great amount of tobacco business is being done on a wholesale basis by consumers and a number are buying their tobacco either in Mississippi or Texas, where no tax is collected.

These stamps are issued in booklets containing two hundred and fifty stamps in ten sheets of twenty-five (5 x 5).

A PRICE LIST
THAT IS A PRICE LIST

Several Weeks Ago I Issued My Annual Price List of Mint 20th Century British Colonials.

It Lists Separately More Than 2000 Varieties of these Popular Stamps.

It Is Not a Long List of Odd Sets and Stamps of All Countries but a Real, Honest-To-Goodness Offering of Unused Kings' Heads Only, Cheap, Medium and Rare.

It Is Valuable as a Check List of Values as well as a Price List of Offers.

It Takes a Tremendous Investment to Make Such a Price List Possible and a Lot of Money to Print It and Send It Out to Interested Collectors.

If the Stamps Were not Desirable and the Prices Right, It Would Not Pay Me to Print and Distribute these Lists nor to Spend Money Advising You to Ask for a Copy.

If You Have Not Already Received a Copy, I am Sure You Will Not Regret Dropping Me a Line and Asking for One.

It Will Cost You Just 2c To Do This—It Has Cost Me a Great Deal More to Bring It to Your Attention!

When You Think of 20th Century British Colonials, You Just Naturally Think of put France's financial house in order, there is one affecting the list of postage stamps issued to the public. I had the pleasure of spending two months in France last summer and found it quite amusing to see the variety of stamps handed out to the public. From window to window in the same P. O. they had different varieties of stamps of the same denomination. Early in August, when the rates were changed (foreign Aug. 1st, inland Aug. 9th) they ran out of certain values and then would resort to combinations, handing out two or more values to make up the necessary amount of postage. Since Sept. 1st, the following values are no longer printed: the 30, 35, 60, 65, 85c, 1f05, 1f40, Sower type and the 45, 75c and 1f25, Pasteur design. Stocks on hand in post offices are to be closed out; the stocks in the Government printing office are likely to be surcharged with new values and reissued." In connection with the above Whitfield King & Co. have sent us the 1f05 surcharged "90c" and the 1f40 "1f10". In both overprints three parallel bars obliterate the previous value.

HONDURAS.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the 6c bright violet, of the 1920 issue with the surcharge "1926" in black.

MONACO.—Philatelic Magazine is in receipt of information from a correspondent that it is probable that the 75c will appear in a new color owing to its similarity with the new 25c red on buff.

PERSIA.—Whitfield King & Co. inform us that the 2ch pale blue has been issued in the new portrait type.

POLAND.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the 20g red-brown, in the new pictorial type, ship design.

PORTUGUESE GUINEA.—Whitfield King & Co. call our attention to two new items of this colony: 60c carmine and 1 escudo blue.

SENEGAL.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co. and Whitfield King & Co. copies of the 75c in carmine and blue and the 1fr in slate and blue.

SEYCHELLES.—The South African Philatelist announces that a new value is expected to meet a reduction in rates. It is a 9c red.

SPAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts sends us a full set of the Red Cross stamps that we have been reading so much about for the last few weeks. There are several types as follows: Type 1, Princesses Christiana and Beatrice; Type 2, The Queen of Spain; Type 3, The King of Spain; Type 4, The Prince of Austurias; Type 5, The Queen of Spain in Royal setting; Type 6, The Royal Family. The values and numbers printed are, 1c grey black, type 1 (134,500); 2c ultramarine, type 2 (271,500); 5c brown lilac, type 5 (172,500); 10c yellow green, type 4 (135.500); 15c blue, type 1 (162,500); 20c violet, type 4 (132,500); 25c red, type 3, (487,500); 30c green, type 1 (110,500); 40c dull blue, type 5 (128,500); 50c vermilion, type 2 (112,500); 1p slate, type 4 (111,500); 4p carmine, type 5 (43,500); 10p brown, type 3 (33,500). Also a 20c purple and sepia, Express stamp, Seaplane "Plus Ultra" type (104,500).

Trotsky Bows to Stolin As the New Red Chief

(Stamps Picked at Random from Our New 50-Variety Soviet Packet)

The recent clipping of the wings of that bunch of Red, Radical Communists, Trotsky, Zinovieff, Kameneff, Pyatikoff, Sokolnikoff and Yevdokimoff, leaders of the opposition in the Communist Party Central Committee, in which Joseph Stolin, man of steel, emerges as the big boss of Russia and the actual successor to Lenin's power, has directed attention of the world once more to the ill-fated and once mighty Russia. The surrender by this powerful clique seems to foreshadow the abandonment of the doctrine of world revolution and an attempt to enter into real relations with the rest of the globe. Be this true we all join the cry of "More power to you, Stolin", and maybe, too, we'll now get another "much needed" set of stamps, to commemorate something or another—and while you are waiting for this momentous announcement, why not jump in and get some of those sets or singles already issued — Russia has been powerfully busy the last few years in the stamp line and the issues have not been so terribly easy to get. So look our offerings over and send your order — Some sets are not very plentiful — first come, first served:—

FAR AND NEAR:—

THE firm of Eugen Schlegel Co., Nurnberg, Germany, would like the present addresses of Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Vail, formerly of Cincinnati, O.; Frank Shinn, Reading, Pa., and Elmer Gleich, Houston, Texas. The firm will recompense correspondents who can furnish the desired information.

WE are advised that Frank Pollard Brown of Boston has removed for the winter to 506 Fifth St., Wilmette, Ill. Correspondents will please take notice.

F. B. BUFFHAM, 927 Lake Ave., Racine, Wis., has just issued Bargain Bulletin No. 15, offering some good British Colonials. It will be sent to any address on request.

THE Reliant Stamp Co., of New York City, has removed to a larger and better office at 65 Nassau St. See advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

G. E. HALE of the Hale Album Service, Buckley, Ill., has sent us some sample pages of the album, which his firm is offering to collectors of stamps and covers. The firm has been advertising these sheets in our paper and we think well enough of them to urge our subscribers to investigate the service. These printed pages have much information in compact form. Apply to Mr. Hale for particulars.

HERMAN W. BOERS writes us that eighteen Detroiters were in attendance at the New York Stamp Exhibition. He does not hesitate to say that only a few cities surpassed this showing. Mr. Boers is also proud of the fact that several prize awards went to his city and he closes his letter by saying:—"Always something doing here."

A VERY handsome catalog of the Luder-Edelmann auction sale held in Zurich, from Nov. 22 to 27, is at hand. It is a magnificent book of 150 pages, exceedingly well printed and a credit to the firm mentioned. 4150 lots are listed. This catalog is accompanied with a supplement of 66 pages, each page being a plate of stamp illustrations. A mere mention of this combination catalog does not begin to do justice to its merits.

Confederate Postal Markings

By H. P. ATHERTON.

BEING random notes on some postal markings that came out of the Confederate States at the start of the Civil War, yet these are not called "Provisionals" at present writing.

Is it clear to you just what a "Confederate Provisional" is?

I suppose that most collectors who save covers, run into some with a "5", or PAID 5, or "10", which someway does not appear to have been used way back in the late '40s, and you do not know if it is really an early United States cover, or a Confederate cover. Have you ever found such to be the case? If so, what do you do about it—probably lay aside this particular item till you see someone who might know, or until you may find an article in some stamp paper which will inform you.

We are given to understand that a true Confederate Provisional is one which falls in that period just after the states seceded and prior to Oct. 16th say, of 1861. This cover must have the value or denomination printed at top right. Note the use of the word "Printed." Then there are many other methods of distinguishing if your cover falls in this class of handstamps which are not printed, yet are of this period. The paper of which these 1861 envelopes is made is quite different from that used in the late '40s, for you will find that it is hard and has a somewhat shiny surface as a rule, while all of the envelopes used in the '40s are without this hard texture and appearance, due most likely to lack of "sizing," rather than age.

A bunch of these Confederate covers are before me, and I am going to give you a list of them, hoping that it will tell you something that may help when you find some of these same covers, or others very similar. For one thing, the dates are overlapping on many of these from small towns, and you will frequently find them running well into 1862. This is to be expected. It is said that not over one letter in two hundred used during the run of the U.S. 1847s bore a stamp; perhaps the first year of the Civil War found nearly as big a percentage of these letters without stamps, and marked PAID 5, or with their rate in mss. As most of the markings are in black, will mention color only when it is employed.

ALEXANDRIA, LA. This is in red, and where the stamp should be we find a big 5, with PAID preceding it, or near the 5. These are commonly found in the Carroll Hoy correspondence.

BAYOU SARA, LA. Has small 5, and small PAID. This pmk. is small compared with others.

BRUNSWICK, GA. Small 5 and small PAID.

CANTON, MI. Here the PAID 5 is all cut from one chunk of wood apparently. My earliest dated cover is Dec. 23, 1861. On this the 5 is quite thin in appearance. My latest date is April 11, 1862. Here the 5 appears much larger, as do the letters in PAID. This marking is undoubtedly the same throughout, and I have a notion that the second was actually the first, sandpapered down to a new surface, for certain little irregularities have now disappeared, while the shape and size remain about as before.

Then comes the one with the star in circle with "Paid 5" around between the points and a script capital P inside the black star. This copy is dated Jul. 4. As this is quite evidently "printed", and comes at top right of the cover, it is now classed as a Provisional.

CARROLLTON, MISS. Big 5, and PAID in a circle. The "return" consists of a very odd architectural affair with pointed spires along the balconies, underneath being YALOBUSHA BAPTIST FEMALE INSTITUTE.

CHARLESTON, S. C. Here the postmark is at right, and a neat PAID 5 in a small circle is at left, the date being Oct. 19, 1861.

CLINTON, MI. Has a small 5 and PAID in small rectangular frame at one side. This might be mistaken for Canton at a glance. It is pmkd. June 11, 1861, a very early use of the PAID 5.

DARLINGTON C. H., S. C. Big 5 at top right and neat PAID in an attenuated frame. This is a pretty one. The C. H. meaning, of course, Court House.

DAVIDSON COLLEGE, N. C. Has a 5 much like those on early U.S. covers, with a PAID that is very carefully made with long serifs. Either this was overweight, or the distance too far, for a DUE 5 is added to face of the cover.

The DUE mark is used very frequently on these covers.

GEORGETOWN, S. C. JUL 26, 1861, Has a dandy PAID 5 in circle at top right. This was a big rice town, and in the swampy district of course. I heard a big mosquito story about the town once, to effect, that some years the mosquitoes used to fly off with most of the crop!

GREENSBOROUGH, A L A. Has PAID 10 at top right. Went to Georgia, 10c rate.

GREENVILLE, ALA. Has a neat frame enclosing the PAID, and a nice 5 alongside.

HAMILTON, MISS., without date, in red. Has small 5 at right with PAID in small rectangular frame, which has corners clipt. Very handsome cover.

JACKSON, MISS., pmk. June 5, and at top right is circle with PAID 5 CENTS. This looks as tho it were printed rather than a handstamp.

LAKE VILLAGE, ARK. At top right is PAID, with 5 CENTS in straight

Pre-Stamp Covers

This very popular historical field is gaining converts every day. With the increased demand, there is a growing scarcity of covers with distinct markings.

I am now breaking up a small find made locally, which includes many old New York State towns like Albany, Catskill, Kinderhook, Syracuse, Troy and Hudson, of course.

12 different towns for $2.00

All are clean, undamaged covers with distinct postmarks, and mostly with printed numerals, Paid, etc., to designate the amount of postage. These lots are returnable, if unsatisfactory.

line under paid. This is the only one of this type that I have seen, and it is a dandy.

LYNCHBURG, VA. Has the date in mss. in the pmks. which are at top right. At left is PAID in rectangular frame, with the value, 5 or 10, at a short distance.

MARS BLUFF, S. C., has PAID 5 at top right, and in jet black. The 5 is a very large numeral, and of irregular shape.

MOBILE JUN 16, 1861, ALA., is same pmk as was used on the little Locals, in place of the Local is a single frame containing PAID 5, the paid in a top line, with 5 below.

NEWNAN, GA., has PAID with 5 below it at top right of the cover.

OXFORD, N. C., has a fine PAID 5 in a circle at top right. The color of pmk. and the Paid 5 are quite different, which would indicate that both were not applied at the same time. It may be a Provisional.

PRINCETON, ARK., has PAID 10 at top right. This is in a very rich green color, and most as nice a green as Princeton, N. J., used on the 5c 1847s.

RANDOLPH MACON COLLEGE, VA., has a device of two half circles, the top one the larger, containing the word inside the curve, PAID; the lower part has a huge 5, with letters C.S.A. running thro the 5. This is a very unusual one indeed, and has all the appearance of a true Provisional. It was given to me by the recipient's family, for they had two more of them.

RICHMOND, VA., has a variety of these markings before the Confederate stamps arrived. The one that I like best is a letter written by a resident of Richmond to a friend they cannot locate in the same town, hoping that the Post Office can find out the correct address. The rate is PAID 2, a very unusual Confederate rate at this early time, Jan. 28, 1862. No DUE marks at all on it.

Then there is the DUE 5 in a straight line; a PAID 10 in a circle dated June 12, 1861; and the big blue pmks. without date of month, and having DUE 10 in a straight line, both being applied at random.

ST. JOSEPH, LA., is one of the prettiest of all, in a blue green ink. At top right is PAID with 5 under, while above and below are big curved lines, measuring about 40mm apart.

SHREVEPORT JUL 20 1861 LA has a framed PAID, with 5 near by at top right of the cover which has a Confederate flag in color at top left, a very beautiful cover, without stamp, and perhaps much rarer than if it did have the stamp.

TUDOR HALL NOV 15 1861 has a DUE 10 at top right, the DUE curved around top of the 10.

TUSCALOOSA, ALA., has PAID 5 at top right, the 5 is below the PAID as tho attached together with it. The cover has UNIVERSITY OF ALABAMA on it.

TUSKEGEE, ALA, OCT. 5. 1861, is a blue double ring pmk. At top right is PAID in frame with a big 5 following.

WARRENTON, N. C., has PAID 10 at top right.

WINCHESTER VA JUL 18 1861 has PAID with 10 under it, there being several of these with DUE 10 also.

Then there are a lot that are unreadable, or not in the current P.O. Guide, which I am omitting. Perhaps some of the towns are out of existence, or have changed their names, as happens in later instances. One which is indefinite must be NAPOLEON APR 8 1862 ARK with PAID and 5 under, etc., etc.

FROM EAST TO WEST:—

C. B. DURLAND of West Newbury, Mass., over a year ago bought the stock of the Sterling Stamp Co., but has only recently acquired the business and use of the firm name." Hereafter Mr. Durland will advertise under the name of the firm which for years occupied a leading position in our paper.

A. L. OTT of San Francisco has just sent us a subscription donated to the Commerce Philatelic Society connected with the High School of Commerce of that city. He also submits a copy of the Philatelic News, a very creditable school journal issued by a staff of three editors and a reporter.

A PROCLAMATION has been issued by Joseph A. Steinmetz requesting dealers and collectors of airmail covers to avoid using "long, cumbersome official envelopes or the large square ones." He asks that small sized envelopes be used as they are more collectible and "their value and charm correspondingly increases."

NORMAN SHEPARD has organized a radio stamp club in connection with Station KTAB, Oakland, Calif. Every Tuesday evening he gives a talk which is proving very popular. He has also opened a department in The Treasure Chest, a San Francisco boys' publication recently established.

"THE JUNIOR HOME MAGAZINE," published in Chicago, has a stamp department. In it is being printed a series of stories "Phil and Ray" by P. H. Thorp, which is designed to present the educational side of stamp collecting. The teru-teru bird of Uruguay is made the subject of the instalment in the current number. Thanks to F. C. Bundlie for this clipping.

A NEW stamp club has just been organized in Grand Forks, N. D., with over fifteen members. Meetings will be held every second and fourth Wednesdays in the Y. M. C. A. building. The president is F. C. Bundlie and the secretary-treasurer A. E. Hagen. A special effort will be made to reach the junior collectors and any of our readers residing in or near Grand Forks are urged to get in touch with either of the parties mentioned.

VICTOR WEISKOPF left on November 27th on the SS. Berlin for Europe. He will be abroad until February 10th. His new address will be found in his regular advertisement. Mr. Weiskopf intends to travel through Germany, Austria, Switzerland, France, and Spain.

NORSE AMERICANS

The most sought after stamps at my booth at the Exhibition were the 2c and 5c U. S. Norse-American Commemoratives. These are scarce, and doubly desirable because of their bi-colored attractiveness and the small quantity printed.

I have the seven different first day covers of this set, one from each of the cities where the stamps were officially issued, which I will sell for $5.00. With each order I will give an unused block of each denomination.

C. E. NICKLES, 213 SEATON, N. E., WASHINGTON, D. C.

APPROVALS

I have a very large stock, especi strong in XIX century stamps, from wh to draw. 30,000 varieties ready for y selection. Prices "net" but over 90% of stamps are sold @ ½ cat. or better. cular on request. Reference, please.

Suppose You Haven't Any Green or Carmine 4c of the 1883-87 Issues?

That's a question we often hear. There are few stocks of these stamps, and those we know of are held at double catalog or better. If the spaces in your album are filled with poor copies or none at all, this list will interest you.

Like the 6c re-engraved, these stamps have long passed as common. Try to find some. Prices advance with each new catalog, but some of them we'll pay full 1927 prices for.

UNUSUAL CANCELLATIONS? Just a very few on the 4c and 5c values. Sent on approval to those known to us or who furnish trade references.

FINE FOREIGN. Several more countries now mounted from the big collection we are breaking up. Discounts average 50% or more. Fine chance to fill vacant spaces.

For MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

By HERMANN FOCKE.

A short time ago, I reported on the difficulties I had experienced in securing a set of these much advertised stamps, and I have read, since then, the various opinions expressed regarding their status as bona-fide postage stamps, I must frankly agree with those critics, who condemn the manner in which the stamps have been disposed of by the Red Cross Society in connivance with the Spanish Postal Authorities, which has done much to make the vast majority of collectors look upon the issue as an imposition upon the good nature of the philatelic enthusiasts.

However, there is no doubt in that a good many of these stamps, and particularly the values most adaptable to paying for postage, have done regular postal duty, I, myself, having thus received part of the set, and it appears to me that a full description should be given of the issue which, without doubt, is one of the prettiest series of recent years, and for that reason alone a good many collectors will set aside their scruples and make an earnest effort to secure a full set, before prices climb into unattainable heights, particularly for the truly postally used, or even cancelled copies.

It will, of course, be almost, if not absolutely impossible, to obtain full sets of the various issues for the Spanish Dependencies, if it is true that each of them, that is Morocco, Tangiers, Cape Juby, Sahara and Guinea was favored with a set of their own in different colors, as has been reported from abroad, and I, for one, shall be perfectly satisfied with the stamps issued for the mother country, of which I had the good fortune of securing a complete set, postally used, during the three days, from Sept. 15th to 17th, when these stamps were authorized to be used for postage without any surtax whatsoever of regular postage stamps, and it is this latter set which I now wish to bring to the acquaintance of those of our American collectors, who may take an interest in the issue.

The set, as previously reported, has been engraved and printed by Messrs. Waterlow & Sons, Ltd. of London, and consists of 13 regular postage stamps and one value for special delivery; in some papers I have seen a reproduction of a 60 centesimos value, with portrait of the King, of the same design as the 25c and 10 Pesetas values, but I have not seen the actual stamp and have my doubt about its existence, as the value is not included in the price lists of European dealers, nor is it included in the present issue of regular postage stamps.

All stamps are perforated 12½ all around, and as stated before, are of an exceptionally attractive appearance, the prize for being the prettiest going perhaps to the lowest value, the 1 centesimo, black with portraits of the two Royal Princesses, which reminds me of the ½ cent black of the Jubilee issue for Canada of 1897, the design being very similar.

I now wish to report the different values as follows:

1 Cto. black with portraits as stated in medallions, value in the upper two corners, the Royal crown in centre over a garlanded staff, with CORREOS on either side; LA CRUZ ROJA ESPANOLA at bottom over which is a cross in a panel between the two medallions. Issue, 134,500.

2 Centimos Ultramarine, with portrait of the Queen in the garb of a red cross nurse in an artistic frame; La Cruz roja espanola at top in two lines with a cross on either side, figure of value in lower left corner, topped by the crown, Centimos in a band at bottom, over which in a band to the right is the word "CORREOS." Issue, 271,500.

10 Ctos. grey-green with portrait of the Prince of Asturias, or Crown Prince, in similar arrangements as the last value, but CORREOS appears at the top under the crown, and the Cross in the centre at bottom over La Cruz, etc. Issue, 135,500.

15 Ctos. indigo blue, same design as the 1 centesimo value. Issue, 162,500.

20 Ctos. mauve, same design as the 10 Ctos. value. Issue, 132,500.

25 Ctos. scarlet, with portrait of King Alfonso in a circular frame, value in upper left corner, otherwise similar in design to the 5c. Issue, 487,500.

30 Ctos, blue-green, same design as the 1c. Issue, 110,500.

40 Ctos. violet-blue, same design as the 5c. Issue, 138,500.

50 Ctos. orange-red, same design as the 2c. Issue, 112,500.

1 Pta. slate, same design as the 10c. Issue, 111,500.

4 Ptas. claret, same design as the 5c. Issue, 43,500.

10 Ptas. brown, same design as the 25c Issue, 33,500.

Special Delivery: 20 Ctos. violet frame with brown centre, containing a group picture of the Royal family, La Cruz Roja Espanola at top, Correspondencia Urgente at bottom, Royal Coat-of-Arms at upper left, from which is suspended a tablet containing the value, a branch possibly representing a laurel, but looking more like a Boston Fern leaf at left, with Crown in a shield in centre, at right. Issue, 104,500.

The expression Ctos. for "centimos," appearing on all lower values, excepting the 2c and 50c is not correct, as it means either an abbreviation of "CUARTOS," the old Spanish coin, or "CONTOS," the present Portuguese monetary system, and should have been spelled either CMOS. or simply Cts. as it appears on the present regular postage set.

REVIEW

From Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, proprietor of the Publishing House of Francis Hodgson, London, "The Stamp of Denmark," No. 35 of the Stamp Collecting handbooks has been received. The author is H. L. Friis, who brings to his studies an enthusiasm that is apparent and we may easily believe that he has striven for accuracy in his history. An interesting feature of the book is "The Danish Postal History Through the Ages" down to the present, presented as a fore-word. Beginning with the alluring No. 1 of the catalogue, the 2rbs, blue, which was designed as a local stamp for the city of Copenhagen, the 4rbs, brown, which antedated the 2rbs by four weeks in April, 1851, having been issued for the country letter-rate, the book exhaustively reviews the issues down to the present. For instance, the puzzling small and large numerals of the 1882-85 issues are described carefully and there is no paucity of details generally. Mentioning the somewhat curious 300th anniversary stamps of 1924, Mr. Friis says: "A mistake has been discovered in the picture of King Christian X in all the issues, as the King has his hair parted on the left in the picture facing right, while on the picture facing the left, the parting is on the right side of the head. The correct way is that the King parts his hair on the left. As the same drawing was used for both pictures, the print must have been reversed when produced, and this accounts for the interesting mistake." Obviously, the statistical and postal details are a setting that does much to give value to a work of this kind; and Mr. Friis' book provides a proper background for the study of the stamps themselves. Fortified by the knowledge that the book conveys, the student will be able to appreciate the attractions of the stamps of Denmark that enjoy no small popularity. The author in speaking of the provisionals of April, 1926, deplores the somewhat wayward tendency of a country, "which before the war was always looked upon as a clean philatelic country" to multiply issues and resort to surcharges on slight provocation in later years; and of the "27 Ore" surcharges, he minces no words in saying that they were speculative "as the majority of these stamps have never been used as postage, but bought up by dealers and collectors." Cuts of some of the early cancellations are shown and a list of the post office numbers. The book is tastefully prepared and is bound in boards; price seven shilling, six pence, net. Published by F. Hugh Vallancey, 89 Farringdon Street, E. C. 4, London, England.

That India has been a decided factor in the postal records of the air mail service of the world may not be realized fully until one has had the privilege of reading "Indian Air-Ways," by Stephen H. Smith, an active and honored philatelist of Calcutta, India, who is in a position to speak authoritatively of the aerial adventures of the postal messengers of that great colony. Particularly in relation to the stories of the earlier flights in India are the efforts of Mr. Smith of value, because as he says in his preface, the earlier flights are soon forgotten, in the light of recent attempts. In the "Tabulated List of Flights, Pilots and Machines Used," the chronology ranges from 19 to 1926, and the number of flights placed at nineteen. The flights embra both local and international ventures a are described in graphic style by o who knows his subject. Different a covers with their interesting markin are illustrated and numerous maps sh the objectives of the air service. Pra tically all of the details in connecti with the stamps and their distinct cancellations are pictured on the pag and thereby the philatelic and the histo cal phases of the subject are well dev oped. The air mail cover collector w receive instruction and even, inspiratio from an unhurried perusal of the w come little book of fifty pages, which Part I, the inference being that a furth compilation will be made when new aeri history is made.

Indian Air-Ways, by Stephen H Smith: published by S. M. Bose, P. Box 692, Calcutta, India. Price thr shillings.

TEA ON THE OLYMPIC

ne of the most interesting features the entertainment of the A.P.S. at- lants at the convention was the party n on board the Olympic of the White r Line on October 20, 1926. Mr. G. Reichelt of the staff of the Inter- ional Marine Company, New York, himself proud in making the visitors that the ship was theirs, belike the ector and A.P.S. member that he is; no fewer than one hundred and nty-two ladies and gentlemen availed rnselves of the opportunity of inspect- the Olympic and also, the Minne- ka and the Celtic, lying at adjacent s. The feature of the visit was a tea board the Olympic, served in the main ing saloon, which seats over 500; and dentally, this vessel is the largest r built in a British yard and is one the White Star Line's "Magnificent o" operating between New York and thampton. This attention to the sure of the delegates to the conven- and their friends was indicative of general tenor of the New York en- airment; and no doubt many a lands- n thought of the time when he would going abroad to a stamp exhibition, e took his tea in the beautiful saloon.

FRANK F. WILLS

MANUFACTURER'S AGENT, CUSTOMS BROKER AND ENTHUSIASTIC PHILATELIST

The writer has known Frank F. Wills through correspondence for a number of years and the WEEKLY is glad to present him to our readers. He has been collecting and dealing in Newfoundland stamps from St. John's, Newfoundland, during the past twenty years, as a side-line to his regular business. Quite recently he gave up his position as cashier with Harvey & Co. Ltd., where he had been for over sixteen years, and is now in business for his own account. He feels that he can give more time to serving his many clients, who collect and specialize in the stamps of Newfoundland.

Mr. Wills was educated at Commercial School and Bishop Field College and entered the business world with Harvey & Co. in 1910. In 1917 he left for Toronto, Canada, and joined the then "Royal Flying Corps." In 1918, he was honorably discharged as the result of an accident.

Mr. Wills commenced collecting in 1906, and dealing in 1910. A quotation from a recent letter follows:—

"I was always interested in geography and travel, but money being a rather scarce article in my youth, I took up stamp collecting as the next best thing. Since those days I have travelled very much, but still think I should have been perfectly satisfied if I only could travel at home with my dream countries before me on the pages of my stamp album. We do not in these days cater to the young collector in the way we should. There is a grand opportunity for us to do some real missionary work among the youngsters.

I frequently give away to my youthful friends, the stamp of countries that I do not collect and it is up to us, the older ones, to remember that the future of philately is in the hands of the youngsters of today and we should pass on to them the torch of knowledge to carry on."

If anyone wishes to know anything about Newfoundland from travel, business or philatelic standpoints Mr. Wills writes that his services may be commanded at any time.

WANT LISTS SOLICITED

CHARLES WENNBERG, 129 East 47th St., New York City

MING AND GOING:—

N interesting cover comes to us in our daily mail. It bears a purple canation circular in shape with three allel horizontal lines at the right. In circle is found "U.S.S. Gold Star, t. 22, 1926," with the letter "T" just lerneath the year. The word "Shang-" is found between the first and ond lines and the letter "C" between second and third. The postage is d by a common 2c U. S. stamp.

T the meeting of the Boston Philatelic Society, November 16, J. W. Pre- showed his collection and the dal which he won at the New York hibition. The following candidates membership were elected:—Charles French, Richard Roberts and Frank dden.

F. MERELL of San Francisco, Cal., has just observed his first iversary in connection with stamp ks over KFRC, the local radio station. le work Mr. Merell has done has re- ted in a stamp club of nearly one usand members. From the number of w subscriptions that Mr. Merell has t to the WEEKLY, we are convinced t great good is being done our hobby ough his talks.

VERY fine stamp story appeared in the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times of nday, Nov. 7. A full page was given an article by Alfred E. Newman, who advertising manager of the Times, and e president of the St. Pete Stamp & in Collectors Society. Mr. Newman, o submits this clipping, is well satisfied th the display given this article and he y well be. A large halftone of thaniel Brophy, president of the So- ty, is shown and a story of his trip on 18,000 mile globe tour is written in an eresting manner. During Mr. Bro- y's absence of nearly a year, over 000 stamps were acquired. We con- atulate Mr. Newman upon the pub- ity which he has been able to give ilately through his local paper.

C. LYON, 44 Elton St., Providence, R. I., would like the present address H. D. Pierce, formerly P.O. Box 77, omestead, Pa. Mr. Lyon has just re- ved a letter from the Dead Letter fice which had been forwarded to neral Delivery, Chicago. Interested rties will please write Mr. Lyon.

PHILATELIC society was formed Nov. 8, in the Y. M. C. A., Long ach, Cal. About fifty members med the charter membership. Com- ttees were appointed to furnish pro- ams and entertainment. The ages of members range from eleven years wards. A fine spirit prevailed that ll make this ambitious organization bigger and better in the following months. It will meet bi-monthly and our readers living in and around Long Beach, Calif., should write Carlton Benson, 1702 Cherry Ave.,

A PRICELIST of first flight air-mail covers has been received from Erwin Strasser, 910 Lakeview Road, Cleveland, O. It is a very comprehensive list and will no doubt be sent to any address upon request.

OUR advertised book agencies are supposed to carry all our books in stock. If you are unable to procure any desired book kindly advise us. The Dictionary is now $2. It will not be reprinted.

THE New York Times of Nov. 14, states that Great Britain has called a halt upon its plan to raise revenue by the sale of cancellation slogans. Clipping from Julius Sachs.

PHILATELIC BRIC-A-BRAC

By ALBERT W. DRAVES

We are amid the Red Cross slogan season, and "Air Mail Saves Time" has been relegated to the better weather. On November 11th, generally, die hubs changed to prepare everyone to be a Red Cross member. No doubt, by this time, each has his Red Cross seals, and has saved his block of four.

One wonders if all the "Mail Early for Christmas" hubs are broken. The admonition is well worth the die.

Great Britain, in particular, Glasgow has a franker with auxiliary box cautioning one to "Say it by Telephone." The anomaly is just, but in France, it would be irony.

Meters topped the 6,000 mark and of course, Funk & Wagnalls, permit 55, had to do it. They always do!

One meter had a short but industrious life. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Inc., aspirated a week and election day gasped over to mortgage loans.

Embarass, Wisconsin, is using a rubber E to cancel packages. It rates like the Glastonbury G, only different. Cancellations on the 2c red are de trop—at present!

For those who yearn for original stamp subjects, one finds the MEKEEL'S cut of the White Plains picture satisfactory for all intents. The Liberty Bell subject is well represented in advertisements of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The huge bell at the Exposition is shown. Our Long Island Railroad commuters may snick off a few betimes. The Ericsson subject was well pictured in the American Magazine of Art, and also the New York Times Magazine. The latter carried a comprehensive description, which is helpful to art lovers. This includes stamp collectors.

Collectors of platemen's initials have cause to rejoice at the White Plains issue. Every plate a new beginning! Every plate a joy made new!

The current 2c flat plate is running about 26% perfect condition. The 2c brown rates only 2% perfect, all of which just goes to show! M. T. Dome said that "guaranteed unpicked" means that only a shovel has been used! Many times, we find evidences of picks, posts hole diggers, dibbles and pruning shears.

EDITORIAL

The volume of publicity that is following in the wake of the International Philatelic Exhibition is of a magnitude that must surpass expectations, and if all of these printed references were kept, they would be an impressive object lesson of the value of the great occasion that now lives only in the memories of those who attended the exhibition. Philately's coming out party was a success, and in the chorus of commendation that is the aftermath of the debut, there are but few discordant notes. The tenor of the opinions as expressed by the outside world is amiable, generally speaking, and, indeed, there is reason to feel pleased that the comments are friendly and sympathetic, in the main. Here and there, however, there is a recalcitrant scribe, who kicks over the traces and professes to feel that the ado over stamps is one of the inexplicable twists of human nature. These marplots are few in number and are hopelessly outvoted by the scores of writers who have admitted that they were much impressed by the display, even though they realized that they did not have a full understanding of the subject of stamps. In the seemingly critical observations, the writers make no allowance for the collecting instinct that is in many of us and their remarks would apply to any other line of collecting endeavor. Nothing that equalled in vigor the scathing indictment of philately that a New York weekly was guilty of years ago, when the American Philatelic Society held a convention in that city, has been encountered.

The magazine, "Time" devoted over a column, in a recent issue, to "Stamps," and reviewed the Exhibition in some detail after introducing the subject through the medium of a woman, that exists only in the imagination of the editor, we wager. She is made to speak disdainfully of the "hundreds of thousands of silly little squares of paper, etc.," after the time-honored custom of the person who "sees nothing in stamps." The aforesaid woman is represented as getting a taxi in more or less dudgeon "that would take her away as quickly as possible from the Grand Central Palace, Manhattan." Temperamental Tessie! Time said after dismissing its first character that if all the stamps on view were made into a pile and then burned, the resulting scene would be a blaze, rather than a conflagration, "but the resultant damage would have been in excess of twenty million of dollars." At any rate, philately is now playing big time engagements.

Baron J. Rudbeck, Superintendent at the Royal Swedish Postal Administration, Director of the Postal Museum, Stockholm, Sweden, was in charge of the Swedish Government exhibition and he was courteous and competent, indeed. He was a worthy representative of the best postal and other traditions of his good country and his exhibit, entered by the Royal Swedish Postal Administration, was an attractive one that had a prominent place in the hall. We are indebted to Baron Rudbeck for a copy of the Catalogue of the Postage Stamps of Sweden, Issued 1920-1926, and Exhibited at the International Philatelic Exhibition, New York, 1926, by the Royal Swedish Postal Administration, the edition of which was limited to fifty copies on hand-made paper. This souvenir is a typographical delight and the eight pages of stamp illustrations are superb examples. On the cover of the book is an enlarged reproduction of the three ore copper red of 1920. From the "Preface" we quote: "The year 1920, is renowned in the history of the Swedish stamps, because the Royal Swedish Postal Administration then overtook the stamp-fabrication, which was before executed by private printers. For the above mentioned purpose, the Postal Administration bought in U.S.A. several modern machines, constructed by B. R. Stickney, mechanical expert and designer in Washington." As is known all the issues of Sweden, beginning with 1920, are steel-engraved and products of the rotary press. There is a wealth of information in the pages of this handsome booklet.

One of the most delightful adjuncts of the great stamp week in New York was the reception given by Messrs. J. Brace Chittenden, John H. Hall, Jr. and George Walcott at the Havard Club, on October 22, 1926, to distinguished philatelists. Many philatelists of familiar names, as well as others of established reputation, thronged the spacious rooms and a list of those present would be a veritable "Who's Who" of the stamp world, almost. Every opportunity was given to the guests to meet kindred spirits and the contact was certainly enjoyable. The culinary attractions vied with those of a philatelic kind, and the generous hosts may know that their hospitality was appreciated to the utmost. The informality of the reception added to the spirit of friendliness that pervaded the reunion, and those who attended have a pleasant memory of one of the happiest events of the crowded days.

The news of the death of Joseph Trauner, owner and manager of the Excelsior Stamp Company of New York City, is received with feelings of deep regret, coming as it does, so soon after the mementous occasion at New York. The personal friends of Mr. Trauner, as well as those who knew him through correspondence, will realize that their circle of philatelic associates has been narrowed by the death of this gentleman, who was affiliated with the American Philatelic Society, the New York Philatelic Society and the Boston Philatelic Society. Mr. Henry C. Thiel is now in charge of the Excelsior Stamp Company and we understand is to continue it for time to come.

Some weeks ago, the death of Dr. Alfred Dahlberg of Chicago was reported at the advanced age of eighty years. Dr. Dahlberg, who began to collect in the earliest days of philately, retired from practice fifteen years ago, but we believe that he never relinquished his interest in stamps. He was one of the leading collectors of Chicago thirty-five years ago, and met many of the visiting philatelists who came to his city at that period. We remember his first issue of Sweden, complete, and his Swedish error, as bright spots in his large collection, and we wish to pay tribute to his courtesies as extended in those remote days.

Here is an interesting side-light that is submitted by the Reverend Lloyd C. Walter of Oklahoma City, Okla.: "Some time ago I met a family who told me that President McKinley was a stamp collector. These folks said that they had friends who lived next door to the McKinleys in Canton, Ohio, years ag and that the collection sometimes w left with these neighbors when t McKinleys were away from home. T folks whom I met said that they had se the collection and described it as bei quite extensive. This bit of gossip m be old, but I had never seen ment anywhere that President McKinley w a stamp collector." We have a vag recollection that it has been recorded th McKinley had some knowledge of stam but we are unable to confirm any pa ticulars.

THE BOY AND THE EXHIBITION

(We are indebted to J. W. Thom for the following editorial which appeared in the Indianapolis "Sunday Star" of Nov. 14. We recommend its perusal to our host of boy subscribers. Indeed, those of more advanced years will find some things here that will prove of educational value.—Ed.)

If the small boy collector of postage stamps needs arguments with which to convince his parents of the importance of his collection, and the need for funds with which to keep it up, he might have found them in plenty during the recent international philatelic exhibition in New York. Millions of dollars' worth of stamps were on exhibition.

The United States Post Office Department has recognized the educational value of stamp collections and has established a bureau known as the philatelic agency, where collectors may obtain perfect specimens of postage stamps. This department also has issued from time to time commemorative series of stamps on the anniversaries of important events in American history, the most recent of these commemorating the 150th anniversary of the battle of White Plains having been issued just at the time of the international philatelic exhibition in New York.

The first commemorative stamp series was issued at the time of the Columbian exposition in 1893. Sixteen denominations of stamps, ranging from 1 cent to $5, were put out, each presenting a scene from the life of Columbus connected with the discovery of the new world. "Columbus in Sight of Land," "The Landing of Columbus," "Soliciting Aid from Isabella" and "Welcomed at Barcelona" were among the subjects.

The next series issued was the Trans-Mississippi series in 1898, the stamps showing "Marquette on the Mississippi," "Farming in the West," "Indian Hunting Buffalo," "Hardships of Emigration" and others. The Pan-American issue in 1901 showed the advance of invention in engravings showing "Fast Lake Navigation," "Fast Express Navigation," "Fast Ocean Navigation." The Louisiana purchase issue of five stamps in 1904 showed the faces of Livingston, Jefferson, Monroe, McKinley and a map.

The three stamps of the Jamestown exposition issue in 1907 show Capt. John Smith, the founding of Jamestown and Pocahontas. The steamer Clermont adorns the stamp of 1909, issued in honor of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. The Panama-Pacific issue of 1912 shows Balboa, the Panama canal, the Golden Gate and the discovery of San Francisco bay.

The more recent issues are the Pilgrim tercentenary of 1920, the Huguenot-Walloon tercentenary of 1924, the Lexington-Concord issue of 1925, the Norse-American centennial issue of 1925-26 and the sesqui-centennial exposition issue of 1926.

When it is recalled that the collector studies the minutest detail of the stamp for any defect or peculiarity, it is understood that he must become familiar with the subject thereon portrayed. No further argument as to the educational value of stamp collecting should be needed. Enthusiastic collectors point out other information to be acquired. Geography, of course, is to be learned through collecting the stamps of other nations, but who would suppose that ornithology could also be studied in this way? Several countries adorn their stamps with pictures of native birds; the Somali ostrich is found on the stamp of Abyssinia, the emu on that of New South Wales, the cassowary on North Borneo's stamp and the kiwi on that of New Zealand. The young collector may learn valuable lessons in art from the frequent discussions by connoisseurs on the most beautiful postage stamp designs. In fact, it would seem that there is no limit to the educational value of stamp collecting.

INVITES BIDS FOR AIR MAIL TRANSPORTATION

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15—Postmaster-General New today invited proposals for transportation of air mail over the transcontinental and over-night New York-Chicago routes, returnable Jan. 15. This action is intended to carry into effect the department's policy of relinquishing control of its mail lines as soon as assurance became definite that private contractors were strong enough to resume the operation.

"For the government to remain in the field," said Assistant Secretary Glover today, "would mean duplication of service, since it cannot carry express packages or passengers and would only operate to deprive commercial companies of needed revenue."

Announcement was also made today that the proposed new uniform rates of 10 cents a half ounce for air mail to all points in the United States soon would be put into effect.

Stamp Facts for the Beginner

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines?

Gossip

Jesse E. Baker.—The variety described by you duplicating Mr. Ward's chronicle of Nov. 8 is an interesting one. It is a problem as to its value and we suggest that you watch our columns for quotations.

Kenneth Welch.—U.S. stamps with letters punched in them indicate that their use is being safeguarded by some business firm. These perforated initials are interesting, but the stamps possess no special value.

A subscriber wishes to know whether the value of a precancelled stamp is increased by the precancelling being upside down. While sometimes there may be an increased value for the inverts, ordinarily they are as common as the regular precancelled stamps.

Tannou-Touva—A New One

Whitfield King's Monthly Circular tells us of this new stamp issuing country. There are ten values, seven ranging from 1 to 50 kopecs, and 1, 3 and 5 rubles. The description of the country is as follows:—

Tannou-Touva is situate between Mongolia and Siberia and was formerly called "Urjanhanski" and is not a part of Mongolia but a separate republic. The central design is a religious symbol called the "Wheel of Happiness." The four letters at the top of the stamp are TTNR, signifying "Tannou Touva People's Republic." The inscription on the left is "Postage" and on the right "Stamp." The figures of value appear at the foot of the stamp and the words "kopecs" or "roubles" at the sides, these being the currency of the Republic, whereas in Mongolia dollars and cents are used. The stamps are available for international postage.

Canada My Favorite

Howard Bay writes that he is fourteen years old and specializes in Canada mint, U. S. and precancels. His preference is for Canadians and he gives us this little story:—

"Canada's history is linked with that of the U.S., and so the stamps of Canada are interesting to us. No speculation and few issues mar their philatelic history. A collection is best begun with the Dominion issues since 1868 as they are more moderately priced. Practically all are gems of engraving which can be best appreciated in mint condition. The Georgian issues probably bear the best picture of King George of any British adhesives. The only disappointments are the labels bearing Queen Victoria's profile in widow's weeds and the map stamp of 1898. The few commemoratives were issued in large quantities."

Good for Howard.

A Junior Exhibition

Some of you boys might like to get up a stamp Exhibition in your local Y.M.C.A., Public Library, Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce. Try it out and see how successful you can make it. Perhaps you would like some suggestions as to the scheme of competition. Here are three classes:—

(1) Best arranged general collection.
(2) Best arranged and written up collection of any one country.
(3) The best arranged collection of stamps, illustrating any one special subject, such as Aviation, Art, Engineering, Navigation, History, Geography, Religion, Sport, Mythology, Economics, Biography, or any subject with which stamps can be associated.

And here are a few rules:—

(1) Open to boys and girls under 18.
(2) All entries mounted on pages.
(3) Neatness and originality of display basis of awards.

As for prizes try out your dealer!

Study Your Stamps

Much more interest would be taken by all collectors in their stamps if each one would study his stamps. The purchase of a stamp from an approval sheet and the immediate placing of it in its allotted space in the stamp album is not all there is to collecting stamps. Study them. Look at them. Find out the reason for the issuance of the stamp or set of stamps. Once in awhile take out the stamp album and turn the pages slowly as though you were looking thru the book for the first time. It is surprising how many stamps you will see in your album that you didn't realize you owned before. You will also learn to know the beauty of the designs and the engraver's work. Collect and study. Study and collect. Collect with a purpose.

Canada Customs Duty

The Canada stamps bearing this inscription are not postage stamps. They are used in connection with printed matter entering Canada from foreign countries and represent a fiscal tax collected by the postal authorities.

See the Attractive Bargains

We want our boys and girls to watch the advertisements in the two adjoining columns. Our dealers will make some very attractive offerings. Already a number of definite assignments of space have been made. When you write our advertisers be sure and mention our publication. It will help you and help us also. Just say "MEKEEL'S."

Victoria Falls

What majesty and grandeur those words bring to mind! These falls are located in the interior of Africa and are so beautiful and wonderful that Rhodesia issued a whole set of stamps in 1905, showing pictures of them. The one penny value is the commonest and is found in most collections, while the five shilling value is too expensive for most of us. We can get just as good a picture on the cheap one as the others. One of these beautiful stamps should be in every collection.

Ivan McGill Writes Us:—

"The large picture of a bird made entirely of various colored stamps attracted my attention at the New York Exhibition. It was very interesting to note the manner in which the pieces of stamps were placed to show off the multicolored figure of the bird. It took my attention because it showed that philately may be put to a different use than is generally supposed."

This is all very well, Ivan, where one has a multitude of common stamps at his disposal and lots of time in which to arrange them. It should not be a substitute for the "real thing" in stamp collecting.

Uruguay to the Fore

Rinaldo Wren of San Jose, Cal., writes us as follows:—"Of all the interesting things I saw at the Exhibition the collection of Uruguay, shown by Mr. Alfred Lichtenstein, seemed to be par excellence. The stamps were superbly mounted and in such perfect condition as to command attention. If any exhibit deserved the highest award at the Exhibition it certainly belonged to the one made by Mr. Lichtenstein." Without a doubt, Rinaldo is right. At least the Exhibition judges thought so.

MORE ABOUT THE WHITE PLAINS

By David O. Plotz.

There was another postoffice that had the new White Plains stamp on sale October 18, 1926. That postoffice was North White Plains. It was very odd that those enthusiasts in White Plains overlooked the one logical place that should have the stamps.

But many collectors did not know that only a short distance from the postoffice in North White Plains is the building used by Washington as his headquarters. The building is still standing and is today used as a show-place and contains many relics of Revolutionary days.

The North White Plains postoffice is supplied with stamps from the main White Plains postoffice, and received a supply on the first day. A handstamp cancellation was used reading "White Plains, N. Y., N. White Plains Station," with date. A beautiful first day cover was one with a view of Washington's Headquarters.

BANQUET OF THE AMERICAN PHILATELIC SOCIETY

The banquet held on the evening of October 20, 1926, at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, brought the festivities, so far as they affected the convention of the American Philatelic Society, to a close. The beautiful hall was filled by a representative gathering of members and friends; it is needless to say that the presence of philatelic dignitaries from abroad lent distinction to the occasion. The menu was excellent and was supplemented by addresses that were of singular interest. Mr. Wilhelm, president of the American Philatelic Society, was honored as the first speaker; and he was followed by Mr. Dorning-Beckton, Vice-President of the Royal Philatelic Society, London, and Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack president of the New York International Exhibition, both of whom were generous in their expressions of philatelic amity. Dr. Emilio Diena, Rome, who stands so high in the affections of philatelists, universally told of his pleasure in affiliating with American Philately, and Dr. Herbert Munk, Berlin, editor of the monumental "Kohl's Briefmarken Handbuch. said that he was glad that he was chosen to represent Germany at New York. Mr Nils Strandell, Stockhom, told of his impressions in an interesting manner and remarked upon the giant strides taken recently by American philately. The final speaker was Mr. Charles J. Phillips New York, who gave an absorbing ly interesting account of philately in its international aspect and was followed intently by his auditors. Several professional dancers enlivened the program, which was concluded by dancing, until literally the day was well done. Dr. Brace Chittenden, whose attainments as an orator are such as to make him a charming figure as a toastmaster, carried along the program with great good cheer. As a raconteur, scholar and what you will, Dr. Chittenden has kinship with genius. This banquet will have the place of honor in the social annals of the Society and it was a most happy ending of the convention story.

No. I cannot offer you this variety, for it is not available. Those printed at the International Philatelic Exhibition have been destroyed and none are to be issued by the Department.

I, however, do offer the serious collector of United States stamps one of the finest professional stocks in existence, to pick from. It is not only strong in the later blocks and singles in immaculate condition, but contains many of the greatest rarities in our earlier varieties. Whether you are looking for the rare block or the late single, I am likely to have on hand the item wanted and your want list is solicited.

Also remember that in order to keep my stock in such condition, it is always my desire to purchase anything really fine in the way of United States adhesive stamps, both postal and revenue. If you have only a single stamp or have a collection or an accumulation, no property is too large. My only requirement is that the stamp or stamps are in superb condition.

If you are thinking of selling, it will pay you to consult me. If you have a large number of duplicates that you have been putting aside from time to time why not send them on and turn them into cash? Funds to any amount are available.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

I have just been shown a most interesting as well as excessively rare cover, namely, one addressed to Wurtemberg, bearing a block of four of the 1851—5c brown imperforate. The stamps which are in the lower right corner are tied to the cover by a black Wilmington, Del., cancellation, in addition to a red "N. York Br. Pkt. 7 Paid Oct. 1," cancellation. Two additional stamps making a 30c rate have evidently been removed from the top portion of the cover. The cover also shows a red rectangular postmark reading. "Aachen 15-10 Francko." On the back of the cover we find two postmarks in black, one reading, "Stuttgart 17 Oct. 1856" and another undecipherable dated the following day.

Blocks of this stamp are exceedingly scarce and offhand I can recall but few in either used or unused condition. Mr. Hind has a mint block from the Duveen collection, Mr. Walcott has a block of five on cover which I acquired a couple of years back, also addressed to Germany, Mr. Filstrup has a block of eleven pen cancelled and I recall a damaged block in the Eagle sale, which was later repaired. With the exception of one other block, of which two stamps are partially gone, I do not recall any other large pieces of this variety.

1875, 2c Vermilion

The earlier postage stamps of the United States are frequently met with, with revenue cancellations, especially those during the 60's used on bank checks Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer has recently shown me an item that I have not seen heretofore, namely, the 1875—2c vermilion, on hard paper with a printed black cancellation in three lines reading, "Piso's Cure for Consumption". This postage stamp was no doubt used as a Proprietary revenue.

Bureau Notes

In my recent list of plate numbers, there were listed four plates of the Norse-American series of stamps, namely, numbers 18676 to 18679 inclusive. The appearance of these four plates at this late day has resulted in a number of inquiries. I am officially informed by the Bureau that the plates although numbered were not completed, consequently no printings have been made therefrom.

In the same list, plates numbers 18759 to 18762 inclusive were listed as 1½c curved plates of one hundred subject size. This was a typographical error and should have read one hundred seventy subjects.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of November 15th, Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster General, issued advertisements inviting proposals for the transportation of air mail over the transcontinental and over-night New York-Chicago routes. Bids are returnable at noon on January 15, 1927. This action carries into effect the policy of the Department to relinquish control of its air mail lines as soon as practicable. The Department is well pleased with the efforts of the fifteen contractors now transporting mail by air between the various points in the United States and it is expected that the present routes now being covered by the Department direct may be split up among several of the present contractors. It is expected that such contracts will be let in two sections. The first will include the New York to Chicago leg of the transcontinental route and the overnight route both of which will run via Bellefonte, Pa., and Cleveland and Bryan, Ohio. The second section will be the Chicago to San Francisco leg, which runs via Iowa City and Des Moines, Iowa, Omaha and North Platte, Nebr., Cheyenne and Rock Springs, Wyo., Salt Lake City, Utah, Elko and Reno, Nevada, and Sacramento, Calif. Contractors are entitled to a maximum revenue of $3.00 per pound for the first thousand miles and not to exceed 30c per pound for each additional one hundred miles. If bids are returnable the early part of the year, no doubt arrangements will have been made by February or March, for the carrying of this mail privately. No

nal Zone

The Canal Zone Government has dered from Washington the 5c Ericsn stamp overprinted for use on the ne and it is quite possible that the quisition will be honored. If so, mps will, no doubt, be available in the ne by the middle of December.

I am further informed that the supply the 2c Sesqui-Centennial is practically hausted. Relative to the latter stamp, error of importance has been located far as I can learn, although minor icings in the relation of the "Canal" the "Zone" may be found.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman has own us a 75c current type, which has st been issued in dark violet.

COLOMBIA.—Further to our paragraph fortnight ago, on the continued use of 5 and 10 pesos stamps of 1917, we now informed that these are shortly be issued in violet and dark green, rectively, instead of the present grey d dark brown; the quantities ordered om the printers are 50,000 of the 5 sos and 30,000 of the 10 pesos.—Stamp llecting.

COSTA RICA.—The Economist Stamp send for chronicle a set of ten values a new official set. They are the work Waterlow & Sons Ltd. of London, l all of the same design. Across the ter of the stamp in a curved frame is "OFICIAL" with "Correos de Costa Rica" at the top. Just below at the left is the usual coat-of-arms of the country. The figures of value are all in black in the lower right corner with the word "Centimos" or "Colon" at the bottom left. Colors and values are, 2c blue, 3c rose red, 4c ultramarine, 5c green, 6c yellow, 10c rose, 20c olive green, 30c orange, 45c brown and 1 colon violet.

FRENCH MOROCCO.—Whitfield King & Co's Bulletin prints the following:—An official notice has been published that the following changes are to take place, but the new stamps will only be placed on sale as the old ones are exhausted:—

Postage stamps, new colours, 20c sepia, 25c green, 30c blue, 50c green; new values, 75c red, fr.1.05 claret, fr.1.40 dark red, fr.1.50 blue, fr.3.00 carmine.

Air Mail stamps 5c orange, 80c claret, fr.1.40 dark red, fr.1.90 pale blue, fr.3.00 dark grey.

Postage Dues, 1 franc claret, 2 francs violet.

GERMANY.—Mr. Wagner writing under date of Nov. 1st last, sends copies of the new German stamps. Figures of value are in each upper corner while the familiar "Deutsches Reich" is at the bottom. The values so far received are the 3pf brown, portrait of Goethe; 5pf green, Schiller; 10pf red, Frederick the Great; 25pf blue, Goethe. There are also a 15pf vermilion, 30pf olive green, 40pf deep violet, and 50pf violet brown. The Edward Ludwig Stamp Co. send additional information regarding this issue and advise that the 15pf bears the likeness of the philosopher, Kant, the 20pf Beethoven, the 30pf Lessing, the 40pf Leibniz, the 50pf Bach, whereas the 80pf brown pictures the great artist, Albrecht Durer.

KEDAH.—Mr. R. Roberts reports that he has received the following new items for this country: 4c purple and 6c red, type of A1, 12c black and dark blue and 35c plum, type of A2, all on script watermarked paper.

LUXEMBURG.—New Series.—It is officially announced according to "Rufus," that the 2, 3, and 6c values will not appear in the new set. The new series will not appear before November. It is not intended, at present, to change the design of the 1, 2, 3, 5 and 10 franc values. —Philatelic Magazine.

NICARAGUA.—The Metropolitan Stamp Co. informs us that they have just received a new set of official stamps, and while they are surcharged on the types A24 and 25 they were probably printed by the American Bank Note Co. for this purpose as the colors vary somewhat from the original issues. Each bears the overprint "Oficial" in small thin capitals and are all in black surcharge. The colors are ½c green, 1c violet, 2c carmine rose, 3c olive, 4c red orange, 5c black, 6c brown, 10c yellow, 15c brown, 20c olive brown, 25c orange and 50c blue.

The values and colors are 2c chocolate, 3c blue, 4c yellow, 5c brown olive, 6c brown, 10c brown red, 15c black, 16c blue, 25c grey, 32c deep green, 40c green, 48c deep rose, 50c yellow, 64c blue, 80c violet, 96c red, Esc. 1.00 dull carmine, Esc. 1.20 yellow buff, Esc. 1.60 blue, Esc. 2.00 deep green, Esc. 3.20 sage green, Esc. 4.50 yellow, Esc. 5.00 brown and Ecs. 10.00 pink.

TRAVANCORE.—Whitfield King & Co's Bulletin prints the announcement that they are informed officially that the stamp 1 cash surcharged on 5 cash bistre, which was chronicled in several journals, has never been issued.

UNION OF SOUTH AFRICA.—Our Johannesburg contemporary is informed on reliable authority that no further printings of ½d South African and S.W. African postage due stamps are being made. Present stocks will be used up. There is very little demand for this value.—Stamp Collecting.

STAMP NEWS IN BRIEF

British Empire.

Antigua.—The 2½d is reverting to the old blue colour. Fortunately most of these Colonial reversions are in a different shade, so that no slump is caused in the price of the earlier printings. One or two, however, are so similar that they cannot be listed separately.

Bermuda.—Rev. W. G. Iremonger shows us the latest shade of the 2½d, which has a less yellow shade of green. He also has the 3d, blue, with inverted watermark.

British Honduras.—The colour of the 2c is to be changed to red. Booklets will be issued containing 100 of this stamp.

Ceylon.—The new 9c value will be printed in red on yellow paper.

Fiji Islands.—Mr. John E. Toy informs us that the ¼d value is no longer obtainable. He thinks that further printings are unlikely.

Mr. W. McCreake states that the reasons given by a correspondent (in the July M.J.) for the issue of 1½d and 2s stamps are wrong. The former is needed because the postal rate on letters within the city of Suva is to be 1½d, while the 2s is needed for parcel post purposes, These reasons have been given by the Colonial Postmaster.

Kenya.—The 5c and 10c are to be printed in green and black respectively.

Leeward Islands.—Rev. W. G. Iremonger shows us the 3d King George, old CA watermark, on what appears to be undoubtedly the pale yellow paper, so that this variety must be reinstated in the catalogue. He considers that this paper must have been mixed with the orange-buff, as he received first the latter, then the pale yellow, and later the orange-buff again. Both papers were used to print from Plate 8.

Mauritius.—The 10c and 20c are to be printed in the King's Head design in future, the colours being red and purple respectively. The 12c K.G. is to revert to its previous colour, grey. This value has changed, on the average, once a year since 1921.

Montserrat.—The 3d is to revert to its old colour, purple on yellow, but has not previously appeared on Script watermarked paper in this colour.

Nyasaland.—The 10s is being printed on Script paper.

St. Kitts-Nevis.—The 2½d is reverting to its original blue colour. The 3d becomes purple on yellow.

St. Vincent.—The 3d is to be printed in purple, on yellow Script paper.

Seychelles.—The 3c and 12c are reverting to green and grey respectively.

Straits Settlements.—Federated Malay States.—The 3c is being printed in brown.

Virgin Islands.—The 1d is being printed in "blue-purple." A new value, 1½d, red, is also being prepared.

Other Countries

Argentina.— Firms of good standing are now permitted to use automatic franking machines. Messrs. A. H. Davis and H. G. Spanton send us specimens of the new frank.

Mr. Davis tells us that he was misinformed as to the discontinuance of the practice of overprinting current postage stamps for the use of various Government departments. This practice still continues.

Mr. Justo Roth kindly sends us specimens of the specially inscribed envelopes, post cards and letter-cards issued in connection with the Philatelic Exhibition held in Buenos Aires in commemoration of the Argentine Postal Centenary. The special cancellation reads "EXPOSICION FILATELICA CONTINENTAL (B.A.)" in a double circle, enclosing the date. The letter-cards and envelopes, in addition to a special announcement of the Exhibition on the front, have various notes about Argentine postal history and progress on the back.

Mr. H. G. Spanton states that the quantities of the Postal commemorative series which were to be tendered were as follows: 3c, 5,000,000; 5c, 30,000,000; 12c, 15,000,000; 25c, 10,000,0 He does not know whether these qua tities were actually printed.

Bolivia.—The "Sun Gate" issue, abo which so much ink has been spilt, is de Public opinion in Bolivia has been arous by the fact that sets of these stamps w put on sale in Europe before they arriv in Bolivia, and so great an outcry h been made that it has apparently be decided to drop the issue altogeth Sets now on the market therefore f into the "prepared for use but not sued" class.

We think that Bolivia and other cou tries should take warning by the fate this issue and of the 1c and 2c of t Centenary issue which no catalogue w list, and henceforth avoid the practice handing over part of an issue to priv persons or firms in payment for wo done in connection with the production stamps.

China.—Mr. R. F. Strange writes th owing to the continued depreciation the Yunnan dollar the postal authoriti have decided to overprint all stamps f sale in Yunnan with an inscription ve similar to that applied to stamps issu in Chinese Turkestan and differing on in the last character but one. It wi however, be applied horizontally inste of vertically. This is an entirely nece sary overprint in order to prevent spe ulative operations based on the differe value of the dollar in various parts China.

France.—Prof. F. P. Renaut tells that the 35c, 45c, 60c, 65c, 80c, 85c, 1fr 0 1fr 25 and 1fr 40 have been withdraw as from September 6th. Owing to temporary shortage of 50c stamps special emergency printing in da bronze-green was made just before th issue of the 50c red.

French Colonies.—The 60c stamps twenty-two Colonies will be withdraw from circulation in October and the 1 25 value will be withdrawn in twenty-fi Colonies. We are indebted to Messr M. Fischer for this news.

Grand Lebanon.—Owing to the chan in the name of this country to "Repu lique Lebanaise" Mr. Omar Farrouk thinks a new issue probable, but wheth the present stamps will be overprinte or not he does not know.

Greece.—"Viator" tells us that the and 3dr stamps are now coming altered shades. The 3dr is now in shade of scarlet hardly distinguishab from the previous colour of the 2d while the latter is now considerably pal and nearer to vermilion.

Jugo-Slavia.—Stamps from 25 para t 10din are to be surcharged and thu rendered subject to a charity premium aid of flood victims. They will be cu rent till the end of this year, when separate charity issue is to appear. M I. Steiner is our kind informant.

Liechtenstein.—An entirely new pict rial is to be issued next year.

Luxemburg.—Mr. W. R. Hendrik states that a new series is in preparatio printed by the American Bank Note C The stamps will be line-engraved and wi bear the portrait of the Grand Duche Charlotte.

Persia.—Mr. R. W. Gray gives t some details concerning the productio of the new portrait stamps. The desig is by Mokhber es Saltaneh, the fram being a poor copy of that of the 1907 issue. The engraver is Sani us Sultan and the printers, the Mejliss Pres Teheran. All low values of the 1909 is sue with the recent overprint are ex hausted in Teheran. Messrs. Enschéd & Co. are preparing a new regular issu which is not expected for some months.

SHE SPEAKS OUT

To the Editor:—

I tried conscientiously enough for many years to become interested in stamp collecting but my efforts were all in vain. I could see nothing in a stamp other than a means of sending a piece of mail. I went to the Great Exhibition in New York, really curious to see what sort of show an exhibit of stamps could make, and how many people would be attracted by it. The first day I was interested in the people,—the great number of them and the high type that they represented. As a result I have become a collector, and since have read as much as time permitted. I have seen accounts of the Exhibition and the convention, but have failed to find anything about the entertainment that the New York women planned for the visiting women. I think any account without mention of the kind is very incomplete.

Starting with the reception at the Waldorf-Astoria on Sunday evening, the next event was the luncheon at the Swan Russian tea-room. Then came the tea given by Mr. and Mr. Steinway, on Monday afternoon and the trip to the Crescent Athletic Club for cards, dinner and dancing on Tuesday. Shopping expeditions and trips to points of interest and an afternoon tea on an ocean liner were enjoyed. Such hospitality should not go unnoticed. I am sure that all the visiting women will join with me in a vote of thanks to the New York women.

Also many combinations of these Nos. used together on the same envelopes at ¼ Scott's catalogue. Remember these high value current stamps of these and the following supply would not be dear at ½ cat. Nos. 49 & 50 (page 545), I can do at 40c & 80c per 10 copies respectively (only a fifth catalogue). You Do Not have to take a lot of low values to get them.

I think, however, you will come again—most do.

Philippines, Type A—1 Peso lilac, 4c, Cat. .15, 4 pesos, 8c. These are used on pieces with lower values. They may be had as separate stamps or if preferred on the pieces, the other values being reckoned at ⅕ Scott's lowest price for the value (I do not take into consideration either wmk. or perf., they are absolutely unsorted. THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

PORTLAND MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

1c Black, Wrapper Stamp.

This rather interesting revenue appears to have been in use but little more than one year and the quantity issued indicates that the tax on a large fraction, perhaps more than a third, of the packages of matches sold by Willard T. Brown & Company of Portland was paid by means of it.

The Boston Book gives the following data:

Die approved, October 10, 1866.
First issued, October, 1866.
Last issued, December, 1867.
One stamp per sheet.
3,575,000 issued in all.

The stamp was printed from a wood block upon sheets of manila tissue paper measuring about 6x4 inches. The design measures 80x50 mm, which is a little more than three inches by a little less than two inches. The design is composed of three segments, the central one being nearly square. In the center is an oval bearing a portrait of Mr. Willard T. Brown like that on the adhesive stamp used by this firm. In each of the four corners of the central segment is a colorless circle bearing a colored numeral "1". Colorless letters "U" and "S" are placed in ovals, "U" at the left of the portrait and "S" at the right. The remainder of the central segment is filled with curved labels reading "Manufactured By The" at the top and "Portland Match Co." at the bottom. The space between these labels and the border oval contains "No. 86 Commercial St. Portland, Me." above and "Internal Revenue—One Cent" below. At either side of the central segment is a rectangular panel. The panel at the right contains the following inscription in small italic letters reading upward "Our Matches are warranted superior to any— others for the immediate production of fire.—They are not impaired by Age or Dampness,—and for that reason are preferred by Shippers— and Sea Captains to any others. P. M. Co." The panel at the left contains four lines of colored capitals reading downwards, viz., "Portland Match Co.—Manufacturers Of— Newly Improved Card and Box— Matches."

Near the bottom of the central segment directly below the base of the portrait a small rectangle was cut out of the wood block and in this opening three lines of type were inserted. The upper line reads "P.M.Co." the second line contains the month, such as "Dec.", and the third line contains the year, such as "1866" or "1867". This device enabled the printers to change the date each month merely by inserting different type.

The Portland Directory lists W. T. Brown & Co. at Welchville in 1865, and the Portland Match Co. at 24 Fore Street in the same year. Later W. T. Brown & Co. or Willard T. Brown & Co. are listed at the Fore Street address, but during the period when the stamp was in use no mention of the Commercial Street address given on the stamp is contained in the Portland Directories. Perhaps the two addresses were different entrances to one building, or to a group of buildings.

This die and the die of their adhesive stamp was transferred to Byam, Carleton & Co. of Boston, and Butler & Carpenter were notified of the transfer in a letter from W. T. Brown & Co. dated May 31, 1867. The Boston Book states that Byam, Carleton & Co. never ordered or used stamps from the die for the adhesive, but also states that both the adhesive and the wrapper stamp were last issued in December, 1867. As Willard T. Brown had sold out the Portland Match Co. business to Byam, Carleton & Co. before June 1, 1867, it would be interesting to learn who did use the stamps issued after that date.

Nearly all known copies of the wrapper are dated "Dec. 1866." They are usually in excellent condition and often show no indication of having been used. Probably this is why there has been some doubt as to whether any of these wrappers ever were used. The quantity issued as given in the Boston Book, however, and other facts now placed before the reader should dispel any doubt as to the legitimate use of the Portland wrappers. It may well be most of the copies in existence came from a small lot of the December, 1866, dating, which for some unknown reason were not used.

The only specimen dated earlier than December, 1866, known to the present writer is dated "October—1866". Reading downwards on the left hand margin is a pencilled notation "This is the stamp Ret'd by W. T. Brown & Co.—with letter of Nov. 14-66. Return the other one." The words "letter of Nov. 14-66" are underscored and the note is signed with initial "L". This note is believed to have been written by Mr. Lamasure, who was then the foreman with Butler & Carpenter, and is signed with his initial.

In E. B. Sterling's revenue stamp catalogue of 1888 two dates are listed for the Portland Match wrapper, viz., December, 1866, and February, 1867. The present writer has seen one copy dated "Feb.— 1867." On this specimen all the margins have been cut away, but the design itself is practically complete and the date is clear and legible. Another specimen dated 1867 has had all the margins and both of the rectangular panels cut away, leaving only the central segment bearing the portrait, address, date, etc. On this specimen the date, "May 1867" is clearly printed. Both of these specimens dated "1867" appear to have been used and are believed to be genuine beyond question.

The extreme scarcity of certain of the match wrappers is not difficult to understand. The percentage of wrapper stamps

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

DEATH OF G. HAMILTON SMITH

By C. J. PHILLIPS.

With the very deepest regret, I have received a cable to the effect that my old partner and present head of the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of London, passed away on Wednesday, November 17th, dying suddenly from a stroke.

G. Hamilton Smith was born on January 30, 1870, at Clifton near Bristol, and was educated privately. He first started collecting in 1882 while a schoolboy, but not in a serious manner. He left Bristol about 1890, and removed to London, and there commenced dealing in stamps, and shortly afterwards joined T. W. Cheveley to manage his stamp-dealing department, as Mr. Cheveley found all his time occupied with the stamp auctions.

After about seven months at this work, Mr. Hamilton Smith thought he could do better on his own account, and in 1894 took an office in London Street, off Fenchurch Street, where he was in business for about six months, and left there on meeting S. E. Gwyer, when they decided to go into partnership, and took premises in the name of G. Hamilton-Smith & Co., at 158 Regent Street, W., and remained there, doing good business, for some time, but eventually found that they were not able to buy in that quarter, and so removed to the City, to 10 Bishopsgate Street Within, in 1895, and remained there until they sold their business to Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., in January, 1905.

In 1922, when I decided to retire from the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., in which I held the majority of shares, I discussed the matter with my co-director, Mr. Smith, and eventually he decided to buy me out and become the holder of the great majority of the shares of this well known corporation.

Since I settled in America, I have been in constant communication with my old friend, and have done all I could to help him in revising and correcting the catalogue with innumerable notes sent almost every month.

I have had no intimation of any illness. On the contrary, he wrote in the best of spirits and I think his death must have been very sudden.

Mr. Smith had an extremely good knowledge of the older postage stamps. He had specialized in a number of lines prior to joining the firm of Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., but we mutually decided that it was a bad principle for any partner in the firm to collect stamps, and he then turned his attention to collecting coins and war medals.

In coins he specialized in the very interesting and numerous issues in the reign of Charles II, in which he held one of the great collections. In war medals he was a recognized expert and possessed a very fine collection.

Mr. Smith's home was in Bristol in the West of England, to which he used to go down on all week-ends.

His loss will leave a very great gap in the stamp dealing fraternity of London. Personally, I feel that I have lost one of my oldest and best friends, and I regret most sincerely his passing on at such an early age.

of any particular issue that would be saved would be a much smaller percentage than the percentage of adhesive stamps saved out of any particular issue. The adhesive stamps were small, occupied little space and could easily be tucked away in a small receptable or pasted in a book, while the wrappers were large enough to be somewhat cumbersome, and never had quite the same appeal to collectors. Not being adhesives the wrappers perhaps were not regarded as being "really truly stamps." Today, of course, we realize they were just as much stamps as were any adhesives but in the old days it is likely they were thought of as being only "half-brothers," or even more distantly related, to what were considered real stamps.

The Portland wrapper (with December, 1866 date) probably was just about as scarce thirty or forty years ago as it is today. Except in 1895-96 when it was quoted at $1.50, it was priced $2.00 continuously from 1894 to 1920. Since 1921 it has been priced $2.50, which surely is not an excessive valuation for a United States revenue stamp, of which less than 100 copies are probably available for collectors.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR DR. CHITTENDEN

While the review that has been prepared of Dr. Chittenden's work, "Stolen Stamps," a philatelic romance, will have to await publication until next week, we wish to say that the good Doctor has done himself proud in the field of fiction. The book was written for the International Philatelic Exhibition and marvelous to relate, it actually made its appearance on time. In response to a request by the Exhibition friends for a piece of special philatelic literature, Dr. Chittenden was gracious enough to respond; and with good results, as we shall see.

NORSE AMERICANS

The most sought after stamps at my booth at the Exhibition were the 2c and 5c U. S. Norse-American Commemoratives. These are scarce, and doubly desirable because of their bi-colored attractiveness and the small quantity printed.

I have the seven different first day covers of this set, one from each of the cities where the stamps were officially issued, which I will sell for $5.00. With each order I will give an unused block of each denomination.

C. E. NICKLES, 213 SEATON, N. E., WASHINGTON, D. C.

APPROVALS

I have a very large stock, especially strong in XIX century stamps, from which to draw. 30,000 varieties ready for your selection. Prices "net" but over 90% of my stamps are sold @ ½ cat. or better. Circular on request. Reference, please.

Covers Covers Covers

And we could almost say, then some more covers. Since the International Exposition we have had offered us, and have purchased more United States covers than in any two weeks since starting business. Covers singly, and covers by the hundreds; regular postage, including domestic and foreign rates; Western franks, locals, a few Patriotics.

The '47 covers include a strip of four on part of cover; another beauty with two wide-margined pairs; many singles, among them a New Haven magenta, a few numerals, a couple of railroads. Of the 1c '51 covers now in stock you may choose anything from a strip of six from Plate Ie to a Type IV double recut top and bottom.

One lot of 3c '51 covers showed some 300 different town cancellations, many of them Western states and territories. The largest piece was a strip of seven from the bottom row of Plate 2R late. There are several strips of four, and some very fine examples of the extra and missing line varieties from Plate III.

One very fine diagonal split of the 12c on a fresh cover with the framed VIA NICARAUGUA AHEAD OF THE MAILS.

Perhaps a common little Type V 1c '57 tied to a neat cover with red Providence 1860 year date would prove a temptation. We have several in stock at this writing.

How about a pair and single of the 5c Buff, 1861, well centered and on a neat little envelope?

Off cover we just sent out a top sheet-margin strip of three 10c '51s, full o. g., mint and fresh! It may come back, so no harm in mentioning it if it is something for you.

UNITED STATES ISSUES 1870-1900

DR. WM. EVANS, Editor,
313 E. Freemason St., Norfolk, Va.

(Any letter requiring a reply must have a self-addressed stamped envelope. No attention can be given matters that do not belong to the years indicated. What can you contribute of interest?)

A white hand on 3c green which recently floated in from a dealer who sent a lot of "cheaps" on approval, Sleeper. No. 2, star used at Profile House, N. H. No. 3, another star used at Glade Mills, Pa., on a 2c 1887 in purple. A gorgeous combination, and the only star of this design that I have seen. No. 4, another unusual star, with its two circles. Plenty of them with one circle, but two is very unusual. No. 5, sun setting behind a hill with the sea in the foreground. No. 6, a flower. The last named three in black on 3c green from K. N. Woodward. No. 7, an anchor, also from Mr. Woodward, on 3c green. Maybe used at Chicago, Ill. No. 8, horse head on 2c red brown from Dr. H. A. Robinson. Don't know where it was used, but it ought to have been at Horseheads, N. Y.! No. 9, initials, used at Carthage, Mo., on 3c green stamped envelope sent by R. J. Tarpy. No. 10, and another skull and bones sent by Otto Arco, on 3c re-engraved.

C. W. Haynes has sent a few copies of 2c 1890 with star cancellations which do not come along very frequently. Two copies had a solid star in a circle. Then there was one made of lines only with a letter H in the center, a small solid star in the center of a larger one, and one in which the lines forming the points crossed each other, forming a pentagon in the center.

In the same lot was a 2c 1883 cancelled by a large N with several small stars in each stroke of the letter, and a 6c War Dept. cancelled by a flying eagle.

Francis Wheeler has sent some interesting covers: A strip of four 3c green and a 1c of the Continental crop struck four times by a blue ticket agent's canceller of the Pitts Titusville & Buffalo Ry. Hickory.

Two covers each bearing a 3c Continental cancelled O. C. & A. Railway via the blue ticket agent route, and another with a black O. C. & A. R. R. postmark and the stamp tied by a three-ring target.

A cover from Pekin, Ill., shows a pair and single 1c Continental cancelled by a large circle inside which is a quartered grid, the upper left and lower right quarters showing three horizontal and the other two quarters three vertical lines. A neat cancellation in blue. Another cover from this town has a 3c Continental cancelled by a large square grid, blue.

A 3c Continental is tied by an indistinct cancellation the same color as the postmark, reddish brown, or brownish red.

Nebraska, Forest Co., Pa., can be put into the list of County postmarks. 3c green.

A 6c Continental is tied by a square grid of seven bars and this and the postmark are in purple ink, and make a very pleasing appearance.

Then there is a cover which, so far as the cancellation is concerned, beats anything that has yet come into the range of my observation. The stamp is a 3c Continental and is placed on the upper left corner of the envelope sidewise. Below it is this card, in six lines: "Persons Wanting Printing Done Should call on A. H. Siggins, West Hickory, Pa. who is prepared to do all small jobs neatly, quickly, and cheap. And this is printed diagonally across the stamp, which is cancelled in no other way. The letter is addressed to Edinboro, Pa., which eliminates the idea that it might have been received uncancelled and conscientiously retired from active service by striking it with an advertising stamp. Mr. Wheeler says that Mr. Siggins owned the only printing press in the village, and may have been the postmaster at this time.

Franklin, Pa., used violet ink and a solid star, and Ripley, N. Y., a similar

BOX 936 NEW KENSINGTON, PA.

Mr. Walton also reports a cover with 3c green stamp tied by an eagle with wings raised and postmarked Rut & Wash R. R. He states that this Railroad runs from Rutland, Vt., to Eagle Bridge, N. Y., a distance of 63 miles, and is now a part of the Delaware & Hudson. A third cover in Mr. Walton's reports is postmarked Profile House, New Hampshire, Aug. 6, 1883, cancelled by a neat and attractive little compound star. The Profile House, Mr. Walton says, was located in the heart of Franconia Gap in the White Mountains of New Hampshire, less than a quarter of a mile from the "Old Man of the Mountains." It was a celebrated hostelry for many, many years, and was destroyed by fire a few years ago.

This same cancellation Mr. Walton has on a 3c 1861 cover. It must be a rarity on either stamp. No. 2.

I looked over my stars for one like it. Missing except on a 2c War Dept. Query. Did any other Post Office use this particular little star? One would suppose so.

And Mr. Walton includes some postal cards that are interesting. Schenectady, N. Y., magenta, colorless star in a round block surrounded by a circle; North Adams, Mass., magenta, four ring target; Vergennes, Vt., the same; Bridgport, Vt., blue, same target; West Henrietta, N. Y., brown, same target; Amsterdam, N. Y., magenta, small solid star in circle, and Shoreham, Vt., red.

star and cerise ink as shown on covers. This is a peculiar shade of ink, doubtless called red, but Wheeler calls it cerise, and that is satisfactory to me. It must have been used in very few post offices. The date of this cover is Jan. 27, 1879. Smithfield, Va., used the same color in 1879.

A colorless star in a round block was used at Spartanburg, Pa., on Feb. 25, 1880.

Richard Walton reports a cover postmarked Theological Seminary, Va., which makes at least three Virginia Colleges that had their own postmarks, the other two being University of Va., and Hampden Sidney College. Can any one add to this number?

JARRETT'S BOOK COMMENDED

By Frank L. Coes

I want to say a little word about Fred Jarrett's British North America book. If ever an effort deserved to be sold out on issue, and put on the "double catalog" list at the same time, this is the book. No matter how good past efforts of students have been along these lines, and I think I own the whole list of publications, there is a clarity, precision and handiness about this now wholly up-to-the-hour job, which shows the hand of a real craftsman.

Compliments on typography, form, and the makeup of the books are deserved indeed, but the contents, descriptive data and word selection show the compiler to have been imbued with the idea that the book was and should be informative, and not rhetorical or partially a narrative. Positive, clear and precise information in such a place is worth ten times the same acreage of mere words.

The data on cancellations, and the appendages of revenue and other often lacking information make it a hand book that will not get far from many elbows.

What we want now, is to have the same student author, in the same way, write up the balance of the Colonial areas, and finally boil out all the data on the New Foundland efforts of the last decade. I confess to a little disappointment in not finding that at first, but not now. What has been done is worthy of much greater commendation than I can write.

NEWFOUNDLAND

I have just purchased a superb collection of Newfoundland formed by a Boston collector during the past twenty years.

The collection is in three Oriel Albums and is right up to date. The owner specially collected unused stamps and where he could obtain them, included of every stamp a single, pair, strip of three and a block of four. In the rare early issues he took fine used copies as well as unused. The following list gives but a small idea of the wealth of material in this collection:

1857. 1d on thick paper, 6 singles, 2 pairs, 2 strips of three and block of four.
" 1d medium to thin pp., 15 singles, block of four, and 5 used.
1862. 1d reddish brown on thin paper, Die II.
A superb copy of this exceedingly rare stamp.
1857. 2d carmine, 2 unused, 3 used.
" 4d carmine, 1 unused, 4 used.
" 6d carmine, 1 unused, 1 used.
" 6½d carmine, 5 unused, 1 used.
" 8d carmine, a number unused and several blocks.
" 1sh carmine, 2 used.
Bisected, ½ of 8d on full cover.
Bisected, ½ of 1sh on portion of cover.
1860. 2d orange, 12 unused, 2 used.
" 4d orange, 3 unused, 2 used
" 6d orange, 8 used.
" 1sh orange, 3 unused.
1857-63. 5d, large number of shades in singles, pairs and blocks.
1862-63. The lake-rose stamps on thick and thin paper and several sheets, and a number of genuine used copies.
1866. 5c brown (seal), 10 unused, 6 used.
1887-1910. A number of pairs of stamps Imperf. and Imperf. between, several in blocks of 4 and 6 of these rare varieties.
1920. 2c on 30c, 3c on 15c, and 3c on 35c. Several inverted surcharges of each value. 3c on 35c. Uncatalogued variety, block of six, one stamp with "THREE" omitted. A number of rare essays of these Provisionals in singles and blocks.
Air Post Stamp, 1919. 3c red-brown, "Hawker" unused.
Air Mail. Many varieties in singles, pairs and blocks, and the rare inverted surcharges.

"WANT LISTS" WILL RECEIVE PROMPT ATTENTION.
Selections of any issue sent on approval.

Not the least interesting is the minor information on provisionals, authorized or un-authorized, and the sub variety items all through the check list.

Sometime, someone will write up the U.S. in the same way, and put the information about each item all on one page and in one place, with a proper illustration. Between the new ruling re de-monetized issues, and the previous one egarding part or type drawings of current issues, this ought to make a book that would be oversold on announcement at a premium on the issue date, and "out of print" the next morning.

Mr. Jarrett is to be greatly congratulated.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Busey H. Howard, Washington, D. C.
Frank L. Coes, Worcester, Mass.
Henry Mousel, Canby, Minn.

Our first application this week for membership in the Honor Club is from Busey H. Howard of Washington, D. C. Mr. Howard is connected with the firm of James J. Lampton Co., real estate, 517 K St., N. W., Washington, D. C. We thank Mr. Howard for his remittance of $5 for five years' renewal of subscription.

We have had occasion to frequently mention the name of Frank L. Coes of Worcester, Mass., as keenly interested in all that tends to promote the welfare of philately. He wields a caustic pen and always gets at the very heart of the problem confronting him. He is proprietor of the Coes Wrench Co., is a warm supporter of the Worcester Stamp Club, and believes in the WEEKLY. After completing four years of membership in the Honor Club, and with a year to spare, he renews his membership for five years and in addition sends in a new yearly subscription for a local collector. We quote: "I seen ol' Bill Lycett has jined the five Year Club and just to be sure I'm paid in advance here's $5 more which would push me up to six years. Got to keep ahead of Bill." The Worcester Stamp Club now has sixty-five members.

We also take pleasure in adding to our list the name of Henry Mousel, Canby, Minn. We are somewhat delayed in listing this application, and trust Mr. Mousel will pardon the tardy acknowledgment of his remittance for renewal of subscription for five years.

JUNIOR NIGHT AT KEENE, N. H.

(As we read our exchanges we find that a great deal of attention is now being given to the junior collectors. The fact is, they have been sadly neglected. We take pleasure in publishing the following newspaper clipping sent us by Robert T. Kingsbury of Keene, N. H. The story is well written and we print it in order that other societies may profit by the most successful event just staged by the Keene Society.—Ed.)

The second annual "junior night" under the auspices of the Keene Philatelic society at Y.M.C.A. hall, Keene, was a greater success even than the first party given by the older collectors of adhesives for the youthful enthusiasts. More than 40 boys and girls interested in the collection and study of stamps were present to take part in the program planned for them.

Robert T. Kingsbury, president of the society, welcomed the young people and introduced Prof. Chester H. C. Dudley, secretary of the club, who gave a talk on three recent stamps the United States government has issued, the Ericsson stamp, Liberty Bell and White Plains commemorative stamps. Prof. Dudley exhibited each stamp and sketched in an interesting way something of the history represented by figures on the gummed pieces of paper.

Three stamp contests which served to sharpen the young collectors' wits and reveal their knowledge of stamp collecting were held. Edward C. Merrill was the only double winner. Other winners were: Lyle Beal, Howard Wheelock, Alfred Johnson, Robert White, Putnam Kingsbury, Ralph Huse and Frederick Lane. Attractive folders containing stamps were given for prizes. Each boy and girl present received a packet of stamps as a favor.

Refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served by wives of members of the society.

Exhibits of valuable covers, first flight air mail covers, commemorative stamps and New Hampshire "precans" were shown and Pres. Kingsbury gave a short talk on the recent international stamp exhibition at New York city..

Last year, as an experiment, we put out two illustrated price lists known as Nos. 17 and 17-A.
The demand for them so far exceeded our expectations that the supply was exhausted early, and we were unable to supply these to many who later inquired for same.
This year, these have been completely revised and priced—over 830 separate and distinct items, profusely illustrated with 106 cuts and containing items to please everyone, from the boy beginner to the advanced collector — and all at rock bottom prices.

EDITORIAL

It is advisable in view of inquiries that have been made to speak of certain developments related to the Philatelic Agency, Washington. In the Agency bulletin, No. 17, dated Washington, October 16, 1926, the following reference appeared under: "White Plains, 1926, 2c Red, Hamilton's Battery: (This stamp may also be obtained in the souvenir blocks of 25, printed especially for the International Philatelic Exhibition, New York, N. Y., Oct. 16 to 23, 1926. Complete block must be purchased.)" The statement is that 100,000 sheets of these stamps was the total output and that the sheets sent out to applicants by mail were from this number. Under "Surcharged Stamps" is the explanation: "United States stamps surcharged for use in the Canal Zone are not carried by the Agency. They may be procured from the postmaster, Balboa Heights, Canal Zone. Stamps surcharged 'Shanghai, China,' are no longer on sale at the Agency. Philippine Stamps. — These stamps are not carried by the Agency. They may be procured from the director of posts, Manila, P. I."

In the "Revista Filatelica Filipina," for October, we find the following letter from the Hon. Jose Topacio, Manila, director of posts, inspired by remarks in the WEEKLY that were based on the difficulty that some patrons had in securing the surcharged Manila-Madrid Air Mail stamps, because of the relatively small supply. The letter is addressed to Mr. Joaquin Ortiz of Manila: "Replying to your letter of the 18th instant calling attention to an article published in a certain weekly called MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS, I beg to state that the undersigned is not aware of any speculation by any postal employee in connection with the sale of Manila-Madrid Air Mail stamps. I realize that in view of the big demand for the stamps, some patrons might not have been able to select the kind they wanted. This is regretted, indeed, as it was my desire to sell as many stamps as possible. The supply was, however, limited, this office having underestimated the demand for the stamps. I can assure the public that there was no favoritism at all in the sale of the stamps. What happened was those collectors who were more interested naturally succeeded in purchasing the better ones." Too, Mr. Juan Mencarini, long a student of far eastern issues, comes to the rescue of the surcharges and details how they came into being; and he says in the course of his remarks: "I may agree that the issue could have been much larger, but no doubt the postal authorities here had no idea of the keen interest attached to philately in these Islands." Here is the cross of the case and even the most tolerant on-looker cannot become enthusiastic over limited issues, especially when he is left out in the cold.

To continue our quotation from the article of Mr. Mencarini, who is life honorary president of Associacion Filatelica Filipina: "The surcharging die (used on the converted air mail) was duly destroyed in the presence of five witnesses, after the printing had been executed, and likewise not to repeat the regretful error committed with the last unperforated issue, which was sold to one privileged individual, the local post office authorities had the surcharged stamps sold in the postal building through its stamp-selling window, with strict instructions that only one set could be sold to each purchaser presenting himself at the window." Incidentally, we have had some particulars concerning these imperforate current issue Philippines referred to, the character of which is well sketched by the note in the catalogue, under the issue. Further than to present all the information available on the subject of these two Philippine issues, we cannot undertake to go.

Our attention has been called to a discrepancy in the design of the Norse-American stamps that is in the nature of a fault in handling the United States shield in its heraldic aspect. In the Norse-American stamps, the American shield is on the observer's right while on the Ericsson commemorative, it is on his left, as it should be. Mr. Henry Foster, San Francisco, is the discoverer of this deviation from the line of custom.

In China, there is a good showing of stamp collectors in the cities, but the one philatelist there who stands forth pre-eminently is Mr. M. D. Chow, who in the Philatelic Bulletin is the contributor of a lavishly illustrated history of Chinese stamp that is appearing serially. On a former occasion, we commended this bi-monthly; and the latest number is deserving of all consideration, devoted as it is to the stamps of China and other eastern countries. China has been coming to the fore in the estimation of not a few collectors and a specialistic journal of the class of the one under notice is welcome. As for Mr. Chow, he is doing his best to bring Chinese philately to a place of prominence and he does not spare effort and expense in his labor of love.

Under date of September 23, 1926, our correspondent, Mr. P. J. Drossos, Athens, Greece, sent a letter through the Athens-Brindisi Air Mail line which was established in July, which bears the arrival stamp dated the same day at Brindisi, as the sending postmark at Athens. He says that also there is a line from Athens to Constantinople via air-way. Mr. Drossos sends a second letter over this route, dated October 26, 1926, and says: "The private air mail company of the above line, Athens-Brindisi-Constantinople has had four stamps printed in Italy. There are four values, 2, 3, 5 and 10drs., used for cards, printed matter letters and registration, respectively. These stamps are sold over the counter freely at the post office, the proceeds, however, going to the company concerned. All letters, etc., have to be franked, of course, with the usual postal fee. As the stamps have not been prepared by the company, there is no control of the issue, officially, nor are any figures of quantity issued available." The stamps are large size lithographs in delicate colors, showing celestial and terrestrial scenes, that will make the chronicler watch his step.

Here in an authentic little tale that is worth the telling. When Queen Marie was in Chicago, she visited the Hyde Park, Chicago, Y.M.C.A., which has a wide reputation for effective work of constructive kind and is, in fact, one of the sights of that city. It is known to have a live stamp club of boys, incidentally; and when the Queen fared forth there, she was graciousness herself, as always, and spoke to the boys, among whom was William Godfrey, a budding philatelist, who is full of collecting ambition. It was not long before William made known his philatelic leanings and when he did do so, Queen Marie said that her husband, the king, was a real philatelist who busied himself by the hour with his stamps; and she encouraged William to keep up his good work. This red-letter day was Monday, November 15th, and the Chicago Tribune of the next morning mentioned how William Godfrey had hobnobbed with the Queen.

Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, proprietor of Stamp Collecting, London, has got home safely from his long tour of Canada and the United States and he says that more than ever before, he is proud of his "association with the splendid cause of philately."

"THE HOME NEWS"

WE TALK QUITE A LITTLE ABOUT IT—perhaps you wonder what the "HOME NEWS" really is. IT IS QUITE SIMPLE,—OUR CUSTOMERS LIKE IT—IT IS OUR BEST SALESMAN. Every two weeks, or nearly so, we mail this unpretentious messenger to all our regular customers. EACH "EDITION" usually consists of three or four mimeographed sheets of our regular and special offerings. We print them in our own office—design them according to our own notion — they are a fair INDEX OF OUR STOCK. This week we mail four sheets,—one sheet is a "MINT BELGIUM" check-list, two sheets are a "SET LIST" and the third is the "CHERRY BLOSSOM" which is our special list of new issues, specially choice things or recent additions to our stock. Two weeks ago we mailed a 2-sheet "GERMAN CHECK-LIST", one sheet with LATVIA-LITHUANIA offers and a "CHERRY-BLOSSOM" list of items which never probably appear in our other advertising. WE ARE GLAD to send our "HOME NEWS" to any REAL COLLECTOR who is interested in 20TH CENTURY MINT STAMPS. WE SPECIALIZE IN THE STAMPS OF EUROPE — but British Colonies and MANY WANTED SETS find their way into the pages of the "HOME NEWS". TELL US IF YOU ARE REALLY INTERESTED—BUT IF YOU ARE JUST CURIOUS NEVER MIND ABOUT IT.

A MELANGE:—

THE Harris Publications Ltd., 46 Victoria St., London, S.W.1, noting a request in our columns for the addresses of the various postal agencies maintained by the different governments advises us that this information can be found in "The Philatelic Trader." This paper has been advertised in our columns. The subscription price is 36c per year and may be sent to the above address.

WE are advised by Otto Weismann, Rotterdam, that a series of Charity stamps will be issued for the Netherlands December 1. The designs will be similar to last year's and the values 2 plus 2c, 5 plus 3c, 10 plus 3c and 15 plus 3c, the face value being 43c. Mr. Weismann will furnish them to dealers at 10% over face plus postage.

PERCY A. HILL writes us from the Philippines that a new set of five values will shortly be issued commemorating the new Capitol Building in Manila. The values will be 2, 4, 8, 16 and 20c with the design of the building in black with a second color, green, carmine, brown, olive and orange, to agree with the colors of the current issue. We are grateful to Mr. Hill for an article "On Collecting Covers" which will soon appear in the WEEKLY.

THE Managing Editor will be very pleased to have contributions from our various readers that will be suitable for the boys' page recently established. Ashley C. LeDuc of Wilmington, Del., has sent in a number of paragraphs and has kindly consented to assist us in making this page attractive.

JUNIOR NIGHT was observed by the Cincinnati Collectors Club on Nov. 18. The young folks had several interesting contests. The prize winners were Albert Pels, Hyman Levinthal, Robert Emicholtz and David Ringo tied for third place, and Miss Dorothy Fisgus. All received appropriate prizes of packages of stamps. Each of the other juniors present received a souvenir packet In the junior exhibits first prize was awarded to D. J. Peaslee. This lad and Carl F. Emicholtz each received a year's membership in the Club for having the best exhibits in their classes at the recent Boys Hobby Week Fair.

AT a regular meeting of the New York Philatelic Society held at the club rooms, 20 East 125 St., Nov. 22, the following officers were nominated:—Pres., J. L. Stroub; 1st Vice, D. Trautman; 2nd Vice, G. Hiatt; Sec., H. R. Stannard; Treas., E. McD. Bendheim; Directors, I. W. Gustaw, H. H. Spring, C. Pfodenhauer, M. Levy, A. Rasmussen. There being no opposition they will be elected Dec. 27. Meetings are held every Monday evening, the average attendance being from fifty to sixty. Our rooms are always open to any who may be inclined to spend a pleasant philatelic evening.—H. R. STANNARD.

A WHOLESALE pricelist is at hand from the Martauco Stamp Co., 51 W. 48 St., N. Y. City. It lists a large number of sets and single stamps per ten and hundred, and will be sent to any dealer on request.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement elsewhere in this issue, of Charles A. Townsend, Akron, Ohio. Mr. Townsend has made a specialty of stamps to sell at 1c and has passed the million mark. It is a notable achievement.

DR. EMILIO DIENA, under date of Nov. 12, advises us of his safe arrival at Rome. He carried back with him an enthusiastic impression of his trip to New York and Philadelphia, and expresses his regret that it was not possible for him to visit other cities. In his letter he states that he was extremely glad to make the personal acquaintance of the members of our firm in New York. This feeling of pleasure is reciprocated.

RECENTLY, collectors of Louisville, Kentucky, formed the Louisville Stamp Society with about 20 members, all of whom are men who have been interested in philately a long time and now own large and valuable collections. Mr. L. C. Hassler, widely known among readers of the WEEKLY, and an authority on certain issues of United States, is the President, and Mr. Eugene Converse, Jr., is the Secretary. Regular meetings are held on the third Friday night in each month and at least one special meeting will be called by the President each month. The public who are interested in the subject are invited to attend these meetings.

OUR BOOK REVIEW

We have received from the Southern Stamp Co., Aegis Buildings, Johannesburg, South Africa, a book, "The Adhesive Postage Stamps of the Union of South Africa," by J. Ritchie. With this book is incorporated G. W. Revnolds' handbook of 1921. The book before us is an authoritative work, handsomely printed and illustrated. The frontispiece consists of a picture of the rare error, the ½d double impression, Queen's head issue, which was discovered in Johannesburg in August, 1919. It is reported that there are only five copies of this stamp in existence. The book runs to 72 pages and the price is $1.25.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines?

Gossip

J. B. W.—The envelope that you send us bearing the postmark "Weehawken, N. J. Term. R.P.O." is interesting enough for you to add to your collection. The abbreviation stands for "Terminal Railway Post Office." In these days all forms of cancellations possess philatelic interest.

Fred Howard has sent us a cover. It bears a 2c White Plains from the corner of a sheet and under the stamp are the letters "U.S.A.," showing that the stamp was from a sheet sold at the New York Exhibition. Curiously enough the Red Cross slogan, "Red Cross Roll Call Join," falls very evenly upon the stamp as if surcharged.

Boys, if you can do anything for this department that will cause your name to be printed in it, we will send you some kind of a stamp souvenir.

Stamps bearing the inscription KPHTH are from Crete. Come again, Arthur Russell.

Robt. Barton—This junior submits two new Canadian cancellations, both unique. One shows Santa Claus handling a parcel with an appropriate "Mail Early" slogan. The other shows a large package and an inscription, "Parcel Post Insurance 5c." We recommend to juniors the forming of a collection of covers with odd cancellations.

Roumania's King a Collector

We have to thank a sharp-eyed boy, Jackson Latham, for an item of news from the Chicago Tribune. Queen Marie was visiting a certain institution in Chicago when meeting James Godfrey, ten years old, of 5464 Harper Ave., she praised his stamp collection and "let him in on a secret." The Tribune reports the conversation as follows:—

"The King of Roumania," she said to the boy, "is very fond of stamp collecting and he spends much of his time with his collection."

A Live Junior Society

There is a fine stamp club connected with Commerce High School, San Francisco. It publishes a live paper called "The Philatelic News" just bursting with stamp facts. In lighter vein we quote the following:—

"Dorothy S. is certainly a clever girl. Just the other morning she gayly tripped up to our co-ed, and in her pretty little baby voice cried, 'I belong to the stamp club now,' and then proceeded to stamp upon Julian's poor toes. Black and blue marks are still in evidence."

"It's a funny world: Squirrels collect nuts, and nuts collect stamps."

"Yesterday I saw a Bundle moving down the street; above, I saw the postman's head, below, I saw his feet."

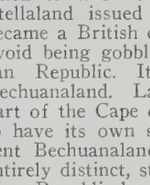
"Where our stamp tongs go:—

I had a boy collector in to see me the other evening. Seeing me handle my stamps with tongs, he said, 'My mother has a pair of them things, but she uses them to pull out her eye brows'."

Countries Lost to Stamp Issues

Scattered through the catalogue and the album are a number of countries that have issued stamps at various times, for a few years. Sometimes we are told what country's stamps superseded the local issues; but on other occasions the names just vanish. North Ingermanland, for example, flashed a few issues on us. Then it was re-absorbed into Russia. Stellaland issued five stamps. Then it became a British colony, by plebiscite, to avoid being gobbled by the South African Republic. It was called British Bechuanaland. Later still, it became part of the Cape of Good Hope, ceasing to have its own stamps. But the adjacent Bechuanaland Protectorate, always entirely distinct, still has its own stamps. New Republic has not only stopped issuing its own stamps, but has gone through three sucessive different countries' stamps since then. First it was annexed to the South African Republic. In 1902 it was handed over to Natal. And in 1910, as part of Natal, it came to use Union of South Africa stamps. Even Canada is in a sense a lost stamp-issuing country; for the issues previous to 1869 are of the old colonies, Upper and Lower Canada. Since then, the name Canada on a stamp has meant the Dominion, including far more than the two old provinces.—STEPHEN G. RICH.

How to Hinge



No stamp collector now-a-days glues his stamps down to the pages of his stamp album. He uses a hinge and this illustration shows how it adjusts itself to both stamp and album.

Quetzal

A very beautiful bird found in Central America is called the quetzal. It is not a large bird, but its large amount of showy feathers give it the larger appearance. The feathers are colored green, gold, red, blue, black and white. The tail feathers are about 2½ feet long and with the vivid coloring give the bird a striking appearance. This bird has been regarded with veneration, its beautiful feathers being used only by the chiefs of the native tribes. The quetzal is the native symbol of the Republic of Guatemala, and we find pictures of it on the stamps of Guatemala from 1879 to the present time. For the Latin students we will tell you that its full name is Pharomacrus mocinno.

Beach Conger, Jr., On Deck

We have received a copy of the Dearborn Independent for Nov. 13, in which the alert eye of Beach Conger, Jr., McKinley School, Monroe, N. Y., espied an article on coin collecting where stamps were referred to. We reprint a marked paragraph that Beach thought worth scoring:—

"What is the lure of the little pieces of paper called postage stamps? Why did a wealthy collector of Utica send an ag all the way to Paris simply to gai 'one-cent red' of British Guiana. 18 What prompted collectors to bid $20.0 then $30,000, then $32,000, finally $32,5 for this rarity? Facts like this indic philately's grip on the hearts and mi of kings and children, financiers a coal-heavers, all over the world. There fun, exercise and profit in coin and sta collecting."

My Jamaicas

Ralph Benkaim sends us a little st on his favorite country. He writes as follows:—

"Jamaica is one of the British W India islands, with an area of 4,4 square miles. In 1921 it had a popu tion of 850,000. The island was covered by Columbus in 1494, during second trip to the New World. In 16 by the Treaty of Madrid, the island w ceded to Great Britain.

Jamaica is my favorite country and appears to be a favorite country w many collectors, because of its picto issues and the great variety of desig It has issued 112 stamps. In 1919 first of the famous pictorials were sued and many boys take very kindly collecting Jamaica stamps, not only the above reasons, but for its nearn to the United States."

OUR FIRST AEROPLANE MAIL ROUTE

Conducted by E. O. HOWLE, 1709 E. 72nd St., Chicago.

No doubt some of the beginners, who are collecting "First Day" aeroplane covers, will be interested in the following:

Our first regular aeroplane mail route was inaugurated May 15th, 1918, by the War Department, between Washington, Philadelphia and New York. The first aeroplane stamp this government ever issued was used on this flight. It was the 24 cent carmine rose and blue. The postage rate was 24 cents for each ½ ounce; this rate included special delivery at its destination.

On July 15th, 1918, the postage rate was reduced to 16 cents per ounce and 6 cents for each additional ounce; this rate, also, included special delivery at its destination. The second aeroplane stamp issued by this government was brought out and used on this flight. It was the 16 cent green.

The Post Office Department decided that the aeroplane mail was no longer an experiment, and, on August 12th, 1918, the War Department turned over this service together with six new planes and eleven others to the Post Office Department. Mr. Benjamin B. Lipsner was named Superintendent of the new service. The postage rate remained at 16 cents, which included special delivery at its destination.

This was, as a matter of fact, the first service under the supervision of the Post Office Department to carry mail on a regularly scheduled aeroplane mail route. New planes manufactured by the Standard Aero Corporation of Elizabeth, N. J., were inducted into service and christening ceremonies were held in the presence of Cabinet Officers, Post Office Department Officials, and Members of the Aviation Corps. The new landing field at College Field, Md., was also opened on this occasion.

December 16th, 1918, the rate of postage on air mail was reduced to 6 cents per ounce and the third aeroplane stamp to be issued by this government was used on this date. It was the 6 cent orange. The special delivery feature was dropped and the letters were delivered as ordinary letter mail.

July 19th, 1919, was the last flight on this route and letters were permitted to go through on this date for 2 cents per ounce.

The following notice has been issued:

"WASHINGTON, November 15, 1926.

In line with the policy of the department in the matter, the first step toward turning over the transcontinental air mail service, as well as the supplemental, overnight service between New York and Chicago, is being taken by forwarding to postmasters on the route copies of an advertisement and blank forms inviting proposals for the transportation of mail to supersede the present Government-operated air mail service.

Proposals will be received at the department until 12 o'clock noon, January 15, 1927. It is desired that wide publicity be given these proposals for bids.

By direction of the Postmaster General.

W. IRVING GLOVER,

Second Assistant Postmaster General."

Under date of Nov. 17, a Washington despatch reads that Post Office Department officials are considering various air lines along the Atlantic seaboard with a view to establishing, in the near future, a contract air mail route between New York and Atlanta, Ga.

Philippine Imperforates

The 1925 series of the Philippine Island stamps in imperforate condition were offered in this column several weeks back. Since that time, the supply of the higher denominations, including the Special Delivery, has practically become exhausted—hence, it is necessary to raise my quotations. The other lower values are subject to an increase just as soon as my stock, which is not large, reaches a certain point. I further furnish a list of figures at which I am prepared to buy these stamps at the present time. In the case of the 4p, but six copies are available and of the 10p but one block of four, so that these two varieties are offered subject to their being unsold on the appearance of the advertisement.

I would again state that this issue is strictly speculative but that it was issued in the regular legal way and that they are not only good for postage but that a good number of them have already been used postally.

Prices subject to change without notice.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

White Plains Stamps

The Department advises that an extra twenty million, making forty million in all, of the new White Plains stamps in sheets of one hundred have been ordered from the Bureau and are now being distributed. Of the smaller sheets of twenty-five as previously stated, but one hundred thousand of these were printed and all five of the plates have now been cancelled, so that there is no possibility of more of these sheets being prepared.

Color Changelings

Mr. Anthony B. Kunderd as well as Mr. F. A. Snyder have submitted for my inspection a number of stamps of the current and recent United States issues which have been subjected to acid treatment and are in numerous colors different from the normal. The similarity of the class of stamps, as well as the changed colors, indicate they both came from the same source. This party is evidently submitting these stamps on approval to numerous collectors. As has been mentioned in this column several times before, these are not errors of color but nothing more than changelings. We know that the color green is a combination of blue and yellow. As a result, they have taken our current 1c stamp and in one dissolved the blue giving us a yellow stamp and in the other dissolved the yellow, resulting in a blue stamp. Likewise the 3c and 50c of both the current and previous issues have been changed to red. The 8c has been changed to a green resembling the color of the 13c. The 1c green has also been oxidized and changed to black.

Air Mail Notes

I am advised by Mr. Warren Irving Glover, Second Assistant Postmaster-General, in charge of air mail matters that the subject of a special cancellation on letters carried on the first trip over the transcontinental route when this route is turned over to private contractors is being given consideration. As mentioned recently in this column, bids for the private carrying of this mail are returnable on January 15th next and the contract will no doubt be signed shortly after the opening of the bids, so that we may look for the Government turning over this service to private contractors during the early part of the year. It is to be hoped, if we are favored with special cancellations, that they will be somewhat different from the cartwheels now being used on first day contract letters. After having seen some of the special cancellations gotten up by some of the cities, such as Medford, we are led to believe that an attractive postmark design for this special service will meet with general approval.

Under date of November 17th, the Information Service of the Post Office Department announces that at the present time the Department is considering various air lines along the Atlantic seaboard with a view to establishing in the near future a contract air mail route between New York and Atlanta.

Three different routes are under consideration and when one of the three is chosen, bids will be invited. There is no question about the location of the northern end of the route, which will run from New York to Philadelphia to Baltimore to Washington and from that point on; the continuation of the route has not been decided upon. Richmond appears to be the next probable stop. The one most favored from the standpoint of business is the route paralleling the Southern Railroad through Greensboro, Winston-Salem, High Point and Charlotte, N. C., Greenville, S. C., to Atlanta, Ga. Because of the extensive areas of terraced and cut over lands through the Carolinas and in northern Georgia on this route, flying conditions are described as among the worst in the coun Emergency landing fields could be est lished only at great expense.

On the other hand, a route west of mountains by way of Roanoke, Knox and Chattanooga, Tenn., is characteri as an ideal flying route, where there frequent places where ships may be down for emergency landings. If route is adopted, probably Richm would be eliminated. Its potential tr possibilities are not deemed to be great as that which the more cen route would be expected to produce.

The third route being considered r down the coast line through Rale Columbia and Augusta. From a vi point of revenue, this is not believed be as attractive as either of the ot proposed routes.

That one of them will be selected pears certain, so that we will shortly able to send a letter via air from Bos to Miami. I understand that the Ph delphia Rapid Transit Air Corp., wh is at present carrying the air mail fr Philadelphia to Norfolk, is interested extending their lines.

Revenues.

Mr. Edward Stern of the Econor Stamp Company announces that he located a vertical pair of the $60 Fut Delivery part rouletted. In other wo the pair is imperforate between. Thi a variety of Scott's No. 4285.

two colors in which the control numbers appear on the 1917—$30 Documentary. The same remarks apply to similar varieties overprinted "Stock Transfer" and "Future Delivery." On the earlier issue, these numbers were in bright green and on the late ones appeared in blue.

I understand that the Bureau of Engraving & Printing is now issuing the playing card stamps in coil forms for use by five manufacturers who desire them in this condition. Further information as to how these can be told from the normal variety will be given in this column later, that is, just as soon as I can obtain the necessary details.

Philippine Islands

The Philippine Islands, so I am informed, recently placed on sale a special commemorative series of postage stamps of which but twenty thousand sets were issued. At the present time I have no details relative to this series although it will be recalled that this column called attention to the fact a few months back that the Director of Posts was then considering the issuing of new stamps. Data on this issue will be forthcoming in a few days at which time our readers will also be informed of the possibilities of these stamps being sold in this country.

ALGERIA.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. copies of the 1fr05c, type of Scott's A3 in brown.

BECHUANALAND PROT.—Mr. R. Roberts and Whitfield King & Co. report the appearance of the ½p and 4p stamps of Great Britain surcharged for use in this colony on the new watermark paper.

FRANCE.—We have received from Mr. R. Roberts the 60c red postage due stamp of 1925. with the surcharge "1fr" in black. The former value is obliterated as in the other surcharged stamps.

GERMANY.—Mr. A. Wagner writing to us from Essen, on Nov. 6th last, informs us of the intended issue on Dec. 1st of another set of Charity stamps similar to those issued in December of last year. The set will consist of four values, viz., 5pf, with coat-of-arms of Wurtemburg; 10pf, with coat-of-arms of Baden; 25pf, with coat-of-arms of Thuringia, and 50pf, coat-of-arms of Hesse. They will be sold at 100% over face as in 1925, thus the price will be 180 pfgs.

JAPAN.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us copies of three values of new design. They are 24½x22mm in size and each shows a different view. The 2s green pictures the usual snow capped mountain, while the 6s rose red gives a view of a native building. The other value, 10s blue, shows another style of native building.

MEXICO.—Whitfield King & Co. send for our information and record copies of the 2nd Pan-American Postal Congress issue. The values, colors and designs are 2c red, inscription "Secundo Congreso Postal Panamericano 1926" in centre; 4c green, Map; 5c yellow, same as 2c; 10c brown red, Map; 20c grey blue, Portrait of Doctor Francisco Garcia y Santos; 30c green, same as 20c; 40c lilac, same as 20c and 1p brown and blue. View of "Palacio Postal Mexicano." Each stamp bears the inscription that describes the issue and also the imprint of "Ofigina Imp. de Hagienda Mexico."

PERSIA.—Another value of the new issue has been sent for chronicle by Whitfield King & Co. This time it is the 15ch pale blue.

PORTUGAL.—Whitfield King & Co. send for chronicle the 2c chocolate and 40c green, in the A64 design.

SAAR.—We have received from Mr. P. J. Kranz copies of the new 1fr50c blue Charity stamps. The central figure is that of a mother holding a baby in her arms while at the top is "Saargebiet" and at the bottom "Volkshilfe". Mr. Kranz adds that the set consists of four values and that they are 20c olive green, 40c chocolate brown and 50c vermilion With the 1fr50c described above, the set has a face value of 2fr60c and are sold for double face. The lower values are of different designs and the following is the number reported printed: 500,000 of each of the 20c, 40c and 50c while the 1fr50c issue is of 200,000.

TUNIS.—Mr. R. Roberts reports that the 1fr, current design, has been issued in blue.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

MIXTURES

Mr. Hans Heuman gave a radio talk on "Why Girls and Boys Should Save Stamps" on the evening of November 18th, at the South Town Economist Station, WBCN, at 7 P. M. Mr. Heuman is interested in the philatelic activities of the Hyde Park Y. M. C. A. and is doing his share to spread the gospel.

The beautifully illustrated article, "Design in the Postage Stamp," in the International Studio recently has made a decided impression and we thank several readers who have sent in this splendid article by Gardner Teall, who says that the penny black of Great Britain was a work of art and that "there has not been a more truly beautiful postage-stamp issued by any country since."

Mr. Glover, the second assistant postmaster general, whose address at the Exhibition banquet was one of the high spots of the evening, announces that "in the very near future, the proposed new uniform rate of ten cents a half-ounce for the transmission of mail to all points in the United States will be placed in effect."

Mr. Henry Foster, San Francisco, Cal., sends for inspection a block of four of the current two cent Canal Zone, on which the distance between the "Canal" and "Zone" on the two stamps at the left is 8mm. and on the two stamps at the right, 10mm.

The following clipping came from Mr. C. M. Greene, Manson, Washington: "A novel invitation for a Lincoln's birthday party might have a new Lincoln penny glued in the middle of the card: use notepaper for writing the invitations for a Washington February 22nd celebration and cut the oval picture of George Washington from a one cent stamp and affix it in the middle of the paper." Mr. Greene comments: "Suppose the lady in searching for some stamps with a nice picture of the Father of His Country should unearth copies of the 10c green, No. 36 (and where is there a stamp with a better picture of Washington?) and paste them on her invitations, one of which falls into the hands of a collector, who makes haste to see if the lady has any of these stamps left, by which means the lady learns how much cheaper it would have been to have had invitations printed by the local craftsman! Can you imagine her wrath when she contemplates what a swell party she could have given had she sold her stamps?"

At a recent meeting of the German Stamp Collectors' Club of Chicago, Mr. Julius Loeffler was re-elected president for the ensuing fiscal year. Originally this club's meetings were conducted in the German language but latterly, this rule doesn't hold, as the club has a membership of over fifty collectors of all nationalities. Meetings are held twice a month at the clubroom in Lincoln Turner Hall, Diversey and Sheffield Avenues, Chicago; and a complimentary banquet to members is to be given on January 16, 1927.

Mr. Louis A. Pike, Ft. Wayne, Indiana, writes that the ordinary 1c and 2c precanceled, Bureau print, which was listed in our issue of Sept. 6th, does not exist. All the Bureau prints are coils, 1c, 1½c and 2c, a fact that Mr. Pike verified at the post office.

Mr. H. Carl Jering, Jamaica, New York, bought a package of 500 different stamps at the New York Exhibition for fifty cents; and he was interested enough in the contents of the packet to list and price all the specimens. There was one U.S. stamp that catalogued 15c and the total catalogue value of the 500 stamps was $10.68.

Is there any catalogue of French and Belgian precancelled, foreign revenues and foreign envelopes, a collector asks. We do not know of any catalogue of foreign fiscals since the appearance of the la edition of the Forbin catalogue, b Bright and Senf have catalogues foreign envelopes.

In the Chicago Journal of Commerc De Witt Wines, in the column of theat news, tell of a press agent for the pla "Tip-Toes" who discoursed ornithologi ally in this wise: "In the vast reach of the southern continent dwells a litt bird, known as the 'tero-tero' and held great veneration by dwellers in tho lands, even to the extent of being pi tured on the one-centissimo stamp of t republic of Uruguay. This bird is the snipe family, and its function is warn hunted birds and beasts of t approach of enemies, so that it is muc hated by hunters, albeit protected con monly by law.

In Cordova, the Argentine city of th name, the fowl has been domesticate as a superior sort of feathered burgl alarm, which eats less and makes mo noise than a dog, 'Tip-Toes' represent tive avers; and the idea is credited to Scotch banker named Cairncross, wh desired to protect his bank at minimu cost. Nevertheless the keeping of t tero-teor, has spread, even unto the bus ness houses of Buenos Aires, Montevid and Rio de Janeiro, and the fowl's s gacity, faithfulness and vigilance a widely acclaimed."

U. S. Exhibits At The Exhibition

In class II, section 3, devoted to official Department stamps, the first award of a silver gold medal was received by Mr. George Walcott for his unusual lot of mint singles and blocks. Departmental blocks are becoming more difficult to pick up year by year and the Walcott collection includes some unusually choice pieces, such as the only known block of the 1c Executive. In addition, the collection has magnificent blocks of the Executive 2c and 10c which are excessively scarce, as well as such pieces as blocks of the 7c and 90c Navy.

Th second award went to Mr. Charles J. Phillips, and while his collection includes mint singles and blocks, he is much stronger in his fine array of used shades, covers and unusual cancellations. Of the latter, he has the finest lot gotten together in recent years.

The third award was received by Mr. Edward R. Wood, Jr. This collection consists of many choice blocks, as well as all of the mint singles. One of the finest lot of Department "Specimen" overprints ever gotten together is to be seen here. It includes one of the two or three known sets of the State Department "Specimen" complete from 1c to $20. Of the overprint on the two high values, I doubt whether over two to three each are in existence. Mr. Wood has most of the "Sepcimen" errors as well as an unusually fine lot of cancelled copies.

In this section Mr. E. R. Ackerman exhibited his specialized collection of the State Departmentals. It is only in these important older collections that one may see such things as blocks of nine of the 1c, 7c and 12c, blocks of fifteen of the 3c and 6c, block of ten of the 15c, block of four of the 24c and $2.00. Most of these have not been available for many years even in blocks of four. This collection also contains one of the few complete sets of State "Specimen" surcharges.

In section 4 in which Postmasters and Carriers were entered, the palm of honor went to Mr. Alfred H. Caspary for his lot of Carrier stamps, no doubt the finest collection ever gotten together.

One whole article could readily be written about this collection alone. The student appreciates not only the wonderful rarities but everything, almost without exception, is in immaculate condition. Furthermore, most of the Carriers are on the original cover. I note off hand, fine copies of the Baltimore 1852– 1c green, 1857– 1c black "Horseman" block showing the tete beche variety, both types of the 2c black Boston, practically everything in the way of the Charleston emissions and as far as the Philadelphia Carriers were concerned, I missed practically nothing as he has the 1c black on blue glazed, the 1c on vermilion glazed, the yellow glazed and the black on buff, the latter being unique. There were several Franklin Carriers, including a number used on the cover. This collection was one of the outstanding exhibits on view.

The gold medal in this class was also received by Mr. Caspary for his extraordinarily fine lot of Postmasters. He has the only known Alexandria on blue on the entire cover, as well as the black on buff. The Annapolis 5c on entire was present as was the 10c Baltimore. The Millbury was to be seen on the entire cover—possibly one of the choice copies known to philately. The Brattleboro, New Haven and lesser lights were equally as strong. In the way of New Yorks, Mr. Caspary owns some unusually choice pairs and strips.

The silver medal was awarded to Mr. S. P. Hessel for his .Carrier stamps It is unfortunate that Mr. Hessel had such strong competition in Mr. Caspary for his collection was well worthy of a gold medal, containing as it does many of the rare Charleston and Philadelphias.

Two bronze medals were awarded to Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen for his exhibit, consisting of half a frame of Postmasters and Carriers. The Senator showed a few choice pieces but nothing really rare.

In section 5 covering entire envelopes, the gold medal was received by Col. E. H. R. Green for the collection originally gotten together by Worthington and Mason, the two having been combined by Mr. John A. Klemann and in turn sold to Colonel Green shortly before the Exhibition. It is without doubt the finest lot of envelopes in existence, for it contains the combined varieties of the two largest collections heretofore formed. It would be difficult to mention the outstanding pieces for it has practically everything known.

A bronze medal in the same class went to Mr. Louis A. Missbach, his collection being arranged according to dies and die varieties, as well as papers, but not gotten together according to watermarks or sizes. Mr. Missbach also received the silver medal in the following section for his cut square collection.

In section 7, devoted to the general issues of Revenue stamps, the first award, that is, a gold medal, went to Mr. Henry L. Dean. In the way of imperforates, Mr. Dean no doubt owns the finest lot of Revenues ever gotten together. As imperforates are the choicest of our Civil War emissions, we might almost say that his collection is the finest now in existence. His exhibit showed such outstanding imperforate pieces as pairs or better of the 3c Playing Cards, the 10c Power of Attorney, the 50c Surety Bond, the 70c Foreign Exchange, the $1.60 Foreign Exchange, the $2 Probate of Will, the $2.50 Inland Exchange, the $3.50, as well as many other very rare imperforate pieces. Among the perforated stamps, the 2c Proprietary ultramarine in a block of ten from the Eagle collection was an outstanding piece. In the third issue Mr. Dean shows the 2c claret in black, error of color, the stamp originally coming from the Ackerman collection. A choice lot of inverts rounds out the collection, which includes the 15c, one of the scarcer varieties.

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Judge Robert S. Emerson also showed a wonderful lot in this same class, not for competition. Judge Emerson was one of the members of the jury who believed that a judge should not compete and there is no doubt in the future that no judge will be permitted to compete. This collection, while exceedingly strong in the later issues, contains possibly one of the finest lot of the early Revenues from 1755 to 1830 inclusive, now in existence. Judge Emerson shows the early Revenue stamps of the separate states, as well as the "Boston Tea Party" Revenue which was the match that started our Revolutionary War. One piece in this collection which especially caught my eye was a superb good sized mint block of the Proprietary 1875 10c blue. I have never seen this variety in a block before and it must be exceedingly scarce.

In section 8, covering Revenue stamps of state and private issues, the gold and silver medals were received by Hon. E. R. Ackerman and Col. E. H. R. Green, respectively. The Ackerman collection of match and medicine stamps is the outstanding lot of these interesting issues and contains practically everything known. It includes such rarities as the Rock Island Match, the Brown & Durling in black, the J. J. Macklin, the Pierce's Volcano unused with original gum, as well as many other pieces, of which but one or two copies are known. Senator Ackerman's blocks are a marvelous lot.

In section 9, devoted to local stamps, the gold medal went to Mr. Henry C. Needham. Mr. Needham's collection of locals is so well known that it is hardly necessary to say that it is the finest collection of its kind ever gotten together. Mr. Needham started in with these interesting stamps at a time when no one cared for them and as a result has amassed a collection mostly of covers that could not be surpassed. Pick up your local catalogue, turn to any page and you are safe in saying, "Needham has it."

In sections 10 and 11, devoted to Telegraph stamps, proofs and essays, I saw nothing that appealed to me of outstanding rarity.

In section 12, we come to a class that is having more followers here of late than ever before, namely, Western Franks. The gold medal went to Mr. Alfred F. Lichtenstein for his collection, which consisted of about 3,600 franks divided between the two hundred seventy-seven western express companies who did business at one time, in our early days. Mr. Lichtenstein's collection contains the combined strength of the collections of the late Henry B. Phillips of Oakland and Ferrari.

The silver gold medal went to Mr. Ackerman for an equally attractive lot, starting with the Adams & Co. used from "Mormon Islands," containing alphabetically many unusual pieces right through to "Zack's Snow Shoe Express."

Section 13, Confederate States, Provisional issues. In this class two wonderful collections were shown, the first award of a gold medal going to Mr. A. H. Caspary and the silver gold to Mr. George Walcott. The Caspary exhibit was especially strong in original covers in fine condition with the postmark in most cases tying the stamp to the cover—most unusual, in the way of our Confederate Postmasters. The outstanding pieces in the collection are the Athens 5c red, Baton Rouge 2c green with error "Mc Ccrmick," Beaumont 10c on yellow, Emory 5c blue, Greenville, the only known copy of the 10c red and blue, Greenwood Independence 10c dull rose only known copy, Livingston, Macon 2c green, Pittslvania, only known used copies of Pleasant Shade, Uniontown and practically all of the other Provisionals of lesser importance.

The Walcott collection is also exceedingly fine and includes most of the listed varieties, as well as a good number unlisted. In this collection the history and development of the Confederate postal service has been given special attention and many of the original documents relating to postal matters are here shown.

In section 14 the gold medal was awarded to Mr. Edward S. Knapp for his Confederate States, general issues. This collection consists of twelve volumes following the Confederate States postal history from beginning to end. Five volumes alone devoted to the lithographs of 1861 and 1862 contain reconstructed platings of nine stones of which eight are complete. A block of five of the 2c green is shown on cover with red town cancellation. There is also a 10c rose block of four town cancellations, a most unusual piece. Many collections lack the 10c outer line, but here we find an entire volume devoted to this one stamp containing one hundred ten copies, including a vertical and horizontal pair, in addition to one with a red town postmark. Two choice mint blocks of the "Ten" were on view.

The second award in this class went to Mr. Thomas H. Pratt.

One of the most interesting sections from a historical point of view was class X, section 1-A, devoted to patriotic, campaign and historical covers of the United States and Confederate States, postally used. Mr. William S. White carried off the gold medal with his four volume collection, of which three volumes alone are devoted to the Civil War period. The outstanding pieces that I noticed are the 1857, 24c tied to a cover with a red postmark, one on cover with an additional 1d red of Great Britain, as well as a strip of four of this stamp tied to the cover along with a 30c.

The second award was received by Mr. E. R. Ackerman—another collection equally as fine. This collection shows patriotic covers from both the Hawaiian Islands and India, the former having a combination of Hawaiian and United

A BOOK YOU SHOULD HAVE

Stanley B. Ashbrook's new book on the U. S. Stamps of 1851-57. The price is but $1.50, which you can safely add to the cost of the first four 1c stamps of these issues you may buy and still be money ahead.

The difference in value betwen Type I perforated and Ia perforated is more than $100, but at auctions during the past few months we have bought no less than four copies of the rare Ia at the price of the commoner stamp.

The descriptive matter and the large illustrations are so complete that with the help of this book anyone can learn to identify the various types in one evening.

We'll appreciate your order at $1.00 post free.

ALTRUISM

By CHARLES E. ROE.

ONE of the worst features of the dope situation is that the addicts take delight in making other victims: they seem to find a fiendish pleasure in handing along the craving to innocent youth and in this way the terrible habit may be increasing. Yet what is a vice in some conditions may be a positive virtue in others; Clapham and Martaban are not the only instances, nor are all differences geographical.

Assuming that stamp collecting is beneficial to the body social—there are dissenting opinions, but this is not an argument on the negative side—then the spread of the hobby is to be encouraged. And it is one of the finest attributes of philately that its devotees take such delight in promoting its growth. They go out of the way to start a beginner and keep him going. To the dealer, of course, it is a matter of cold-blooded business, but if it wasn't for the work of the collectors who help the youngsters and the faint-hearted with no thought of financial reward, there wouldn't be much business in a few years.

In this the stamp people are quite different from the more "dignified" collectors of art, antiques, ship models, echoes and such things. Can you imagine the man who gathers those smelly Oriental rugs handing out a Kihghiz and a couple of Bokharas to the humble possessor of a single tattered Kazak (if those are the names) merely to encourage him? Does the youthful assembler of Venuses—marble ones, of course? This is a strictly decent article with mid-Victorian morals—find that the millionaire who has among his assortment of perfect stone ladies some shopworn images with missing hands or noses is willing to pass along these space fillers to less fortunate folks in order to keep up the interest in such things? When the Metropolitan Museum finds that it is long on Holbeins or Dürers or Domenichinos does it pass the excess along to the poor beginner so that he won't become discouraged?

And those seekers after Early Americana, which seems to be anything prior to the World's Fair: do we see them donating spare highboys, pewter or suspicious but empty bottles to the luckless ones?

I trow not.

Now contrast that with the behavior of the man who has a lot of stamps. He throws his "junk" in a box and tells the kids to help themselves, which they do and pass the duplicates along. Why, I have known of one stamp that went down the line through eight pairs of hands before the boy in the seventh grade laid it to rest in his album, and each holder had the pleasure of giving, which is one of the finest sensations there is.

No, it is to the derided stamp enthusiast we must look to find the true altruism. We are a sect apart and above; and as an acolyte in good standing I must admit that this is so.

States stamps. Another item of especial interest was a pair of the 5c buff used from Virginia City with quite an unusual cancellation. The collection hows a number of covers addressed abroad, including quite a few with stamps of higher denominations. In this class I imagine the judges had a difficult time in deciding which collection was the finer one.

Other awards in the same section were received by Harold C. Brooks, D. H. Stafford and Herman Toaspern.

In class XI, section 1, devoted to cancellations, the silver medal for his lot of 3c 1851 and 1857 on covers went to Mr. J. J. Donahue. A green cancellation from Toddsville, N. Y., was most attractive.

Dr. Warren L. Babcock secured the second award for his supplementary mail cancellations. This collection has been written up quite fully in the philatelic press and is no doubt the most important lot of these interesting stamps ever gotten together.

The third and fourth awards went to Messrs. George R. Brown and O. W. Fowler for small but choice collections, the latter being devoted entirely to covers originating in Vermont, this state, by the way, being the first admitted to the Union of the original thirteen colonies.

Among the junior collectors in class XIV, there was shown two very nice collections of United States stamps. The silver medal went to Master H. E. Clements for a general collection from 1847 to date, including postal adhesives, envelopes and revenues. A bronze medal was awarded to Master Wharton Sinkler, Jr., for a collection of the postal issues only, including singles of our earlier stamp and blocks of a great number of the later issues.

HARMER, ROOKE'S BRAZIL SALE

The firm of Harmer, Rooke & Co. recently advertised a notable sale of Brazil stamps for Jan. 5. 1927. Catalogs are now at hand describing 195 lots, issues ranging from 1844 to 1861 only. Large and unique strips and blocks are illustrated.

It is not our practise to engage in the circulating of catalogs of this kind, but as the firm has sent us six copies, they will be mailed to Brazil specialists upon receipt of postage to cover.

A FINE OPPORTUNITY occurs to obtain choice early BRITISH COLONIAL STAMPS in superb condition. They can be selected from at under ⅓ catalogue. Also EDWARDIAN AND GEORGIAN issues, either mint or superb used, mostly at ⅓ catalogue. Approval, references.

THE REVENUE CLASS AT N. Y.

By EDWARD G. GOODCHILD.

The committee in charge are certainly to be congratulated on their wisdom in catering to the desires and whims of all the varied so-called "sidelines" of Philately. In this regard, so far as Revenue stamps are concerned, they certainly far exceeded in foresight the promoters of the 1923 Exhibition of London. No provisions were made there for the display of any Revenue issues. Not even those of Gt. Britain, while at New York, other than the section for Revenues of U.S.A. we find in Class XVI, section H, "Revenues other than U.S.A." Neither were they stinting in the supply of awards, of which there were three medals.

That the inclusion of this class was justified, may be readily seen by the list of entries of really magnificent collections of Revenues of various countries. Just as pleasing and informative to the non-collector as the most greatly prized of any postal emissions used or otherwise.

It may be worthwhile whilst dealing with the subject of inclusion of Revenue issues in stamp exhibitions, to place on record a few achievements relative to same, from an exhibition point of view.

It may not be generally known that an exhibition of British Colonial fiscals and telegraphs only was held at the Exeter Hall, London, in 1905, and embraced thirteen classes and seventy-five sections. Just think of it!

At the great Paris Exhibition of 1900, Class VII was allotted to Revenues and was divided into three sections: One gold, three silver, and three bronze medals were officially assigned to the Class, in addition to which a British and a French Society, and a Belgian collector, offered between them six supplementary medals, four of them silver and two bronze. Again I say, Just think of it!

For the first time at any International Exhibition in England, a representative exhibit of Revenue Stamps made a very fine display in the great event of 1897.

The most striking Exhibition of Fiscals was that arranged by the Leeds Philatelic Society in 1894. That was the first purely fiscal exhibition ever held and ran for two whole weeks. Once more I say, Just think of it!

From the early days of stamp collecting up to the present time, indications have been, that the collecting of Revenues has one certain advantage over that of Postage stamp collecting, it being almost if not entirely free with perhaps one or two odd exceptions of the faker's art.

As to value from the commercial point of view, one only has to mention the sale of the wonderful Deat's Collection of U.S.A. Revenues, when the total realized well over five thousand dollars, one specimen alone realizing over $300.

Perhaps that alone is the reason w there are so many collectors of th magnificent specimens of the craftsma art, the Revenue stamps of our cous to the south of the line.

NEWFOUNDLAND

I have just purchased a superb collection of Newfoundland formed by a Boston collector during the past twenty years.

The collection is in three Oriel Albums and is right up to date. The owner specially collected unused stamps and where he could obtain them, included of every stamp a single, pair, strip of three and a block of four. In the rare early issues he took fine used copies as well as unused. The following list gives but a small idea of the wealth of material in this collection:

1857. 1d on thick paper, 6 singles, 2 pairs, 2 strips of three and block of four.
" 1d medium to thin pp., 15 singles, block of four, and 5 used.
1862. 1d reddish brown on thin paper, Die II.
A superb copy of this exceedingly rare stamp.
1857. 2d carmine, 2 unused, 3 used.
" 4d carmine, 1 unused, 4 used.
" 6d carmine, 1 unused, 1 used.
" 6½d carmine, 5 unused, 1 used.
" 8d carmine, a number unused and several blocks.
" 1sh carmine, 2 used.
Bisected, ½ of 8d on full cover.
Bisected, ½ of 1sh on portion of cover.
1860. 2d orange, 12 unused, 2 used.
" 4d orange, 3 unused, 2 used
" 6d orange, 8 used.
" 1sh orange, 3 unused.
1857-63. 5d, large number of shades in singles, pairs and blocks.
1862-63. The lake-rose stamps on thick and thin paper and several sheets, and a number of genuine used copies.
1866. 5c brown (seal), 10 unused, 6 used.
1887-1910. A number of pairs of stamps Imperf. and Imperf. between, several in blocks of 4 and 6 of these rare varieties.
1920. 2c on 30c, 3c on 15c, and 3c on 35c. Several inverted surcharges of each value. 3c on 35c. Uncatalogued variety, block of six, one stamp with "THREE" omitted. A number of rare essays of these Provisionals in singles and blocks.
Air Post Stamp, 1919. 3c red-brown, "Hawker" unused.
Air Mail. Many varieties in singles, pairs and blocks, and the rare inverted surcharges.

A COMPLAINT

TO THE EDITOR:—I am writing you c cerning an experience I have had,- fact, am still having,—with the Canad Philatelic Agency, wondering if it unique, or if it is the common experie of other collectors seeking to make p chases of current Canadian stamps.

In September last I wrote to Agency to ask for a list of stamps tainable. This list was promptly sent and on September 24 I sent an or which, with return postage and regist tion, amounted to a few cents over f dollars. Payment was tendered by a p office money order, of which I still h the receipt, I personally placing the mo order in my letter, and depositing it the post office in this town.

No acknowledgment of any kind ha ing been made, I wrote again on Octo 18, making courteous inquiry as whether my former letter had been ceived and when I might expect stamps ordered.

Today, a month later with still no wo from the Agency, I am writing aga also in a courteous vein, though I mu confess that my patience is abo exhausted.

OUR FIRST 1c STAMPS

Reviewing Stanley B. Ashbrook's New Book, "The Types and Plates of the U. S. ONE CENT."

By LYMAN J. SEELY.

Right off the bat Mr. Ashbrook's new book enabled me to identify a stamp with which few collectors or dealers are familiar; and that was a beautiful copy of the 1c dark blue, Type IIIa from Plate II. For that I was grateful, and I think all students of U. S. stamps, particularly those who like the issues of 1851-57, who study this monograph of nearly 100 pages, will feel that Mr. Ashbrook has again turned out something to endear him to us.

The 1c stamps of 1851-57 are a tough proposition for all but the very few. I have reasonably good eyesight and a fairly developed faculty of application, but I am free to confess I have found it almost impossible to remember the many little eccentricities of plate and transfer varieties existing on the 12 plates used for the printing of these most interesting stamps. It's easy for the chosen few to smilingly intimate that I am a dumb-bell because after a lapse of a year or so I have forgotten just what ill-luck befell Plate I in 1856; or just what sort of accident resulted in producing a shift at the top of No. 1L, Plate II and split the plate wide open; or how I was instructed carefully and painstakingly to tell the difference betwen Type IIIa copies from Plate IV (which are quite common) and those from Plate II (which are very scarce). I can remember the distinguishing mark on the double inverted transfer No. 91L, but I have to do a lot of thinking before I can remember the identification of Nos. 71 and 81. As Type II lists at $4 and the same showing inverted transfer lists $60, it is worth while from a financial standpoint, as well as that of philatelic pride, to be able to pick such things out. Nor is it any fun to pay $100 for a supposed Type Ia to discover a couple of years later you have paid a fancy price for a stamp from the 9th row of Plate IV, which just misses being the real thing.

For the collector just beginning to study the main varieties of the 1c stamp and who wants to know beyond question the difference between Types I, II, III, IV, V or the man who examines every deep blue stamp with a high-power glass in hope of discovering the minute surface cracks marking Plate III items, Mr. Ashbrook's new book is a veritable gold mine of information.

In narrative form he gives the known, and surmised, history of each of the plates; he describes so simply that the novice can grasp the varieties of type and the reasons for their existence. The style is good, attention being called to the special details by bold-faced type in caps or lower case, emphasizing points that might otherwise be overlooked.

Best of all are the illustrations. They are in a form devised some years ago by Mr. Ashbrook, I believe, and they make the illustrations of shifts, cracks, flaws, type varieties and transfer-roll varieties so obvious that only a glance is needed to secure required information which the actual stamps would only yield after careful study with a glass.

An addition that will be appreciated by those who can afford quantities of the common Type V and who could not go so far with the scarcer types is a detailed description of the outstanding minor varieties to be found on plates 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10. Many of these varieties are as interesting as those found on the earlier plates and a search for them is far more likely to yield additions of value to one's collection.

"Twelve Cents 1851-1857" by Lt. Col. J. K. Tracy and Stanley B. Ashbrook.—This monograph, the result of years of study of these interesting and much neglected stamps by Lt. Col. Tracy, has a narrower field to cover as only two plates have been identified. Plate I was used for all the imperforate stamps and probably most of the perforated ones, while Plate III is known in used condition only perforated. Plate III was used only during 1860 and part of 1861.

Separate types of the 12c stamps have never been listed, though the existence of recut outer lines, extra and missing frame lines was noted years ago in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY by the present writer, which Col. Tracy tells me started him on his troublous study of these stamps.

Until he first published some notes on the result of his efforts to plate the 12c stamps, the only minor varieties to receive trade recognition were two strong shifts. Colonel Tracy, however, soon discovered many interesting varieties of recutting, a number of important shifts, and other minor varieties of note.

Most of these have been illustrated by Mr. Ashbrook by the same lucid method employed in illustrating the book of the 1c stamps. The reconstruction of Plate I has been completed by Col. Tracy, and his description of it should need little future amendment. Plate III is but partly reconstructed, sufficiently though to make valuable descriptive notes possible.

With the addition of these two monographs to Dr. C. C. Chase's great work on the 3c stamps of 1851-57, we have only a contemplated work on the 10c stamps of those issues to look forward to for a complete reference library.

A FINE GROUP PICTURE OF THE EMPLOYEES OF THE SCOTT STAMP AND COIN CO. TAKEN AT THE N. Y. EXHIBITION

There may be a few people still left who think that philately is one of the minor human interests. If so, let them count the Scott family, in one of its rare o portunities for gathering together into one spot, from the main store, branch and printing plant. Not such a bad representation for a business in any branch of indust and certainly a proof if any is needed after the Exhibition, that philately not only is deeply rooted, but widely extended amongst all people, everywhere.

"STOLEN STAMPS"

Dr. J. Brace Chittenden's philatelic romance written for the International Philatelic Exhibition and dedicated to the members of the Collectors Club, New York, has been read by the reviewer without skipping a page and the inference that the story is a gripping one is correct. The book of one hundred pages is so full of meat that we do not know how to attack it. Dr. Chittenden is an Admirable Crichton and not alone does he illumine the subject of philately on the pages of his work, but he discourses on police methods, the law, newspaper reportorial ethics, fire department procedure, china collecting, college politics and club life as well. Too, romance has its inning. Dr. Chittenden always is master of the situation and he runs the story to a climax that vies in interest with the most finished products of the kind. DeBerry's stamp collection has been stolen and the quest for it involves numerous well-drawn characters in the tangled skein, whose unraveling requires adventuring and adroitness. Scattered through the tale are bits of philosophic comment that will be appreciated, and we should imagine that the good doctor found the opportunity to indulge his views and fancies an agreeable outlet. Manifestly, it would be unfair to reveal the plot of the romance that was written by the author at the behest of his friends who felt that the Exhibition should be signalized in a literary way. Those who see the mystery plays that are favorite stage productions are enjoined not to tell the outcome, and it is but right that the plot of the mystery story be not revealed, likewise. "Stolen Stamps" is a book that will grace the shelf of the philatelist as it proves that in the field of fiction philately has its exemplars; and we congratulate Dr. Chittenden in providing a foil to the usual run of stamp literature that concerns itself with the exploitation of stamps alone. There is the de luxe edition, bound in cloth for $1.50, and the paper-covered volume for one dollar. Published by Dr. J. Brace Chittenden, 51 West 48th St., New York.

TRIALS OF EARLY STAMP COLLECTORS

By CHARLES E. ROE.

The history books say that the first stamps sent from England to the colonies arrived early in 1765, and the date of issue set first at August 1, then November 1. Their reception reminds one of that of the Columbian set; it was so different. Throughout the colonies bells were tolled, flags were half-mast, and mourning crape hung on public buildings and other places. The stamps were burned by mobs and by officials like bellmen and hangmen. Stamp collectors where known were threatened, hanged in effigy, robbed of records, documents and stamps and in some more violent communities their houses were burned. So different from these blessed days of international felicity.

Listen now to authority.

"As soon as the names of the appointed stamp-distributors were made known (August 1, 1765) the masses expressed their displeasure in a way unfortunately too common in America. Throughout the land there was rifling of stamp-collectors' houses, threatening their lives, burning their records and documents and even their houses. Their offices were demolished and their resignations compelled— in one case under a hanging effigy. . . . . The more moderate patriots cancelled their orders with British merchants and agreed not to remit their English debts. . . . .

"On the morning the act (of issue) went into effect (November 1, 1765), bells tolled the death of the nation. Shops were shut, flags hung at half-mast and newspapers appeared with a death's head. . . . . Mobs burned the stamps

. . . All America endorsed the . . . . . Stamp Congress which met i New York, in October, 1765. . . . "

"This . . . . was a complete sur prise to the British Government. (Quoted from "Causes of the America Revolution by Claude H. Van Tyn in Hitchcock's "Decisive Battles o America.")

We are told that history repeats itself If this is true no wonder that collectin revenue stamps is not popular.

EDITORIAL

The management of the Merchants & Manufacturers Exchange, operating Grand Central Palace, the largest exhibition building in the United States, sends the following letter, which furnishes a professional estimate of the success achieved by the Philatelic Exhibition: "The many commendations given by those who attended the Stamp Exhibition which have been printed have been read with interest. It is gratifying that it was such a success and is receiving so much praise. It was the most successful one-floor show ever held in Grand Central Palace, and outside of the Flower Show and the Automobile Show, I do not think that any exhibition ever had so much publicity given it in the New York press; also, the paid admissions to the Stamp Exhibition outranked those of any other one-floor show ever given here. The splendid co-operation given by the WEEKLY in its columns was greatly appreciated, I know, by everyone connected with the Exhibition."

It may be repeated here that the manager of the Exposition Department of the Grand Central Palace is Mr. Albert R. Rogers, who, as early as 1893, won his spurs as an "exposition expert." He had in charge the stamp exhibit made by philatelists at the Chicago World's Fair in that year and under his tutelage a creditable showing was made. Incidentally, Mr. Rogers perhaps originated the reserve price auction sale as applied to stamps. Mr. Rogers writes: "Your readers may care to know of the interest that has been aroused in the White Plains stamps in sheets of twenty-five. Not only was the demand for them very great at the time of the Exhibition, but there have been coming in to our office at Grand Central Palace, ever since, inquiries for the sheets. The writer sent to a Bazaar held in New York City recently, twenty sheets of the White Plains in question in lieu of a subscription of ten dollars and I told those in charge of the stationery booth at the Bazaar of the prospective value, philatelically, of these stamps if kept in sheets; and they sold them at two dollars a sheet, every one of the twenty sheets having been purchased the first day of the Bazaar." It is undeniable that the souvenir sheets of the White Plains have made a hit, such as even the most optimistic partizan of the sheets did not anticipate. Sad to relate, some of those who attended the Exhibition forgot in the excitement that reigned to buy any of the sheets at all.

The following expression from Mr. Frank L. Applegate, Medford, Oregon, touches upon a pertinent subject. The millimeter scale is one of the indispensable tools of the philatelist and inaccuracy in it is a grave fault. Mr. Applegate says: "The millimeter scale as a standard of measurement naturally should be an instrument of precision. Otherwise it is useless. To the casual observer, the many scales put out by various firms both here and abroad, seem to be identical, but I have found to my sorrow that such is far from the case. To take two examples: one scale printed on heavy cardboard by a leading firm of dealers in the United States differs as much as two millimeters in 50 from another one printed on celluloid by a foreign firm. Other scales that I have examined come in between, as it were. That this is too much variation is evident; it makes one dubious about the correctness of all scales. Now, who is there in a position to speak with authority and tell us definitely where we can get a scale that may be sworn by or one that will give the same results at all times, under all circumstances. No doubt, scales may be verified as to accuracy by consulting the Bureau of Standards in Washington. What we want to know is whether this has been done by any philatelic publisher in this country; and where an authoritative scale is to be obtained." Millimeter scales have been distributed variously for years and criticism of some of them has been launched heretofore, usually on the charge that atmospheric conditions rendered the celluloid scales variable. We recollect having had a well-finished metal scale that came, if we mistake not, from Providence and it is remembered as having filled the bill. Any discussion on the question raised by Mr. Applegate will be worth listening to.

A correspondent sends in a clipping from a Washington paper to the effect that the frigate "Constitution" stamp is to be issued and asks if the news is final. No particulars are at hand that would substantiate a statement that this two-cent stamp will make its appearance. The report that the stamp will be issued is based upon the movement that was organized some time ago to promote this memorial stamp.

Mr. Clarendon Bangs, who has been traveling for many months in Europe and Africa will sail for home in January, 1927. Mr. Bangs comments upon the dearth of U. S. seen at dealers' shops and tells of his visits to the Paris Stamp Bourse, concerning which he writes: "It is a unique affair. Every Sunday afternoon, fair weather or foul, beginning at 2 o'clock and lasting until dark, there congregate in the open air on the Champs Elysées, close to the Marigny Theatre, men, women and youths, dealers, traders and collectors of postage stamps. If the weather is fine, there may be on the ground as many as a thousand or more persons. Many of the dealers have stands and these are arranged in from four to six rows. There are many traders and sellers circulating about with books of stamps—some fine, some medium and others poor. While a large proportion seem to be of late issues, French and colonies predominating, rarities such as the 5c New York, 24c of 1869, inverted, and number one of Saxony and others of similar grade are sometimes seen. There were a good many boxes of thousands of stamps for sale at 5 centimes (⅕ of a cent) to 20 centimes each. Generally one buys as is and there is no recourse. Most of the people, men and women, seem to be of the prosperous class. It, indeed, is a gathering well worth seeing and one interested in stamps ought not to miss attending if the opportunity offers." The Paris Bourse has been the subject of countless articles in the newspaper press and collectors everywhere have heard of it almost from the beginning of philatelic time. It is a topic that never grows stale.

The news of the death of J. Arthur Wainwright, Morgantown, North Carolina, on October 8, 1926, has been received from Mr. Troy N. Huffman of Newton, North Carolina, a gentleman who knew Mr. Wainwright well and who spent many happy hours with him over their stamps. Those of us who met Mr. Wainwright when he lived at Northampton, Mass., and others who came in contact with him through correspondence will greatly regret the passing away of this man whose character was at once whimsical and wholesome. He was sixty-six years of age and succumbed to the disease, pellegra. Mr. Wainwright was intensely loyal to his stamps and looked upon them for solace that they never failed to offer. The Burke County Journal, Valdese, N. C., published a two-column notice of Mr. Wainwright, in which this man "of eccentric ways and peculiar habits" is paid a glowing tribute. His life was an interesting one and among his acquaintances was President Coolidge, who had his office in Northampton on the same street on which Mr. Wainwright had his. Mr. Wainwright practiced law for many years at Northampton and at one time was attorney for the American Philatelic Society. His biographer says that no one could persuade Mr. Wainwright to sell a single stamp, no matter how much he needed money.

The Highest Award! Well, One of Them

In our last advertisement we spoke of Positive and Negative guarantees. We did not expect, at the time, to have an opportunity so soon to point out exactly what we meant, but the awards at the International Stamp Exhibition have given us the chance to make our point clear.

We might have said that the Scott Line of Blank Albums received the highest award—a Diploma of Silver Medal, And we would have been telling the truth. But, we would not have been telling all the truth, for the fact is that five other concerns shared this honor with us.

Of this we are glad. For now when we say that we challenge comparison between the Scott Line and any other blank album made you will realize that it is not because the other albums are poor — because they are all very good indeed, but because Scott, with the only plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Philatelic products, possesses the equipment, the experience, and the personnel to produce a product that invites comparison, and the more you know about blank albums, the more pleased we shall be to have you go into the matter in the most careful detail.

The Scott Line of Blank Albums sells from $6.00 to $12.00 in a variety of styles and sizes.

FRANK L. COES calls our attention to the continued use of the mails with unsolicited approval selections. He sends us the name of a person in New York City who is using the new membership file of the S. P. A. as an address list for unsolicited approval sendings. No return postage is enclosed It is difficult to outline a remedy for this evil, which is aggravated by the fact that various stamp publications publish the names and addresses of many who are proposed for membership in the different societies. Evidently the publication of names and addresses of applicants cannot be dispensed with, in view of the necessity of allowing opportunity for the filing of any possible complaints. The best solution of this problem seems to be for recipients to file away any unsolicited approval selections, and return them only when sufficient postage has been sent for their return by registered mail.

A CIRCULAR letter is being sent out by the General Passenger Office of the International Mercantile Marine Company in which special reference is made to the New York Exhibition. It mentions the wonderful things on view in "stampdom" and then suggests a pleasure trip to "one of the many corners of the earth from which these treasures were gathered."

A NEW British advertiser is introduced to our readers this week in the person of George N. Jessop, Maryborough, Irish Free State. Mr. Jessop specializes in the stamps of this country, and we have no hesitation in recommending him to our readers for their favorable consideration.

YULETIDE STAMPS OF YOUTH

By FRED J. MELVILLE.

(We have been asked for information concerning the Pro Juventute stamps issued by Switzerland. The advent of the new set for 1926 offers us the opportunity of conveying the desired information, and we quote the following article from the Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly. At the same time, by courtesy of A. Koechlin of Berne, we illustrate the new set for 1926. The catalog will give the particulars of the issues following that of December, 1916, which is the last described in this article.—Ed.)

THE SWITZERLAND PRO JUVENTUTE SET FOR 1926

In December each year, the Swiss Postal Administration, in conjunction with the "Pro Juventute" foundation of the Société Suisse d'utilité publique, issue a small set of stamps in special designs "for the children." They come as heralds of Christmas, and betoken the spirit of charity, peace and goodwill, which pervades the season of Yule. The stamps are sold at a surtax of 5 centimes over their postal value, the supplementary sou being collected in aid of institutions for the protection and care of children.

This happy idea was originated in 1913, with a single stamp of the denomination 5 centimes in a design by the French stamp artist, Auguste Grasset, who designed the Swiss postal jubilee stamp of 1900, and the French Indo-Chine of 1904. The design shows a half-length female figure, emblematic of Helvetia, with the Matterhorn in the background. It was surface-printed in green on white wove paper, with unbleached red and blue silk fibres in its substance, watermarked cross, and perforated 12½x11½ (not 11½ by 11½ as given in the Zumstein catalogue).

The dates on the stamp indicate the period of their currency from December 1, 1913, to February 28, 1914.

For the specialist there are flaws to be found in the stamp, and a variety in which the letters "PRO" are thick.

At the Geneva Stamp Exhibition, 1922, the "Pro Juventute" Foundation made an interesting exhibit in sheets of 100 of all issues, from which it appears that they issued labels the previous year, showing a group of children, with value and inscriptions expressed in three separate editions, "10 Rp.", "10 Cts." and "10 Cmi," and at the bottom "Viel Sonnenschein im neuen Jahr," "Soleil et santé a tous," and "Un anno di sole." The sale of these, which had no postal franking power, was undertaken by the Swiss post office, and netted 127,000 francs (1,275,939 were printed), for the fund, which was devoted to the work of combating the ravages of tuberculosis among the young.

The 1913 stamp, illustrated above, was printed to the number of 3,314,060; it also sold for 10 centimes, of which half went to the post office for the postal service rendered, and the other half, 165,000 francs, was divided to give 4½c to the "Pro Juventute" fund, and ½ centime to the benefit of the Swiss postal employees. Thus the postal revenue was 165,703 francs, the proceeds for the postal employees' fund F. 16,570,30, while the "Pro Juventute" foundation netted F. 149,132,70, which was devoted to the fight against tuberculosis.

The following Christmas found the whole of Europe in the throes of the Great War, and the Pro Juventute stamps for that year (1914) were withheld on account of the financial stress occasioned by the war. But for Christmas, 1915, the plan was proceeded with, and on December 1st two stamps were issued in designs by Wilhelm Balmer, of Berne, engraved on steel by J. Sprenger of Bienne, were printed in Berne at the Federal Mint on buff paper, perforated 11½. The buff paper for this and all the subquent issues shows tiny fibres of unbleached silk in its substance. The designs show a lad of Appenzel and a maid of Lucerne.

The 5c was printed in the usual sheet form (35,000 sheets), and also with the tête-bêche arrangement adopted for the booklets (18,000 sheets).

2,895,951 of the stamps were sold (1,958,593 of the lower and 937,358 of the higher value), netting Frs. 145,000 for the fund, applied to general uses for child welfare. The actual printing of the 10c was 3,000,000.

In 1916 the plan was extended to a set of three denominations, 3, 5 and 10 centimes, in similar designs by Balmer, showing children of the Cantons, by the same engraver and printed at the Mint as in the previous year. On the 3c is a maid of Freiburg, on the 5c a Bernese boy, and on the 10c a vineyard girl of Vaud. The new denomination 3c was sold at 5c, the surtax being only 2c.

There are some plate flaws, including a broken E in HELVETIA in the 3 and 5c.

The total sold of the three was 3,754,655, from which the net receipts for the fund were Frs. 154,000, which amount was devoted to the protection of the young from moral dangers. The figures for the separate values are 1,114,253 (3+2c), 1,754,910 (5+5c), and 885,502 (10+5c).

The period during which the stamps were valid for use in the mails was extended this time — and for subsequent years—to April 30th, though the actual sale at the post offices is still confined to the month of December.

Although chiefly reserved for postal matter circulating within Switzerland, by special agreement with the countries concerned, the stamps were valid for use on letters, etc., passing to Denmark, Italy, Hungary and Portugal.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines?

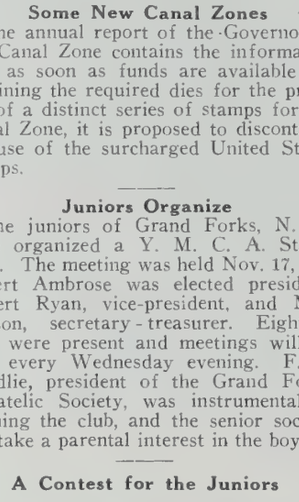
Some New Canal Zones

The annual report of the Governor of the Canal Zone contains the information that as soon as funds are available for obtaining the required dies for the printing of a distinct series of stamps for the Canal Zone, it is proposed to discontinue the use of the surcharged United States stamps.

Juniors Organize

The juniors of Grand Forks, N. D., have organized a Y. M. C. A. Stamp Club. The meeting was held Nov. 17, and Robert Ambrose was elected president, Robert Ryan, vice-president, and Max Benson, secretary-treasurer. Eighteen boys were present and meetings will be held every Wednesday evening. F. C. Bundlie, president of the Grand Forks Philatelic Society, was instrumental in forming the club, and the senior society will take a parental interest in the boys.

A Contest for the Juniors



Our juniors are urged to send in a little story about this set of stamps 50 to 75 words, not over. See what you can do. One or more stamp prizes will be awarded, depending on the number of entries. Contest closes two weeks from date of this paper. Get busy, Juniors.

Ads for the Juniors

Already ads are coming in with the request "Insert on the page for Juniors." In columns one and four will be found lots of bargains and our juniors are urged to say when they order stamps: "Saw your ad in MEKEEL'S.

Louisiana Purchase

At the beginning of the 19th century Spain owned the vast territory west of the Mississippi. Most of Europe was at war on account of Napoleon. France obtained possession of Spain's province of Louisiana. This caused grave concern to the new American nation, as Napoleon was causing so much world trouble. President Jefferson sent James Munroe to meet an envoy of Napoleon's and negotiations were put through for the purchase of this region. This territory was mostly wild and inhabited by only a few white people. With the purchase of this large area the size of the country was practically doubled.

In 1904 the U. S. P. O. Dept. issued a set of stamps commemorating the one hundredth anniversary of the purchase of this territory from France. The 1c shows a picture of Edward Livingston, one of the pioneers in the development of the Louisiana territory after its purchase from France. The 2c Thomas Jefferson who was president at the time of the purchase. On the 3c is a picture of James Munroe who was the envoy to France to make arrangements about the purchase. The 5c shows a picture of President McKinley who had died a short time before this set of stamps was issued. On the 10c is a map of the U. S., showing the area that was acquired from France.

New Perforations To Be Used

For some time the P. O. Department has been receiving complaints in the case of the rotary press stamps, due to the fact that in tearing them apart, the stamps themselves readily tear on account of the perforations. The Bureau has been experimenting for many months and has now arrived at a perforation with a smaller hole spaced nearer together, which it believes will solve the question. Some of the stamps of the 2c denomination have already been printed and will possibly appear in the near future. I have not seen the variety, so cannot advise at this writing as to its philatelic gauge. The other denominations from the rotary press will appear in short order, providing the new perforation proves satisfactory. Just as soon as a definite date has been announced for the issuing of the 2c variety, our readers will be informed. These sheets will be perforated through to the edge instead of leaving the imperforate margin as at present applies in the case of those perforated 10.—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

Teddy Platt Chooses Memel

Teddy Platt, of Pittsburgh, Pa., writes us as follows: "One of my favorite countries is Memel, a seaport on the Baltic, seventy miles northeast of Danzig and with a population of 20,000. Under the Treaty of Versailles, Germany renounced all rights over this territory and pending decision as to its status, French and German stamps were overprinted 'Memel.' The German stamps were overprinted 'Memel Gebeit' for internal service only. I hope you continue the department for juniors. I am thirteen and have most all the stamps of Memel. I collect Hungary, United States, Iceland, first-day and first-flight covers of the U. S., and precancels galore. I wish you good luck."

Pies

At the top of page 729 in the new Scott's catalog are the two words NINE PIES in large capitals. Now this may at first thought be taken for a bakery sign. Not this time. It is a surcharge on one of the reeent stamps of India. There are apple pies, prune pies, custard pies, etc., and India pies. India pies are not like the pies we eat. They are money. The coin of India is the rupee and this is divided into sixteen annas and each anna is divided into twelve pies. That is how we get our India pies. As one anna is worth about 2c in American money, one pie would then be worth one-sixth of a cent. In other words, we could buy six pies for one cent, but not the choice kinds that mother makes!

Tom Tracy and "F18598"

Tom sends us a 5c Ericsson and asks us what the "F." stands for and almost in the same mail came this from Sevard, dealing with letters on panes:—

"The initials appearing on the S. E. pane are those of the transferrer, and the initials appearing on the S. W. pane are those of the plate finisher," says a recent letter from the Third Assistant Postmaster General. This is in connection with platemen initials found in S. E. and S. W. corners of flat bed plates.

The F before an N. E. top plate number is used to indicate a finished plate, one that is hardened and burnished. Mr. Barrett stated this some years ago, but it bears repetition. No doubt, Mr. Barrett's booklet on the 3c violet is being neglected by many."

Educational Value of Stamps

Geography can be learned in the very pleasantest manner, for there are thousands of examples in existence from which some ideas of the geography of a country may be gained.

A number of map stamps may be found, giving us the shapes of countries. Then we may find the different races of mankind, white, red, brown and yellow intelligently depicted. These races mu work and produce various things in orde that they may live, and we can fin farmers, blacksmiths, miners, fisherme etc., all hard at work on hundreds of di ferent postage stamps. The articles pr duced, wheat, fruit, ivory, cotton, suga and coal have to be transported fro place to place, and the different metho of transport, mule, motor, bullock, came ships and rail are excellent illustratio by many countries. It is quite easy to fi several album sheets with a miniatu fleet and the various types of locomotive found on postage stamps.

Flowers, fruits, beasts, fishes and eve insects are to be found, and these, to gether with the wonderful scenery de picted on many stamps make a trul delightful show.—Postage Stamp.

"A Percevoir" on France

An inscription found upon the postag due stamps of France and its colonies an the first set issued in Belgium. Tran lated literally it means "to receive" or "t collect" and refers, of course, to the su to be collected on the delivery of insu ficiently stamped letters.

TEMPEST OVER THE NEW GERMANS

The Reichs Post Office is about to issue a new series of postage stamps bearing the heads of famous Germans. The head of Schiller is to appear on the new 5 pfennig stamp, those of Goethe, Lessing, and Kant on stamps of other denominations. The 10 pfennig stamp is to bear the head of Frederick the Great. This choice has aroused the indignation of the Republicans, and in particular the wrath of the Bavarians, against Herr Stingl, the Minister of Posts.

The Republicans opened the attack. They declared that the selection of Frederick's head to grace the 10 pfennig stamp was mere pandering to the recent revival of the Fredericus Rex cult on the film screen. The number of cinematograph romances woven round the life of the Prussian hero during the last twelve months has certainly been remarkable. The Republicans were inclined to deprecate the whole scheme, on the ground that the great Germans chosen had no need of such advertisement, and that in any case the idea was no longer original, having been put into effect in various other countries.

The Ministry has made various attempts to defend its scheme. It has explained, for instance, that the most widely used stamp has been ear-marked for Schiller, and that the 10 pf. stamp has been reserved for the head of Frederick the Great because it is used mainly in long distance correspondence within Germany, and is little used on letters with foreign destinations. Apart from the hint that the Ministry does not feel that the stamp would be pleasing to foreign recipients of letters from Germany, this explanation is hardly calculated to appease the Bavarians, whose correspondence from Prussia will presumably be franked mainly with 10pf stamps.

The Bavarian Press is taking the scheme as Prussian provocation. The Bayerische Kurier the organ of the Bavarian People's Party, says that the appearance of Frederick's picture on a Reichs stamp would not be understood in South Germany. It thinks there have been other princes whose heads would be better chosen as representatives of the German idea. The only people, it suggests, who have any cause to be interested in the present Fredericus cult are those who are still striving for a "great Prussia." Does the Frederick stamps perhaps mean that everything in the Reich is already Prussianized and that a great Prussia has already taken the place of the old German Reich? What, asks the Kurier, in conclusion, would Berlin say if the head of a Bavarian king, say Ludwig I, whose outlook was more German than Frederick's, appeared on a Reichs stamp?

The strangest feature of this controversy is that Herr Stingl, the Minister concerned, is himself a Bavarian, and represents the Bavarian People's Party in the Reichs Cabinet.—London Times.

FIVE YEAR HONOR CLUB

Stanley B. Ineson, Glen Cove, N. Y.

We are greatly indebted to Ira L. Minneman of Fairview, Kans., for a remittance of $5.00 for membership in our Honor Club. This means a five years' renewal of subscription to the WEEKLY, and we trust other subscribers will follow the example set by Mr. Minneman.

In taking out his membership in the Honor Club, Stanley B. Ineson of Glen Cove, N. Y., asks us to name some stamp society which an average collector could join and whose membership number would be serviceable for reference purposes. We have no hesitation in recommending both the American Philatelic Society and the Society of Philatelic Americans, whose advertisements are found in our columns.

Philatelic Agency

During a recent visit to the Philatelic Agency, I noted the unusual congestion of orders for stamps and on inquiry I found that approximately five hundred orders were for practically all varieties of stamps on hand as a result of circulars passed out at the International Philatelic Exhibition in New York. These orders greatly over-taxed the facilities of the Agency, with the result that at the time of this writing they are two weeks in arrears.

The Agency closes the year with the largest quarter in its history, as the sales will no doubt approximate $70,000.00 for the three months ending December 30th. Arrangements will shortly be made for enlarging their present quarters and possibly two or three more clerks will be added to the force.

They are receiving numerous letters asking for the White Plains stamp from plate No. 18772. I would again inform our readers that impressions from this plate do not exist, as all of the stamps printed at the Exhibition, in addition to the plate itself, have been destroyed.

In writing the Agency for anything, will our readers please bear in mind their over-crowded condition and appreciate that you cannot order stamps today and expect them a few days later? The end of the year is almost here, when it will be necessary to close down a day or two for inventory. Remember that all letters as they arrive at the Agency are numbered and that the first come are first served with no favoritism shown to anyone. Those of us who get our stamps early do not depend upon the Agency direct, but find it necessary to write to an agent in Washington who can pick them up on the day of issue, for cash customers at the window are naturally given first preference.

1c 1922 Perf. 11 Rotary

I doubt whether there is a stamp of the 20th century United States which is more often found on a dealer's want list than the 1c current design perforated 11, the product of the rotary press, Scott's No. 594. So many collectors are writing relative to this stamp that further information at this time may be of interest. This variety along with the 2c were made from the imperforate rotary coil waste, which in turn was passed through the regular perforating machine. The 2c was issued first and the supply, which has since become exhausted, was sold through the Philatelic Agency, as well as the New York post office. The 1c appeared unheralded and having been shown a used copy, I investigated at the Bureau and found that a supply had been distributed many months back. None, however, passed through the Agency, and it is surmised that this supply went through New York and Chicago. Used copies which are scarce have been seen, but as yet none have been turned up in mint condition.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of November 26th, t Second Assistant Postmaster General a nounces that effective at the close business on November 30th, contract a mail route No. 15 between Philadelph via Washington to Norfolk, Va., and r turn will be temporarily suspended. will be recalled that this is the origin Sesqui-Centennial route which was run during the life of the Philadelph Exhibition.

It may interest our readers to kno that on the same day, November 30t the Model Post Office at the Sesqu Centennial Exposition was closed and mail was cancelled after 6 P. M. on tha date. I am informed that about thre hundred last day covers were se through by collectors. This interestin date no doubt slipped the attention many.

Canal Zone

I learn through one of my correspond ents who is well versed upon the subje that in the case of the Canal Zone ove prints, so far we have located the follow ing errors in surcharge on the currer issue of United States: The 1c gree comes both with inverted surcharge, a well as the stamp showing "Zone" i verted. The "Zone Zone" error is foun on the 3c purple, the 5c blue, the 10c yel low, the 15c gray and the 1c and 2c Post age Due. There are rumors from th Zone that the 17c and 20c also exist wit the latter overprint and while this in formation has been given in letters fro a correspondent in the Zone, I know o no one in this country who has definitel seen these two last stamps.

Philippines

Mention was made in this column las week of information that had come t hand relative to a Philippine commemora tive series. The Bureau of Insular Af fairs at Washington who have charge o Philippine matters know nothing abou the issuing of such stamps. If they hav been placed on sale, they were no doub produced locally, for had they bee printed at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing, requisition would have gon through the Bureau of Insular Affairs They write me that they have cable Manila for information and when this i available, I will be glad to more fully inform our readers.

BELGIUM.—We have received from M Gisquière the design of the new Charity stamps. This has the inscription "BEL GIQUE" at top, on either side a wide border

A Prize For Chinese Stamps!!

This big silver cup was specially made by the Chinese Philatelic Society for presentation to the winner in the class for Chinese stamps at the International Philatelic Exhibition, Oct., 1926, New York. In case there is no winner in the class for Chinese stamps, it can be used for the winner in the classes for Shanghai, Hongkong, Siam, Japan or Korean stamps. In order to qualify for the cup, the winner must, at least, have an exhibit that would entitle him to receive a silver medal from the Exhibition. The order of procedure is as follows: In case there is no winner in the class for Shanghai stamps, it will, in turn, be competed for by those who have exhibits in the classes for Hongkong, Siam, Japan and Korean stamps.

The cup is at present on exhibit at Mr. C. J. Phillips, 10 West 86th Street, New York, and will be presented by that gentleman to the winner in behalf of the Society. This arrangement is due to the fact that according to the regulations of the International Philatelic Exhibition, "No donations of trophies, other than medals, be accepted and no medal will be accepted for use in any particular class." Therefore, the Chinese Philatelic Society, acting independently, takes this means of arousing interest in the collecting of Chinese and Far Eastern stamps.

The Chinese Philatelic Society is the only organization devoted exclusively to the Chinese and Far Eastern stamps. If anybody should wish to have further information, it can be obtained by buying a copy of the "Philatelic Bulletin," the official organ of this Society and issued quarterly. Each number usually contains about 70 pages, with articles in both Chinese and English. This journal is extremely attractive, both in appearance and in the quality of the articles. The editor of this "Bulletin" is Mr. M. D. Chow, who is the most prominent philatelist and authority on the philatelic world of China and Far Eastern countries.

Price for single copies: G$ .40 or 1s 6d, postage extra.
Annual subscription: G$1.50 or 6sh, postage extra.
Agent in U. S. A.: B. W. H. POOLE, 620 Washington Building, Los Angeles, California.
Agents in England: F. HUGH VALLANCEY, 89 Farringdon Street, London, E. C. 4.
HARRIS PUBLICATIONS LTD., 46 Victoria Street, London, S. W. 1.

Sample copy can be supplied on application to the agents or the Society, 141 Seymour Road, Shanghai, China.

Unfortunately, this Cup did not arrive until the Exhibition was over, as it was detained in the U. S. Customs.

The President of the Exhibition, Mr. Charles Lathrop Pack, has decided that this Cup has been won by Mr. James Starr of Philadelphia for his Exhibits of China and Chinese Treaty Ports.

AUCTION SALES

We are now booking single rare items and collections for our Spring Sales. If you have anything to sell, it will pay you to get into communication with us.

FRANK P. BROWN CO., 5 Bromfield St., BOSTON, MASS.

brown, 65c grey, 75c carmine, 80c bistre brown, 1fr black and 1¼fr blue. Mr. Hooreman also sends the set with the usual surcharge "Official" in black. We are also indebted to Victor Fischer for specimens of this issue.

New Zealand.—Our Melbourne contemporary notifies the 9d value in a dull shade, and the 4d and 5d imperforate, while the following paper varieties have been recently discovered:—Jones paper: 3s long fiscal, 1d Postage Due. Cowan paper: 2s, 3s long fiscals, ½d, 1d, 2d Postage Dues.—Stamp Collecting.

Paraguay.—The Economist Stamp Co. report the appearance of the 75c blue, issue of 1913, with the surcharge "Habilitado en 15 ctvos" in three lines in red and the 5c light blue, of 1921, with the overprint "Habilitado en 1 centavo" in three lines in black.

Persia.—We learn from Mr. R. W. Grey (quoted in the Monthly Journal) that the design of the new portrait stamps is by Mokhber es Saltaneh, the frame being a poor copy of that of the 1907-8 issue. The engraver is Sani us Sultan, and the printers the Mejliss Press, Teheran. All low values of the 1909 issue with the recent overprint are exhausted in Teheran. Messrs. Gibbons add that Messrs. Enschéde & Co. are preparing a new regular issue, which is not expected for some months.—Stamp Collecting.

Tunis.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us a new set of stamps of 20 values recently placed on sale in this colony. The colors and values are as follows: 1c orange, 2c olive, 3c greenish blue, 5c light green, 10c magenta, all of the designs picturing an Arab woman, drawn by Verecque and engraved by Mignon; 15c grayish blue, 20c brown red, 25c green, 30c lilac, 40c brown, showing the Grand Mosque of Tunis, designed by Proust and engraved by Delzers; 50c dark grey, 75c red orange, 80c blue green, 1fr lilac brown. Mosque of the Palace Kalfaonine at Tunis, designed by Perdrant and engraved by Daussy; 1fr05c blue and magenta, 1fr25c light blue and dark blue, 2fr rose red and brown; 3fr blue and orange, 5fr orange and green on greenish and 10fr red brown and black on grey, all of oblong format showing the Coliseum of El Diem, designed by Dabadie and engraved by Hourriez. We also learn from Yvert & Tellier Supplement that a new set of fifteen values for pre-paying postage on parcels will be issued shortly. All the denominations are in the same design representing "the gathering of dates" designed by Friedling and engraved by Froment. The values are: 5c brown and blue, 10c carmine and lilac, 20c yellow green and black, 25c brown and black, 40c carmine and green, 50c lilac and black, 60c olive brown and carmine, 75c violet blue and green, 80c red and brown, 1fr green and rose, 2fr lilac and violet brown, 4fr carmine and black, 5fr brown violet and violet, 10fr red and green on greenish, and 20fr yellow, green and violet on rose.

PRESENTING ASHLEY LE DUC

For some months the name of Ashley C. Le Duc has been seen regularly in our columns as an advertiser. Our readers have gotten acquainted with it, and we are very glad that we can make his personality a little more real through the accompanying picture.

Mr. Le Duc is A. P. S. 5938 and P. S. S. 195. While carrying a general stock, he is particularly fond of precancels and specializes in them.

The Managing Editor has invoked Mr. Le Duc's aid in preparing copy for the Juniors' Page, and some of the short snappy articles to be found there may be credited to him. His address is 800 No. Broome St., Wilmington, Del.

CANCELS AND SLOGANS

By Sevard.

We have had more difficulty filling in our page of White Plains used copies than with other delectable issues. We trust everyone is saving them to help future generations.

Anachronisms are errors of judgment as well. Our gas company can be relied on to produce on its mail almost any issue, and we wonder if many old stamps in O. G. condition are tucked away to be used in later years for gas bills? Our silent area feels a coagulation at seeing an 1869 Franklin cancelled Air Mail Saves Time. The 2c brown and certain Columbians are finding their way to the next generation and depreciated abuse. The old print collector knows this well.

Often we find a single line small cap rubber dispatch mark "Mailed on Rural Route." Such marks are only found on packages which are placed in R. F. D. boxes. Such dispatch mark will account for the unusual rates noted on some packages, including the unusual postage due. I have only noted this mark once as a cancel.

But one that usually cancels is "This Is the Mail You Sent for." It is a two-line small cap rubber mark. It cancels the stamps used to forward the mail.

Of all the dispatch marks, such as "Fragile," "Special Delivery," "Insured," only one is common as a cancel, and that is "Registered" in black, red, magenta, violet and blue inks.

At times, clerks pick out the wrong cancel and hit an M. O. B. or Parcels Post on a letter. Worse still are those old cancels which come to light during heavy mailing periods. We expect a few Recd and some C, D, R and T machine marks at Christmas time. One wonders where some Chicago clerk found the old 31mm thin-line regulation he used last year.

Which reminds us that targets and corks are still plentiful in the country post offices. All that I have seen are the four-ring 19mm targets and the quadrant, sextant and octant corks. We call them corks, but they really aren't!

And our most prolific stamp—the 2c red—flat, perf. 11, 1923 by heritage, finds itself with only about 1.5% in unwieldy cancels, known as smudges. The 3c green of 1879 shows a 26% figure in unidentifiable cancels, which all tells us how careful the inspectors are these days. Pen cancels today are often found, but they rate about the same as the errors mentioned above.

Since the "Air Mail" slogan box was cut large, one finds more cancels of that slogan than any other, even though the "Address Your Mail" and "Register and Insure" are of longer use.

Clean-up Week is a failure! Efficiency experts decided to tear off the fringes on sheets of stamps to keep the local post office lobby clean, so that local plate numb collectors are worse off than ever! A plate numbers do teach arithmetic!

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections, dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:

"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:

"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!

OLD AND NEW

Mr. R. T. Harris, Chicago, reports the loss or theft from his office on LaSalle St., a small collection of "United States, early issues, and British colonials, also a few U. S. revenues." The stamps were in a 6 x 8 loose-leaf binder that contained stamps to the catalogue value of about one thousand dollars. A full sheet of 6c Interior unused and a Brazil, A39a, invert, were distinctive items. A reward is offered by Mr. Harris for the recovery of the stamps.

Mr. G. C. Rheinfrank, Chicago, is now much at home in California, no doubt, he having been there for some time, now, since adventuring from Chicago, where he had built up a flourishing stamp business. Mr. Rheinfrank is a former Chautauquan who was one of the best lecturers on the circuit.

The boys are in the saddle and we must keep them there. Mr. Melville said of the recent Exhibition that one result undoubtedly would be an increase in the number of young collectors; and from all sides come the shouts of the boys for recognition. Let us all give the boys and girls real attention.

Hats off to Selby Noel Mayfield, who spreads himself in the Times-Picayune of New Orleans with a great stamp article, "Stamp Collecting Becomes Big Business," that not alone is well-written but illustrated with a striking lot of early U. S. cancellations. The time was when we could have made much capital out of an article such as this, but nowadays, publicity in the press is the accepted thing.

Who can help the Secretary of the Sacramento Stamp Society, Mr. Walter N. Baker, 1314 O Street, Sacramento, California, who asks us for papers suitable for reading before his club? We have given away everything of this nature to applicants on our list for material for radio talks; and there are a dozen of requests for matter of the kind that we have not acknowledged, even.

In Adventure for September, Mr. H. Bedford-Jones tells of variations from the rules of rigging on the Norse-American with the voice of an expert and shows a deep knowledge of craft and their fittings in his findings.

Writing from Hendersonville, N. C., our sharp-witted friend, Mr. H. R. Faison, has something to say: "As an engineer, I would like a little more light on the forty-eight hour handicap that they are going to hang on the west-bound postal card in the 'round-the-world' race. It reads something like Einstein's Theory of Relativity to us old-timers. My suggestion is to have Dr. Amundsen take one around by the North Pole and the other by the South Pole, along longitudinal meridians, the object of the race being to see whether the post cards get back before Dr. Amundsen starts."

The International Mercantile Marine Company is long on perspicacity. In sending out folders of winter cruises, the company accompanies the interesting literature with a letter, the first paragraph of which reads: "After reading all about the wonderful things of Stampdom on view at the Philatelic Exhibition held recently (perhaps you were as fortunate as the writer to be able to see them), has it not occurred to you what a pleasure and relaxation would be a trip to one of the many corners of the earth from which these treasures were gathered?" Mr. O. G. Reichelt is the philatelist in the general passenger service of the I. M. M. Company.

The Treasure Chest is a high-grade publication "for California boys and girls" that should be appreciated. In the November issue there is an announcement that Mr. Norman Shepard will have charge of the stamp page, beginning with the next number, and inasmuch as Mr. Shepard broadcasts every Tuesday evening on Station KTAB, he is a philatelic celebrity on the Pacific slope, where his Radio Stamp Club is not unknown to fame.

The following clipping from a Philadelphia newspaper was received some time ago:

"All local records for heavy postage were broken last night when clerks at the central post office affixed nearly $150 worth of stamps to a package for San Francisco.

Under Federal regulations, the post office authorities are debarred from revealing the nature of the package, the sender or the person to whom it was addressed.

The air mail rate to San Francisco is twenty-four cents an ounce, or almost four dollars a pound, and the weight of the package was about thirty-nine pounds.

The highest denomination stamp is $5, and it was necessary to open the post office safe to get a supply of these rarely used stamps, as none are kept at the stamp windows. When the stamps had been affixed the package was fairly plastered with them. As no San Francisco planes stop near Philadelphia, the package was sent to New York, where it was trans-shipped for the journey across the continent."

THE WORLD'S AIRWAYS

An American sporting aviator, accompanied by a Canadian flight officer, completed the first trans-Canadian trip to be made by a single machine on September 19th. The trip began at Montreal, on September 11th, included a flight over the heart of the Rockies, and finished the last lap of 700 miles to the Columbian coast in less than eight hours.

Three officers and a mechanic of the Royal Australian Air Force are making a flight to Samoa, via the southern Pacific Islands. They left Sydney on September 29th, and at the time of going to press, we learn that, passing northwards over Queensland, they had left Thursday Island for Port Moresby, New Guinea, on October 11th.

A sentence of fifteen days under arrest has been passed on an Argentine aviator who, a few hours before the Buenos Aires elections, flew over the city distributing political leaflets, thus infringing, writes Mr. A. H. Davis, an Argentine electoral law.

After an absence of just over two months, the German Lufthansa expedition to the Far East arrived in Berlin, on September 26. It has thoroughly surveyed the route, as far as Pekin, for the projected London-Berlin-Moscow-Urga-Pekin-Tokyo service. It is estimated that the distance between Berlin and Pekin could be flown in two and a half days, as compared with the seventeen days required for the journey by rail. If initiated, the line would first be used for mails, and it is interesting to note that small mails were actually carried between different points during the survey.

An International Aero Exhibition at Prague has been arranged to be held in September, 1927.

The greater part of the bullion conveyed between London and Europe, states the British Air Minister, is carried by air, and the greatest part of the new model dresses come regularly by air from Paris.

The Lufthansa, which is responsible for the service between Berlin and Marseilles, is considering an extension of this line to Madrid. A Spanish subsidiary of the air company would be formed, and seaplanes would be used on the Marseilles-Barcelona section.

In connection with the above proposed route, a scheme has, for some years, been under the consideration of the Zeppelin Airship Works for an airship service from Seville to Buenos Aires, a distance of over 6,000 miles. 1929 is the year suggested for its inauguration. Such a trip could be made in four-and-a-half days, as compared with the present fast steamer time of twenty days.

An air survey is being made of the western coast-line of the Federated Malay States, according to the "Malay Mail." The postal authorities are giving close attention to the possibilities of local airmail developments, especially after the first successful mail flight from Singapore, which they think should be the precursor to a regular Penang—Singapore—Java service.

A correspondent of the "British Guiana Philatelist" reports that a committee has been formed to enquire into the possibilities of a permanent air service, to link up the British West Indies and Jamaica. Letters have also been sent to local corporations inviting their interest and co-operation.

Can anyone supply us with information regarding airmail said to have been carried across Canada, from Nova Scotia to Vancouver, in October, 1920, when the mails were transferred from one machine to another at Lake Winnipeg?

A sum of £45,000 has been allocated by the Peruvian Congress for the establishment of a seaplane service up the Huallaga and Pachitea rivers, with the assistance of a United States Naval Mission. It is thus hoped to improve communications between the capital and Iquitos.

The Acting District Director of the American Immigration Service at Los Angeles states that aeroplanes have from time to time, been captured while smuggling liquor over the border from Mexico. So far, none have been captured during an attempt to smuggle aliens in the same way.

Among the airmail services from London that have been suspended for the winter months are the direct London-Marseilles - Paris - Vienna, and beyond, Cologne-Munich, London-Berlin-Konigsberg, the morning flight London-Paris-Zurich, the Swiss parcels airmail, and the Moscow-Kharkov routes. — The Aero Field.

COMERS

Because I entertain a fellow-feeling for collectors of all things, and especially budding ones in the stamp world, I attended the bi-monthly meeting of the Boys' Stamp Club at the Hyde Park (Chicago) Y. M. C. A. on the afternoon of November 19th. This particular meeting was addressed by the Editor of the WEEKLY, and I know he must have felt his effort well rewarded when he looked into the twenty-two eager young faces before him. The blase and opinionated were not present in this group. They reminded me of a handful of live wires spluttering at the ends. The best of us were stumped for a moment when a youthful enthusiast jumped to his feet requesting information regarding a foreign stamp he had recently seen. It was described as having "a cupid with wings on it"—grey in color; a vivid mental album is necessary in order to keep pace with such rapid fire inquiries.

The club was organized three years ago, and Mr. Hans Heuman, the helmsman, is deserving of worthy mention.—R.A.C.

PERHAPS YOU DO NOT BELIEVE IT!!! BUT IT IS SO!!!

Our Washington Letter

Stamp Collectors Presented With a New U. S. Variety At a Modest Price

By PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

MENTION was made last week that the Bureau of Engraving & Printing had recently concluded experiments whereby the perforations on the rotary stamps issued in flat sheets and booklet panes would be produced with a new perforation, resulting in the stamps separating more readily. I now learn that the 2c with this new perforation will be placed on sale in Washington between the 10th and 15th of December and that a substantial supply of several millilon which are ready for distribution will no doubt be sent to New York and other post offices. It is expected that the other denominations will appear sometime after the first of the year.

In Scott's Monthly Journal for November, mention is made of the fact that the small sheets of the White Plains stamps printed at the International Philatelic Exhibition, were rushed by aeroplane to Washington where they were perforated in the usual way and were despatched back to New York. They further state that one hundred thousand sheets of these stamps were printed on the hand roller press. Both of these statements are inaccurate and should be corrected before the information becomes general. None of the stamps printed at the International Philatelic Exhibition were perforated nor were they sold to the public either in New York or in Washington. As the few sheets were printed day by day, they were put away in the safe at the branch Agency in New York and at the termination of the Exhibition, each and every sheet so printed was returned to Washington and destroyed along with the plate.

The small sheets that were on sale at the Exhibition were printed, perforated and gummed at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing before the Exhibition took place and were in the hands of the branch Agency at the time the Exhibition opened. They were not produced on the hand roller press but were produced on the standard type of flat bed press used by the Bureau for flat plate varieties.

The same article states that there was pressure brought to bear upon the Department to have these stamps issued in imperforate condition but that they refused. The actual facts are that the Department was willing to place the imperforate sheets on sale and the matter was left in the hands of the committee in charge of the International

WHAT ELSE DO YOU NEED IN U. S. AND COLONIES?

H. F. COLMAN, 509 Seventh St., N. W., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Philatelic Exhibition to decide whether they would be so issued or not. The committee, of which the writer was a member and happened to be present, voted adversely, and as a result these stamps did not appear in imperforate condition.

It may be well to go on record in stating that the co-operation between the Department and the committee was such that the Department granted practically every reasonable request made. In printing stamps outside of the Bureau, they broke a precedent and I understand that this is the first time in the history of the Department that a plate for printing securities left the Bureau. The plate was guarded day and night by the Government and every sheet that was printed was carefully watched.

Numerous communications have been received relative to the new 10c air mail stamp which Mr. Warren Irving Glover stated in New York might appear when the flat rate of 10c per half ounce for air mail communications becomes effective. The Department has not officially decided upon such a new stamp as yet and it is quite possible that the current 10c air mail stamp will be at least temporarily used, if not permanently employed.

Right at the present time with Congress convening, the Postmaster General is receiving numerous suggestions for new issues, such as one showing a portrait of Luther Burbank. Of course, every suggestion naturally receives consideration but at the present time there is nothing definite but only rumors.

1910 Plate Varieties

I recently acquired a small collection of plate blocks and similar varieties gotten together by the late General C. A. Coolidge. In the little lot I note a couple of odd things worthy of mention, as I have not seen the varieties heretofore.

It is noted that on star plate No. 5493 which produced the 1c 1910, that in the southwest pane the entire first vertical row of stamps was no doubt produced from a defective transfer roll, for there is a break in the right outer frame line on each stamp. This same plate shows two vertical lines running the entire length of the margin on the left. These are guide lines aiding in the transfer of the subject from the transfer roll to the plate and should have been so light that they would have been unnoticeable. These, however, were no doubt cut by an amateur and are very distinct.

A block with sheet margins from the upper left corner of the 3c 1910, star plate No. 5637 show the initials of the employee who transferred the plate to the left of the first stamp instead of in the lower left or right hand corner as usual. Different markings not only of the one who transferred but the plate printer as well formerly occupied the entire left margin but it is odd to find these initials in such a place on varieties as late as 1910.

Air Mail Notes

Under date of December 2nd the Postmaster General announced that the Department is endeavoring to arrange its transcontinental air mail service so that but one business day will be necessary for mail in transit between the Atlantic and Pacific coast. He states that the feat will be recorded when the entire route is lighted. Already the way is lighted from New York to Salt Lake City and Congress is expected to provide at the present short session, funds for the completion of the last leg.

When this fact is accomplished, planes will be enabled to leave New York and San Francisco at the close of the business day instead of in the morning as at present, to deposit mail on the opposite side of the continent in time for early delivery on the second morning. Saturday's mail on such a schedule would be delivered Monday morning, giving to New York business mail destined to the Pacific coast the same service it would get if addressed to Brooklyn.

During the fiscal year ending June 30th last, planes flying at night carried mail on Government operated lines nearly one million miles. Total milage flown both day and night amounted to an excess of two and one quarter million miles. Contract routes none of which were operated prior to February 15th added a mileage of nearly 400,000 miles. The total excess postage received for air mail transport during the year amounted to $861,-865.05, an increase slightly in excess of a quarter million dollars over the preceding year. During the same fiscal year, United States mails were carried over approximately 230,000 miles of railroad at a cost of $106,656,368.00. Mails were carried over 8,205 miles of electric railroads and 46,871 miles by power boats.

Postage Stamps Used as Revenues.

In my chronicle of November 29th, mention was made of the finding of a 2c 1875 with black printed cancellation reading "Piso's Cure for Consumption."

Mr. F. H. Smith advises that he has the 1c blue, issue of 1882, with a similar overprint.

Canal Zone

Mr. R. C. Carter kindly sends a copy of the "Star & Herald" issued in Panama on November 27th, where announcement is made that at 5:36 P. M., Friday, November 26th, the naval seaplane PN-10 No. 2 gracefully landed at Coco Solo, thus completing their flight seventy-three hours and fifteen minutes after she had hopped off at Norfolk, Va. Commander Bartlett brought with him a package of sixty-eight letters which he turned over to Mr. G. D. Bliss, the postmaster at Cristobal, who hastened to the local post office, backstamped them and arranged for their delivery. The first letter was addressed to the Director of Posts, Mr. C. H. Calhoun, and the last addressed to Commander Bartlett himself. I have not as yet seen any of these covers —hence, cannot advise as to the post markings.

ANOTHER BOOK WORTH WHILE
A neglected stamp but one showing many interesting minor varieties is the 12c black of 1851-57. It has been worked out by Lt. Col. J. K. Tracy, in collaboration with Stanley B. Ashbrook. It is somewhat smaller than the 1c book by Mr. Ashbrook but covers the field very satisfactorily. From it you may learn of the various shifts, recuts, and side-line varieties.
Well worth while, and costs but $1.00, post free.

THE FORUM—UNITED STATES ISSUES 1847-70

By H. P. ATHERTON, 1562 Main St., Springfield, Mass.

Devoted to United States postage stamps, 1847-1870 only. Cancellations, Minor Varieties, Rates, and all interesting Material and Data welcomed. Your accompanying letters are subject to entry in this Column in whole or in part. Return postage and registration requested with all sendings.

This week we come to a real "Find," and I'm going to tell you all about the United States section of it right now as I have all the material before me.

Back in the late '50s and early '60s there was a big ship owner company with main offices at Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. There were many ships belonging to the firm, and much of the correspondence bears these ship names in mss. at top left of the covers, or folded letters, the latter being mostly in use at that time.

Among the ships' names, which have quite an appeal to me, were The White Swan, The Airdale, The Telegraph, The Havilah, The Lady Bird, The Oscar, The Aldinga, The City of Hobart, The Royal Shepherd, The London, The Hellespont, The City of Sydney, The Queen, The Governor General, The Shannock, The Rangatira, The Pacific, The Sir John Harvey, The City of Melbourne, The Omeo, The Aldinga, the Yarra Yarra, and the Wonga Wonga, and others.

When one first looks at a large accumulation of these old covers, all bearing old Australian stamps in singles, pairs, strips and combinations, it fairly takes the breath right out of one! First you see the beautiful stamps, of course, then you begin to study the rates, the combinations with issues overlapping each other to make correct rates, the rich colors, and only after a first survey do the mss. annotations catch your eye.

Fancy this fleet of sailing vessels all at anchor in the beautiful harbor of Melbourne, doesn't it make you want to go back to those days, and take a run down to the old Harbor to welcome them all when they are called in to a general meeting of the entire flotilla? I'd like to be there right now, and after the exhibition I would try to book passage back to the U. S. A. on the Wonga Wonga, even if it took me out of the way a few thousand miles, for that name somehow catches my fancy more than any of the other well selected christenings.

Well, we are now back in the U. S. A., and as this Forum is devoted to stamps of the U. S., I will peg along with the very few items that turned up in this correspondence with our own stamps on them, tho' I'll say that early Australians have a very entrancing "kick" to them now.

These old covers are all filed on sheets of heavy ledger paper, and then assembled into big volumes, glued in. Some stamp enthusiasts had access to these many, many years ago; but fortunately they are not the vandals of today, merely cutting a stamp off the cover here and there, it probably not being represented in their collection. So that the accumulation is intact so far as the general run of the stamps go. It is rather disturbing to see a beautiful 24c 1857 hit with thin red bars sitting pretty all by its little lonesome, with glaring holes alongside where the other stamps were removed, and then the lone strip of 15c '69s is a sad souvenir of what it was in its original position on a pretty cover, each hit with a delicate "Cross Roads" cancellation.

The rate to Australia in 1857 period of our stamps was most assuredly 33 cents. There are some strips of the common 10c '57 used with the 3c '57 to make that rate, and then the rest are made up with a single 30c and a 3c, which is a pretty combination, especially with the neat red grids which New York City handed to its covers at that time.

One of the prettiest covers of this '57 period bears a 30c and a 3c, with mss. note, "Overland via Southampton." The mailing mark is Richmond, Va., and the obliteration across the two stamps is a cross grid with no outer frame. It appears as tho' this grid were made as shown, for each stamp is struck by the same identical form of grid, which would not mean a double hit on each stamp. It is a very odd cancellation, and one I have never seen used from this town.

Always the best thing is held till last, this is a cover starting from Lynchburg, Va., with a printed PAID 10 at top left. (If it were at the right it might(?) be a Local, so they say, in articles on How to Tell Confederate Locals.) The letter reaches Louisville, Ky., in a way which we are permitted to surmise as not being in the regular line of mail at that time! There is a 3c '57 with black circular pmk. reading "ADAMS EXPRESS COMPANY, LOUISVILLE" with date under the second 3c '57 which was applied by that same Adams Express Co. at Louisville. This stamp is hit by a blue grid of seven splashy bars, and no outer ring. Whether it was applied by the Express Co. or the Post Office, I do not know; but I imagine it was applied by the Post Office, as the P. O. pmk. is alongside, reading Louisville, Ky., Aug. 10, while the blue Adams Express Co. pmk. does not touch the stamps at all, and is dated Aug. 3, presumably the day it got through to their office. Thenceforth all was plain sailing to the office of this Shipowners Co. in their New York office. These "Thro the Lines" letters were carried somehow by Adams Express Co. There is no doubt that their being carried thro the lines was illegal, and very few have been noted. One other that I have record of shows that it went thro Louisville on July 8th, '61, having started from New Orleans. Quite possibly this exchange of mail was stopped by the U. S. government soon after this letter ran the gauntlet, for I have no records of any going thro at a later date.

Box 936, NEW KENSINGTON, PA.

It looks as tho this letter had been folded just twice, it would make a little wad of paper about 1¼" by 2½" if it were so folded, and it was perhaps so small that it was "overlooked" by the inspector who examined such incoming effects in Louisville at that time.

The postage shown as having been paid is 10c at Lynchburg, and then the two 3c stamps, both at Louisville. Total, 16c. That's not all, there is a mss. note "Paid," and a funny curlicue that looks like 2, and a slanting bar, with a C under it. I rather doubt if the C means "Centuries" ($100.00); but no 16c ever took that letter from Lynchburg, Va., thro the lines to New York! It would be most interesting to find an authentic record of the workings of the Adams Express Co. at that time.

That ends up the '57s in this find. The 1861s are represented by a nice looking cover, being mailed with a 30c, a 10c, and a lively shade of the 5c mustard, you see the rate has now been raised to Australia, being 45c. The 5c mustard with the deeper color of the 30c on a blue cover, mixed in with a green stamp, and red grids all over the stamps, makes a picture!

And to complete the picture, we see a lightly cancelled copy of Commodore Perry, his unclouded visage keenly eyeing the vast open spaces to the westward, as tho still on the lookout for a hostile sail, even from the postage stamp! Tis a pretty picture. Enough.

3c 1851 COVERS

By W. W. McLAREN.

During the past six years I have found over 4,000 of these, all but two lots being from original source, and frequently along with the unstamped mail of the same period. It should be kept in mind that during the years this stamp was in use, the prepayment of postage was optional, also that many people did not take kindly to the use of postage stamps, and the result was, that on a large portion of mail, stamps were not used.

This was especially true during 1851, while the orange brown was on sale. A large lot of business mail, which I picked up last March, contained 644 3c covers, and 279 covers without stamps of the same period.

The orange brown is much scarcer than the catalog value indicates. My observation is that they run only about 2% to 3%.

Fully 90% are ordinary so far as cancellations are concerned. These run as follows:—black town 60%, pen 25%, black grid 10%, blue town 5%.

I would divide the 10% as follows:—Red town 5%, odd postmark 3%, remaining 2%, green, orange, and odd cancellations.

Unusual cancellations, such as stars, straight line postmarks, steamboat, railroad, etc., are very unusual, and run less than 1%. My best find of these was made five years ago, seven Acadamia, Pa., with fancy star. So far as I can learn none of these have been seen before.

I have found but one 1852 year da and only two of the New York 1853. have some unusual and odd shaped po marks, but strange to say, none of th came in duplicate.

Plate varieties run, of course, in t same proportion as in unpicked lots loose copies.

Basing the following estimate on se eral large lots covering all of the '50 I believe it is fairly accurate as to t relative scarcity of the various yea printing—'51, 2%; '52, 5%; '53, 10 '54, 18%; '55, 22%; '56, 28%; '57, 15

As to condition, run of mine, or found" lots average as follows:—Fi 5%, good 20%, fair 40%, poor 20%, ve poor to worthless 15%.

Dr. Chase agrees with me in claimi that less than 5% come with margin all four sides.—Stamp Hunter.

NEWFOUNDLAND

I have just purchased a superb collection of Newfoundland formed by a Boston collector during the past twenty years.

The collection is in three Oriel Albums and is right up to date. The owner specially collected unused stamps and where he could obtain them, included of every stamp a single, pair, strip of three and a block of four. In the rare early issues he took fine used copies as well as unused. The following list gives but a small idea of the wealth of material in this collection:

1857. 1d on thick paper, 6 singles, 2 pairs, 2 strips of three and block of four.
" 1d medium to thin pp., 15 singles, block of four, and 5 used.

ALL MINT—WHAT DO YOU NEED IN ODD STAMPS FOR THESE ALBUMS?
METROPOLITAN STAMP CO., 1482 Broadway, N. Y. CITY

HERE AND THERE

WE are indebted to N. L. Levy for a recent issue of the Panama Star and Herald containing a report of the postal operations in the Canal Zone for the year ending June 30, 1926.

WE have received word from P. M. Wolsieffer that Pres. Wilhelm of the A. P. S. is on the mending hand from his recent operation for appendicitis. This news will be read with great interest by his many friends.

THE Rotnem Stamp Co., 809 Northwestern Bdg., Minneapolis, Minn., would like the present address of M. Mannist, formerly of Bloomfield, N. J.

A VERY handsome pricelist of sets of stamps has just been issued by the Metropolitan Stamp Co., 1482 Broadway, N. Y. City. The forty page booklet is freely illustrated and a sample copy will no doubt be sent on request.

C. D. REIMERS, Fort Worth, Texas, is spending some days at Mineral Wells, Texas. He advises us that he is having a rest, but if the truth be told it is probably an enforced one. Our readers will pardon any delay in correspondence.

A CHRISTMAS price list has been issued by M. T. Mauck, 911 Harlem Av., Balto., Md. Send for a copy. 22 pps. of bargain offerings.

NINETEEN splendid collections featured Exhibition Night of the Cincinnati Collectors Club, held Dec. 2 in conjunction with the regular bi-monthly meeting. The bronze medal for the best U. S. display went to Jack Cost, and his exhibit was so outstanding that it also won the gold medal for the best over all. A bronze award was given Paul Uhlmann for the finest general collection, and a similar prize was awarded Claude D. Millar for his Malta, the best foreign display. The judges were A. D. Fennell, editor of the American Philatelist, and S. W. Ritchey.—F. L. SCHMALZ.

"RECENTLY I received from Czechoslovakia a registered cover bearing a pair and single of the new 40h 'Orava' and a single 30h 'Pernstyn' perforated vertically only, possibly issued in coils, however my correspondent did not inform me. The cover also bore two new stamps, 2 and 3k values, about the size of our Liberty Bell stamp. The 2k is of a brilliant blue, while the 3k is a rich carmine, both have the same view of Praha, and very excellent engraving. I do not know whether these two new values are watermarked, as I have not removed them from their original cover."—PAUL BURGESS.

"IN the November 22 issue, page 637, there is an article on a new type of meter indicia. I have one of these, same permit, meter No. and company but with an earlier date, October 1."—GEO. BRETT.

THE PASSING OF THE SESQUI

WILLIAM M. MCFARLAN.

Now that the Sesqui is about to close we can look back and see just what part stamps had to play in the International Exhibition in Philadelphia which no doubt was visited by many stamp collectors both large and small.

The U. S. Government was very kind to stamp collectors in issuing the Liberty Bell stamp, also the Sesqui stamped envelope in three different sizes, all of which stamp collectors will want in their collections.

In the model Post Office one could see from an elevated platform all the workings of a most modern post office with all the latest in the way of labor saving devices in handling mail. There was a special postmark reading "Model Post Office Sesquicentennial International Exhibition" used on the electric cancelling machine.

For those who wanted covers sent by Registered Mail every effort for satisfying the wants of collectors was put forth by Mr. Fall at the Registry window where he would ask collectors just how they wanted the cancellation applied to their stamps and would show you various ways to have stamps cancelled on covers. The Registry postmark on the reverse was a circular oval with "Philadelphia, Pa." and date, while the bars to the right were interspaced with the words "Sesquicentennial International Exhibition" and were applied twice on the reverse of the envelope.

The stamp clerk on the stamp window knew what stamp collectors wanted. He would very willingly pick out well centered stamps, and plate numbers were saved for collectors. This window had on sale, besides the 2c and 3 sizes of Sesqui envelopes, the 1c and 2c Huguenot-Walloon, 5c Ericsson and 2c White Plains in addition to the regular stock of postage and air mail stamps.

All the various types of transportation of mail were shown, even to an aeroplane. All the United States and Philippine Islands as well as postage due, aeroplane and department stamps were on exhibition. Many of the older issues were on cardboard as die proofs, and the later issues were in blocks of 25, some of which looked quite valuable behind the glass; for instance, a block of 25 $5.00 stamps. This exhibition was contained in a cabinet with frame that would slide out.

In the transportation Building there was a modern mail car with many packages, bundles of letters and newspapers. One was permitted to walk thru the car, which was well lighted. Outside was a dog that had travelled many miles in various mail cars. A clerk was in attendance to sell the various stamps mentioned above.

The department had several frames of stamps in their printing department along with their exhibition of paper money.

Mail boxes were placed about the grounds at convenient places to receive letters, and air mail went into the red, white and blue boxes.

The Highest Award! Well, One of Them

In our last advertisement we spoke of Positive and Negative guarantees. We did not expect, at the time, to have an opportunity so soon to point out exactly what we meant, but the awards at the International Stamp Exhibition have given us the chance to make our point clear.

We might have said that the Scott Line of Blank Albums received the highest award—a Diploma of Silver Medal, And we would have been telling the truth. But, we would not have been telling all the truth, for the fact is that five other concerns shared this honor with us.

Of this we are glad. For now when we say that we challenge comparison between the Scott Line and any other blank album made you will realize that it is not because the other albums are poor — because they are all very good indeed, but because Scott, with the only plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Philatelic products, possesses the equipment, the experience, and the personnel to produce a product that invites comparison, and the more you know about blank albums, the more pleased we shall be to have you go into the matter in the most careful detail.

The Scott Line of Blank Albums sells from $6.00 to $12.00 in a variety of styles and sizes.

EDITORIAL

While we are not prepared to say that the boys and girls have been neglected as factors in philately in the past, we do know that a realization has come to some of the leading workers in our pursuit that the young people deserve more consideration than has been their portion at times. Recent proofs have been so convincing that the juvenile field is worth cultivating in an intensive manner that surely further efforts surpassing in effectiveness those already made will be launched to start the boys and girls off on the right foot and then to see that they do not lose the path. It is a revelation to us to learn of the relatively large number of adults who in the positions of instructors encourage their charges to become collectors. Those who make a study of children by reason of their vocations recognize the qualities that an appreciation of stamps stimulates and others who by inclination engage in work for the benefit of the young see in collecting, a fascinating pastime that has the merit of instructive benefit.

Our intention to give a small part of the paper to matter that appeals to the boy and girl collector has resulted in some interesting developments. Not alone do the young collectors read the page but the adults do so in many instances as well. One father writes that he has four collectors among his children and that they have a family stamp club. Mrs. P. A. Bonney says: "The idea appeals strongly to me. For several years I have had charge of a Children's Stamp Club, during which time I have enrolled nearly two hundred boys and girls. It has given me an excellent idea of their likes and dislikes and an understanding of their requirements." Mrs. Georgia Stenger, Sorosis Club Service, New York, says that the Beginner's Page is her incentive to say that she "wishes we could make more girls enter the army of youthful collectors; and too, the bunch, very small, of women in the stamp business. It is so adaptable to woman's tastes, habits, system. I hope that you can make the teachers see this."

Something must be done to relieve the difficulty, if not the impossibility of getting, on immediate application, material for radio talks, readings suitable for boys' societies and addresses before clubs and similar bodies. Every week we have requests that we cannot fill for service in this direction. We have asked for help before and Mr. Konwiser and one other reader sent in matter that was in demand by a half-dozen applicants. We have used up everything that we had on hand even to the extent of denuding our store of clippings and files, but in doing so we have satisfied only comparatively few of those who have asked for assistance. Of course, there are handbooks that would provide the basis for any talk but when material is wanted by the one who is anxious to serve, it is needed instanter. Several synopses of talks would fill the bill temporarily; and then some one who realizes that the void should be filled could prepare a brief treatise in a leisurely manner.

So much interest has been shown in the souvenir sheets of twenty-five of the White Plains 2c stamp, the sale of which was a feature of the International Philatelic Exhibition that we shall set forth a few observations that have been verified by our informant. There were one hundred thousand sheets printed and among them four different plate-numbers, No. 18770, No. 18771, No. 18773 and No. 18774,—plate No. 18772 having been held as an emergency plate. There is a real variety of a constant character in the form of a dot or period above "S" of "States" in the lower left pane of plate-number 18774. Mail orders for the sheets were honored at the Exhibition during its life but remittances calling for large numbers of the sheets may not have always been filled completely. Money sent to Washington for the sheets secured sheets from the stock that was not wholly exhausted at New York. The full stock of one hundred thousand sheets was not sold at the Exhibition and those left on hand were returned to Washington where they were placed on sale. The stamps sold at both New York and Washington could not exceed the one hundred thousand sheets in consequence.

One of the most interesting articles in the outside press as a consequence of the New York Exhibition was that which appeared in the Publishers' Weekly, a magazine for bookmen. Under the head, 'A Neighboring Industry," about the best review of the business aspects of the Exhibition that has appeared was printed. At the outset of the article it is said frankly that "it would be well if all booksellers, especially those in the second-hand field, could go to such an exhibit as the one at the Grand Central Palace last week, to study the selling methods of stamp dealers. The extent and volume of this business always seems amazing to those just getting acquainted with it." We have nothing to say of the estimate of two thousand dealers in New York but seize upon the words: "Probably no field of merchandising gives a more striking picture of the natural collection habits of men. Stamps are easy to handle, easier to know well than prints, pottery or books and are so widely traded in that they have a fairly stable value with enough fluctuations to give the speculators an interest in buying." This is a fair and favorable finding from an expert in another division of trade; and now we shall quote the final paragraph of this significant article: "An exhibit, such as the one just closed, with its large attendance, indicates that the booksellers of this country will have to increase their activities to a very large extent before they can match in totals and effectiveness the field of stamp selling." Here we have commercial philately recognized as being on a par with other businesses and it behooves all dealers to press any advantage that they have in their own profession by a strict adherence to the best rules of conduct, so that any suggestion of "irregularity" about stamp dealing may be given its conge.

The American Stamp Dealers Association is girding on its armor in order to enter the lists to proclaim the sovereignty of square stamp dealing. The new president of the association is Mr. Hugh M. Clark and the new secretary is Mr. Tom V. Binmore of New York; and the other officers bear respected names in the stamp trade. We know of the great possibilities of this organization and were it to expire from inanition, a real misfortune would befall business philately. However, this remark is beside the question as it is confidently predicted that when the new administration gets into the saddle, the charge on the unsavory element will be made to the dismay of the tricky ones who, while few and far between, yet manage to upset our best dealing traditions, on occasion. Dealers should support one or both of the two trade organizations that have been working with earnest effort for some years. It is unthinkable that a business in which so much money is invested as in stamps should not have a powerful body to safeguard the interests of this capital.

THE HOME OF THE POSTAGE STAMP
BOX 3, JACKSON HEIGHTS, NEW YORK
J. Avery Wells Telephone, Havemeyer 3350 J. Van Kirk Wells

ASSORTED

Milwaukee is to have a stamp exhibition that will appeal directly to the juvenile collectors, at the office of the Milwaukee Journal, that enterprising newspaper of the Wisconsin metropolis. The exhibition is to be a one-day display on Saturday, December 11th; and it is likely that the Journal will not allow the occasion to go unnoticed.

The United States section of Mr. Eugene Klein's next auction sale has been on exhibit at the office of Mr. B. L. Voorhees, Chicago, where collectors of that city availed themselves of the opportunity to see an attractive array of stamps.

Mr. Tom Binmore, the new secretary of the American Stamp Dealers' Association sends for inspection what he calls the farthest north in advertising cancellations in the form of Dominican Republic current issues canceled with the injunctions to use different products of the country even to frijoles as witness: "Consuma Frijoles Negros Dominicanos."

On the other hand, we find another angle to national advertising, public and private promotions, as revealed in the following editorial from the New York Times, headed: "British Postmark Advertising:"

"After obtaining authority to place advertisements on the postmarks of letters, the British Postmaster General has given up the plan. It was intended to raise revenue by allowing private concerns to announce to the letter-receiving public that their sausages, beer or what not was the best that could be bought. It had been estimated that a handsome sum could be raised on this sort of rubber stamp. Letters are always welcome; they should be no less so because they come bearing a legend 'Pedigreed Puppies from Packham, Piccadilly.'

In the House of Commons there was almost no protest against this clause in the Economy bill. But presently strong opposition was heard outside. The firms that it had been supposed would leap at this chance to get their names and business into all the places where letters go were the first ones to criticize the scheme. They suggested that it was unworthy of a governmental department; that it took liberties with private property; and, worst of all, that it was bad salesmanship. They saw prospective customers annoyed or offended instead of persuaded by advertising on a letter. They pictured their rivals in business gnashing their teeth in unethical rage because the contract for letter advertising had been given to a competing concern. Letters carrying the name of one merchant into the office of another in the same line of business might be regarded as a good joke if both of them happened to be blessed with an extraordinary sense of humor.

On the whole, it had to be admitted that the plan was not going to receive serious support from the people who were expected to profit by it and pay for it. So, out of consideration for the dignity of the Government, the private rights of citizens who do not want to be forced to give publicity, and the shying away of the contractors for stamp-canceling advertising, the whole project was dropped. The Government came to be a little ashamed of it, as it had exposed the postoffice to ridicule."

We trust that a stamp club was organized in North Adams, Mass., as indicated that it would be in the North Adams Transcript some time ago. The first meeting was scheduled at the Y. M. C. A. and all interested in stamps, boys and men, were asked to foregather at the place.

The clippings on the subject of the row created by the inclusion of Frederick the Great, in the portrait gallery of stamps recently issued by Germany show a diversity of expression that is somewhat amusing. One account reads: "The more radical members of the reichstag committee sought to have the Frederick stamps withdrawn but the proposal failed and the stamps are already on sale."

A reader shows us the correspondence from a large stamp firm in which the dealer said that he did not know of any second Pan-American Postal Congress issue of stamps for Mexico. It was suggested that Sweden may have been meant by the inquirer. It ill-behooves us to chortle at this bland ignorance because we have done as badly at times.

Mr. Smith Hamill of Keokuk, Iowa, was in Chicago recently where he mingled with kindred philatelic spirits.

The New York World article on "Pigeon Post Films at Stamp Exhibit" which was published recently was a most interesting one and would make good reprint matter for us, if the demands for space in our reading columns was not so urgent at present. The Franco-Prussian postal relics shown at the International Exhibition were the subject of the spirited story.

Stamp News for the Juniors

Is there anything you want to know about stamps or stamp collecting? If so, write the editor. What would you like to see in this department? We have no way of knowing unless you tell us. Mr. Senior Collector, can't you give the boy collector about 50 words of encouragement along practical lines?

Gossip

Chas. Roberts—"Franco Bollo" which appears on the various stamps you refer to means "free stamp" as related to their official, or departmental use.

Troy, N. Y.—The 2c Pan-American is printed in two colors. This explains the "differences in distances" referred to by you. They are caused by improper or careless registration in running the sheets thru the press.

Harold Sherman wants to know about our Dictionary. Well, it's cloth bound, 230 pps., and defines and describes almost everything connected with stamp collecting. Suggest to Santa Claus the book for Xmas.

Tarrytown, N. Y., will have a Stamp Exhibition for Juniors Jan. 14-15. Tell us more about it, Mr. MacMahon. We are interested.

There are 12 postoffices in Canal Zone, the best known Ancon, Balboa, Cristobal and Pedro Miguel. This is for Geo. Brett. In Guam one only. Hawaii, too numerous to record.

CAVE comes to life once more, but we are very pleased to tell Doak Blassingame that the name is that of a Ceylon firm of merchants whose name is printed on the stamps to prevent petty pilfering by employees. Call again, Doak.

C. T. R.—Your query as to the stitch watermarks will be answered in an early issue.

Enjoyed at the Exhibition

E. Sperman, N. Y. City, tells us that he is 14 years old and is very glad that we have started this page. Here is what he says in regard to the Exhibition:—

"The thing I enjoyed most at the Exhibition was to see Mr. Hind's valuable stamp, the 1c British Guiana, the only one of its kind in the world."

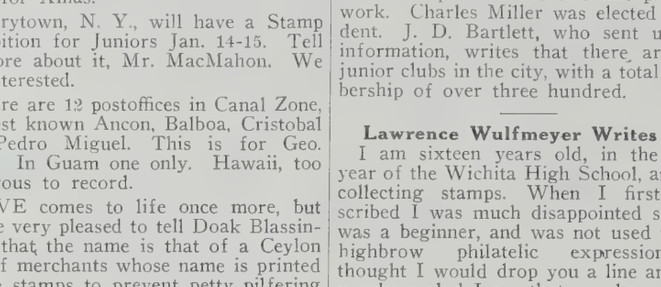
Master Sperman receives a stamp reward for writing us his opinion.

Junior Club at El Paso

A boys' stamp club was organized at El Paso, Texas, December 1, with sixty members. H. E. Bailey of the senior club is responsible for this fine piece of work. Charles Miller was elected president. J. D. Bartlett, who sent us this information, writes that there are five junior clubs in the city, with a total membership of over three hundred.

Lawrence Wulfmeyer Writes Us

I am sixteen years old, in the third year of the Wichita High School, and am collecting stamps. When I first subscribed I was much disappointed since I was a beginner, and was not used to the highbrow philatelic expressions. I thought I would drop you a line and tell you how glad I am that you have a Junior Department. Many of my friends are not interested in stamps and the real reason is because they do not understand how to collect them properly.



A STUDY IN WATERMARKS

The watermarks pictured above are found in British Colonial stamps:— No. 1 shows a Crown and C. C. representing "Crown Colony." No. 2 pictures a larger Crown with CA for "Crown Agent." No. 3 is called the multiple type "Crown CA." No. 4 is the current and familiar Script type. Do you want any information, juniors, on watermarks?

Jack Faunce wants to know what an "original cover" is. Substitute the word "envelope" for "cover" and the term will be readily understood. Used by dealers it refers only to stamps upon envelopes as originally mailed.

Juniors are earnestly urged to contribute to this page. Write along any line you please, not over fifty words, and if your letter appears in print there will be some kind of an award for your stamp collection.

Crosby Gray 3rd, Winter Haven, Fla., sends us a clipping from a local paper announcing the fact that four Boy Scouts of the city recently sold more than two thousand 10c airmail stamps in four days and, as a reward were given an airplane ride over Tampa.

Alexander Zoesch, Mt. Vernon, N. Y., saw something at the Exhibition that escaped the eye of the editor. We will let Alex describe it:—"A stone plate of four stamps about twelve inches square, and two inches thick. This plate was of a Persian country and the stamps in the center of the plate appeared to be cut by hand."

Mr. Dealer — Does This Mean You?

I am very much interested in your page for Juniors. It is a great incentive to those who know little but whose ambition and desire for knowledge is great. The beginner is usually shunned and little interest and some discourtesy is shown him by not a few dealers. I refer to personal experiences in New York City; unless one is willing to buy the more expensive stamps one is apt to get little or no attention and in some cases one is told that there is no time to look over the cheap stuff.—CHAS. T. RAMSDEN.

A Stampic Torch Bearer

George Hopkins, Jr., of Paw Paw, Mich., writes us a fine letter and we quote:—

"I am 14 years old and much interested in U. S. and British Colonials. These are standard varieties and offer a good opportunity for study. I would rather have a few good stamps than a lot of junk. Your Junior Page is the best thing that has ever appeared in your paper, and you say it will be all the better if we boys take an active interest in it. Well, you can count on me. It has always been my ambition, and that of other boys, to have our names in the WEEKLY. The 'big guys' in the stamp world should give us young enthusiasts a chance. It will be our work in future years to carry the torch of philately that they have lighted."

Essay by Robert Trumbull

Robert Trumbull, who resides in Kittanning, Pa., takes Liechtenstein as one of his favorite countries, and this is what he writes us:—

"Liechtenstein is a tiny principality situated on the upper Rhine between Austria and Switzerland. Until 1866 it was a member of the German Confederation. Since then it has been practically a dependency of Austria and stamps were issued under the Austrian Postoffice from 1912 to 1918, when its complete independence was declared by the Diet. Stamps were issued under the national administration for a period of two years. In 1921 The Swiss Postoffice took over the administration of the postoffice postal affairs and at the present time one hundred different stamps are credited to Liechtenstein unique and interesting."

Why the Prince Quit Stamps

It appears that a few short years ago the Prince of Wales was engaged in amassing a really high-class stamp collection. It is also a well-known fact that his father, King George, is known—the world over— as one of the greatest philatelists of his time.

One day the dealer who supplied both the father and son with many of their stampic acquisitions asked the prince why he had ceased to purchase stamps.

It is alleged that the Prince replied: "What's the use? I can't compete with the old man. He always gets first choice."

Stamp Collecting Full of Fun

By BRANCH CRAIGE, JR. (Age 12). (Morehead School, El Paso, Tex.)

Stamp collecting is lots of fun,
The nicest thing under the sun,
Stamps from Chili, China and Peru,
And many other countries, too.

Now come down and take a look
Into my stamp collecting book.
See, I have stamps from far Japan,
And here's one from Afghanistan.

Look! this one extremely old,
Eighteen-forty-two I'm told.
Get a book and start collecting,
See what fun you've been neglecting.

A PHILATELIC MELANGE

By SEVARD.

Sooner or later, deprecatingly, we hear the term "perf. initials," meaning of course, a big discount. Such a term does not mean "cut cancellation" as applied to revenues, but to the perforated initials found in postage stamps. A few years ago we catalogued the perf. initials, and eureka announced a total of 72 known varieties. The eclat of such wonderful news almost confined the cataloguer to Belleview, or Vineland, or as you will. Today there are but few more. Of these, McCutcheon's of New York City takes the prize with a perf. spinning wheel, a copy of their known trademark. The Roycrofters also have a cute little device, after their usual mark. Many times we become confused, especially since Western Union uses a W. U. and the University of Wisconsin, W. U.

Perf. initials do make damaged copies, an influence not encountered in the Bank Note issues, or even in the triangle days. This later term does not refer to moving pictures.

Fourth class permits are non collectible from a special viewpoint, in that all who have tried, have quit for "newes feldes," as Chaucer has it. The permits differ with the period, notably in the box types and rough copies of post office cancels. The permit numbers change annually, so that in New York City we might have a collection of 8,000 permits for each year. In most cases the permit number remains the same thruout the years, and Parke Davis of Detroit has a record, as far as we know. They maintain their number since the old "Paid in Money" days.

Fourth class permits are mostly set-ups, and naturally are at the pleasure of the printer, as long as they contain specified legends. Even so, today, many box permits lack the required "U. S. Postage" legend, and no one seems to bother fourth class mailers to have the prescribed legend in the box. Philatelists usually bring these things to notice.

In Chicago a die cutting firm has been busy and has sold quite a standard permit, which closely resembles an old type D meter. Rubber stamp fourth class permits are common, but such as 96c and 47c are unusual. Doubleday, Page & Co. have a splendid series of unusual rates for mailing book sets.

There are some very artistic permits, too, and a number of oddities also. A furniture company in designing its mail advertisements had the artist design a permit too! Then again hand drawn permits to be run off on a mimeo are seen. These are so crude that they look early Icelandic.

The Pepsodent Company uses a 1½c meter in green, an error truly. A local wit offers an objection to using brown for tooth paste as that would destroy the advertising psychology. A peppermint flavor suggests green, whereas brown would detract.

We wonder what the sales are on the 3c post card?

Heard tell of the chap who had never known of a stamp catalogue, and so constructed a check list of his own? When someone sent him a catalogue, he quit collecting. Our A.P.S. poet laureate could manage iambics with that lilt!

LAST DAY COVER

The Sesqui-Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia closed on November 30th almost unnoticed. On the same day, the Model Post Office discontinued the cancelling of mail and letters passing through at 6 P. M. received the last special cancellation at the fair grounds. I was fortunate in not forgetting the day and ran through a few Sesqui-Centennial envelopes with last day and hour cancellation.

I am in a position to furnish this very unusual variety, a memento of the 150th Anniversary of American Independence, at a price of 50c each.

FIRST DAY COVER

The new 2c rotary print stamps with special perforation were placed on sale in Washington almost unnoticed, but as usual, I was fortunate in getting some few covers used on the day of issue. The supply cannot be large, for it was not known sufficiently in advance of the issue for the far away collector to get in his first day covers. This interesting variety is offered at 50c.

The two above covers clearly cancelled are offered for $1.00 and in purchasing the two, I will gladly include a first day Sesqui-Centennial envelope used on the day of issue, if requested.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

CANADA.—Mr. Henry A. Kiehl reports the appearance of the 3c envelope stamp with the surcharge "2 CENTS" in black. Mr. Kiehl further adds that this is due to the reverting to the 2c postal rate.

CEYLON.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us the new 9c value. It is red on yellow and is printed in sheets of 60, a second printing being made in sheets of 240.

CHINA. — Overprints. — According to the Schweizer Briefmarken Zeitung stamps of ½c, 1c, 1½, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 10, 13, 15, 16, 20, 30, 50 cents, 1 dollar and 2 dollars, bear a surcharge signifying "for the exclusive use of the province of Yunnan."—Philatelic Magazine.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA. — The Economist Stamp Co. advise that the color of the 60c, type of A9, has been changed to lilac.

EGYPT. — The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us copies of the official stamps noted a few weeks ago. The denominations and colors are 1m yellow, 2m black, 3m brown, 4m green, 5m red brown, 10m red, 15m blue, 20m olive green and 50m dark green. The 20m and 50m are of the same design but of larger size.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—Whitfield King & Co. call our attention to two new colors that have been issued but have not been received by them up to the time of writing. They are the 4c orange and 6c red, both script watermark.

FRANCE.—We have received from the Economist Stamp Co. and Whitfield King & Co. the following new items of this country: 30c green, Pasteur design; 45c grey violet, Sower type; 35c violet, Sower type surcharged "25c"; 75c blue and 1fr25c blue, both of the Pasteur issues overprinted "50c". All surcharges are in black and two parallel bars obliterate the former value.

GUATEMALA. — Official stamps. — We learn from Mr. R. Alcock of the impending issue of a set of seven triangular stamps for official use. The stamps are to be printed by Messrs. De La Rue & Co. in the following denominations, all of which will be in a design bearing the national coat of arms: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10 and 25 centavos.—Philatelic Magazine.

ITALY. — Volta Commemoratives.—The Fascist Government will issue next year a series to commemorate the centenary of Alessandro Volta, the Italian physicist, and, according to the Morning Post, sketches are being prepared by Professor Cisari.—Philatelia Magazine.

JAIPUR. — Provisionals. — Mr. Oswald Marsh reports two new surcharges on the Perkins, Bacon Chariot design:—3a on 8a, bright yellow and 3a on 1r, yellow.—Philatelic Magazine.

JUGO-SLAVIA. — Messrs. Yvert & Tellier's information, on the strength of which we chronicled the Danube Flood Relief provisionals last month, was not correct according to our Special Correspondent in the country, for Mr. Eugen Arkhangelsky contributes the following:—

Issued November 1st, 1926. Surcharged on current postal adhesives in carmine-lilac: 25p on 25p green, 50p on 50p brown, 50p on 1d carmine, 50p on 2d black, 50p on 3d blue, 50p on 4d orange, 50p on 5d lilac, 50p on 8d grey-brown, 1 on 10d olive-brown, 1d on 15d olive, 1 on 20d orange, 1d on 30d green.

Mr. Denton Hepworth shows us postally used copies in confirmation. Contrary to Messrs. Yvert's advice, ou Jugo-Slav correspondent tells us tha these provisionals will remain curren until December 1st only, when they wi be withdrawn; they will thus have ha only one month's currency.—Stamp Collecting.

NEW ZEALAND.—In an interesting lead ing article, published in its issue date September 30th, the New Zealand Herald (kindly sent by Mr. Ernest H. Gough says:—

The official determination to continu the issue of the 2s and 3s stamps, whic have provoked so much criticism in re spect of their designs and colors, is re grettable. With this evidence that th Post Office is uncertain in its artisti judgment and unwilling to repair its mis takes, a keener interest, with some degre of apprehension, will be created by th official announcement that the forecas new penny stamp will be issued in abou two months. Its most striking featur will be the incorporation of a portrait o King George in the uniform of a field marshal. Thus, for the first time fo nearly thirty years, the sovereign's effig will be presented on the stamp having the largest use.—Stamp Collecting.

PORTUGAL.—Whitfield King & Co. ad vise of the 4c type of A64, which ha been issued in yellow.

ZANZIBAR.—Whitfield King & Co. re port the arrival of two more values i the new design. They are the 3c yellow and 50c brown red.

DOINGS IN NEW YORK CITY

Hon. Ernest R. Ackerman Exhibits Br. Guianas at Collectors Club.

(Clipping from W. Milton Sisson.)

Members of the Collectors Club had an opportunity to inspect rare stamps of British Guiana when Representative Ernest R. Ackerman of New Jersey exhibited his collection of early issues at the club's meeting last week at 51 West Forty-eighth Street. Among the rarities were three fine copies of the 4-cent magenta, 1856, with the large ship design similar to that of the famous 1-cent magenta of the same year, of which the only known copy is the famous $32,500 specimen purchased by Arthur Hind from the Ferrary collection. While the 4-cent copies have a moderate value, good specimens being quoted at $500 each, they are comparatively hard to find. Charles J. Phillips explained peculiarities of the early British Guiana issues.

Other fine specimens in the Ackerman collection were the 8- and 12-cent circular stamps of 1850 on original envelopes, a block of four of the 1-cent, 1852, being the first issue with the ship design; a magnificent lot of the 1862 provisionals and an entire sheet of forty of the 1-cent surcharged on 12 cents, 1881, with several odd varieties.

At the exhibition meeting on Dec. 15 Herman Toaspern will show his specialized collection of the stamps of Heligoland.

Among members elected at the meeting were several delegates from foreign countries to the recent International Exhibition, including Robert Walser of John N. Luff, Chairman of the Jury of Awards at the recent exhibition, commented in the current issue of Scott's Monthly Journal on the criticism made by some collectors of jurors exhibiting their stamps in international events in competition for the various medals. In previous large exhibitions jurors were permitted to show their stamps but not to receive awards. That policy was changed this year and some members of the jury won medals. Mr. Luff said:

"If the committee refuse to permit a man to be both a juror and competitor they are fairly certain to lose him in one capacity or the other and if they accept him in both positions they risk ugly criticism which only a few know is unfair and not justified."

This month will be unusually active with auction sales of fine stamps. Of chief importance in respect to value will be the first part of the large William Wolters collection of Honolulu, including only United States stamps. This will be held on Dec. 15, 16, 20 and 21 by J. C. Morgenthau at the Collectors Club, 51 West Forty-eighth Street. The second part of that collection, including the Hawaiian stamps, will be sold in January.

Percy G. Doane will sell next Friday and Saturday at 154 Nassau Street a choice lot of United States and British Colonial stamps, and on Dec. 13 and 14 George B. Sloane will sell at the Collectors Club the collection of British Colonials owned by Fred J. DeWitt of Chicago. M. Ohlman announces a sale of United States and foreign issues, including many rarities on original envelopes, on Dec. 17 and 18 at 116 Nassau Street. In Philadelphia on Dec. 17 there will be a sale by Eugene Klein.—N. Y. Times.

A SECOND 10 YEARS RENEWAL

In our Honor Club department elsewhere we note the fact that Edgar L. Green of Philadelphia, Pa., has just sent us $10 for ten years' renewal to the WEEKLY. This of itself is a splendid tribute to our paper, but it is all the more worthy of mention because of the fact that this is the second ten-year subscription that Mr. Green has made us. This is a unique record and one which probably cannot be paralleled. Mr. Green is certainly entitled to a high ranking in our Honor Club membership.

French Stamps At New York

The International Philatelic Exhibition Presented A Wonderful Display Of France

By DR. AVAZON.

AT half past eleven of the morning of October 16, 1926, the members of the Association for the Stamp Exhibition met at Grand Central Palace and viewed the numerous collections gathered from all corners of the globe. They gathered together to see these rare treasures which represented fabulous sums of money and endless hours of searching and study.

At two o'clock the pilgrims from all parts of the United States and foreign lands arrived to pay homage to this unusual exhibition.

As the members entered the great exhibition hall the first thing that met their eyes was the exhibits from the Norwegian, Swedish and Austrian governments. Directly opposite was the United States exhibit under the auspices of the Post Office Department, with a full size postage printing press such as is used in the printing office at Washington.

Then one's eyes saw the World's most famous rarities, including the 1c British Guiana of 1856. This is perhaps the most famous and talked of stamp in existence. Mr. Arthur Hind secured it from the Ferrari sale upon the payment of over $32,000.

Mr. Hind exhibited another great rarity in this frame, France, 1849, a strip of five 40c orange having two stamps with a wide four. In a previous article I explained the appearance of the wide "4", two 20c; the cliches were erroneously introduced into a plate of 40. Instead of removing the 20's, they fitted the cliche with some zinc, and the 4 was re-engraved. Hence we have the term retouched 4.

Another French rarity, belonging to Mr. Hind, was a block of four 1 franc pale orange-vermilion (Vervelle), including a tete-beche pair. If I am not mistaken this is the only block of four Vervelle with a tete-beche in existence and was part of the Ferrari collection.

Still another French rarity exhibited in this frame by Mr. Hind was a 1 franc beautiful carmine pair tete-beche. This is certainly another great treasure in the line of the classic stamp.

My interest naturally lies in French stamps, and my attention was immediately drawn to the next frame in which was a beautiful copy of one franc vermilion used on a letter in Algeria.

Next my eyes caught sight of a perfect copy of a 20c black 1849 issue tete-beche used in Algeria on a complete cover.

There was also a one franc carmine empire 1853 issue reprint. Truly this was an unusual pleasure and words can not express my joy.

Mr. Warren Colson of Boston was the owner of these three last mentioned tiny bits of precious paper exhibited among his fifty pieces of rarities.

On the other side of this frame was the exhibit of Mr. Robert Walzer, one of the judges from France. His exhibit consisted of fifty common used stamps, in uncommon condition, of the classic imperforated issued prior to 1865. In this case this term uncommon condition means stamps with unusual margins.

Among these stamps were the following French stamps: 5c 1870-71 Bordeaux Issue in block of 4; 20c black 1849 issue tete-beche in strip of 3; 25c blue 1852 with an extraordinary sheet margin.

In examining these stamps I recollect a statement made by Yvert & Tellier in their official mouthpiece, L'Echo de la Timbrologie, that from 100,000 copies of the imperforated French stamps from 1c to 1 franc they secured 39 copies in superfine condition, 125 copies in perfect condition. One thousand nine hundred eight copies were good, that is, they had a margin all around, and were not completely covered by the cancellation. Superfine means stamps in perfect condition with wide margins. In fact, such a stamp claims as its own part of the two or three or possibly four neighboring stamp margins. Perfect condition signifies stamps, with perfect and even margins on all four sides. In the 100,000 French imperforated stamps one finds 97,856 damaged ones cut close and are saleable at about one-quarter catalogue price.

This statement of Yvert & Tellier makes the collection of Mr. Walzer take on unusual interest and value.

Then, I learned that the Official Catalogue of the Exhibition was being sold. Immediately I secured a copy, and opened at Exhibition No. 36 on French exhibitions.

This exhibit belonged to Mr. Horace Coulson of London, who exhibited French stamps of Empire Issue of 1853-61 showing a full range of shades with the enlargements of Type I & II showing the flaws and retouches and classified postmarks. This was a very fine exhibition and an interesting sight to a specialist.

While looking over these exhibits I met one of the United States foremost advanced collectors, Mr. Lamborn of Montclair, New Jersey, who personally showed me his collection listed under No. 289, and entitled, Mexico Thacotalpan Provisional Issue. Among these stamps were two very attractive covers, one of which was a 1 franc carmine strip of seven Empire 1853 in a very fine condition on original cover. In this condition this strip is considered a great rarity. His other French rarity in this frame was a 25c blue pair 1849 issue with a red grille cancellation. One-half of the cancellation appeared on the stamp, and the other half on the cover. Surely there could be no doubt of the genuineness of this stamp, or its beauty from a philatelic point of view.

For thirty-four years this cover had lain in a storage warehouse in New York City among many other covers, and was brought to light about two years ago.

Later I viewed Mr. Lamborn's exhibit No. 324 which consisted of the 19th C. France and Colonies. Among these stamps there was a beautiful unused block of four 5c Bordeaux Issue of 1870-71 and a block of six 30c of the same issue, and a block of nine 80c of the same year. There were also other fine blocks in French Colonies which appealed particularly to a lover of French stamps. For this exhibit Mr. Lamborn received a bronze medal.

Mr. Gustave De La Chasse exhibit marked in the catalogue as No. 302 consisted of selected pages of precancelled French stamps. This was certainly a fine exhibit and well worthy of careful study. I am glad to say that Mr. De La Chasse returned to France with a bronze medal.

There was also a very fine exhibit called exhibit No. 461 by Mr. George Angers of Mass., and it was undoubtedly one of the best I have ever seen. It consisted of a collection of balloon letters carried by each balloon released during the Siege of Paris 1870-71. Among the collection were letters to foreign countries, letter journals issued by prisoners of war, private and official letters carried by the carrier pigeons and aeronautic cancellations.

As I turned around it was my great good fortune to encounter Mr. Prevost of Springfield, a man of many years of stamp experience and truly a great lover of the wonders and beauties of French stamps.

I spent several hours conversing with him and viewing that increasingly popular Balloon Monte. Mr. Prevost's enthusiasm was contagious, and he expressed his great philatelic ambition as that of securing Nos. 1, 31 and 32. I was very much pleased to learn when the medals were awarded that Mr. Prevost received a gold medal. His years of labor and search in collecting this unique exhibit, and his efforts in advancing the interest n French stamps, deserved nothing less.

No doubt many of my readers would have been interested in Mr. Michel Van Gelder of Uccle Belgian collection of 37 European countries imperforated stamps showing the emissions in chronological order. One frame was devoted to French stamps and there were some strips, blocks and pairs. The most attractive feature about this exhibit was the very fine condition of the stamps.

Every country's stamps exhibited by Mr. Van Gelder were in the same condition and complete from the commonest to the greatest rarity of the 37 countries. It was the unanimous opinion of all that this exhibit was truly worth the highest award, that of the palm of honor.

The writer of this article also exhibited his collection, and will give you a full account of it, and some of the unusual block, pairs and strips and rare cancellations known and unknown in his next article.

THE ZONE-ZONE ERRORS

Emil J. Rall sends us a clipping from the Panama American describing the burning of a number of Canal Zone stamps surcharged "ZONE-ZONE." The stamps destroyed were of the 5, 10, 12 and 15c values, and 2 and 10c Postage Due. The first discovered was the 3c value in July, 1925, after one hundred sheets had been regularly issued to the Canal Zone post-offices. The four hundred remaining sheets containing the error were held up and the imperfect stamps subsequently destroyed. Only ninety of the one hundred issued could be positively accounted for, and of the ninety errors about sixty were located after the error was discovered and before the remaining stamps were withdrawn from circulation.

W.P.S. ELECTION OF OFFICERS

At the last meeting of the Washington Philatelic Society the following officers were elected: (the first eight were re-elections). Pres., Wm. A. Johnson; First Vice President, J. F. Duhamel; Second Vice President, Wm. N. Sahm; Secretary, Albert E. Gorham; Treasurer, Philip S. Warren; Board of Governors, Pres., First Vice Pres., Sec., Treas., Valdemar Weiergang, Col. W. N. McKelvy, B. H. Howard; Librarian, M. G. Skinner M.D.; Sales Mgr., T. E. Forbes; Auctioneer, J. D. K. Smoot.

Charles E. Nickles and Charles Kohen were elected members. Plans were perfected for the establishing of a junior branch and much interest was manifested. About a score of the members attended the International Exhibition in N. Y. City last October. The members were pleased to greet two, who have been absent for some time, Charles W. Burnham, Louisville, Ky., and Fred H. Gichner, who has recently returned from an extended trip abroad.

The Governing Board held a meeting Dec. 9, to consider the advisability of conducting a public exhibition, such as was given in the Public Library in February of last year. Particulars of this meeting will be given later.

ALBERT E. GORHAM.

The 1c U. S. Stamps of 1851-57, by S. B. Ashbrook .....$1.00, post free
The 12c Black of 1851-57, Lt. Col. J. K. Tracy .....$1.00, post free

No collector of United States stamps can afford to overlook these informative volumes. They describe in detail, backed by numerous large illustrations, all the puzzling die and plate varieties of these interesting stamps. It's simple as a-b-c with Mr. Ashbrook's book at hand to tell whether you are looking at a IIIa from Plate IV or one from Plate II, or if you are buying a Type Ic instead of the more desirable Ia. Col. Tracy's book describes the rare shifts and recuts on the 12c black.

STRAY ITEMS:—

F. C. BUNDLIE sends us a clipping from a recent Grand Forks, N. D., Herald, which gives the particulars of the building of a new Masonic Temple, which will be located on three lots donated for the purpose by Dr. T. L. Stangebye. The doctor is a life member of the A. P. S., and a member of our Five Year Honor Club.

Mention MEKEEL'S in your order.

W. C. HENRY, one of the leading stamp dealers of California, is now publishing a house organ called "Henry's Stamp News." We suggest that you write the firm of W. C. Henry, 12 Arcade Bldg., Los Angeles, Calif.

Write "I saw your ad in MEKEEL'S*"*

CHARLES L. HALL, 4625 N. Leavitt St., Chicago, Ill., would like to make arrangements with some shut-in living in or near that city who could mount a collection in first class manner and include catalog numbers and prices. If anyone can be of assistance to Mr. Hall, please give him the desired information. This is certainly a commendable offer.

"Send as per your MEKEEL'S ad."

THE old adage "Troubles never come singly" is borne out by the experience of Robin Lampson of the Fellowship Stamp Agency, Fresno, Calif. He experienced, on Nov. 11 the robbing of his office of cash, watch and mint U. S. to the value of over $75. Two weeks later his brother, Walter Lampson, was killed in an automobile accident near Fresno.

Say "Saw your ad in MEKEEL'S."

EMIL J. RALL sends us the Panama Star and Herald for Nov. 27, which gives the particulars of an airmail flight from Norfolk, Va., to Coco Solo, Canal Zone. The flight took place Nov. 26, and a package of sixty-eight letters carried by the plane received the back stamping of the Cristobal Postoffice.

Give MEKEEL'S credit.

IT was recently reported that a 25c airmail stamp had made its appearance at the Boston post-office and that it looked very much like "an ordinary 2c postage stamp." Roland M. Baker, Postmaster at Boston, writing to Albert E. Gorham says:—"The only 25c stamps known to me are the 25c special handling and the regular 25c postage stamp. There must be some misunderstanding, for no such stamp as indicated has been placed on sale at this office."

CHARLES J. PHILLIPS of New York City is off on a bit of a holiday to Panama and Central America. He will return the middle of January. His business will go on as usual, but it will not be possible for Mr. Phillips to give any personal attention to business prior to his return.

When ordering say "MEKEEL'S."

WE are indebted to R. M. Telschow, the Ridgewood, N. J., stamp dealer, for a very pretty calendar for 1927. Many thanks.

AIR MAIL FROM OCEAN STEAMERS

Sir Alan Cobham, the intrepid aerial navigator, who flew from London to Australia and return, arrived in New York, Nov. 25, on the "Homeric." He brought with him the D. H. "Moth" seaplane to demonstrate the feasibility of economy in time of delivery of mail by airplane from incoming ocean liners, by the liners carrying on board airplanes of the type which he brought over for that purpose. In his flight from the "Homeric" to New York City, when his plane was lowered, a line fouled its tail so that he was unable to better the time of mail delivery in this initial attempt. He brought with him a few covers of exceptional historical significance from an aeronautical point of view, in that it is the first successful attempt to transport first class mail from a liner to New York City, and undoubtedly is the precursor of other attempts leading up to the cutting off by a number of hours the delivery of first class foreign mail. These covers bear the usual 1½ penny stamp upon which is cancelled "Homeric" in one line, and below it, still on the stamp, the date "25 Nov '26." In the upper right-hand corner of the cover is the statement, "First Airmail to Arrive in New York from the East" in capitals and underlined as indicated, below which is printed "Carried from S. S. 'Homeric' on nearing New York by a D. H. Moth Seaplane, and landed at Battery Point Piloted by Sir Alan Cobham, K. B. E., A. F. C." In the lower left corner of the face of the cover is the inscription, "Signed 25/11/1926" and the initials of the aviator, autographed by him. The face of the cover also bears a two cent U. S. stamp, cancelled "New York, N. Y. Nov. 25, 1:30 PM. 1926, G.P.O." and is backstamped "Millburn, N. J. Nov. 26 6:30 AM 1926 RECD." The covers all bear the same address on the face, and represent all of the mail carried by Sir Alan.

SEALS, SLOGANS AND STAMPS

By SEVARD.

After we have searched shacks and shacks of postal stations for a certain plate number, and we have invoked the hatred of as many congenial clerks, and have bothered every dealer until he feels he will henceforth write us a curt note telling us our license plate rattles, then of course our friends Nickles and Ward do a Barrymore, "There isn't any more." Belike many feel that 18772 and 18768 are numbers they never did like, anyway howsomever.

Who at the International saw the great rarity—the 1907 Red Cross Seal shown in exhibit 321? There are two types of this seal, but only one was shown. Them as writes philatelic history says that "the notion of issuing private Red Cross stamps originated with Miss E. P. Bissed, Secretary of the Delaware Chapter of the American National Red Cross, who prepared the design of the first issue, consisting of a small Geneva Cross between two sprays of holly leaves, together with the words "Merry Christmas." They were issued in December, 1907, one hundred thousand copies being originally printed in red and sold in Philadelphia and Delaware. The demand "seemingly was so great that a second issue came forth with an addenda "Happy Year" so that the seals could be used after Christmas.

Other interesting exhibits attracted our attention, but we would have liked to have seen more lock-seals, tinfoils, hydrometers, beer stamps, snuffs and tax-paids, precancelled revenues, post cards, and what have you's!

Anyone that has sought the Nesbitt heads on the early envelopes surely lingered before Mr. Bartels' array with awe and admiration. In looking at a collection like that, one should feel disappointed in not being the one to have had the amusement, enjoyment, pleasure, profit of forming such an exhibit. same with Mr. Coulson's work with 2c Columbian! What fun we've miss. We often feel that everyone should working with their stamps, culturing th associations with them, prodding th on to yield a fantasy if but to nurtur gratification of quasi-erudition.

"Not what we have, but what we use;
Not what we see, but what we choose—
These are the things that mar or bless
The sum of human happiness."

How did that get in here? Speak of postmarks, one noted the two stars the town mark of the Exhibition mach cancellation. This is the first time t has been seen. Which brings to m many of the old town marks show stars at either end of the town name. T habit of ornate stellar embellishment town mark still continues in foreign po marks, such as Germany, Holland a Italy.

If you note one of the half-dollars the previous mintage, you will obse the six-pointed star on the obverse a a five-pointed star on the reverse. A if you can discern the stars in the L partmentals, you will note, too, that t variation exists with its solution. Sh really don't have points and the Book Knowledge knows!

PAQUEBOATS and French railroads a quite common, and our SEA POST canc too, make an interesting addition to t usual marks. We have seen a few c lections of battleship marks, mostly all one type, and then again—a machine ca cel and some registereds. Oh! the moderns!

Die 4, Washington greeted us, MA EARLY FOR CHRISTMAS.

settled by "he who take it as he may," any of us are left without a checkmate our delightful arguments wherefore rmine are carmine. CANAL ZONE POSTAL REPORT, 1926

By HARRY E. HUBER.

Thirteen post offices were in operation in the Canal Zone, on June 30, 1926 (according to the annual report of the Governor of the Panama Canal), there having been no change during the year in the number or location of the offices. Owing to the evacuation of the villages of San Juan de Pequeni, El Vigia, and Tranquilla, in the Alhajuela Basin, the postal service for this area, which had been provided by special messenger (and not by opening post offices in the area), since February 1, 1924, was discontinued on Feb. 15, 1926. The Alhajuela Basin, with an area of 21.2 square miles, was transferred from Panama to the U. S., as provided for in article II of the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty, and incorporated in the Canal Zone, effective Feb. 1, 1924. This land will ultimately be flooded and a dam built to provide for additional water storage.

The total receipts of the postal service were $178,324.02, as compared with $168,958.22 for the year preceding, an increase of 5½%. The total disbursements were $177,241.27, leaving a surplus of $1,082.75 for the year. Since it is estimated that 60% of all mail handled locally is dispatched under official frank, from which the Bureau of Posts derives no revenue, the fact that the postal system operated on a self-sustaining basis during the past year is deemed highly creditable.

The sale of U. S. postage stamps and postal cards surcharged "Canal Zone" was continued throughout the year, but stamped envelopes were manufactured at the Panama Canal Press. As soon as funds are available for obtaining the required dies, for the printing of a distinctive series of Canal Zone postage stamps and other stamped paper, it is proposed to discontinue the use of the surcharged U. S. stamps.

There were 142,047 Money Orders issued during the year, amounting to $2,777,603.61 on which fees amounting to $12,999.09 were collected. During the year 41,211 Money Orders amounting to $1,244,683.19 were paid. The total amount on deposit at all Post Offices on June 30, 1926, including deposit Money Orders, old postal savings accounts, and unpaid fee Money Orders in favor of the remitter, was $466,996.65, as compared with $536,939.68 at the close of the previous fiscal year.

In the registry division of the Post Offices 261,195 letters and parcels were handled, of which 44,396 were official mail under frank and accepted for registration without fee.

During August, 1925, two German hydroplanes made a pioneer flight from Columbia via the Canal Zone, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Salvador, Honduras, Guatemala and Cuba to the U. S. in the interest of a proposed air mail to be established with the co-operation of the governments concerned.

Postage stamps valued at $113,657.74 were sold in 1926, as compared with $110,014.08 in 1925 and $95,458.07 in 1924.

In June, 1926, a census was taken in the Zone disclosing a civil population of 27,692 (7,990 Americans and 19,702 'others" mostly West Indians), and a military population of 9,296, making a total of 36,988.

As potential users of the Canal Zone postal system, there must also be taken into consideration a certain percentage of the population of the adjacent cities of Panama (59,635) and Colon (31,285), many business houses in which, and private individuals as well, dispatch and receive their mail through the Zone Post Offices, either on account of convenience, or lack of confidence in the National system. The letter rate from Panama and the Zone to the U. S., and vice versa, is the same, 2c, but the registration fee from Panama is 5c as compared with 15c from the Zone to the States. Box rents produced almost as much revenue in 1926 as Money Order fees, $12,167.10 and $13,021.27 respectively.

Ancon and Balboa in the Zone are practically suburbs of Panama City, and a newcomer is often at a loss to know where one ends and the other begins. Although the cities of Colon and Panama are excluded from the ten-mile strip of territory (five miles on either side of the Canal route), leased to the U. S. for the construction and operation of the Canal, the eastern boundary line of the Zone, at the south, is diverted to the west so that a narrow strip along the shore of the Bay of Panama serves as a corridor through which Panamanians living in the eastern suburbs of Bella Vista and Sabanas, and those from the eastern half of the Republic, may enter and leave the City, without passing through Zone territory. Thus it is that the tram line, whose eastern termini are at Sabanas and Bella Vista, is wholly within Panama territory except at the west, where after passing through the Balboa section of Panama City, it enters Balboa of the Zone, on its way to the docks, its western terminal.

The Canal Zone Post Office in Ancon is on Balboa Road, three blocks up the

THE PRECANCEL REVIEW

Edited by FREDERICK W. ALLEN, 815 Delaware, S. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

JACKSONVILLE FLA. | CINCINNATI OHIO. | ROCHESTER NEW YORK | DAVID CITY NEBR. | PAGNIA COLORADO

Jacksonville, Fla.—Along the same order as the new electroplates for Kansas City and Los Angeles, is the Jacksonville design pictured above. It is interesting to note that these four cities together with Cincinnati have all recently pre-canceled with the identical style of lettering, which is known as Universal Style III, and have now similar plates of a design which is a radical change.

Cincinnati, O.—The illustrated type is a new plate, but may confuse the novice as Cincinnati employed an almost identical overprint four years ago. The lettering of the new pre-cancellation is somewhat thicker, and the lines above and below are easily contrasted with the old.

Rochester, N. Y.—A very striking overprint is now current, having superseded the Universal Style X. Rochester pre-cancels are printed with care, and because of superior workmanship, make a splendid showing when grouped in sets. The new type has appeared on the 1½d, 3c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 10c and 20c stamps of the current series.

David City, Nebr.—Has received an electroplate similar to those in use at Wichita Falls, Texas, and Union City, N. J. I believe the 1½c to be the only stamp overprinted at this office. Staten Island has had a similar plate for some time, and has pre-cancelled a number of current set with it.

Paonia, Colo.—Dr. Mitchell sends me specimens of the current series with a new overprint, which is typeset. Everything from the ½c to 50c inclusive has been pre-cancelled in the new type, as well as the 10c, 15c, 20c Special Deliveries, the 25c Special Handling, and ½c 1c and 2c postage dues. There are plenty of the $1 and $2 left with the old type cancellation, so it will be some time before these appear in the new. Paonia pre-cancels are mainly employed on fruit shipments.

Bureau Precancels.—The newest varieties to look for are as follows: Atlanta, Ga., 6c, 7c, 8c, 9c. Dayton, O., 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 10c*. Houston, Tex., 7c, 8c, 9c. Jersey City, N. J., 1c*. Salt Lake City., 1c*, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 10c. Bloomfield, N. J., 1½c* coil. Janesville, Wis., 1½c* coil. Coalgate, Okla., 1½c* coil. Westfield, Mass., 1c* coil. Cleveland, O., 4c coil.

* These varieties have been seen by the editor.

The Coalgate coils were all used locally, and are bound to be extremely scarce. Salt Lake City items will be hard to get, too. The Westfield coils seem to have had a general distribution and also the Bloomfields.

In a previous list the following were overlooked: Saint Paul, Minn., 8c, 9c. Columbus, O., 8c, 9c.

The impression seems to exist that the number of towns using the Bureau's precancels will rapidly grow until the Bureau supplies the majority of offices in the country, but this is most unlikely with existing limitations and regulations.

The cost to the Bureau for rolls, setting up press, storing and shipping places a limit on the number of different towns that can be accommodated. It is questionable if the requirement that orders should be for not less than 500,000 ordinary and 250,000 coil stamps can be materially reduced to make greatly extended use possible.

In the 28 months that the Bureau has been supplying precancels 107 towns have placed orders. In the first 18 months there were 88 towns that had ordered rolls. In 24 months, 16 were added and in the last 4 months, but 3. This seems to indicate that the growth will be but slowly in the future.

It may be of interest to note that 51 out of 69 cities of 100,000 inhabitants or more use the Bureau prints; 32 out of 218 of over 25,000, and less than 100,000 are users, leaving but 24 towns of less than 25,000 population that are customers of Washington.

Certainly it would seem that the number of towns to be considered would not be a burden during the next ten years or so, unless the size of each order is materially reduced.

Sunnyvale, Calif.—Mr. E. P. Anthon shows me a 2c, current issue, bearing the overprint in two lines of block caps, with serifs between thick bars. An inverted "A" is used for the "V". I believe the affair to be the result of a single subject locally produced, handstamp.

Elberfeld, Ind.—Comes handstamped in two lines of thin caps between lines. Mr. A. C. Le Duc has shown me the 3c with the overprint reading down.

Atlanta, Ga.—Mr. Charles Metz calls my attention to the fact that this office is using a new plate, which differs from the old in a few minute details. The best check upon the differentiation is found in comparing the respective positions of the last two letters in each word. The lower "A" is to be found immediately under the second "A" of Atlanta in the new plate, while it is a little to the left in the old.

Lodi, O.— Is a newcomer. Mr. Chas. Metz reports it on the 1½c, handstamped in red ink. The type is said to be Universal Style 56.

Miscellaneous.—Mr. Metz also reports Sabetha, Kansas, 9c inverted, purple ink, Universal Style 51.

Rankin, Ill., 8c, Universal Style 56 but between lines instead of bars.

Port Arthur, Texas, 11c, Universal Style 51.

Conclusion.—The editor of this department has on hand cardboard charts showing the different styles of precancellations, which he will forward to interested readers on receipt of ten cents. Also a number of copies of the official catalog of the U. S. stamps precancelled by the Bureau of Printing and Engraving. The latter will be sent on receipt of sixteen cents.

AIRPOST COLLECTORS' CHRONICLE

Austria.—The extension of the Vienna-Munich airmail line to Stuttgart was opened on October 16th, three registered and seventy-eight ordinary letters being despatched on that day, writes Mr. G. Sobetzky.

Canada.—We hear that the Rouyn service is now run by the Fairchild Co., which J. V. Elliot recently left. A new charter has been granted to this firm, who have now superseded the stamp chronicled last month by one of a similar design, of the same face value, but inscribed "Fairchild Air Mail Service," and printed in indigo. It is issued in sheets of ten stamps, each pair being tête-bêche.

Fiji.—A private pigeon-post service was operated between two of these islands just over forty years ago, which is believed to have been very short-lived.

France.—The Pekin flight mentioned last month took place in the summer of 1925, not 1926, as suggested by our paragraph.

Great Britain.—A Berlin correspondent has shown us a cover flown from London in the autumn of last year, the franking stamps on which are cancelled by two violet "Air Mail" cachets, as illustrated on page 280 of Champion's catalogue.

Greece.—The promised airmail labels made their appearance at the end of October. Though the profits go entirely to the private company, they are freely sold over the postoffice counters, we are informed. They seem to have been brought into use on October 22nd, none being sold over the counter, as they were affixed by the officials only; but after disappearing for a few days they were openly placed on sale. Since they came into use, the large cachet (No. 17) shown last month has been withdrawn from use by the officials at the Post Office. The labels, attractively designed and printed in two and three delicate tints, represent a seaplane flying over famous Greek landmarks, on the 2, 3 and 10 drachma values, and over a map of the Archipelago on the 5dr value.

Japan.—We find that the rare cards carried by rail from Osaka to Tokio after the breakdown of the flight of October 3, 1919, were not mentioned in the Notes on page 94 of our July number. These are of the same types as those issued from Tokio, but the air cachet is dated "8.10.6" instead of "8.10.4."

Poland.—On October 17th, a commemorative balloon post left Warsaw, carrying special cards, to which private vignettes in two colours were attached. One hundred and thirty-two copies of these vignettes appeared without perforations. We cannot see that any useful purpose has been accomplished by this flight.

Portugal.—A first official airmail flight was undertaken by the Latecoere Co. between Lisbon and Tangier on September 18th (reports The Stamp Collector). A special cancellation was used for this flight, the die being afterwards destroyed.

Sarawak.—On the return of the air survey expedition, Mr. Fred Raynham carried a bag of mail from Kuchung to Sibu—the first airmail in Borneo.

Switzerland.—There is no abatement in the airmail activities of the Swiss flying men. Our friend Dr. Vogner sends us two new aerogrammes, one bearing an official cachet in black depicting a biplane which is inscribed with the route of the Lausanne Comptoir special flights; the other, carried on the first Leysin—Lausanne airmail, has an official circular cachet and a large violet triangular cachet over a commemorative vignette. The latter cachet bears the inscription of the Society for the Development of the Aviation Fete, Leysin, 1926.—The Aero Field.

The Highest Award! Well, One of Them

In our last advertisement we spoke of Positive and Negative guarantees. We did not expect, at the time, to have an opportunity so soon to point out exactly what we meant, but the awards at the International Stamp Exhibition have given us the chance to make our point clear.

We might have said that the Scott Line of Blank Albums received the highest award—a Diploma of Silver Medal, And we would have been telling the truth. But, we would not have been telling all the truth, for the fact is that five other concerns shared this honor with us.

Of this we are glad. For now when we say that we challenge comparison between the Scott Line and any other blank album made you will realize that it is not because the other albums are poor — because they are all very good indeed, but because Scott, with the only plant devoted exclusively to the manufacture of Philatelic products, possesses the equipment, the experience, and the personnel to produce a product that invites comparison, and the more you know about blank albums, the more pleased we shall be to have you go into the matter in the most careful detail.

The Scott Line of Blank Albums sells from $6.00 to $12.00 in a variety of styles and sizes.

EDITORIAL

A little sheaf of letters has been received treating on the subject of the souvenir sheets of twenty-five of the 2c White Plains that signalized the International Philatelic Exhibition and while some of the writers are a bit testy in the expressions they make, no damage is reported. What is said now on the subject may not have applicability by the time the words are in print, but in order that all may know what there is to be said about the sale of the sheets, we shall consider them again. The number of sheets printed is said to have been one hundred thousand, and there is no room for argument on that score. The sheets were sold to the number of much over half that quantity at New York, and the unsold part of the run was returned to Washington, where the sheets were placed on sale at the Postal Agency. Those who sent to New York were supplied if their orders came during the life of the Exhibition. While we cannot say that every request for the sheets that was made at Washington was filled entirely, in the case of wholesale levies, it is known that requisitions were filled when they called for a reasonable number of the sheets. The chief circumstance is that the issue was limited to one hundred sheets. If any statement has appeared in print to the effect that the sheets were not sold after the Exhibition, when ordered from Washington, it is false. While there may have been some warrant at first that no sheets were being sent out from Washington, the coming of sheets from that city disproved any hasty report of the kind.

One of the possibilities in the train of the New York Exhibition is that of the promotion of exhibits in other cities through the instrumentality of some of those who had a share in the making of the memorable International Exhibition. Roughly, the plan would revolve around a superb, if compact, exhibit that would be sent from New York under the charge of experienced men, who would work in conjunction with the local philatelists. While the visitors would have a hand in the technical arrangement of the display, the local men would be concerned with the preliminary publicity for the exhibit and with the directing of the enthusiasm of the local collectors into practical channels. The idea is one that is worthy of attention and it is possible that in time a plan to achieve the desired end will take shape.

On Saturday, December 11, 1926, the Milwaukee Philatelic Society held an exhibit in the Milwaukee Journal Auditorium, when hundreds of persons outside of the club members embraced the opportunity to examine the contents of sixty frames of stamps, including representations of Cape triangulars, Brazil, first issue and other attractions. Prizes were given for the best junior collections entered into the contest. Mr. W. O. Staab writes: "We had an exceptional attendance, which again shows our possibilities for the future in that there are plenty of young people to take our places in the future." Mr. R. L. Hustis was the chairman of the exhibition committee and it is evident that he labored to good effect. The Milwaukee Journal covered the feature by illustration and news articles.

The expansion of general interest in philately during the past few months has been attended by several developments, one of which may be spoken of at this juncture. From remarks that have come to us from instructors and directors in the work of cultivating the latent qualities of boys and girls, it is seen that stamp collecting is having a place in the thoughts of these men and women as a worthy means of furthering their aims. Several letters have been received from private and professional workers in social welfare as affecting the boys and girls, in which tribute is paid to stamps as agents for encouraging youth in its forward movement. Inquiries have come from others dedicated to this line of endeavor asking how a trial may be made of the potentialities of philately as applied to their purposes. In the past there have been indications that serious workers in the cause of training the young, in order that their natural impulses may be directed along useful channels, have been weighing philately as a vehicle for attaining good results and have not found it wanting. It is recognized that stamp collecting is adapted to filling the want for a hobby that is a natural attribute of a host of boys and girls and now there is some general acceptance of philately as a pursuit. In the course of time it is fair to say that stamp collecting will be chosen more definitely for a place in the practical training of the young, aside from any value that it may have in any sentimental or instructive way.

The Principal of the Evening High School, Central Y. M. C. A., Chicago, Howard L. Beck, in an address, "Ethics and Education," speaks of Babbitt, the successful business man of middle-age, who was well off in a material sense but who was disturbed by longings that did not shape themselves concretely enough to allow them to be satisfied. Happiness eluded him and he was not acute enough to pursue it to good purpose and the result is that he accepts the drab routine of life, from which he feels he cannot escape. Now then, if the aforesaid Babbitt takes to stamps, for instance, he has an outlet for his dreams and imaginings, with the consequence that he gets away from the obvious and the uninteresting and enters the field of romance. Thus it is shown that if he has a spark of philatelic fire it may become ignited and he will find that he is no longer ticketed as a standard product.

Here is a paragraph that reflects the feeling of the philatelist who tries to promote stamp collecting and to bring it to the attention of all manner of men. The quotation is from A. Edward Newton's "Amenities of Book Collecting and Kindred Affections," published by the Atlantic Monthly Press, 1918, and it has been sent to us by Miss Constance Wilmerding of Tarrytown, New York. Miss Wilmerding says: "You may have read this book—if not, I recommend it as worth even a busy man's time." While we have made use of this extract from Mr. Newton's book some years ago, it will bear repetition as it is about the best snap-shot of the psychology of the collector's desire to make recruits for his chosen pursuit that may be found: "We collectors strive to make converts; we want others to enjoy what we enjoy; and I may as well confess that the envy shown by our fellow collectors when we display our treasures is not annoying to us. But, speaking generally, we are a bearable lot, our hobbies are usually harmless, and if we loathe the subject of automobiles, and especially discussion relative to parts thereof, we try to show an intelligent interest in another's hobby, even if it happen to be a collection of postage stamps. Our own hobby may be, probably is, ridiculous to someone else, but in all the wide range of human interest, from postage stamps to paintings,—the sport of the millionaire,—there is nothing that begins so easily and takes us so far as the collecting of books."

At a recent meeting of the London Stamp Club, Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey, proprietor of Stamp Collecting, related the story of his trip to Canada and the United States to an interested audience His journey here was described as "virtually a triumphal procession." We are sure that our friend kept the members of his audience awake by the interesting "asides" that he must have incorporated into his address.

THE NEW 2c U. S. ROTARY PRESS

Under date of December 10 came a rst-day cover from Washington, D. C., rough the courtesy of Albert E. Goram, bearing the 2c U. S. with experiental perforation. Mr. Gorham accomanied the sending with some information hich we deem wise to print as being of ublic interest:—

"The stamp now current, perforated 11 as philatelists know it) is 0.87″ wide brizontally (from side to side) and has 0.875 perforations, and is 0.98″ long ertically (from top to bottom) and has 2.25 perforations; while the new stamp .87″ wide has approximately 12.43 perorations, and is 0.98″ long, and has 14 erforations. In other words, the current sue is 8/100 from center to center of erforating pegs, while the new one is /100. The present issue can be easily easured by a millimeter gauge, while rom my point of view the new one ould tax the patience of a saint, and ie resourcefulness of a philatelist with iathematical proclivities, and if eventally permanently adopted as standard ight be convenient for the purposes inended but would upset precedent and evolutionize future issues.

Upon a 'try out', 'service test', or exaustive use of the millions that are rinted and now being printed, will deend the future issue of all perforated otary press stamps of all denominations, ie intent and purpose of this new issue eing to eventually adopt a perforation iat will stand the test of time, and not e merely experimental, and one that will neet all the needs of postal service."

NEWFOUNDLAND 1c ON 3c 1897

By HERMANN FOCKE.

In the Fall of 1897 there was issued by this interesting country a provisional stamp about which only inexact data have been given up to the present day.

I refer to the ONE CENT surcharge on the 3c stamp of 1890, with miniature portrait of Queen Victoria, Scott's Nos. 75-77, catalogued as gray-lilac, or in Stanley Gibbons' gray-purple in color, with the surcharge in three types.

Having had the good fortune of gathering a fair number of this provisional, I would like to give to the philatelic world a short sketch of my findings:

In Stanley Gibbons catalogue there appears under the respective Nos. 80-82 the foot note: "One sheet was surcharged in red, and as this was indistinct, it was further surcharged in black; we have seen two copies of type 36 (or type I, the common variety) and presume that all three types exist." Kohl's Handbuch (manual) cites after the respective Nos. 64a, b and c, a No. 64-I red and black and gives the further more detailed information: "Of the total issue of 40,000 there are in type I 32,000, type II: 6,400 and type III: 1,600, each sheet of 50 containing 40 of type I, 8 of type II, and 2 of type III; No. 64-I (i.e., with surcharge in red and black) is known in lesser numbers and may be an essay; of type II one may distinguish a minor variety, in which the space between the words ONE and CENT is larger, making the entire surcharge abt. 1¼ mm. wider, this being the first stamp in the fifth row." The color is given by Kohl as gray-lilac.

This is about all that the general collector knows about this very interesting provisional which in the latest catalogues has enhanced in value and most likely will continue to advance as the years roll on, as dealers' supplies do not seem to be large, particularly in types II and III and less so in used specimens.

Citing from Kohl there existed only 1,600 copies of type III, so that Scott's present price of $20.00 is rather modest (and it is much higher in European catalogues) and a good used specimen is in my opinion worth fully this much, if not more.

But now to come back to the color of the stamp: by looking up the unsurcharged value of 1890, Scott's Nos. 51 and 52, it will be seen that there are readily five distinct shades recorded, and in my little collection there are four of these with the surcharges in question; I have of type I a strip of four, on a cover posted to St. John's on Ocboter 29, 1897, in the slate shade, and type III in the same shade on a cover, posted April 27, 1898; in gray lilac I have all 3 types, I and III used and II mint; in slate violet I have type II on a cover and type III on part of cover, both having date of Dec. 22, 1897, and in plain lilac I have a used copy of type I surcharged in red and black.

Furthermore I have a used copy on part of cover in Stanley Gibbons' purple-gray color with red surcharge only, in type II.

Regarding these latter two stamps I have it on the authority of my late friend, Mr. Peter G. Tessier of St. John's, one of Newfoundland's greatest collectors and specialists, and also from a Mr. Reichardt who resided at St. John's at the time when these provisionals appeared, that both, the stamp with only the red surcharge and the one with surcharge in red and black were issued in the regular way and obtainable at the P. O. in the first days of October, 1897, which seems to contradict Kohl's contention or belief that only one sheet (of 50) had been surcharged in red and black, and that the stamp had regular franking value has been proven to me by the fact that I have seen in the past at least two covers franked with only the stamps having the surcharge either in red or the one in two colors.

Now then, it appears to me that Scott's catalogue should in the future append the foot notes:

(a) that the stamps come in the various shades as given under Nos. 51, 52, 52-b and 52-c and probably 52-a.

(b) that the stamp appears with red surcharge and in fact the latter two varieties deserve as much of their space in the catalogues as those which we find under Nigeria on page 1063, the 20sh provisional on 1sh of which No. 40 was issued in 5 copies and Nos. 41 and 42 in 2 copies only, see Stanley Gibbons' note after their No. 37, whereas of the above Newfoundland provisionals there should have been issued at least 40 copies in type I, 8 in type II and 2 in type III, both with the red, and the red and black surcharge.

(c) that it appears with surcharge in red and black.

The stamp appears to me of greatest interest and worthy of more attention both from cataloguers and collectors in general, and it may not be too late for the latter to get at least a fair-sized collection of the black surcharge in the various types and shades, too many years having already gone by since the issue of the provisional, to hunt for the red surcharge with any marked success.

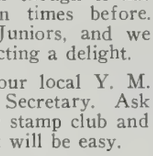
A New King George Stamp



We introduce to our juniors a new stamp in the 1d New Zealand with a fine profile of King George. It will make a handsome addition to your stamp collection.

Trading at a Stamp Club

Definite rules must be made and adhered to. Have a systematic method of keeping duplicates. Stock books and cards are splendid. Some prefer to keep them sorted in envelopes,—either according to country or value. Ordinary note books are satisfactory. Stamps all jumbled together in a box are not going to please those who have to look them over. A gust of wind or a sneeze will result in further confusion. They are handled more and apt to become damaged.

A satisfactory rule for exchange is to give stamp for stamp for those cataloguing less than 10c and trade according to value for higher priced stamps. It is wise to complete each trade at the meeting and not have one party owing stamps to another. If agreeable to both parties, one may hold stamps in reserve for another until the trade can be completed. And only perfect stamps should be offered. If a rare stamp is imperfect it should be presented as such.—Eva R. Bonney.

Paderewski

Whenever one hears the name Paderewski one associates the word "piano" with it, as he is best known to Americans for his musical work. However, he is an ardent Polish patriot and has done a great deal for his country, particularly in recent years. He is a native of Russian Poland. During the Great War his sympathies were with the allied side. He was actively engaged in helping the defeat of the German forces and the liberation of his country from the domination of the Russian and German governments. He was one of the leaders in the formation of the government of the new Polish Republic. He was premier of Poland in 1919.

Altho Ignace Jan Paderewski is best known to Americans as one of the great performers at the piano, he is beloved by his countrymen for his patriotic activities in their behalf. To show their interest and appreciation of his work, a stamp was issued by the Polish Republic in 1919, which shows a picture of their noted citizen. It is the 15 filler, Scott's No. 130.

Junior Club at Pau Pau, Mich.

Jerome B. Warner, president of the Pau Pau, Mich., Philatelic Society informs us that this club for juniors was organized two months ago. The following officers have been chosen: President, Jerome B. Warner; general business manager, G. E. Hopkins, Jr.; secretary, L. M. Salisbury; treasurer, David G. Warner. The meetings are held every Friday night at the homes of the members. Auction sales have been held with good success. Pres. Warner would like to correspond with other club officials and get some pointers for his organization.

Harry Lebow Takes Barbados

Barbados is the most easterly of the B. W. I. and was first occupied by the British in 1626. It is twenty-five miles long and approximately thirteen and one-half miles wide. Most of the land is being cultivated. The capital is Bridgetown. The island is subject to violent hurricanes.

The stamps of Barbados are very interesting because of the distinctiveness of their design and the many shades, varieties, etc. There are many specialized collections of this colony and with general collectors it is also very popular.—H. Harry Lebow.

Do You Belong to a Stamp Club?

You will be surprised to see how much more rapidly you can collect, and more cheaply, too. Boys and girls who have relatives in foreign countries get quantities of stamps for trading and often are glad to pass some on. Others have parents or friends who are in business houses where they can obtain stamps. Those whose allowances permit can buy packets and sets and have worth while duplicates for trading. A catalogue, magnifying glass, and watermark detector are quite necessary. Dues will enable the club to purchase such articles.

A stamp club is an excellent means of exchanging ideas and learning from one another. One boy may discover a difference in stamps which the others may not have noticed. Another may have learned some item of general interest which he passes on. One can compare methods of arranging and mounting stamps. Experiences with stamp dealers are discussed. If one boy makes a mistake he is glad to tell the others so that they will not do the same thing. Let me urge the boys and girls to get together and organize clubs in their schools and communities. The time is coming when the many small clubs will be recognized by the large philatelic societies.—Eva R. Bonney.

Curtis High Stamp Club

George Woldt writes us as follows:—"A Stamp Club has existed in Curtis High School, West New Brighton, Staten Island, N. Y., for many terms and still exists. Officers are appointed at the beginning of each term and several auctions are held. The club visited the Exhibition in New York and their album was shown there. Results of the election of officers and of auctions are published in the Curtis Monthly, the school publication."

Any Andorras? No? Why Not?

Andorra is a small republic situated in the mountain fastnesses of the Pyrenees between France and Spain. It is one of the oldest commonwealths in Europe, having preserved its independence for more than eleven centuries. At the present time it is nominally under the suzerainty of France and Spain. Although it has a well organized postal and telegraph service, it has not issued stamps for the simple reason that it has no use for them. Within the borders of the little state letters are carried absolutely free, while those sent to the outside world are franked with French or Spanish stamps.

What Is a Stitch Watermark?

We asked Mr. Ward to help us out with a good definition and here is what he wrote us:—

"A stitch watermark consists of small parallel lines about 1/16" to 1/8" in length, spaced closely together and generally running the entire length or width of a stamp. The watermark is unintentional and is due to faulty paper manufacture. It is to be found in the United States postal issues from 1845 to 1898, inclusive, but as a rule is more common in the earlier issues."

Hubert Lively on Tunis

Tunis is one of the French possessions in Northern Africa. It has an area of 45,000 square miles and the population is nearly 2,000,000. It is inhabited now by Bedouin Arabs and Kabyles. It is an old land, strewn with the ruins of long-vanished civilization. The Phoenicians had established their trading posts along its shore long before the time of the Romans. When the Romans gained power, they drove the Phoenicians out. Later, the Vandals drove the Romans out and the Vandals were driven out by the Byzantines. Today Tunis is owned by France. They have issued 7 regular postage stamps, two air postage stamps, 46 semi-postage stamps, 21 postage due, and ten parcel post stamps.

Hubert gets a stamp prize surely.

Danzig

During the settlement of affairs after the European War, the area in and around the city of Danzig was a source of much trouble. The territory was claimed by Poland and by Germany. It was finally set aside as the "Free City of Danzig" under the protection of the League of Nations. This city-state has an area of about 2,000 sq. miles, is located at the mouth of the Vistula river and has a population of 384,000.

This country started issuing stamps soon after its establishment in 1920. The first stamps used were the old German stamps surcharged "Danzig." This area was formerly a part of the German Empire and had used German stamps there for a long time. Beginning in 1921, this city-state began to issue distinctive stamps for its use, but still continued to use the German money system. As time went on and the value of the German mark went down and down in value, it was necessary for the country to put out new stamps very often. We find some stamps of Danzig up in the hundreds of millions of marks. As this could not go on indefinitely, it was found necessary to change the kind of money in use in the country. This was done and we now find of the mark.

Altho Danzig has been a stamp issuing country for about six years, we find that Scott's catalog lists 317 major varieties of stamps. This includes all the regular postage, air mail, charity, official and postage due stamps. Some showing for six years!

EEN AND HEARD:—

HERE has been formed in and around Elmira, N. Y., what is to be known as the Southern Tier Stamp Society. Ten charter members have met and organized with Dr. Charles Haase as President; H. J. Worth, vice-president; . P. Colegrove, secretary-treasurer; Walter F. Kline, sales manager. A junior stamp club is to be organized.

THE firm of R. L. Ferraro, 4312 Pilling St., Philadelphia, Pa., is sending out "Phila-Telia" a monthly house-organ. A goodly number of lots by countries are offered for sale. From John P. Cooper, 38 Peters Place, Red Bank, N. J., comes a wholesale list of United States stamps. It is a very comprehensive pricelist. Either of these two offerings may be obtained upon request.

THERE will be an exhibition of stamps by the Lansdowne (Pa.) Stamp Club on January 15, in the Parish House of St. John's Episcopal Church. Eugene Klein and Joseph A. Steinmetz have already been secured on the board of judges. Special attention will be given junior exhibits. Clipping from Robert H. Thomson, Sec.

ALBERT E. GORHAM has submitted drawings of the old and new 2c stamps showing the comparison of perforation measurements. In the old stamp there are 10⅞ perforations horizontally and 12¼ vertically, while in the new stamp there are 12 3/7 horizontally and 14 vertically. Benjamin R. Stickney of the rotary press perforating machine and A. W. Hall, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, approved the drawings sent for our inspection. We may add that the perforation on the new stamp according to our perforation gauge measures 11x10½.

ON December 10 the Hackensack Philatelic Society elected their officers for the ensuing year, as follows: Pres., J. F. Christensen; Vice Pres., J. H. Bennett; Treas., Dr. H. E. Crocker; Sec., . C. Steiger; Sales Mgr., H. S. Dunlupt; Ex. Mgr., W. C. Steiger; Auct., . T. Willcox; Lib., E. Roberts, Jr.; Trustees, A. Simionescu, G. E. Mandadle; Directors for United Stamp Societs: H. S. Dunhaupt, H. A. Bullard.

THE annual meeting of the New York Stamp Society was held in the rooms of the New York Philatelic Society, 20 West 125 St., December 2. President . R. Hoover was in the chair. The present membership, paid-up, is 87, a net gain of 15 in 12 months. The treasury contains $119.62. The following officers were elected for 1927:—Pres., Dr. E. W. Lawrence; Vice-Pres., H. M. OUR BIG SPECIAL COMMENDED

By SEVARD.

As the anxious broker awaits the ticker's tale of the moment, so do many collectors await the newsy enfold of stampic prance contained in our gazettes. Too often does one read without cerebral disturbances, and he that readeth, but readeth not, claims the indictment of the editors. They spread a panoply of news and are called upon to print what only appeared an issue before. In this, as an action Winklereid, we grasp the onrushing spears to defend many who may feel attacked. Yet queerly does one note that the best conviction is the guilt of those who did not read MEKEEL'S Exhibition Number! Full grown collectors not deriding the de luxe edition, fit to be bound in half-morocco, boards 'n everything? How come? Just that they gave away their copies, sent them out without reading them, spreading the influences of stamp collecting and seeking proselytes among those who have been bacchants without sipping the nectar! The Hindu of poesy who had two loaves, sold one to buy hyacinths, but those who have one MEKEEL'S, sent it out on errands to buy publicity, to engender approbation and to acclaim their belief in the adolescence of playing with stamps. If you have not your Exhibition Number, get it, and if you have two, get one more to use as a messenger of the faith you bear to philately.

The Sesqui slogan on a 2c Liberty Bell is an idea! Those who have sought Pan-American triangle cancels on the Pan-American stamps, those who sought World's Fair cancels on the Louisiana Purchase stamps, or even so lately, Pilgrim slogans on the Pilgrim stamps, do appreciate the kindly idea set forth.

How many are helping Ward in searching for the rotary press booklets from the experimental plates? "They also serve who stand and wait," said Milton after he was blind.

Whenever the word "cachet" is used to designate a townmark or dispatch mark, one recalls his French History with its detestable "letters de cachet." One recalls a Gallicism heard which may refer to our etymologists and best quoted as "Les cachets ont du cachet" or rather, cachets are quite stylish.

Which recalls a rencontre an A. P. S. member had in Rome last summer with an Italian dealer. Neither could understand the other, but in two hours, what the eye don't see, the heart can believe, as the Great Hermann prestidigitated. Whatever the Esperanto word for stamps is, becomes of little consequence when stamps are shown. And who is so dull as to misconstrue a guttural "Avion oopsite down."

"IT WAS A GREAT SHOW"

(We find in the Panama "American" of Nov. 6 by courtesy of Emil J. Rall an article "Pro and Con" by John K. Baxter. Mr. Baxter puts into the mouth of one of his friends the matter quoted below. It is a bright and breezy bit of comment on the Exhibition and we pass it on to our readers. Perhaps some of them will feel that we might well have omitted the final paragraph.—Ed.)

"During the next week, the wolf at my door growled so vigorously that I was frequently compelled to leave by the rear exit. Just as the sheriff was about to collar me, Old Man Kismet came galloping up the street with a job, a temporary one to be sure, but nevertheless welcome. It seemed that the International Philatelic Exhibition was to hold forth for two weeks at the Grand Central Palace; that philatelists from all over the world were to display their wares. It was requested that I assist them.

"You see the whims of fortune? Philately is nothing more or less than stamp collecting as an art. And who was better qualified to help stamp collectors than your correspondent whose training in the intriguing process began at Balboa Heights, and ended at the same place?

"It was a great show! Philatelists from all over the world as I have told you. Long, rangy Englishmen dropped their H's knee deep on the floor; dignified Latins bowed to me from the waist down; pompous Nordics with tremendous mustaches that drooped to their collars peered thru magnifying glasses at choice specimens. Stamp collectors are most enthusiastic fellows. They buy for investment. That is, whenever they hesitate to spend the money for a valuable stamp, they remind themselves that it is certain to increase in value with the years. If it doesn't, they hold on, waiting for the rise; if it does, they hold on because it has become too valuable to sell.

"Incidentally, Canal Zone stamps and envelopes were very much in evidence at the show. I saw Mr. "Pop" Gilkey's name on one envelope; I saw Mr. Harry Dion's on another. They had been sent by submarine mail during the Liberty Loan drive in 1919, and are considered rare specimens today, being owned by Hetty Green's son. And while performing one of my many varied duties one day—I chanced to be collecting tickets at the door—I stopped Mr. Dion, for he had no pasteboard and I believe was trying to crash the gate. He failed to recognize me with my ornate cap and decorations, said he was not interested in stamps, and merely wished to talk with a friend. When I showed him his contribution to the exhibit, he was pop-eyed and lost a great deal of faith in the human race, for he had given away the envelope, little realizing its worth.

"That's all, except that I am living in Brooklyn. You will remember that Steve Brodie jumped off the Brooklyn Bridge; after living here a month, I can understand that very easily."

FUTURE GREATS!

FOR QUITE A FEW YEARS IT HAS BEEN MY CUSTOM TO MAKE OCCASIONAL OFFERS OF STAMPS THAT I BELIEVE HAVE THEIR FUTURE MOSTLY IN FRONT OF THEM — THAT IS, NOT STAMPS WHICH HAVE REACHED A PEAK PRICE, BUT STAMPS THAT SHOULD ADVANCE MATERIALLY IN VALUE IN THE NEXT FEW YEARS.

I DO NOT ALWAYS STRIKE IT RIGHT —OF COURSE I DON'T!

BUT THE HUNDREDS OF VALUED CUSTOMERS WHO HAVE BEEN TAKING ADVANTAGE OF MY OFFERS DURING THE PAST FEW YEARS, AND FOLLOWING MY "TIPS", WILL TELL YOU THAT I DON'T OFTEN MISLEAD THEM —THE ADVANTAGE IS ALL IN THEIR FAVOR!

MY WEEKLY LISTS MAKE THESE OFFERS QUITE FREQUENTLY, AND SOME OF THE STAMPS THAT HAVE BEEN EARNESTLY RECOMMENDED TO MY CUSTOMERS THRU THESE LISTS AT THE TIME THAT THESE STAMPS COULD BE BOUGHT "RIGHT" WERE SUCH CLASSICS AS MALTA NO. 65 (OFFERED & RECOMMENDED AT $10), CYPRUS NOS. 87 & 88 (OFFERED & RECOMMENDED AT $9.00 PER PAIR), ST. KITTS TERCENTENARY AND MANY OTHERS.

THE POINT IS THIS — THAT SUCH STAMPS ARE NOT ONLY OFFERED BUT MY CUSTOMERS ARE URGED TO BUY THEM AS AN INVESTMENT.

HERE ARE A FEW STAMPS THAT I HIGHLY RECOMMEND — ALL IN FINE MINT CONDITION.

2 peso 6.00
Special Delivery 1.35
Pairs and blocks at same rate.

As a result of these Philippine advertisements, I have received numerous want lists for the older issues and would advise that I do not stock Philippines but offer these imperforates in behalf of Mr. L. J. Lambert of the Lambert Sales Company only.

If, however, you are looking for anything in the way of fine United States either 19th or 20th century issues, postage or revenues, I have a wonderful stock available.

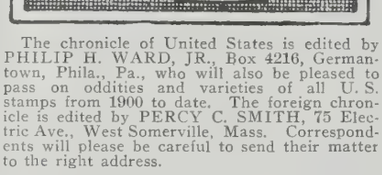
J. M. BARTELS CO., 116 Nassau St., N. Y. CITY



The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa., who will also be pleased to pass on oddities and varieties of all U. S. stamps from 1900 to date. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 75 Electric Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

United States

New Rotary Perforations, 2c II x 10½

In MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS for December 13th, my prepared chronicle mentioned the new perforations which the Department was about to place on sale. This information was placed in the Junior Department and perhaps did not come to the attention of our readers who are interested in new happenings. Since these notes were written, the new stamp has been placed on sale, making its first appearance in Washington on December 10th. One machine at the Bureau of Engraving & Printing has been changed over and if the twenty million copies that have been mailed to New York meet with approval, no doubt the balance of the machines will be changed in due course. The Bureau, however, moves slowly in such cases, for the perforating wheels are costly pieces of apparatus, it being necessary to have all the pins the same size and evenly spaced.

The denomination which has made its appearance is the 2c and is perforated exactly 11 x 10½, that is 11 horizontally and 10½ vertically. I say exactly, because the stamps which we now designate as perforated 11 are really 10¾, whereas this new stamp shows a true 11. The stamps which we have heretofore designated as perforated 10 are really 9¾.

The new variety is made from plates of four hundred subjects and the perforations run through the margins, differing from the former rotaries where the perforations ran to the edges of the stamps only and left the margins imperforate.

I wish to thank Mr. H. M. Southgate for a first day cover from Washington.

Stitch Watermarks

In a recent chronicle mention was made of the discovery of a 90c 1873 Continental print with stitch watermark. Dr. Carroll Chase kindly writes that he now knows of all values of the 1857 with stitch watermark, as well as all values of the 1851 from 1c to 12c, inclusive, that is excepting the imperforate 24c, 30c and 90c.

In speaking of the Carriers, Dr. Chase writes: "Rather strangely I have never seen either the Eagle or Franklin Carrier with a stitch watermark, although there is no reason why they should not exist."

He reports having located the 3c 1875 reprint of the 1851 design with stitch watermark running vertically in the paper.

Oddities

Mr. Alfred H. Benners calls attention to the fact that on the second stamp in the northwest pane of plate No. 18773 of the White Plains variety, there is to be seen a small dot in the white shirt of the center gunner. This dot is very small and is not seen as easily as the one over the "S" previously described.

Mr. Willis M. Pott calls attention to the fact that there is a slight difference in size between the stamps produced in sheets of one hundred and the small sheets of twenty-five. I find that this difference is not constant.

Mr. Albert L. Adams has shown me a copy of the 2c Sesqui-Centennial envelope, Dayton type, in which the figure "6" of 1926 is missing. The cover was used from New York City, where the variety no doubt appeared on sale.

Playing Card Stamps

Mr. H. M. Southgate kindly furnishes some interesting information regarding playing card stamp issued in coil form, which was mentioned in this column a couple of weeks back. He writes that they are printed from the one hundred seventy subject plate, perforated and coiled sideways in one hundred subject coils, presumably perf. 10.

Precancelled rolls have been made for five firms, their initials appearing in a red surcharge without date. The precancelling is done in the same way as for the Bureau printed precancelled coil stamps for towns using such varieties.

The initials of the five firms now appearing are:

A. D. Co. (A. Dougherty & Co.)
R. P. Co. (Republic Playing Card Co.)
S. P. C. Co. (Standard Playing Card Co.)
U. S. P. C. Co. (United States Playing Card Co.)
N. Y. C. C. Co. (New York Consolidated Card Co.)

As the first supply of these stamps were delivered to the manufacturers sometime back, there is no doubt that they will be available on playing cards by the time these notes appear.

Louisiana Tax Stamps

A detailed list was recently given in this column of revenue stamps prepared by the State of Louisiana in order to collect a tobacco tax for the benefit of local schools. The denominations and colors were given in each case with two exceptions. Mr. A. T. Witbeck kindly sends copies of these two stamps, namely, the 10c in a yellow brown and the 50c in a bright purple.

Canal Zone

In my Chronicle for December 13th, mention was made of certain errors of the Canal Zone surcharges which have so far been noted. Mr. J. J. Klemann, Jr., of the Nassau Stamp Company, kindly adds to this list the 12c Cleveland overprinted both with the "ZONE" inverted as well as the error reading, "ZONE ZONE." He writes that he has never seen or heard of any of these varieties of overprint appearing on the 17c and 20c, although there were rumors of these stamps existing sometime back.

Mr. R. S. Carter advises that the Republic of Panama will surcharge with the

SIR ALAN COBHAM

CARRIED 351 letters on the D. H. "MOTH" seaplane to New York City from the S. S. "Homeric". These covers are of the utmost historical significance, as it was the first attempt to transport mail from a liner at sea. We have a limited number of these rare and interesting covers, all nicely postmarked "S. S. Homeric, Nov. 25, 1926", and at New York City. Also nicely backstamped. Each cover is initialled by Cobham, and numbered. Price $10.00 words "EXPRESO" Scott's No. 210 and No. 211, which will be used as Special Delivery stamps until other stamps of special design can be prepared. If the present American Congress acts favorably upon the treaty with Panama, it is quite possible that these stamps may appear overprinted "Canal Zone."

CAMEROONS.—Stamp Collecting print the following: "Another bonfire has been made at Duala, where, by official decree dated August 14th, the stock on hand of all stamps overprinted with the single word 'Cameroon' was burned."

EGYPT.—Messrs. Yvert & Tellier's Bulletin informs us that, in connection with the official inauguration of the new port named after King Fuad (early next month), two provisionals are about to be created by the overprinting of the 50pi, large portrait type, and one value of the International Navigation Congress series with the words "Port-Fouad," these to be on sale on the inauguration day only.

FRANCE.—The Economist Stamp Co advise of the appearance of a 75c magenta, Sower type, and 90c brown red, Pasteur design.

GREECE.—Whitfield King & Co. have shown us a set of four values of Air Post labels. They are the 2dr blue, red and yellow green, airplane flying over lake while sun sinks behind the hills; 3dr blue, green, brown and other half shades, airplane flying toward a city on a hill; 5dr blue and red, airplane flying with a bird's eye view of the country below, and 10dr blue, brown and green, airplane about to fly through a narrow arch. The 2dr is for use on post cards, the 3dr to prepay printed matter, the 5dr for letters and the 10dr for registered letters.

ITALIAN SOMALILAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has received copies of the 30c and 60c special delivery stamps surcharged "Cent 70" and "Lire 2.50," respectively. Each stamp bears an overprint of native characters on the right side and the former figures and native inscriptions in the lower corners have been obliterated. The former surcharge is in black, while that on the 60c is in red.

ITALY.—Fascisti Militia Stamps.—According to L'Echangiste Universel a set of four stamps have just been issued in aid of the funds of the Fascisti Militia. The stamps are oblong rectangulars in the same size as the St. Francis stamps; each has a different design. Values and colours:

40+20c, brown and black.
60+30c, red-brown and brown.
1.25l+60c, green and black.
5l+2.50l, blue and black.

Later.—The designs represent the Chateau St. Ange, the Claudian Aqueduc, the Capitol with the Forum in the foreground, and a view of the "Porta del Popolo." The stamps are valid for internal and external use. L'Echo gives the quantities as 200,000, 200,000, 150,000 and 100,000 respectively. Mr. Melville states that the stamps were engraved for taille-douce printing by Professor A. Repettati and were printed at the Government printing works at Turin in sheets of 50 (10×5) stamps.

20c shade. From the same source we learn that the 20c green is now appearing in yellow-green.

2l Express will be withdrawn from circulation on January 1st, 1927.—Philatelic Magazine.

KENYA.—High values.—We are officially informed that the 2s 50c to £100 values (Gibbons' Nos. 101-109), which were issued last year, are not on sale at the post offices in the Colony, the reason being that they are intended primarily for fiscal purposes. They are, however, obtainable by collectors and dealers on application through the usual channels.—Philatelic Magazine.

MEXICO.—Stamp Collecting reports that the Amiens Echo publishes the following total printings of the Pan American Postal Congress commemoratives: — 2c, 750,000; 4c, 75,000; 5c, 400,000; 10c, 1,250,000; 20c, 60,000; 30c, 45,000; 40c, 45,000. The 1 peso stamp of this series is to be found in two shades, brown and grey blue and red-brown and blue.

MOROCCO.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us copies of the 1fr postage due stamp in brown on fawn and 2fr purple. Both are of the same design as the previous issue.

NEW ZEALAND.—Wilcox, Smith & Co. have sent us a specimen of the new 1d stamp issued Nov. 12. It shows a handsome profile of King George and the firm comments as follows:—"It is a vast improvement on the recently issued shilling values." It is a handsome stamp.

PERSIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. send for chronicle the 1ch green, in the new design.

ST. PIERRE AND MIQUELON.—Stamp Collecting informs us that the 30c is about to appear in a new color.

SWITZERLAND. — Pro Juventute. — The 1926 series will be issued on December 1st and on sale until the 31st. The values are 5, 10, 20 and 30 centimes and they will be available for postal use until 30th April, 1927.—Philatelic Magazine.

TOGO.—10fr and 20fr.—L'Echangiste Universel says that stamps of the value of 10 and 20 francs are due for issue on November 29th.—Philatelic Magazine.

CANAL ZONE POSTAL REPORT

hill from Avenida Centrale (at the base of Ancon Hill and the principal thoroughfare of Panama City) and about half way between the Tivoli Hotel (Ancon, Canal Zone) and Santa Ana Plaza, Panama City. The National Post Office in Panama City is on Cathedral Plaza, about a mile distant, and is housed in the old French Canal Administration Building, which was used also as the American headquarters between 1904 and 1908.

During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, the following quantities of postage and due stamps of the U. S. overprinted "Canal Zone" (sharp "A" type) were received on the Isthmus from Washington:—

	Sheets.	Stamps.
Postage stamps,
Series of 1922-23—
2c Washington,	10,000	1,000,000
2c in books:

5000-49c (24-2c),	1,166⅔	120,000
5c Roosevelt,	5,000	500,000
20c Golden Gate,	500	50,000
Series of 1925—

1926 Commr. Series—
2c Liberty Bell,	3,000	300,000
	20,666⅔	2,370,000
Postage due stamps—
1c Numeral type,	500	50,000
2c Numeral type,	500	50,000
10c Numeral type,	500	50,000
	1,500	150,000

During the year two new varieties were issued, which would account somewhat for the increased sale of stamps, i.e., 17c Wilson, and 20c Golden Gate, on April 5, 1926.

The 2c Liberty Bell was received on the Isthmus during June, but not issued until after the close of the fiscal year. It was in the hands of all postmasters July 3d, and sale authorised from July 4th, but as all Post Offices were closed for the double holiday (Sunday the 4th and Monday the 5th) in the ordinary course of events, it would not be on sale until Tuesday, July 6th. However, through some misunderstanding of the instructions, the Postmaster at Balboa sold a number of these stamps on Sunday, July 4th, and they are known with the Balboa cancellation of July 4, 1926. In a circular to the Postmasters, dated Sept. 9, 1926, the Director of Posts calls attention to the fact that the official date of issue of this Sesqui-Centennial stamp was July 6th, and that the sale and cancellation of these stamps on July 4th had been without his authority.

COLONIAL NOTES

By "CALABAR".

MALTA.—It is interesting to note that the 10s Self-Govt. with CC wmk., of which 7860 were overprinted, is selling at £5 in England and $35 on the American market, whilst the 2s MCA of the same series, of which only 3240 were overprinted, rarely fetches over £2 in England, and $15 in the U.S.A. This discrepancy between market value and numbers issued is by no means of recent date; the former stamp, readers will recall, was quoted at 40s in 1923, and the latter at 5s in the same year. Curiously enough, the 10s Self-Govt. script is now changing hands at approximately the same price as is asked for the 2s, whereas the numbers overprinted of the former are 12,690. All of which should be carefully noted by those who are looking round for "stamps with a future," as the 2s is bound to go higher ere long, to the surprise of many, who have neglected this variety.

The s. values of the "Melita" series are rising fast, and already they are selling at twice face, even higher in the case of the 2s and 2s6d, which are really scarce—many of these being bought up and impressed with forgeries of the "Postage" overprint. Another stamp which is quite scarce is the second printing of the £1 with sideways wmk. (issued early in 1925). Very little attention was given this variety at the time, as it was superseded almost at once by the upright wmk. printing, and has since been rather neglected. Although quite distinct from the 1922 printing, it is ignored by Gibbons and Scott, which may account in a measure for the obscurity into which it has fallen at present.

DOMINICA.—The 2s and 2s6d old type script wmk.—long overlooked—are beginning to be appreciated at something like their true value. Around $8 is being asked for the pair, and whilst this figure is slightly higher than in England, the top has still to be reached. At the present moment Dominica is not enjoying a very fair share of popularity, due, no doubt, to her abstention from the practice of burdening collectors with wmk. varieties, since the current set was issued. This state of affairs, however, must ultimately come to an end, when we may expect startling rises in several stamps of t Colony, notably the 5s K.G. and the and 2s6d MCA, in addition to the abo mentioned duties.

TANGANYIKA.—Those who have re Mr. J. T. Malony's interesting and he ful book, "Colonial Stamps as an Inve ment," will find in the current high v ues of this Protectorate an excell opportunity to put into practice his sou advice re. the desirability of purchasi current stamps which are shortly to come obsolete. The 10s and £1, w sideways wmk., are, of course, the b of the lot, and even now it is difficult find these offered at less than £3 pair.

Speaking of high values, the pres rate for current stamps—32c per sh (which, in the case of a £1 duty—$4.8 amounts to $6.40) is rather a stiff p centage over face, and it is surpris that more collectors do not avail the selves of the opportunity to buy curr West Indian stamps direct from Colonies. M. O's cost no more than Domestic blanks, and a considerable sa ing is effected if this policy is follow consistently.

DANISH POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT TO ESTABLISH A PHILATELIC AGENCY

Upon recommendation of a member of the Collectors Club and Fellow of the Hot Stove League, A. E. Pade, the Postmaster General of Denmark has decided to open a Philatelic Agency in Copenhagen along the lines of our Agency in Washington.

There has for some time been considerable criticism about the way new issues were put out in Denmark. A new stamp might be on sale at a small Post Office, although it would not be available in Copenhagen due to the fact that the old issue had not been exhausted there. This made it difficult for stamp collectors and dealers to obtain supplies of the new issues as promptly as others who happened to live in the town where the new stamp first appeared. It sometimes takes months before a new issue is on sale at some post offices even in the larger cities.

For instance, the color of the current 20 ore stamp was recently changed to red. The new stamp was first on sale in a few small towns, but was not obtainable at the General Post Office in Copenhagen until much later on a day in March. The day following the placing of the stamp on sale the 75 year Jubilee issue of three different values, 10, 20 and 30 ore, was placed on sale at all Post Offices and the previous stamps of these values were withdrawn all over the country until the sale of the Jubilee issue ceased on May 31st, thus preventing Copenhagen dealers from getting their supplies of the new 20 ore stamp for almost three months, unless they had happened to go to their Post Office that one day.

The distribution and sale of the recent series of 7 ore provisionals also caused much comment and criticism in stamp circles and even in the daily press, as some of the scarce values were not for sale even at large Post Offices in Copenhagen or were snapped up by speculators who had advance tips from Post Office Officials. A Copenhagen daily, Extrabladet, charged Postmaster Magius, a member of high standing of the Copenhagen Philatelist Club, with having bought the supply of the scarce values of his own office and distributing them to friends and dealers. Mr. Magius was ordered to sue the newspaper by the Postmaster General, and several prominent dealers and members of the Copenhagen Club testified during the trial. Mr. Magius was acquitted.

A. E. Pade, who is of Danish birth, wrote at length to the Danish Postmaster General complaining of these conditions and the letter was forwarded through and with the recommendation of the Copenhagen Philatelist Club. In his letter Mr. Pade explained the successful work of the Philatelic Agency in Washington and gave statistical information (showing the big increase in sales since the start of the agency) furnished by Third Assistant Postmaster General R. S. Regar for that purpose.

In his reply the Danish Postmaster General advised that the suggestion would be followed and carried out this fall. The office will be located in the information bureau of the General Post Office in Copenhagen. All current stamps and entires will be carried in stock and stamp collectors and dealers will be permitted to send in orders for expected new issues in advance.

The Danish Postmaster General, Mr. Mondrup, has previously gone on record as being friendly towards stamp collectors, when he issued an order to Postmasters to comply with the wishes of stamp collectors as far as possible in regard to supplying stamps in good condition, blocks, etc. Now Mr. Mondrup has gone one step further and has fully recognized the hobby.

Incidentally it may be mentioned here, that the Danish Postmaster General has also promised that the stamp issuing activities of Denmark, which of late have threatened to endanger the good name of Denmark in philately, will soon be curbed. Danish Exchange is now practically at par, thereby making unnecessary the many changes of color and the provisionals which have been required during the past few years, owing to the frequent changes in rates.

The present cipher type will remain for the low values up to 12 ore and a new type will be issued for the middle values, probably up to 50 ore, while the present bicolored series with the head of King Christian X will be retained for the higher values. — Collectors Club Philatelist.

U. S. STAMPS "USED ABROAD"

By Douglas B. Armstrong.

A PHILATELIC by-path that does not seem to have been explored by American stamp students to anything like the same extent that its counterparts have been by their European confreres is that concerned with the national postage stamps "used abroad."

Much attention has been devoted to the cult of British, French, German, Austrian and Italian stamps bearing extra-territorial postmarks which indicate their use by postal agencies of those countries established in alien lands. As a result many pages are devoted by the principal stamp catalogues published in Europe to the enumeration of these much sought-after varieties.

On the subject of United States postage stamps employed under similar circumstances American catalogues and philatelic hand-books are disappointingly uninformative, whilst not even a Check List of known examples has yet been compiled.

Attempting to get together a reference collection of extra-territorially used specimens of U. S. postal issues, the present writer was surprised to find how hard they were to come by—and that was long before the boom in early U.S.A. had set in. Modern examples of Colonial cancellations are comparatively plentiful, excepting those of Guam and Samoa, but everything prior to the Twentieth century usually takes a lot of finding.

The postage stamps of the United States that are known to exist with overseas postmarks form a small but philatelically important group, and as such are highly prized by the few enthusiasts who are alive to their interesting character and potential value. Opportunities for acquiring "used abroads" are, however, few and far between, so that it behooves the wide-awake collector to take prompt advantage of any offers in this line that may be made to him. Even now the earlier issues cannot be picked up cheaply, nevertheless prices to-day are far below what they will be when these varieties of U.S. stamps are admitted to the American catalogues in the same way as those of other countries. Owing to the fact that they are indistinguishable from the home issue, save for the foreign postmark, they are often passed over, so that collectors will be well advised to keep a watchful eye for them.

Introductory.—At one time or another contemporary postage stamps of the U.S.A. have been "used abroad" in Hawaii (prior to 1882 and after 1899), China and Japan (U.S. Consular post offices), Samoa, Guam, Porto Rico, St. Thomas, Alaska, Cuba (Guantanamo Bay), etc., and by U.S. military post offices in Cuba and the Philippines during the Spanish-American War, in China at the time of the Boxer Rising, as well as in Mexico, Hayti, San Domingo under American occupation.

In attempting the present compilation the author has had to rely upon some tentative notes gathered in the process of forming a modest collection of covers bearing the U.S.A stamps used abroad (which has since been dispersed) and upon spasmodic references culled from various philatelic periodicals. It is not claimed that the facts given are in any way conclusive, and the object of their publication at this juncture is suggestive, rather than comprehensive. Readers to whom the subject may appeal are cordially invited to communicate any information in their possession that will tend to amplify or modify the statements contained therein.

The earliest instance of the use of United States postage stamps outside the country of their origin is in the Hawaiian Islands.—When the first Hawaiian postage stamps were issued, in 1851, Hawaii was still an independent native kingdom, and, as in the case of numerous other countries at that period, her stamps possessed local franking power only. Since the bulk of the foreign correspondence of the group was destined for the United States however, an arrangement was entered into with the U.S. Government whereby the distinctive postage stamps of the Hawaiian Islands were recognised and accepted in prepayment of mail matter arriving by sea at San Francisco and other ports of the Pacific Coast. But upon letters which had to be conveyed overland in the U.S. mails or those intended for other countries forwarded via the U.S.A. the prevailing American postage rates were levied in addition, and had to be prepaid in U.S. postage stamps of the requisite denominations. To this end a supply of the then current U.S. stamps was kept on hand at the principal post offices of the Hawaiian group, the values in most general demand being those of 2, 3, 5 and 12 cents. A considerable proportion of early Hawaiian covers bear United States stamps in addition to the native issue in accordance with this system, which continued in operation until the year 1882, when on January 1st, Hawaii was admitted to full membership of the Universal Postal Union, and her own stamps became valid for prepayment of international postage.

The postmark most commonly found upon early U.S. stamps used in Hawaii consists of a large single-line circle, inscribed round its circumference "Honolulu—U.S. Postage Paid," with the day and month (but not the year) of posting in two lines in the centre, struck in red ink.

Another mark that is occasionally encountered upon such letters takes the form of an elongated oval, also impressed in red, and containing the designation "Hawaiian Steam Service."

On one or two occasions, during temporary shortages of local stamps, foreign correspondence was franked exclusively with those of the U.S.A., the Hawaiian postal authorities collecting their charges in cash, and marking the letters to this effect either in manuscript or by means of a handstamp comprising the word "Forwarded" in tall, thin sans-serif capitals arranged in the shape of a semi-circle with a large figure beneath to denote the amount of postage paid. This procedure was adopted in 1862, when a consignment of stamps for the Hawaiian Post Office was lost through the burning of the S/S "Polynesia," by which they had been forwarded.—Stamp Collector.

THE BI-MONTHLY JOURNAL

A house organ with an inimitable style and charm, published every two months. Each issue consists of from 32 to 48 pages, every one containing a formidable array of unusual offerings in medium and scarce sets, packets and special collections dealers' stocks, single stamps, philatelic supplies, etc., etc.

Albert C. Munson, 412 Broadway, Houston, Texas, writes:
"I enjoy the Bi-Monthly as much as MEKEEL'S; there is no other paper, house organ, journal or circular of any kind wherein one can find such extraordinary good stock—and at such reasonable prices."

C. A. Ralston, 164 Vaughn St., Waterloo, Iowa, says:
"I am paying subscription charges for two large house organs, but would rather get along without both of them than to lose yours. If necessary, I know that I could pay a substantial subscription to the Bi-Monthly and save all of it on stamps offered in a single issue."

The Bi-Monthly Journal is a distinctive publication and absolutely free to patrons. You can't afford to be without it!
